Jas. Williams, a leper on Robbins Island, Cape Town, South Africa, has written to Superintendent Jack McVeigh here, making inquiry as to the system employed in the running of the colony at Molokai. From his description it would appear that the situation at Cape Town is very bad.

SUSTAINED ORDINANCE (Continued from Page 1) ants have assured the prosecution that they have abandoned the tenement proposition and propose to go into the hotel business. "I should like very much to give a decision in this case," said Judge Andrade, "but the matter is one of great importance, and it would open the door to the passing on constitutional questions by other District Magistrates, some of whom are competent while others are not."

"I am going to sustain the ordinance, very much against my own judgment. I do this because I think that it is to the best interest of all concerned to have the question passed on by the highest court in the Territory."

In answer to a question by the Court, Milverton stated that he would regard the matter in the light of a test case. A fine of $20 and costs was therefore imposed. Peters gave notice of an appeal to the Supreme Court, stating that he expected to be able to bring the matter up before Christmas.

PRIZE COMPANY (Continued from Page 1) of the Fifth Cavalry, the first installment of the augmented garrison. The assignment of Company "E" to this post will, in all probability, mean the establishment on this island of an Army wireless station. Company "E" holds the Army wireless record for a half dozen different feats and the commanding officer, Lieut. Paul W. Beck, is one of the recognized wireless authorities in the service.

No official advices have been received here relative to the assignment of Company "E", but the general understanding among local Army men seems to be that it will be sent here. The assignment of the prize signal company of the Army means quite a compliment to Oahu.

DISORDER FEARED IN CHINA

PEKING, China, Nov. 16.—Three thousand police are posted in the streets throughout the city and disorders are feared. The Legations are being guarded by troops to prevent attacks in the event of street rioting. The cause of the death of the Emperor and the Empress Dowager has not been given out to the public. Fourteen native banks have been closed, but the branches of the foreign banks have not been affected by the disorders.

KEIZO'S PETITION DENIED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 16.—The Supreme Court has denied the petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Morita Keizo, under sentence of death in Hawaii for murder.

The technical legal question on which this case has been carried up to the court of last resort was the eligibility of a grand juror naturalized in the Circuit Court during the change of government in the islands, the contention being that such naturalization did not confer citizenship. Keizo has been reprieved time and time again during the past few years, but will now have to pay the death penalty for his crime.

EMBEZZLER'S QUICK TRIAL

20,000 RED MEN MARCH IN REVIEW

Philadelphia Scene Of Great Celebration Of Order

The North American in a recent issue contains the following account of the celebration of the Red Men which took place in Philadelphia last month:

History turned backward last night when Philadelphia was given over to its original owners, the Red Men.

Twenty thousand strong, they came to Philadelphia and took possession. For the first time since the days before Penn, the war cry of men fully armed and thirsting for scalps was heard. They marched through the streets in feathers and war paint.

And the populace, as though glad to bend the knee to the new lords, was on hand to welcome them and to rejoice.

It was the second of the night parades of Founders' Week. In recognition of the Improved Order of Red Men, as the figurative descendants of the aboriginal American tribes, it had been turned over to them, to do with as they chose. To celebrate the honor, they presented to the people of Philadelphia the finest pageant ever given by their order.

Not content with the Red Men who make Philadelphia their habitat, the organizers of the parade sent out for the tribes who live in other towns. There were Indians in the parade from North Jersey and from Delaware.

There were Indians from Reading, Norristown and other Schuylkill county places.

Order's Largest Parade.

There were Indians from Chester, West Chester, and tribes to the southwest of Philadelphia. And last of all, the Philadelphia tribes, with full complements of men, swelled the total of marchers to the largest parade ever given by that order in this part of the country.

There were all kinds of Red Men in the parade. There were Indians in warpaint and Indians with tomahawks. There were Indians with huge headresses, and Indians in evening dress. There were Indians with silk hats, Indians with red sashes, Indians in white ducks, and Indians with overcoats.

There were sachems and braves, bucks and chiefs. There were paupers and squaws. And they were all good Indians and none of them dead.

The Indians in last night's parade were fond of music. Nearly every tribe had its own band. They were well organized and marched with precision. Every tribe had its own distinctive style of garb, some of them representing a high degree of artistic effort.

