FAVORS THE HOTEL.

L. A. Thurston's Views in Regard to the Proposed Waikiki Hot-1.

In an interview with a representative of The Evening Bulletin, Mr. L. A. Thurston expressed himself strongly in favor of a first-class hotel at Waikiki.

Mr. Thurston said: "I do not think that the necessity for a hotel at Waikiki can be too strongly stated. The change from the city to the beach is one which large numbers of citizens, irrespective of tourists, desire to make during some time almost every year, but the chronic difficulty is to secure accommodation there of any kind. I think that the establishment of a hotel there would be of great convenience and comfort to the people of Honolulu, and that it would also tend to cause tourist travel here, as the insufficient and inadequate hotel accommodation at present available in Honolulu is one of the most serious draw-backs to tourist travel. I have known personally of numerous instances of tourists coming here intending to spend several months who have gone away after a few weeks, simply because they were dissatisfied with the present inadequate hotel accommodation. A hotel at Waikiki would present many attractions which are lacking in those in town; for instance, the boating, sea bathing and the dry air which are not available in the city. "As to granting a license to sell liquor at the hotel, I do not know of a first class hotel anywhere which does not have the right to sell liquor to its guests, with the exception of some hotels which are run under the control of private religious or semi-religious organizations, such for instance, as Pacific Grove in California, near Monterey, and other similar localities in the Eastern States, but these are not caterers to the general public. "There certainly is nothing offensive to the guests of the Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu or the Occidental Hotel in San Francisco, where nearly all the Hawaiian visitors to San Francisco stop, by reason of the fact of their having the right to furnish liquor to such of their guests as choose to use the same. "As I understand it, the objection to the issuance of the license in this instance comes from those who are opposed to all licenses on principle, or, in other words, it is in the nature of prohibition. This is not a prohibition community. This has been recognized by all who are opposed to the use of liquor, even the W. C. T. U. and other temperance organizations have abandoned all attempt at prohibitory legislation. I do not see any argument against preventing the sale of liquor at the Waikiki Hotel that will not equally apply to every saloon in town. It might or might not be a good policy to take away all licenses. The advisability of such course is not now up for discussion. Certainly a saloon at Waikiki will sell very much less liquor than one on a prominent street corner in the city. "My personal opinion is that the most dangerous feature about all liquor licenses is the public bar which fosters the habit of treating. I think that the Government may well insert a condition in the license that the liquor sold under the license to be issued should be confined to bonafide guests of the hotel and that there should not be a bar. If this were done it would, it seems to me, meet the objections which are made and would enable the hotel to conduct its business upon the lines of a modern first-class hotel. "A hotel, to succeed at Waikiki, at the locality indicated, must be run in first-class style. If this is not done it will be a failure and I cannot conceive that a hotel of the character which must be run there in order to be a success would degenerate into a disreputable resort by reason of the privilege to sell liquors to guests which may be granted to the management."

GANDER AND GOOSE.

Minister of Public Instruction, H. E. Cooper expressed himself yesterday at the regular meeting of the Board of Education, to the effect that a bad precedent would be established if a salary was granted to a school teacher who, through circumstances over which he had no control, had been prevented from returning to his post on Kauai for one whole month. The teacher in a letter explained his "piliki" to the Board, but the Minister of Public Instruction had no sympathy with a public officer who desire to draw a salary without performing the duties for which he is paid by the tax payers.

H. E. Cooper, Minister of Foreign Affairs, intends to leave Hawaii on the 24th inst. to spend three months in British Columbia and the United States. The official organ tells us that Mr. Cooper of the Foreign Office will visit the masonic lodges in the large cities and that he will travel by the Miowera because he has never been to British Columbia, and that he finally can be expected to return to his domestic hearth at the latter part of December.

