THE YACHTSMAN EXPLAINS.

"Hubby, what do you yachtsmen mean when you say a boat sails before the wind?"

"We mean just what we say. That's plain enough. The boat sails before the wind begins to blow, of course. It is strange that women can't seem to learn anything about sailing."—Chicago News.

A CHIP OF THE OLD BLOCK.

"How old are you, sonny?"

"Twelve years old, sir."

"You are very small for your age. What is your name?"

"Johnny Smith. My father is a baker on Austin avenue."

"So your father is a baker. I might have guessed it by your size. You remind me of one of his loaves."—Texas Siftings.

ALL FIXED.

A boy on High street west placed a big apple on the front steps and walked across the street to see who would take it. A gentleman who had observed the action said:

"You shouldn't do that, my son. Some poor boy may be tempted to steal it."

"That's what I'm fishing for, sir. I've hollowed out the inside and filled it with mustard."—Free Press.

RESURGAM.

Unsettled political questions are fatal to the peace of nations. Such questions may be ruthlessly stifled, and sorrowing companies of mourning reformers may follow them to their burial. The rites of sepulture may be performed with stately ceremonial by placemen and their retinues of well fixed official dignitaries, who march home again delighted that the clamor of agitation lies silent under the sod of oblivion. But all such questions are buried only to rise again. Reform writes "resurgam"—I shall rise again—on the tomb of every buried question of popular rights. A free country must have free institutions and a constitutional government. If these privileges exist only as a myth, popular agitation will not be satisfied until the myth is changed into a reality. No matter how strenuously reform is opposed, it must come about. And success is really only a question of time and of the force and volume of public opinion. Opposition strengthens and consolidates opposition, and "survival of the fittest" will win the day. That the essential elements of constitutional government are decidedly wanting in the political structure of this Kingdom is scarcely a matter for argument. Independent legislatures and the responsibility of Cabinet Ministers to the representatives of the people are the two essential features of every government organization, outside of despotism, in the world. The absence of these elements is that that produces a universal expression of lack of confidence in the stability of the Hawaiian political system. Such a state of feeling is inevitable. The history of two thousand years would be useless if it did not convince the present generation of the shadowy foundation on which any power rests which is not established in the confidence of the people. Between over-reaching power on the one side and aspiring liberty on the other, the contest has been keen and continuous, the scene of strife shifting from point to point, and the almost invariable result of every pitched battle between the two forces being the curtailing of power and the expansion of freedom. People will persist in thinking and acting for themselves despite all the influences and schemes which tyranny and ambition employ to suppress their audacious questionings. Taxpayers whose business turns revenues into the national treasury, and mechanics and laborers whose industry makes a country, have long ago established their right to be consulted in the disposal of public funds and in the administration of public affairs. These privileges can not be possessed by the people of this Kingdom while the legislature is little more than a machine manipulated at the sweet will of Cabinet ministers. The national representatives are practically powerless for any purpose other than the levying of taxes. Whether their legislative acts find their way to the pages of the statute book or to the palace waste basket is an alternative over which they have no control. Meekness and submission are commendable traits in the character of ordinary mortals, but these, in legislators, should be well spiced with manly independence, and a determined assertion of their undoubted rights. The more public affairs are discussed in this Kingdom, the more prominently is the truth asserting itself that legislative reform in the direction of an independent legislature and a responsible Cabinet are indispensable to the continuance of peace and the return of prosperity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A practical move is announced on the part of the Board of Health. Agreeably to the suggestion made a long time ago in the BULLETIN, the city is to be parcelled off in districts, each to be under special sanitary supervision. Vessels arriving from Asiatic ports are to be quarantined. The streets are to be cleaned and, it is to be hoped, kept clean. Especial attention is to be given, in cleansing operations, to the Chinese quarters. Sanitary injunctions and information are to be printed and circulated throughout the Islands, for the benefit of natives. If only the Board keeps awake long enough to have all these things carried out, there will be still some hope that persons now living may see Honolulu in a fairly wholesome condition.

