THE DAILY Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Be just and fear not; Let all the ends thou aim'st at be Thy Country's, thy God's, and Truth's.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1888.

The correspondent of the Bulletin, Boogaroo, is referred to the heading which stands above all the communications in the ADVERTISER. It reads as follows:

"We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements made, or opinions expressed by our correspondents."

The victory of General Boulanger at the late elections in France has occasioned a good deal of surprise and perhaps some anxiety in foreign circles. It was generally expected that the ignominious result of his duel with Floquet would certainly kill the General politically, but he came to the surface like a cork. Those who attended Mr. Dickinson's lectures lately delivered in Honolulu, will remember the ludicrous burst of applause with which the figure of Gen. Boulanger on horseback was greeted, by an audience which knew nothing about him. His popularity in France is a phenomenon which may be traced to precisely the same cause as the applause here, namely, the natural popularity of Jingoism.

The French papers are now quarreling with each other as to the significance of the election. The Republicans say that the Reactionaries fearing to put up their own candidate, used Boulanger as a blind. The Conservatives say that the election is a decision against the Republic itself. This is very analogous to the discussion which arose here as to what Mr. Wilder's election would mean. The truth is that there is just as much reason to say that there are no political parties in France as that there are none here. The phenomena are very much the same in both countries. There is plenty of political activity, there are generally diffused ideas, and there are clear issues. But in each country there is a tendency to break up into a large number of groups, each representing a particular idea, instead of separating into two large parties, each representing an idea to which all others are subordinated. The result is that instead of two clearly defined parties, we have groups or factions if one chooses to call them so. To say, however, that we have no parties in the fruitful sense of that word, would simply be an inference entirely unwarranted by the facts. The result of this state of affairs is in France to produce political instability. Something of the same kind is visible in Germany, but there the strength of the Government counteracts the tendency which makes itself felt so painfully in France. What the result will be in Hawaii nei, our political history is as yet too short to determine.

After all, in what respect are those countries better off in which there are two well defined parties which absorb practically the whole body of voters? The result generally is, that real political issues are thrust from the field altogether. The parties cease to represent living ideas. Reforms cannot get a hearing. Political campaigns degenerate into a mere disgraceful scramble for office, the results of which affect absolutely no one, except the office holders, the campaign workers, the bosses, and the few others who make a more or less shameful living out of politics. The great mass of voters go to the polls like sheep, without knowing what they are voting for. They are stupidly led around by the nose, and are gulled by some ridiculous party cry. Prejudice, partisanship, tradition and passion are the only political forces of any weight. Principles are left to go to the devil. Neither party is willing to take up a reform for fear of losing an election. When a plank is to be inserted in a platform, the only question raised is, not whether it is true and right and needed, but how is it going to affect the election, and the answer to this question always decides its fate. In the absence of issues political oratory consists in the glorification of one's own party, and abuse of the other.

It would be well for those persons who attempt to make out that Hawaiian politics are insignificant because there are no parties here but only "cliques" or "factions," to reflect on the real significance of political contests, and on the phenomena in countries where parties are well defined. We have political issues here without doubt, and plenty of voters who are anxious to carry their views at the polls. As long as that is true, perhaps we are none the worse off if it be true that we have no parties in the strict technical sense.

The Anti-Chinese Amendment. Following is the proposed amendment to the Constitution referred to in the report of legislative proceedings under date of the 27th inst.:

The Legislature may by law name or limit the occupation or employment of every kind whatsoever in which Chinese, or any body or class of Chinese may lawfully engage or continue to pursue; the estate and interest in land they may acquire, or acquiring, hold, and the duration thereof; and the number of years, not less than six, during which any Chinese may lawfully reside in the Hawaiian Kingdom; and may provide for the registration and identification of Chinese: Provided, however, that no law shall operate to make it unlawful for any Chinese to engage in the cultivation or manufacture of rice or sugar; and provided further, that no Chinese within the Hawaiian Kingdom when this amendment becomes a part of the Constitution shall thereafter be compelled to depart the same, except such Chinese as shall be legally sentenced to transportation or deportation for felony.