We now hope that the Minister of Public Instruction will use his avowed theories in regard to the payment of salaries to junketing officials and taboo the salary of the lodge-seeking Minister of Foreign Affairs. What is sauce for the diplomatic gander ought certainly to be sauce for the educational goose. Of course there is a vast difference between the petty salary due to an insignificant school teacher and the ample recompensation drawn by Mr. Dole's virtuous Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The one is probably only a poor unknown drudge in the toils of our school department, sorely in need of the paltry sum which he asks for, and which Minister Cooper of the Public Instruction refuses to pay, to avoid the establishing of a bad precedent. The other is the Minister of Foreign Affairs, of war and authorized to draw about $5,000 a year besides being in a position to tag to his name the following titles: R. W. Master of Pacific Lodge No. 822, A. F. & A. M.; M. E. H. P. of the Honolulu Royal Arch Chapter No. 1; Em. Commander of Honolulu Commandery No. 1, K. T.; K. C. C. H. of Kamehameha Lodge of Perfection, and Wise Master of Nuuanu Chapter Rose Croix No. 1. In the Council of Kadosh he occupies the office of First Lieutenant Commander.

A Visiting Artist.

Honolulu has been favored lately with several artists of considerably merit. Since the days of Jules Taveruier we have not been visited by a more prominent painter than Mr. Fred. Yates, whose fame preceded his advent here. Portrait painting is the speciality of Mr. Yates and the excellent likeness of Mrs. H. A. Widemann from his brush and on exhibition at the Pacific Hardware Company proves the skill of the young accomplished artist. At the art rooms of the Pacific Hardware Company other works of Mr. Yates can be inspected. Chief Justice Judd was among the numerous visitors to the art gallery this morning.

Buttermilk.

Fresh buttermilk will be served from to-morrow morning at the Pantheon Saloon at 12½ cents a glass. The milk, which is nourishing, refreshing, and a temperance drink, will be furnished by the Ahuinau ranch, and Jim Dodd will make a special point of having the delicious beverage on tap for his customers. Mr. Dodd doesn't propose to run a hash house at the Pantheon Saloon, but he is at all times willing to give his customers fair value for their money and accommodate the tastes of all. Ice cream buttermilk will hit the right spot at the present temperature of climate of Honolulu.

Douglas Collins added another feather to his cap, despatching the Royal Mail steamer Monowai with the London and Glasgow mails promptly at noon hour. Capt. Carey and Collins are chums and bonnie boys be they.

Keep Church and State forever separate.

The government of the United States is not in any sense founded upon the Christian religion.

No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

A small casket has been dug up in Padua containing the ashes of Philibert de Chalon, Prince of Orange, who was killed at the siege of Florence.

The Queen's crown, which appears in almost every picture of Her Majesty, is, as a matter of fact, but rarely worn by her, and during the whole 59 years of her reign she has not put it on 30 times.

The Duke of Norfolk's grouse moors at Stanedge and Hallam, near Sheffield, comprise 4000 acres; £64,000 was offered for them at auction recently, and at that price they were withdrawn.

A curious experiment was made recently at the wood-pulp factories at Elsenhalm to test the time it takes to convert growing wood into paper. Three trees were cut down, chopped up, skinned, pulped, converted into paper, and printed within 2½ hours from the beginning of the operation

Our Educators Meet.

The learned ladies and gentlemen who compose the Board of Education met yesterday afternoon, Minister Cooper presiding.

Mr. Rosecrans, of the Lahaina school, a near relative of Mr. Abbott, had his salary raised to $100 a month. The services of Mrs. Rosecrans, a teacher of the same school, was naturally rewarded by a similar increase.

An attempt on the part of prominent Kauai residents to reinstate Mr. Pringle in his former school was ignored. So was a petition of Mr. C. H. White, who again applied for a "yob."

Children attending the High School who do not "dig" have been ordered to "git."

George Shaw has been re-commissioned as an agent to grant marriage licenses.

Mr. Gibson, of the Waimea (Kauai) school, has not returned to his post at the time stipulated, and a letter explaining the reasons was read. Minister Cooper thought that it would be a bad principle to pay for services which had not been rendered, and doubted the wisdom of allowing Mr. Gibson a salary for the month during which he had been absent from his post.

Other matters in regard to new school buildings, etc., were considered. The meeting then adjourned.

There is not a shadow of right in the general government to intermeddle with religion. Its least interference with it would be a most flagrant usurpation.