A fine opportunity of doing a good service to the public is afforded to the Government and the Oceanic Steamship Company. The steamship Alameda is to leave for San Francisco on Saturday, and the steamship Australia, of the Pacific Mail line, is due from the Coast any time after noon on the same day. By having the Oceanic steamer detained until five or six o'clock, merchants and others would have the rare privilege of replying to letters on the day of their receipt. This is such a rare coincidence in the running of steamships to and from this port, that it would be rather creditable to let the chance slip. To-morrow the announcement of the sailing of the Alameda will be due in this paper, and we hope it will include a statement that an arrangement such as that above suggested has been effected.

A SMALL but appreciative audience attended Signor Farini's opera last evening. The performance is well spoken of as a whole. A matinee noon. On Friday Mr. Thrower will be given a benefit, tendered by his admirers.

SIX schooners and one steamer, all with full sail set, were depicted against the rich chromatic horizon, west and south, all at one time, last evening. With the variously tinted waters in the foreground, and soft-colored masses of vapor screening the headlands, the whole scene formed a marine prospect of rare beauty.

LAST evening the senior six-oared crew of the Myrtle Club rowed from the vicinity of the lighthouse round the spar buoy and returned, in the old boat, doing the course in close upon seventeen minutes. They left the juniors far in the rear with the new boat. The club will have a new four-oared boat from San Francisco by the ensuing trip of the Mariposa.

PUNCHBOWL street, below Queen, has passed beyond the point of degeneracy where it can be called a road. At one point near the triple elbow there is a hole almost big enough to engulf a horse. Last night a pool of water extended completely across the road at one of the crooks, and pedestrians could only pass by wading ankle-deep or taking the cats' highway on a picket fence.

The following are booked to leave by the Alameda on Saturday next:
Hon. A. F. Judd and son, L. B.
Cunningham, Hon. S. G. Wilder, Mrs. J. Hyman, E. A. Bielenburg, William Center, W. G. Irwin, Frank

THE Honolulu Rifles' attendance at drill last evening was small. The captain, in an address to the company, said it was very discouraging to him to drill but a handful of men, when the company could turn out in good force. He asked the boys to attend drill regularly to recruit the company, and if necessary he would drill them every night.
He wanted the Rifles to compete for the flag in the competitive drill to take place shortly, declaring that they could win the trophy if they would try. Mr. W. F. Williams was appointed quarter-master of the company.

GARROTTERS AT WORK.

AN OLD RESIDENT CLUBBED, GAGGED AND ROBBED.

Capt. Thos. H. Norton, an old resident of seventeen years, was knocked down and robbed of $55 last night, in one of the most frequented thoroughfares of Honolulu, at an hour when the streets are usually alive with people. The captain, who lives on Nuuanu street, near the Kapena premises and nearly opposite the Lyceum, was, it appears, going home about 9:30 o'clock, when he was set upon by two men and felled to the earth with a blow from a weapon that he takes to have been a sandbag. One of the miscreants was a colored man and the other a foreigner. To prevent the captain from giving an alarm, one of them put his hand over his mouth. So severe was the blow that Capt. Norton lay in an unconscious state till about ten o'clock. He had been sick for some time past, and cannot recollect much about the occurrence, as the attack upon him was made so suddenly. His pockets were rifled, the above sum being taken, which comprised four $10 bills, one $5 gold piece, that was marked with a cross over the face side, and $5 in silver.

LAST NIGHT'S PERFORMANCE.

The Royal Australian Circus held its own last night as the leading attraction. There was a very fair audience, including a large proportion of the more prominent figures in political, diplomatic social, professional, and business circles. The Royal box was occupied by Princess Liliuokalani, Princess Poomaikelani (Governess of Hawaii), Governors Dominis of Oahu, and Kanoa of Kauai, Mrs. J. M. Kapena and Mrs.
Junius Kaa. The vaulting that opens the programme now running has probably never been excelled.
All the half-dozen performers turn a somersault over six horses, two or three of them go flying over eight, and Albert King turns a double one over six. In the two horse carrying act an exhibition of horsemanship and acrobatics combined is given which, it is safe to say, cannot be excelled in any other company in the world. Price Bungaroo's balancing of a massive grated screen, holding it on his upturned soles while his son Itiche performs a variety of daring acrobatic feats on the summit, is a performance of sustained strength and skill that is simply astounding, and has on each occasion produced frantic applause. Jack Cosens' bareback riding forms the most dashing equestrianism that has ever been seen here, or perhaps anywhere else. "La Perche Equipose," in which King performs feats on a twenty-foot pole held up by Culvert, standing on his head on the summit, and finally gliding down head foremost like a rocket stick, is without doubt one of the very most startling feats of the kind ever executed.