In the line, which required more than two hours and a half to pass a given point, were many floats descriptive of the primitive Indian life or of their relations with the early settlers. Wasaga Tribe, No. 48, had three excellently executed floats, representing the rescue of John Smith from the stake, the treaty with William Penn and the Boston tea party. Pawnee Tribe, No. 20, had a float in which the braves were gathered in council, smoking the pipe of peace. Neshaminy Tribe presented a scene with small boys as the central figures, representing early life of the colonial officers at Fort Mifflin. Menno Tribe, No. 328, also had a float representing the sealing of a peace compact, while a number of other tribes were equally well represented.

Baby Tribe First.
To the baby, or papoose, tribe was given the right of line in the parade. This was Arrahwanna Tribe, No. 512, of West Philadelphia, which was organized by Francis E. Scullen, September 30, and which, in eight days had gathered together 250 braves to take part in the parade.

Scullen was Chief Mishinewa, while in the front rank of the procession marched Thomas Sharkey, H. A. Tramer and Harry Leber.

The nineteen divisions of the big parade formed on the streets east and west from Broad street, on the thoroughfare north of Diamond. Promptly at 8 o'clock the signal to advance was given, and the various tribes, with their war plumage on, started down Broad street.

Frank Weldenman, of Osage Tribe, No. 113, was chief Mishinewa. He was assisted by the following aides: William Eller, No. 79; Albert A. Redfer, No. 3; R. J. Lamb, No. 379; Frank Ryan, No. 325; Samuel W. Meredith, No. 31; George A. Willie, No. 356; John Ullman, No. 137; Charles E. Bell, No. 304; Samuel R. Kerlin, No. 138; William Goddard, No. 135; Joseph B. Remaly, No. 39, and Samuel Williams Jr., No. 424.

With the exception of Arrahwanna Tribe, the first eight divisions were composed of out-of-town organizations. The first division, under the direction of Harry J. Rathbone, of Tribe No. 23, as Mishinewa, was composed of tribes from North New Jersey, with Trenton as the basis.

WOMAN TRIES TO USE DYNAMINE

Attempt To Compel Mrs. Phipps To Give Up $20,000

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 9. — After haunting the residence of her intended victim for two days and making efforts to get into communication with her, an unknown woman who threatened Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps, divorced wife of Lawrence Phipps, the Pittsburg millionaire, with death unless she was given $20,000 in money, was foiled in her designs by the clever work of bank and city detectives.

When she discovered that she was beaten, the woman cast dynamite sticks intended for Mrs. Phipps at the detectives, but fortunately they fell against the upholstered side of an automobile, which prevented them from exploding. The woman was quickly placed under arrest and efforts are being made to find some clue to her identity. She persistently refuses to give her name, but insists that she is under the influence of a hypnotist, and that this explains her attempt at blackmailing Mrs. Phipps.

The woman had been watching Mrs. Phipps, and when she went automobiling in City Park the mysterious stranger took her position behind a tree. As the machine passed the tree the woman ran and jumped into it.

She quickly engaged Mrs. Phipps in conversation, assuring her that her apparent fears were entirely unnecessary; that she was a magazine writer and had no desire to do injury to Mrs. Phipps. She talked so kindly that Mrs. Phipps became reassured and they rode together for fifteen or twenty minutes.

Suddenly the woman produced two sticks of dynamite and commanded that Mrs. Phipps give her $20,000 within an hour or she would be destroyed. She directed that the automobile be driven to the Wilcott School and Mrs. Phipps' daughter be taken along, evidently for the purpose of having a hostage. Mrs. Phipps agreed to go to her bank and get the money, whence the party headed after stopping at the school to get the little daughter of Mrs. Phipps. Arriving at the bank, all but the strange woman left the machine, but she made no protest.

Once inside the building Mrs. Phipps hurriedly related her experience to a bank official and police headquarters was communicated with. Two detectives hastened to the bank. In the meantime, a special bank detective had engaged the woman in conversation from the window of the enclosed machine next to the sidewalk. The two city detectives quietly walked around the rear of the machine and slipped open the door on the street side. The woman saw that she was entrapped and dashed the dynamite sticks at the two officers. They struck against the machine and fell to the floor intact.