The Legislature may enforce the provisions of this amendment by appropriate legislation; and no such legislation shall be declared unconstitutional because confined in its operation to Chinese or any body or class thereof.

In this amendment "Chinese" means any person or persons, male or female, wholly of Chinese or Mongolian birth or descent, whether born in China or elsewhere, and whether citizens or subjects of China or any country, and shall include and apply to all and every person or persons wholly of Chinese or Mongolian birth or descent who are now or hereafter may be a citizen or citizens, subject or subjects of the Hawaiian Kingdom: Provided, however, that the provisions of this amendment shall not be construed to include or apply to persons of Japanese birth or descent. Nor to Chinese who have resided in the Hawaiian Kingdom for a term of not less than ten years prior to the seventh day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, and who in said year A. D. 1887 paid taxes on five thousand dollars of taxable property in the Hawaiian Kingdom; or who were naturalized subjects of the Hawaiian Kingdom on the first day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight.

GOOD NEWS. The United States will Increase the Aid to the Australian Line.

The following is a Washington despatch of August 20th, the day before the S. S. Arabic sailed from San Francisco:

The Postmaster-General notified Felton to-day that he would inform the New Zealand Government by telegraph at once that the United States would pay the American steamship line between San Francisco and that country $50,000 a year for carrying the mail. The amount paid to the steamship company by the Government of New South Wales was $10,000 a year. That Government refuses to continue the payment of this sum. The amount the United States has paid the line annually has been about $20,000. The full amount of sea and inland postage which the Postmaster-General has discretion to pay to the line last year amounted to about $47,000. He estimates the increase of mail matter will increase the amount this year to $50,000. He offers the full amount of the sea and inland postage to the steamship line in order to maintain it. The Parliament of New Zealand is now in session, and it is expected that within the next three days it will determine whether it will continue the subsidy which it paid to this steamship line for carrying the mails.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

Per S. S. "Arabic," San Francisco, August 21, 1888.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Ocean Mails and Steamers—A Disaster. The S. S. Arabic, the new steamer of the Occidental and Oriental line, makes her first trip from San Francisco to China and Japan by way of Honolulu, and thus affords an extra opportunity for mail communication.

The English mails for the S. S. Alameda arrived at New York on Sunday, August 19th, and left there for San Francisco on the same day. Unless accidents or delays occur across the continent, the Alameda should leave here at 2 or 3 p. m. on Saturday, August 25th.

The four great ocean steamers, the Bourgoyne, Ems, Umbria, and City of New York, all sailed from New York on the afternoon of August 18th, within a couple of hours of each other. The captains, owners and agents all deny that there is to be any race, yet each steamer will try to reach its destination first, and there is considerable money "up" on the result.

The new steamer City of New York was built on the Clyde. Her length over all is 560 feet, breadth 63 feet 3 inches, depth moulded 42 feet, tonnage 10,500. She is built of 30,000 separate pieces of steel weighing 7,000 tons. Each square inch of steel is guaranteed to stand a strain of 30 tons, and it would require a strain of 60,000 tons to tear the ship apart. She has two bottoms, one several feet inside the other, and both equally strong. Her fifteen bulkheads are all on the upper deck. There are two boiler rooms and two engines divided by compartments that run longitudinally, so that she must be stove in on both sides before being disabled. There are 37 auxiliary engines. She has three funnels and three masts, and can carry 2,000 passengers.

A most disastrous collision has just occurred on the Atlantic, off Sable Island, between the steamers Geiser and Thingvall, both of the Thingvall line, at 4 a. m. on August 14th. The Geiser sank in five minutes and 117 persons were drowned. The Geiser had 86 passengers of whom 72 were drowned or killed, and only 17 of her crew were saved, Captain Moller being among the number. The Thingvall was so injured that she put into Halifax after transferring her own and the saved people from the Geiser to the Hamburg American steamer Wieland. An official enquiry will be held at Copenhagen, but it appears that the disaster was caused solely by gross carelessness on the part of the officers of the Geiser. The loss on the vessel is placed at $350,000, and on cargo at $120,000.