Mr. Robert Taylor gave a very entertaining play in balancing dishes on rods, showing the skill of a specialist. Itiche is as pliable a contortionist as any that can ever have appeared in the role of a "boneless boy," a common character in circuses. His principal feat is to stand upon two chairs, a foot apart, and bending backward lift a coin from the ground with his mouth, afterward returning it by the same process. A comical feat by the same performer is to rest his head on the ground and run all round it without turning his head. In the closing act last night—"The Marble Lover"—a great deal of ludicrous byplay was thrown in, and the audience rose with their sides shaking.
The band plays particularly well, having special music for every act.
Again to-night.

SUPREME COURT—OCTOBER TERM.

TUESDAY, Oct. 27th.

Before Chief Justice Judd.
The King vs. Ah Fook, forging and uttering. The defendant was arraigned on the indictment and pleaded not guilty. The case was tried before a foreign jury, who rendered a verdict of guilty, by direction of the Court. The defendant was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for one year and pay a fine of $50 and $15.95 costs. The Attorney-General and Major Rosa for the Crown, J. A. Magoon for defendant.

J. Austin vs. C. Michiels, trover.
The case was continued for the term on plaintiff's motion, he to pay $7.50 costs. J. Austin and F. M. Hatch for plaintiff, L. A. Thurston for defendant.

Nakuaimano vs. Achoi, assumpsit and damage. The case is continued for the term on plaintiff's motion.
Kinney and Peterson for plaintiff, Ashford and Ashford for defendant.

Mrs. R. Love et al. vs. George Cavenagh, assumpsit. Appeal from Intermediary Court. The defendant was called three times and failed to appear. The Court dismissed the appeal. W. A. Whiting for plaintiff.

C. T. Gulick, Minister of Interior, vs. George S. Harris, assumpsit.
Jury waived. Default was entered on October 15th. The Court ordered judgment for plaintiff for $280.
Major Rosa, Deputy Attorney-General for plaintiff.

IN CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Preston.
The Onomea Sugar Company vs.
Franklin H. Austin and Herbert C.
Austin. F. M. Hatch for plaintiffs, Ashford and Ashford and L. A.
Thurston for the defendants. The Court heard the argument of counsel on a motion filed by defendants to dissolve the temporary injunction issued in the case, and denied the same on the ground that it is not shown by an affidavit that said defendants are not the servants of the Onomea Sugar Company. Further hearing was suspended until next Thursday morning, when the defendants will put in an affidavit to the effect that they are not nor have they been the servants of said Onomea Sugar Company.

Mr. Justice McCully, presiding.
W. C. Parke and H. R. Macfarlane, assignees of Aiau, a bankrupt, vs. Lau Ung. W. A. Whiting for plaintiffs, W. R. Castle for defendant. This case was heard after several postponements, and argued by counsel, after which it was submitted. This is a case in equity to set aside a deed of conveyance from one Aiau, now deceased, well-known as an extensive rice planter in Ewa, on this island, to one Lau Ung, the defendant in this case, who is a brother of said Aiau. The complaint alleges that the deed is fraudulent and void on the ground that said defendant knew of the insolvency of said Aiau at the time of its execution. On the other hand the defendant sets up that he had no knowledge whatever of the insolvency of his brother. His Honor took time to consider the merits of the case.