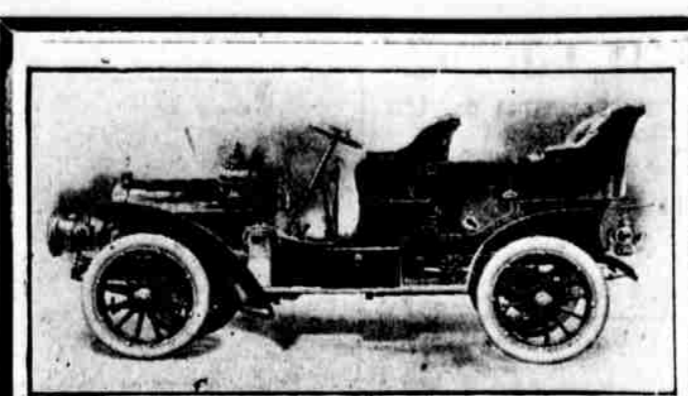

The police have investigated every source of information at hand in an effort to ascertain the identity of the mysterious woman. Tonight they found in her room at the American House a toilet set engraved with the initials "F. C. R." The woman herself refuses to give her name. She does say, however, that she had recently undergone a siege of brain fever, and her appearance would bear out this claim. Her hair is prematurely gray in spots, and her thin face and body might easily have been rendered so by fever. Her memory appears to be clouded, and when asked as to the place whence she came to Denver, she replied that she thought it was Boston. She was sure that she had been in New York in recent months. The woman has every appearance of refinement, and her clothing is of rich material. The toilet set found in her room is silver mounted and of costly design.

Delaware was Mishinewa of the second division, which included tribes from the Delaware organizations. The third division was composed of tribes from Allentown, Bethlehem, Catawqua and other towns in that vicinity under the director of the Mishinewa, Grant Jenkins, of Tribe No. 91.

Those in Fourth Division.
Chester and vicinity furnished the tribes of the fourth division, which was headed by Mishinewa John M. Knight, of Tribe No. 80. Bryn Mawr, West Chester, Ardmore, Berwyn and Tanquay composed the fifth division, under William S. Histine, of Tribe No. 206, as Mishinewa. The Indians of the sixth division came from Reading, Berks and Schuylkill counties, under Charles T. Davis, of Tribe No. 339, as Mishinewa.

South New Jersey, including the Camden tribes, composed the seventh division, of which Robert Lutton, of Tribe No. 124, was in charge, while the eighth division, under J. Dyson Redfern, of Tribe No. 1, included Red Men from Norristown, Conshohocken, Pottstown, Phoenixville, Royersford and Boyertown.

Beginning with the ninth division, the remainder of the parade was composed of Philadelphia tribes.

TUESDAY NOVEMBER 17, 1908

The report of the United States Steel Corporation for the last quarter shows a distinct gain in earnings. Inasmuch as steel is considered a good barometer of business conditions, one can feel fairly well assured that the tide has turned and that the business depression is over.

It was twenty-one years ago last month that the statue of Liberty Enlightening the World was unveiled in New York harbor. If the bronze of Bartholdi were animate, would it not give a rousing cheer for the wonderful advancement toward liberty which has been made during that time? And that advance has not been accomplished through the machinations of such organizations as the Personal Liberty League, but through the silent work of such disinterested leaders as Charles Evans Hughes.

In protesting unofficially against the disposition in England to consider him an enemy of that country, Emperor William of Germany revealed the fact that France and Russia had contemplated intervention during the war in South Africa. Those two countries had invited the Kaiser to join in the proposed attempt to let the Boers alone. But, he declares, the invitation was declined. The Emperor also protests that he aided the British during their troubles with the Boers by working out what he considered to be the best plan of campaign under the circumstances, a plan which he submitted to the British general staff for criticism. This announcement of the alleged scheme of intervention may strengthen the relations now existing between Germany and Great Britain. In the case of France, the disclosure is unfortunate. Through the French-British Exhibition in London, traditional enemies were drawing closer together. The Kaiser would rather have the countries which are separated by the English Channel indifferent friends. Consequently, he may have made his recent statement for the purpose of estranging England and France.

UNCLE JOE'S DOCTRINE.

In a recent public speech aimed at some of his political enemies Speaker Cannon said: "This republic of ours is not worth three burrahs in the place that burns with fire and brimstone if it has within its borders privileged classes. Civilization should spread over all alike." This is sound fundamental philosophy sulphurously expressed.

Mr. Cannon was directing his remarks especially at Mr. Gompers and contending that the labor leader desired to give trade unionists the status of a privileged class. If that be so, there can be no question that Mr. Gompers is wrong. The labor group, however, doubtless would concede the correctness of the general principle laid down by Mr. Cannon and would argue that what they seek is only equality before the law and not an advantage over their fellow men who are not trade unionists.