The Postmaster-General at Washington has decided to offer the Colonies, towards the support of the Australian mail service, the whole of the sea and inland postages collected from that route. This amounts to $30,000 per annum, while the United States has heretofore paid but $20,000, making a profit of the remaining $10,000. This offer will probably be accepted and the service continued for another year, which will give time to complete further negotiations.

The Alameda will sail with every cabin engaged and three persons in many of the steerage rooms.

In refined sugars there was a decline at San Francisco of 1/2 cent on August 18th, and 1/2 cent on August 20th, making granulated 7 1/2 cents. There has been no change in raw sugar until to-day, a telegram from New York announcing an advance there of 3-16 cent, making 96 deg. C. 6 7-16 cents with the market very firm.

The sugar bounties conference has adjourned till August 27th to permit a final reference to the powers interested. France and Belgium decline to sign the convention unless it is also signed by the United States, which will not do so.

Senator Plumb having objected to the proposed reduction of 50 per cent. in the duty on sugar, it is believed that the Senate tariff bill will recommend a reduction of 33 1/2 per cent. The Democrats recommend a reduction of 25 per cent. so that there is a likelihood of an agreement being reached on this point, if no other.

It is stated that the wages of the laborers of the Lebanon, Penn., Manufacturing Co. have been raised from five to fifteen per cent. owing to the handsome order for machinery, received by the Company from Claus Spreckels for his Philadelphia refinery.

Up to July 31st the imports of sugar at San Francisco for the current year amounted to 220,507,851 pounds. Since then three cargoes of Manila sugar, 8,175 tons, have arrived, besides more Hawaiian. This is the largest quantity ever received here in a similar period. The demand has been unusually large, keeping both refineries busy night and day. The latest estimates of the coming crop of beet and cane sugar show that it will be equal to that of two years ago, which was the largest ever recorded. There is, therefore, a probability of a decline in prices early next year. The London beet market has advanced considerably, so that New York refiners are now unable to obtain supplies from that quarter.

Mind-reader Bishop was discovered, at five o'clock in the morning, lying on the sidewalk near the Palace Hotel. He was unconscious and suffering from a severe wound in the head. He had been to the Cremorne Variety Show early in the evening, and there lent one of the actresses the cane presented him by Kalakaua, which she used during one of her songs and dances. He last remembers being near Morton street about 1 a. m. but does not remember going near the Palace. The Kalakaua cane was found with the gold head broken off.

From Montreal come similar reports of houses being set on fire, people killed and property destroyed. The storm occurred on August 17th.

Sweeping changes are being made in the command of the German army, and there is great activity in every department. The Emperor's anger has been incited by the Russian Government, and the situation is more threatening than ever it was. The Emperor galloped to the barracks at Potsdam at 5 a. m., training all the troops out to check a pretended invasion of the enemy from Spandau. Superior officers who were slow in turning out have been punished.

The examination of the Asiatics' papers at the steamer gangway was expeditiously performed by Purser Rooney, assisted by Customs Officer Good.

Anniversary Reception on the Vandalia. The reception on board the U. S. flag-ship Vandalia yesterday made an appropriate climax to the series of entertainments by which the officers of that vessel have done so much to enliven Honolulu society in the past. The ship was beautifully decorated with a gorgeous profusion of flags and banners, flowers and wreaths. The decks were gay with officers and the youth and beauty of Honolulu, all tastefully adorned. The afternoon was passed in dancing or strolling on the deck, and in refreshing the inner man. The arrangements for the latter purpose were above all praise, and that crown of good things, the flowing bowl, did not fail to circulate with proper freedom.

The year which the Vandalia has spent in Honolulu has been a pleasant one for everyone who has had the opportunity of social contact with her agreeable officers. It is with the most unfeigned regret that we notice the approaching its period. The ladies of Honolulu will assuredly make the day of her departure one of deep mourning, and the young men, despite an occasional pang of jealousy, will admit that there is cause.