In the matter of the estate of John Russell, deceased. Kinney and Peterson for the petition. Mrs. Anna Long presented the will, together with a petition praying that said will be admitted to probate. The Court appointed Wednesday, December 16, 1885, as the day for hearing the petition and will. The devisees under the will are the officiating clergyman at the funeral service, Ella Mann Russell, daughter, of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Anna Long. The latter is named as the executrix who is to act without any bond. The estimated value of the estate is $1,000, consisting of cash, book accounts and a law library.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 28th.

The Supreme Court to-day was occupied with the suit of Ah Hong vs. W. C. Parke. Trespass quare clausum. Paul Neumann and A.
Rosa for plaintiff; Cecil Brown for defendant. Judd, C. J., presided.
No jury was called. Still on.

"THE PEACH KING OF AMERICA."

John H. Parnell, brother of the Irish agitator, is a peach grower in Georgia. His great peach forest is described as containing acres and acres of ground, stretching indeed into miles, covered with every variety of tree. The trees, which number 150,000, are planted twelve feet apart, and are kept trimmed to the ground, so that a person standing can pick the rosy fruit from its fastness. When the first blush comes upon the cheek of the dainty beauties 100 men, women and children are set to work, each armed with a flat basket, returning to the rendezvous when the bottom is covered. Thus they keep on day after day until the season is over.
The story of Mr. Parnell's venture is briefly this: He invested $12,000 in his plantation. He has spent over $8,000 since in trees, seeds, and labor. Upon this investment he makes from $8,000 to $10,000 a year, and would not sell his peach forest for less than $600,000. Great as Charles Stewart Parnell is as the uncrowned King of Ireland, greater is John H. Parnell, the peach King of America.

JOHN C. HEENAN ON THE USE OF TOBACCO.

Interested for forty years in physical training, I have been acquainted with all classes of muscle men. I have known the pugilists, oarsmen, pedestrians and billiard-ists, and would say in passing that I have found many of them interesting persons. With rare exceptions they had been devotees of tobacco. Entering the lists it was hard, with their social environment, to refuse the weed, but they were all compelled to abandon it. During the time John C. Heenan was in training for one of his historic fights I had a long conversation with him and his famous trainer about tobacco. While at Benicia, as some of his fellow-workmen there have since told me, John was a devotee of the pipe. In my first conversation with him we had been talking over some of his California experiences, particularly the discovery of that wonderful left fist, when one of his cronies, with cigar in hand, came in crying out: "I've got a good one for you, Jack; none of your two for a cent. I gave a quarter for it, or I'm an Injun."
"Hank, you know I can't touch that thing now. A fellow can't smoke while he is training."
"Whatever the matter, old fellow? You never say die in Benicia."
"See here, Hank," said Heenan, "I've got to get this muscle as hard as a brick" (folding his left arm and feeling of the biceps), "and tobacco won't work. Charlie would kill me if I were to smoke that cigar. He's just made up his mind that I shall win, and he won't let me look at a cigar.
He won't even let the boys smoke in my room."

The trainers of prize-fighters, pedestrians, oarsmen and billiard champions cherish no moral convictions about tobacco, but they all have one fixed and inflexible rule in regard to its use by their candidates.
And that rule is absolute abstinence.
—Dio Lewis' Nuggets.

HE MIGHT HAVE STOLEN $100,000.

After a brief pause, the banker who had told no story said: "I can tell you a true story of a young broker's clerk who, from deliberate honesty, threw away an opportunity to steal $100,000, when he knew that he would never be detected.
When George I. Seney was speculating heavily in railroad securities, he had a large amount of bonds hypotheated with a first-class Wall street firm. The bonds bore interest-paying coupons, and under the terms of the hypothecation Mr.
Seney's clerk was to have access to them every six months for the purpose of clipping the coupons. The clerk was known to the broker's firm. One day when he dropped in to cut off some coupons the hypotheated securities were handed to him, and he was left in one compartment of the offices. The firm, of course, retained in its possession a list of all the hypothecated securities returned by the clerk. On this particular occasion the clerk found infolded in Mr. Seney's packages other good negotiable bonds of the value of $100,000. They had evidently got mixed up with Mr. Seney's securities through one of those unexplainable mistakes that happen very rarely in brokers' offices.
"The clerk cut off the coupons that he had come after and restored the package of securities to a representative of the firm. The extra $100,000 of bond had been slipped into the clerk's coat pocket. Mr.
Seney's securities were compared one by one with the check list and found to be all right.