Timely Topics.

Honolulu, Oct. 9, 1896.

It is well-known to all sensible persons that La Grippe, malarial, Typhoid and scarlet fevers, cholera, diphtheria, small-pox, and innumerable other contagious diseases are conveyed in the air by germ diseases.

In our city owing to the want of efficient drainage and sewerage we are most susceptible to many of these diseases, and as our mortuary records show especially are our infant children.

It is the duty, therefore, in the interests of the community, of every honest citizen who has the welfare of his family at heart, to keep his home healthy and free from disease by using which diffuses the "SANTAS VAPORIZER MIXTURE" expressly prepared for it.

It is the most complete GERM DESTROYER known to chemical science. It is endorsed by the Boards of Health in all the principal cities, as no contagious diseases can be contracted where it is used.

It is not only A PERFECT DISINFECTANT, acting not only as an antiseptic and germicide, but also as an oxidizing agent. It prevents the dangers of sewer gas and other decomposition.

The apparatus itself is quite a handsome ornament and requires but very slight attention, being automatic in its action. The ODOR OF SANTAS is a very agreeable perfume. Every private family, public institution and saloon should have one in the interest of health. Its Price, $5, brings it within the reach of all, as it will save doctors' bills to a large amount every year.

ST. LOUIS BEER

Will be served ON DRAUGHT at the Hawaiian Hotel.

To meet the times and competition, it will be furnished at 12 1-2 cts. Per Glass

We quote from letter of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, dated August 8th:

Your honorable firm having represented us for so many years we believe it useless to call your attention to the merits of our article, but we should like to repeat again and call your attention to the fact that ours is THE ONLY PURE BARLEY MALT BEER MANUFACTURED, and corn cereals and other adulterants as well as acids, for the preservation of beer, are unknown in our establishment. With the above you may go before the public in our name.

No encomium of ours can add to the high reputation of Anheuser Beer. Its introduction in any and every market makes it an immediate favorite. It stands without a peer, without a rival, without even a competitor. It received the highest awards at the Columbian Exposition. The reduction of the draught Beer to the prevailing price of places it within the reach of all, and he is a wise man who gets the best quality for the least money.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

A lot for a little at Kerr's.
A nicely furnished cottage to let at reasonable rates on No. 4, Garden Lane.
A meeting of the Honolulu Road Club will be held to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Reserved seats for the Frawley engagement are being taken rapidly at Hobron Drug Co.

The learned men who desire to form a University Association will hold a meeting this afternoon.

At the rehearsal of Il Trovatore next Tuesday, the orchestra will be full (according to the morning paper).

The prices of reserved seats for the Il Trovatore performance are $2 and $1.50. Admission to the gallery is $1.

The Royal Annex will in the future be kept open for the benefit of its patrons every night, and only first class refreshments will be served.

Mr. S. C. Allen is being treated by Dr. McWayne for a cataract of one of his eyes, and will probably be confined to his house for several days.

Superintendent of Public Works, W. E. Rowell was arrested this morning, charged with being a common nuisance in blocking up a certain road leading to the store of a Chinaman. Mr. W. A. Kinney appears for the prosecution.

The band played off the steamer Monowai this forenoon. Some lively English and Scotch airs delighted the Sydneyites and Londoners who showed their appreciation by cheering the boys and asking for more. "It was so blooming fine."

Captain Harry Gahan and a gang of prisoners were at work this morning moving a heavy flag-pole from the Wilder wharf to Oahu jail. In the near future the Hawaiian flag will swing from the top of the pole to the delight of Jailer Low and his unfortunate customers.

D. W. James, manager of the hardware department in the house of Theo. H. Davies & Co., is a passenger for the Coast by the Monowai to-day. It is whispered that Mr. James will return to Honolulu by an early steamer from the Bay City with a life partner. Bon voyage.

Mr. G. J. Waller left by the Monowai for a trip of pleasure and business to San Francisco. Mr. Waller will be absent during the next two months, and will join his family in San Francisco. During the absence of Mr. Waller the Metropolitan Meat Company will be under the management of George J. Campbell.