It is encouraging to hear Speaker Cannon talking so vehemently against the existence of privileged classes. It may be of value to be able to recall to his mind this speech some time when powerful interests seek to get through Mr. Cannon's assistance privileges placing them at an advantage in comparison with the rest of the world and at the expense of the industries of Hawaii.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK FOR THE TIMED ONES.

Some opposition to the proposition to establish postal savings banks cropped up at the convention of the American Bankers' Association in Denver. The committee appointed to look into the subject reported unfavorably upon it.

It is pointed out that last year the savings banks of the country took care of $3,500,000, with a loss of only $120,000, or the barest fraction of one per cent, whereas the proposed government rate of two per cent, would have deprived the depositors of at least $50,000,000. In interest in the same year." Fault is also found with various provisions of the bills brought before Congress, one criticism being that the postal system would centralize the funds—just as the Democratic platform charged that the funds might be shipped to Wall Street—although the principal advocates of the project, notably Postmaster General Meyer, have declared it to be their wish and purpose to have the deposits kept as near home as possible.

The objectors seem to have overlooked the important circumstance that the idea of establishing a postal savings bank system was proposed chiefly for the purpose of reaching the people who cannot or will not deposit their savings in existing banks. The large amount of money annually sent abroad for deposit in foreign banks furnishes reason for believing that this money, or some substantial part of it, could be retained in this country, where it is needed and where it could well be kept in circulation.

HIRAM MAXIM AND OUR PREPAREDNESS.

Hiram Maxim, whose inventions of implements of war have been numerous and noteworthy, showed himself a master of hard truth in a recent New York speech. In which he declared that Americans were obsessed with a military conceit that might some day prove disastrous. He pointed out the extent of our distant domains; their vulnerability; the fact that all our possible enemies, eastward and westward, were arming, or already are armed, to the teeth; that we have practically no army; and reminded his audience of our belief in our immediate, complete, and preternatural ability to "whip all creation," armed or unarmed.

Mr. Maxim knows. He is one of us, though mostly he lives abroad, where the market for the things he makes is better than in his own country. He comes home to talk. But if he needed popularity in America to help him in his business—which it is lucky for him he does not—his speeches wouldn't help him get it.

As a matter of fact, we have an inadequate navy; we have the mockery of an army; and we cannot do better, because—well, simply because the people can't agree on the proper way to do better. If Hiram Maxim knows anything about American politics, he knows this, according to the Philadelphia Times: that the quickest way to lose the support of the members of any of the subcommittees of the Committee on Appropriations is to tell the truth out loud.

There is an old story about an ostrich hiding its head in the sand. But it is quite well understood that you cannot make a hit by telling that story to an audience of ostriches.

THE TERRIBLE TOLL OF TUBERCULOSIS.

"Consumption kills 128,000 in the United States every year. The entire cost of these numerous cases is not less than one billion dollars; the cost to other than the victims not less than four hundred and forty million dollars a year. A quarter of these lives could be saved by an investment of $5,500,000."

This is the judgment of Professor Irving Fisher, expressed to the International Congress on Tuberculosis. Every layman who has touched the problem knows how much basis exists for these stupendous totals. They are awful, accusing, discreditable.

But it will not do merely to dwell upon that side of the problem. The men and women lost must not be our chief concern. Their sacrifice was woeful; their deaths should prove an incentive. We must turn our lives to prevention. We have the impressive testimony of a specialist, Dr. Lawrence F. Flick, president of the Henry Phipps Institute of Philadelphia. He says:

"Let us make the people see the bright side of this problem. Let us fill them with a normal and justifiable hope. Let them see as we see that even the most advanced cases can be arrested; that all other cases can be thoroughly cured; that for them and us the disease can be wholly prevented by nutrition, hygiene, and happiness. Let's preach the doctrine of good, healthful, sensible living, with escape from consumption as its reward—and we shall all be the better for it."

UNDERFERD SCHOOL CHILDREN

Chicago's City Council has ordered an investigation as to underfed school children. Alderman Hurt is responsible for this official inquiry, and in calling the attention of the Council to the situation he remarked: "When you are told that 5,000 children are hungry all the time and that 10,000 more are only half-fed, you are face to face with a big problem."