"Is everything there?" asked the clerk.
"O'h, yes," said the broker, as he prepared to put away the box.
"Everything is as straight as a string."
"You are sure that there were no other bonds in that box?"
"Perfectly," answered the broker with a confident air. "We never get things mixed here."

"Well, how about this $100,000 of bonds?" asked the clerk, drawing the extra securities from his pocket. The broker recognized them instantly, and mentioned the name of the person to whom they belonged. His astonishment knew no bounds when the clerk told him where the bonds had been found.
The broker said that he would have sworn in court that those identical bonds were in a certain place in his private safe. The clerk was asked to accept $100 as a souvenir of the occasion, but he declined.
"That fellow will get away with a million yet," said the brisk, natty banker, as he put on his hat and started for the car.—New York Times.

BY HOLLIS THAYER.

Do you fancy you have won me, That my heart is all your own? Do you dream that I will listen To no words but yours alone? Do you think the moments fleeting Bring me joy but in our meeting? Do you fancy you would be, Ever all the world to me? Do you think that I will hunger For the music of your voice? Do you dream no other person E'er can make my heart rejoice? What if I should undecieve you, Would the knowledge of it grieve you? If I should your words deride, Would it wound your heart or pride? Never shall your touch, tho' tender, Through my being send a thrill; Never shall your tones caressing All my heart with rapture fill. Never shall your loving glances Waken in me haunting fancies; I defy your subtle arts; Go—with them win other hearts. Not a thought of you shall move me; All the weapons you can wield Will not penetrate my armor— Only glance from off my shield, Not my heart shall own your master, Never thro' an instant faster; In it, even in a dream, You shall never dwell supreme.

AN IMPRESSIVE MAN.

"How does the new pastor impress you, Miss Spinster?" "Law sakes, how did you know he impressed me at all? I didn't suppose anybody saw us."—Chicago News.

AN EXCELLENT ONE.

It was down at a well-known political resort. One of the numerous political heelers had just made his report to his boss and was going out.

"That fellow," said the boss to a visitor, "has been in jail; but he is really an excellent young man."

"I should say he must be—an excellent young man."—San Francisco Chronicle.

SO THEY HAD.

"Say," shouted a boy in front of the City Hall the other afternoon.

Something like fifty men came to a dead halt.

"Say! your wife said I was to tell you not to forget to bring home tea!" continued the boy in a louder voice.

Forty-five men wheeled, slapped their legs, and grunted out: "Hanged if I hadn't forgotten all about it!"—Free Press.

JONES' MISTAKE.

Mrs. Smithson (who flatters herself upon her youthful appearance)—"That young lady over there is my daughter, Mr. Jones; would you believe it?"

Jones (looking in the wrong direction)—"Your daughter! Is it possible? I should have guessed she was your sister."

Mrs. Smithson—"Not the lady you are looking at, Mr. Jones; she is my mother."

Jones—"Oh!"—Boston Transcript.

A PROBLEM FOR THE CURIOUS.

A dealer in Maine has a call from a customer for four gallons of a liquid whose sale is prohibited by the laws of that State. The customer has no vessel to contain this liquid and the dealer will furnish one, having in stock two empty kegs—one of three gallons, the other of five gallons and a full keg of eight gallons. The dealer has no measure, but proposes to deal out the four gallons by pouring from one keg to the other until he has just the right quantity in one of the kegs. How did he do this?

A MAN WITH MUSIC IN HIS SOUL.

"Did you see that fellow fall from a balloon at Cheltenham Beach not long ago?"

"No; I wasn't there that day, but I've dropped thirteen miles myself, straight down, and that, too, quicker than a cat could wink."

"Is it possible? When was it, and how did it happen?"