The demand for seats for the Il Trovatore performance is flattering to Mrs. Turner's company. No time should be lost in securing reserved seats. All music lovers ought to be present at the opening performance of Irwin's Opera House and the time to secure the best tickets is right now at Wall, Nichol Company's store.

If the kind parents of certain "prominent" youngsters were to catch their boisterous boys throwing small stones and gravel into passing trams on the Nuuanu route, they would probably get dessert for dinner and a good spanking. Boys will be boys, but patrons of the cars object to have an eye or two knocked out without due notice.

S. J. Bailey, a practical well borer, left by the schooner Sarah & Eliza last evening, for Waiialua, under engagement to the Ching Chong Well Co. Mr. Bailey is to take up work which the Chinese well-borer endeavored to perform but failed. One of the first wells to be bored for is located near the Wai Yet rice plantation on the Waimea side of Waiialua bridge.

W. C. Peacock left by the Monowai to-day. Mr. Peacock intends to make an extended journey in the interest of the improved photographs for which he has secured the patent in the Australian Colonies, Mexico, South America and numerous other places. Mrs. Peacock is accompanying her husband. We wish our esteemed fellow citizen a pleasant voyage and bid him a sincere au revoir.

George Allen had a narrow escape from what might have proven a serious accident this morning, while he was at work on the Gainsborough. Mr. Allen missed his foothold and fell through a hatch, his fall being more than 10 feet. With exception of severe bruises to his legs and body no serious harm was done. George says that he is used to having his ribs broken, but he seriously object to scratches and bruises. The Gainsborough will go on the Marine Railway in a few days and reappear as an Al ship later.

The Honolulu Royal Arch Chapter will meet this evening.

Charlie Atherton, salesman at Castle & Cooke, was among the passengers by the Monowai to-day.

Purser Bendall of the steamer Monowai is thanked by this paper for courteous attention shown our reporter, supply of news and memo of voyage.

The Martha Davis sailed for San Francisco at 1 o'clock this afternoon, taking one cabin passenger. Capt. Soule will be back again in the height of the sugar season of 1897.

The Hawaiian mail was put aboard the mail steamer Monowai sharp on time at noon to-day. Chief Clerk Kenake should, we think, wear his official badge and cap on such and similar occasions, recollecting that the Union flag carries the Australian, New Zealand, and American through mail to London and Europe.

The Criterion saloon is on its last keg of Seattle Draught Beer to-day. The steamer Warrimoo, hourly expected from Vancouver, will ease the mind and thirst of its proprietor and patrons, as she brings a large consignment of the favorite brand. Rainier, in bottles, is a "close call" on the famous "Seattle Draught," of which Capt. Mac has a plentiful supply on hand.

It is pleasing to note that the Customs officials deal with high and low alike in their efforts to unearth the smugglers of contraband articles. Bags of seed for the Moanalua ranch by the bark Mohican were being "run through" by the official rod (a long sharp pointed piece of iron) on the Irmgard wharf this morning. The officers glorify themselves, for they "haven't found anything wrong."

WATERFRONT WHISPERINGS

The Union Line S. S. Monowai, Capt. Carey, was telephoned 10 miles south at 5 a. m. She docked at the O. S. S. Co.'s wharf at 6, bringing the following named tourists for Honolulu: Cabin, Mr. and Mrs. Piercey, Miss L. Fox, Dr. T. T. French and Chas. B. Fox. En route for San Francisco and Europe were 62 cabin passengers and 4 children. Sir Edward Kiuahan was among her distinguished voyagers. The following is Purser Bendall's report of the voyage: Left Sydney at 4:30 p. m. Sept. 28th, cleared the Heads at 5:10 p. m. same day, arrived at Auckland on the 2nd inst. at 8 p. m. left next day at 2:10 p. m. and reached Apia on the 7th at 4 p. m., stoppage there of 3 hours, arriving at Honolulu at 6 a. m. Oct. 15th. She brings a small cargo for this port consisting of 322 pkgs. of sundries. The Monowai is booked to leave at noon, taking a few Honoluluites and a light shipment of 1959 packages of bananas and pines.