If these figures are even approximately correct the condition among the school children of Chicago is certainly one calling for investigation and relief. But things are not always as bad as they are said to be. Even stronger statements and bigger statistics have frequently been placed before the people of New York as to its underfed school children and almost uniformly they have been found to be greatly exaggerated.

While there are always some, perhaps many, cases in every large city where children are underfed, to the honor of American fatherhood and motherhood these cases are far more rare than they are generally asserted to be. The parents are far more likely to be underfed or half-starved than the children, for every parent worthy the name would sooner go hungry than that his child should be deprived of food.

Besides it is a fact which tender-hearted philanthropists sometimes forget that the healthy child, especially one that is allowed to play out of doors, is almost always blessed with an appetite and ready to eat anything eatable. Still another consideration should not be lost sight of. In making self-respecting and self-supporting citizens it is better that a child should occasionally go hungry rather than get accustomed to eating the bread of charity. The principle can be carried too far, but there is probably less danger of this than there is of affording aid which, unless judiciously administered, helps to increase the evil it is intended to diminish.

BENEFIT CONCERT SATURDAY, NOV. 21.

On Saturday evening music such as only a Hawaiian can interpret will be heard at the Hawaiian Opera House, for the benefit of the Kuli-Moanalua church. Strange as it may seem, the musical education of these island lads has been very limited and yet they are quite capable of producing harmony such as any critic might appreciate. Those who will avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing Hawaiian music by such representative Hawaiians from all over the country, will never regret their attendance at this musical. The impression will be an everlasting souvenir of this land of music. The island glee clubs are vying with each other as to which will perform and sing the best; for this reason they are rebarbering with a will. The Hul City Society will furnish one of the numbers that is looked forward to with interest by many, in that, twelve ladies will represent each island in songs. Then there is the Kallimal quartet, a combination of lads that is hard to beat in their special line. The Kamehameha glee club is always good and its appearance is a feature of the excellent program. Bergstrom Music Co. has all the seats for sale and they are for $1.75 and 50c.

MAKE BOMBS TO BE USED IN INDIA

VANCOUVER (B. C.), Nov. 6.—Chief of the Province Police today secured positive information that bombs for use in anti-British outrages in India are being manufactured in New Westminster by Hindoo revolutionists resident there. Information regarding the manufacture of the bombs and their contents has been given by a Hindoo resident in Seattle. In a secret room in New Westminster, two or three Hindoos are at all times at work making infernal machines for shipment to Bombay and Calcutta, there to be used in outrages on British officials and soldiers. The work is being done in New Westminster under the protection of an organization of Hindoo workmen, who are actively in sympathy with the revolutionary movement in India. Five hundred mill workmen reside in the Hindoo colony of New Westminster. The police have not yet decided what steps to take to close out the nest of conspirators.

SOUNDINGS ARE being made in the slips between the naval wharves for data in the preparation of specifications for contracts for dredging out the slips to a uniform depth of thirty-five feet. The slips have not been dredged for several years and have filled up several feet from harbor accretions, coal and other debris. The cruiser Pennsylvania, after being loaded with coal, had a little difficulty in steaming out of her slip, as she rested on a hummock of mud just amidships. The wharves are all to be repaired, work already being in progress on wharf No. 2. These wharves have seen hard service since their construction many years ago, and have been sadly in need of repairs for the last two years. The Navy Department will repair the wharves to such an extent that they will be capable of doing service until the docks and wharves are completed at Pearl Harbor. The repair work has reached such a stage on wharf No. 1, that the Crook was sent to the Channel wharf yesterday.

The new gospel vessel, the Hiram Bingham, is now ready to sail for the Gilbert Islands. The little craft is lying at Howard street and is attracting much attention by its trim build. On Tuesday it will start out on its 4500-mile trip. It will go first to Honolulu and then to its point of destination. It belongs to the American Board of Foreign Missions. Captain Alfred C. Walkup is its commander and will sail the little craft in its missionary work about the different islands. On the voyage from this port a crew of six will run the vessel. This includes the captain's son, Alfred W. Walkup, who was born in this city for the past fifteen years. Walkup's daughter Eleanor will go as a passenger.—Chronicle.