A Gallant Ship. The British iron bark Cocker-mouth, Captain Raven Little, sails this afternoon in ballast for Guaymas, Mexico. The Cocker-mouth arrived here thirty-seven days ago with 1,800 tons cargo, including 700 tons of iron rails, the first shipment of materials for the Hawaiian Tramways Company, which were all landed in excellent condition. The Cocker-mouth is one of the finest, fastest, and largest sailing vessels that ever entered Honolulu harbor. Her quick passage of 116 days here from Liverpool speaks well of her superior sailing qualities and during her stay in this port she has been an object of admiration to both seamen and landmen. Although the Cocker-mouth is ten years old, being always kept in good order, she appears as if quite new. Captain Little, her skipper, is a very obliging and pleasant gentleman to associate with, and his departure from Hawaii nei, perhaps never more to return, leaves many warm halloha (friends) behind who wish him "God-speed."

A Commission is being formed in Berlin for the purpose of formulating a commercial treaty between Germany and Russia.

Judicial Decision and Dissent.

The decision of the Supreme Court by Associate Justice McCully, with concurrence of Chief Justice Judd, Associate Justices Preston and Bickerton, was filed August 10th, in the case of "The Ung Wo Sang Co. vs. T. Alo et al. It is on a motion by counsel for the plaintiff, that the Court hear a re-argument on the bill. As stated previously in this paper, the motion is denied in this opinion.

Associate Justice Dole on August 28th filed a dissenting opinion, in which he holds that the Court did overlook an essential averment in the second bill, and quotes authorities to support the claim that a certain water course was appurtenant to a lease in question, and considers that the motion for re-argument should be granted. A. S. Hartwell for plaintiffs; Paul Neumann for defendants.

Purser Rooney.

Our reporter going on board the Arabic had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Rooney as Purser, he having held the same position on the San Pablo when wrecked in the China seas. Mr. Rooney was asked as to the truth of the reports published regarding a fierce piratical descent upon the ill-fated steamer. He replied that the story was partially correct, in that a swarm of wreckers were only kept at bay with the hot water hose. These wreckers seldom attempt to loot a vessel until she is deserted, yet the Purser doubted if on that occasion they would have peacefully allowed the removal of the treasure boxes, had they been aware of their precious contents. Mr. Rooney seems to be a model Purser in both ability and agreeable manners.

The Ahupua'a of Kahuku, being Royal Patent No. 2791, issued to Chas. C. Harris, containing an area of 184.628 Acres, by actual survey, boundaries having been settled, forms the major part of this ranch.

The land has over six miles of sea coast with good fishery and boat landing, and extends from the sea to the crater of Mokuawewe, summit of Mauna Loa.

The Ranch buildings are situated on the Government road from Kau to Kona and are about seven miles from the Kaalania landing, to which there is a good cart road.

The Stock now on the Ranch consists of a herd of remarkably gentle CATTLE, most of it being from milking stock, numbering 2000 head, more or less, of the following breeds: DURHAM, from "Cherry Prince," imported by Theo. H. Davies; "Martin Bolton," imported by Thos. Cummings; "Obelo," imported by Hon. L. McCully, and "Romeo," imported by Bowley Bros. AYRSHIRE, from Duke of York. MARINE
Germicide Paint
 THE MARINE GERMICIDE PAINT IS AN ANTI-FOULING COMPOUND FOR IRON, COPPER, OR WOOD, an absolute protection against Barnacles, Coral, Sea Grass, Tereidos, and all Marine Parasites, and an unfailing preventive of rust on iron or steel.
 The success of the Germicide Paint, in San Francisco, New York and the West Indies, has been phenomenal. The U. S. Navy Yard at Mare Island is using Germicide exclusively, after testing it against the best paint. Of 450 tests in 1886, they find that Germicide came out nineteen to one better. It is stated that the Naval authorities at Washington are about adopting it altogether for the U. S. Navy. We have numerous testimonials to prove its efficiency.