The steamer James Makee syrened a long blast at a quarter to 2 this morning 10 hours from Kapaa beating her old time of running by about 6 or 7 hours. Capt. Peterson gets away again this afternoon at 4 o'clock with a load of coal for Kapaa. When the new season sugar crop starts up the Makee will likely make trips to Kauai every day of the week, Sundays excepted.

The Kaala got a move on herself and came in last evening from Oahu ports with 195 bags rice for Hyman Bros. This afternoon the Kaala sails for Kabuku with railroad ties and machinery. R. F. Lange was a passenger by the steamer for Honolulu.

The C. A. S. S. Co.'s Warrimoo, Capt. Bird, is due at this port from Vancouver to-morrow with about 5 days late foreign news. R. I. Lillie of Theo. H. Davies & Co. may return from a business trip by her.

The Peru's freight is cleaned up from the Pacific Mail wharf and Archie will rest from his labors until the arrival of the flyer Coptic due on the 20th inst from the Golden West.

Purser Albert Christian is credited with having caught an immense fish called the Ono. The finny monster is laid out at the fishmarket and is just the right kind of a chap to make an Hawaiian fish chowder "Delicieuses."

The hole in the Gainsborough has been patched. The coal is being got out rapidly and there is a twinkle in the eyes of interested parties. Our reporter on getting the close quarters with Georgie Allen could almost hear the "jingle."

Meeting of Myrtles.

The champions in our boat circles met last evening and the reports presented by the officers show that the Myrtles are "booming." Thirteen new members were elected. Willie Love was elected vice-president. A dance will be given on the 23rd inst under the management of a committee composed of W. F. Dillingham, W. T. Mouserrat, W. H. Wright, F. Angus, H. Giles, C. Crane and E. H. Paris. Other measures of similar importance were adopted by the boys in red. The financial status of the club is highly satisfactory.

Those Buffalos

We must again remind the public that if the Buffalos of the American Continent are now principally to be found on reservations alone, there is still a Buffalo or two left on exhibition in Honolulu. Of course, we refer to the Buffalo beer just introduced at the Royal Annex, the Royal, Pacific and Cosmopolitan Saloons. It will be found extremely palatable and up to the most refined taste. The system of interchangeable checks still continues, and those issued for the celebrated Pabst are equally valid. Taste and see how good it is.

The close of the last century seems to have been very prolific in wrecks. The British frigate De Broek, lost in a storm off Lewes, in the United States in 1798, is stated to have had on board no less than $52,000,000 worth of specie and jewels, taken from an intercepted Spanish ship while on her voyage to Halifax, and with it were also taken 200 prisoners.

A SURREPTITIOUS SWIM.

Why a Respectable Merchant Paraded Paris Clad in a Silk Hat.

The night was as balmy and soft as the most exacting poet could reasonably desire. Not a breath of air was stirring, it is true, to raise clouds of dust in the streets, but neither was there any stored-up heat to be radiated from the brick and mortar of the houses. The sky was remarkably clear, the moon unusually brilliant.

It seemed almost a pity to go indoors at all on such a splendid night and two very respectable merchants who were of this way of thinking, drove out to the Bois and strolled about leisurely, conversing on trade, politics and the philosophy of life.

When they reached the edge of the cool, clear water, one of the pair suggested that they should have a plunge. The other, in whose head the spirit of prudence was predominant, demurred, for is not bathing in the Bois at night a forbidden pastime? They debated the subject for some time, and finally compromised matters by each having his own way, the prudent individual agreeing to take charge of his friend's clothes while the latter was disporting himself in the water in a state of nature except for his silk hat, which he retained on his head.

While the lover of pellucid lakes was on the far side of the sheet of water, he heard a cry of alarm, and saw, as he thought, the figure of a policeman standing boldly out against the picturesque background of moonlit firmament and light-green foliage of the trees. He could not, of course, know, in the hurry and excitement of the moment, that the little scream was uttered by a female dressed in male cycling attire, and that she, in turn, had been horrified at the sight of his floating top-hat, which she took to indicate the recent perpetration of some grewsome crime. Monsieur X., remembering that the police have been very vigilant in the Bois of late arresting the houseless and homeless, grew frightened, and swam as rapidly as he could to where he had left his friend.