PLANTATION WINS HARD FOUGHT SUIT

Cockett vs. Kihel Matter Breaks All Maui Record

WAILUKU, Maui, Nov. 14.—The ejectment suit of Patrick Cockett against the Kihel Plantation Co., Ltd., after occupying the attention of Circuit Judge A. N. Kepoikal and the jury for a period of eight days, terminated this afternoon in favor of the defendant plantation. Attorney C. W. Ashford fought hard for his client, while Attorney W. A. Kinney represented the Kihel Plantation Co. Some years ago, P. Cockett of Wailuku and manager of the W. H. Cornwell estate ranch, bought the interest of one of the heirs of Poonui of Pulehunui in Kula. Pulehunui extends all the way from the once lively seaport of Kihel to and beyond the Government road at Kula, a distance of over ten miles. The heirs from whom Mr. Cockett acquired his title to the land, the R. P. showing six pieces containing about eight acres, told him positively that the land was situated near the Kihel beach and embraced a portion of the present Kihel Plantation Co. One of the relatives was buried there, and Mr. Cockett himself went on the land, examined it carefully, and was quite satisfied that the land indicated in the Royal Patent was there. He subsequently obtained the services of Surveyor J. K. Kahookole of Wailuku, who surveyed the land according to metes and bounds in the R. P. and the map made by him was filed in court. But Attorney W. A. Kinney brought in a large array of witnesses, who testified that the land in question was near the Mormon Church at Pulehunui near the Kula road, and was at present an experiment station for cacti for the Poonui family. Mrs. Naukana of Honolulu and also Senator S. E. Kalama, who spent their childhood days around the Poonui fireplace, testified that the pieces owned by Poonui were near the Kula road, at present the home of pigs and cattle which roam amidst the shades of the cactus plants. Attorney Jno. Richardson, formerly of Wailuku and Lahaina but now an inmate of the Leahi Hospital, Honolulu, was brought into court as a witness for the defendant plantation.

This case will probably go down to history as the longest jury case tried on Maui. The court room was crowded every day by people who were eager to witness the legal combat between the two well-known attorneys. The Board of Supervisors of Maui County met last Wednesday and adjourned today after completing their regular routine work. Last evening, in compliance with a special invitation of the Board of Supervisors, the meeting room was filled with many of the citizens of Wailuku. Chairman Henning explained the object of the meeting, which was to receive an expression of opinion from the Maui public, especially those of the County seat, as to the expenditure of public funds by the County Supervisors towards the Town Hall. D. H. Davis, president of the Wailuku Improvement Association, in expressing his deep appreciation of the magnificent attitude of the Board in appropriating nearly two thousand dollars towards moving and completing the Town Hall, also voiced the unanimous sentiment of Wailuku citizens who are one and all deeply indebted to the Board of Supervisors for the magnanimous spirit displayed by them in the matter, and more especially to the genial chairman who had done his best towards forwarding this most worthy object. Dr. J. H. Raymond was somewhat doubtful as to the legal right of the Board to delegate its powers to a sub-committee subservient to the Board. Messrs. H. M. Coke, A. do Rego, J. L. Coke, L. M. Baldwin, J. N. K. Keola, and Senator W. J. Coelho also spoke approvingly of the course taken by the Board. Attorney C. W. Ashford also spoke in most appreciative terms of the work done by the Board in the matter of the Town Hall, and when he took his seat it was evident that there never will arise at any time in the future a discordant voice which would contradict or criticize the excellent work of the Republican chairman of the Board of Supervisors. In fact, the building, when completed, will be one of the most attractive as well as beneficial edifices in this town.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Will Young, of 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me., says: "I was troubled for a long time with dreadful backaches and a pain in my side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to try it; after taking three bottles I can truly say that I never felt so well in my life."

Mrs. Augustus Lyon, of East Earl, Pa., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "I had very severe backaches, and pressing-down pains. I could not sleep, and had no appetite. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me feel like a new woman."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

SPOUTS BY THE SPORTING EDITOR

If there be any lad about who fights at a weight in the neighborhood of 160 pounds, now is the time for him to come forward. Soldier Miller of Fort Shafter feels the call to combat sizzling in his veins and he would mightily like to try conclusions with some husky champion in search of honor and advancement. Miller's challenge rings true, and it sounds as though he were really talking because he wants to fight and not merely to hear the pleasing sound of his own vocal apparatus. Now if some of these people that want to fight so badly, and feel so disappointed because they can get no mills, will drop the soldier a line, they are likely to be accommodated.

Late dispatches from New Haven make it look as though this might prove a Harvard year as far as football is concerned. But a short time before the great Springfield contest it was thought wise, after a conference of the coaches, to switch seven men on the varsity team from one position to another, and to retire four men entirely. The coaches doubtless know what they are about, but to the man at a distance it looks like bad judgment to change horses so near the middle of the stream.