"I was trying to manufacture a little poetry to read at a soldiers' reunion, and my wife had to come in like a thunder clap and tell me the flour barrel was empty."—Chicago Ledger.

MICROSCOPIC.

"No, sir," declared Schoeppestedt positively. "I don't take any stock in all this talk about mind reading. It is all bosh, every bit of it. I'll defy any man living to read my mind. It's an absolute impossibility."

"But, dear," gently interrupted Mrs. Schoeppestedt, "you ought not to be quite so positive. Science has been making wonderful strides, you know, in the last few years. Why, I was reading only the other day of a wonderful microscope which would show over 112,000 lines drawn in a space an inch wide."—Somerville Journal.

J. A. DOWER,

Ship Carpenter and Boat Builder.

HAS on hand and for sale various sized surf boats, constructed on an improved principle of my own invention, each frame being of one piece across the keel. The frames are closer together, and the boats are therefore lighter and less liable to bilge in, than boats of any other build. Each side plank and gunwale is in one piece from stem to stern, and is consequently not liable to strain, there being no midship butts. The material and workmanship are warranted to be of the best quality.

Mr. Robert Lewers, of Lewers & Cooke, will attend to the sale of these boats, and dispose of them at San Francisco prices. 65 1y

STATEMENT.

THE undersigned, a Committee of Directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, appointed to formulate the views of the Board on the advantages offered by the Society to the public, report:—

1st—The Society issues all the approved forms of assurance, including Ordinary Life, Endowment and Tontine policies. It is immaterial to the Directors which form of policy is taken by intending assurers.

2d—The Life and Endowment forms of policy provide for annual cash dividends and a surrender value; are indispensible after three years and payable immediately after proof of death.

3d—The premiums on a Tontine policy are the same as on the Ordinary Life, but while the latter is only payable in the event of death, the holder of the Tontine policy has the right to draw the whole of the reserve and the accumulated profits in cash at the end of a stated period; thus, during his own lifetime, after his producing years are past, he can, without any larger premium than on an ordinary policy, secure these greater advantages.

4th—Experience shows that the return paid in cash on maturing Tontine policies approximates to or exceeds the amount of premiums paid by policyholders, so that the average cost of the assurance will be only about the interest on the premiums.

5th—Tontine policies, like others, are paid in full in the event of death at any time during the term of the policy, and are incontestable after three years, and payable immediately after due proof of death.

6th—Experience shows that the mortality is lower among Tontine policyholders, as the better lives seek this kind of assurance, which is a considerable source of profit.

7th—Tontine policies will be made non-forfeitable under the laws of the State, if so desired at the time the assurance is effected.

8th—The Tontine system is fair and just; its accounts are accurately kept, separate from all other business, the funds judiciously invested and improved, and the accumulated profits faithfully guarded and properly apportioned.

9th—The Society has since its organization transacted a larger amount of new business than any other company, while its new business for the first half of the present year is $1,750,000 larger than that of the first half of 1884. It has Assets of $60,000,000; over $14,000,000 of Surplus, and its ratio of Surplus to Liability is greater than that of any other company.

HONOLULU LIBRARY

—AND—

READING ROOM ASSOCIATION.

THIS INSTITUTION is located on the corner of Hotel and Alakea streets, directly opposite the building of the Y. M. C. A., and is open every day and evening, Sundays included.

The Reading Room is supplied with all the local journals, as well as nearly fifty of the leading foreign papers and magazines.

The Circulating Library consists of over 3,000 volumes, and is constantly increasing.

The Reference Library contains a valuable line of cyclopedias, dictionaries, and works of a similar character.

A handsome parlor is provided for conversation and games.

The Circulating Department is closed on Sundays.

Terms of membership: Signing the roll and paying the regular dues, fifty cents a month, quarterly in advance.

Strangers from foreign countries and visitors from other islands are welcome to the rooms at all times, but as the Association has no other regular means of support except the dues of members, it is expected that residents of Honolulu who desire to avail themselves of its privileges, and all who feel an interest in maintaining an institution of this kind in our community, will join the Association and pay the regular dues.