On terra firma once more, he hid him breathless to the trysting spot.

"I've had a close call, old boy," he called out in a subdued voice, "but for heaven's sake hide everything behind a tree, and I'll come round in a moment if there are no police about."

"Oh, you've had a close call, have you?" exclaimed a gruff, bass voice, which was not that of the intimate friend, while a full weighted blow on the nose, leveled by an unknown hand, nearly knocked the unsuspecting merchant off his feet. "Give me my silk umbrella and my overcoat, you scoundrelly night-thief, or you'll spend the evening in the lock-up."

"Your overcoat? I know nothing of it; I only wish I had my own."

None of your lying tricks with me. You are the tramp who stole my property here an hour ago. I recognize you."

"How can you? Don't you see I have no clothes of my own, and if I could get hold of a coat by hook or by crook, I would use it to hide my nakedness?"

The stranger looked, saw that X. was clad only in a silk hat, and reluctantly concluding that it was a case of mistaken identity, went his way grumbling.

X., to his horror, then found that his friend had likewise gone his way, leaving him alone with a mere top-hat. For nearly two hours the wretched man wandered about the Bois, like a soul in pain, selecting the shadiest spots for his promenade, through a natural disinclination to meet the watchful police.

His method of getting home, when he had matured it, was a master-stroke of ingenuity. He crept cautiously up to a solitary saecre, that was evidently waiting for the return of a fare, and, slipping in while the cabman was dozing, suddenly put his head out of the window, and cried: "Cocher, return!"

These directions were somewhat vague, but, at any rate, they aroused no suspicion at the moment, and the conveyance drove off cityward.

Once back in Paris X. breathed freely again, and pulling up the Jehu, told him to go to the Rue du Bac.

"Rue du Bac be blowed!" quoth the driver. "It was Rue du Rivoli that you said when you engaged me. My horse is done up, and I am sleepy. Pay me what you owe me and hire another conveyance."

X., unfortunately, had neither money nor pockets to keep any in; and when he muttered something to that effect, the cocher got down, the better to give him a piece of his mind.

"Parbleu!" he exclaimed, noticing the phenomenon inside, "what deviltry are we here? Where are your clothes, sir?"

X. stammered out his explanations about having had a midnight swim in the water, but the cabman characterized the story as fishy, asked him where was the fare he was waiting for in the Bois, and then, resuming his seat, drove to the nearest police-station.

"What's the matter with you?" asked the commissaire circumspectly approaching the door of the cab.

"Oh, nothing," replied X., trying to feel calm. "I merely lost my clothes, you know, during a stroll in the Bois."

"Lost your clothes! What do you mean, monsieur? How can a respectable man lose his clothes at this hour of the night and go driving about Paris without a sou in his pocket—I mean without money to pay the driver? Come in."

Inside the station, X. was cross-examined, and, as his story seemed fairly plausible, a messenger was dispatched to his address to verify his statements and apprise his wife of what had happened. The merchant would have preferred to leave his spouse in blissful ignorance of his adventure; but full confession being the least of two evils, he chose it; and the messenger duly returned with a full confirmation of the story, adding that Mme. X. was for the moment absent from home, having joined a relief party of three who went to recover the body of her husband, who, she feared, had perished from shock in the waters of the somewhat shallow lakes of the Bois. His garments had been brought home by his friend, who himself had narrowly escaped arrest on a charge of stealing the clothes of a man unknown.

At a late hour the next morning, Mme. X., it is affirmed, returned to her mother's house, and is reported to have said that no lady who respects herself can be expected to live with a man who can take a stroll in the Bois in the fresh of the evening without parting with every scrap of clothing on his back, and then getting the fact advertised all over the city.—S. F. Argonaut.

A curious experiment was made recently at the wood-pulp factories at Elsenhail to test the time it takes to convert growing wood into paper. Three trees were cut down, chopped up, skinned, pulped, converted into paper, and printed within 2½ hours from the beginning of the operation