The present status of the football situation, as far as the High School and Punahou teams are concerned, is certainly about as satisfactory as it well could be. The first teams have a game piece, a coating of slaked lime and glue all around, and the second teams have played two nothing-to-nothing games. The situation is all that anyone could wish for, and High School and College men evidently intend to take full advantage of it. The inter-collegiate outlook is fine.

LITTLE BOATS RACE
Model Yacht Regatta Proves Great Event and Competing Craft Make Good Time

The regatta held yesterday under the auspices of the Hawaiian Miniature Yacht Club proved a great success.

There were five miniature yachts entered in the race. The contest was over a course a little more than a mile in length and, considering the wind and tide, wonderful time was made. Following is the official time of the different craft:
Myrtle, piloted by Friday, first; time, 1h. 29m. Kalaohomano, second; time, 1h. 34m. White Star, third; time, 1h. 42m. Haulani, fourth, and Governor (disabled), fifth.

SIX INJURED IN GAME OF FOOTBALL
LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 7.—In a friendly football game between the eleven of Hollywood and Pasadena High School in the latter city this afternoon, six players were injured, three seriously and one perhaps fatally, and four of them are now in a hospital. The chief sufferers are members of the Hollywood team, which was outweighed an average of over thirty pounds to the player, and were crushed down by their more powerful opponents.

Fullback Charles Knowles sustained an injury to the spine which caused total paralysis for two hours, and may yet cause death. Arthur Priestler, center, was struck in the neck and a chord injured in such a manner that his mind became affected and he raved, but he has now nearly recovered. Neal Hill, guard, was thrown with a leg under him, and the member was fractured below the knee, while J. Temple's ankle was wrenched in a similar manner. Paul Smith and Ned Wachof, Pasadena players, were hurt about the head. This is the death knell of football at Hollywood, as efforts have long been made to abolish the sport there.

FORT SHAFTER MAN ISSUES SWEEPING CHALLENGE
Will Take on Any Man in the Islands Whose Weight Does Not Exceed One Hundred and Sixty Pounds. Would Fight Thanksgiving Eve

If some of the ambitious fighters who have been firing out promiscuous challenges during the past few weeks really want a mill, they have only to call on Frank Miller at Fort Shafter. Miller places 160 pounds as the weight limit, but does not specify whether weighing in shall be done at the ringside or earlier on the day of the mill.

There has been but little talk of any fistie activity here since Smith, Reilly, and Leuby left, though the brief visit of Boer Unholz set the fans to thinking. A miscellaneous collection of challenges has come from several quarters, however. Now Miller comes with a definite offer to fight anyone who will comply with the weight condition.

In his challenge Miller suggests that Thanksgiving evening would be a good time to hold the mill, though he insists that he is ready to go on at any other convenient time.

As no one in the islands is barred in Miller's challenge, there is every chance for any light heavyweight who thinks that he has the championship timber in his make-up.

The following is the challenge which Miller has left with the Sporting Editor of the Evening Bulletin:

Frank Miller, stationed at Fort Shafter, wishes to box any ambitious pug on this island twenty rounds, the bout to take place Thanksgiving eve and fighters weighing 160 pounds.

Anyone wishing to answer my challenge may call at the fort any time so as to arrange articles. (Signed) Frank Miller, 20th Inf., Company H, Fort Shafter, T. H.

YALE SWITCHES PLAYERS
Team Rearranged at Ninth Hour After Conference of Coaches. Four Men Retired

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—The greatest shift which has been made in a Yale football team at this time of the season came today when seven of the eleven men were moved and four retired. The greatest change of all was the shifting of Coy, regular fullback, to the position played by his brother, Sherman Coy, in the fall of 1906. A. E. Brides, who has been playing right halfback, was put in as left tackle; Haines, who played halfback in the Brown game, has been given the regular position of left end; Bobbs was removed from left tackle and Lilley put in his place; Ford Johnson replaced Murphy at quarterback and Daly took Brides' old position; Philbin stayed at left halfback and Field took Coy's place; three linemen retained their positions, the guards, Andrews and Goebel and the center, Biddle.

These changes were decided upon by a council of coaches. The team as it now stands will line up against Princeton, with perhaps the possible exception of Field or Philbin, one of whom will be replaced by Heaton.
