ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE AND CANDIDATES

THE ORGANIZATION MEETS THIS AFTERNOON TO GO OVER THE RESPONSES TO ITS CIRCULAR LETTER TO HOLD-OVER SENATORS AND LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES, ASKING THEM HOW THEY STAND ON THE LEAGUE'S PLATFORM.

The Anti-Saloon League will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider the answers to the following letters, which were sent to each candidate for the Legislature. It is said that more than one-half of the letters sent out by the League have been answered by the candidates:

Honolulu, T. H., Oct. 15th, 1906. "Dear Sir:—In view of the prominence of the liquor question in the coming campaign, many voters are demanding to know the views on this subject of the different candidates for the Legislature. We herewith present (enclosed) the platform of the Anti-Saloon League, and affix the following blank, which we request you to sign and return in the enclosed envelope. We should like an immediate reply to this request. In case we do not hear from you by October 20, it will be taken for granted that you are not in favor of the platform of the Anti-Saloon League.

It is our purpose to state in all the papers of the Territory before election, the point of view of every candidate for the Legislature, as well as the hold-over Senators, with reference to the League platform. Yours truly, A. B. Turner, Secretary A. S. L.

I hereby declare myself in favor of (.....) the platform of the Anti-Saloon League, and (.....) pledge my vote and my influence to secure by the next Legislature such laws as are outlined in this platform. (Signed) * If not in favor, write "opposed to."  If opposed, write "do not." The following is the platform of the League: The first and most important reform

GRAVEYARD COVERING IS ALL BLOWN AWAY

A LANAI CEMETERY WHERE THE SKELETONS INTERRED YEARS AGO ARE NOW EXPOSED TO THE SUN AND WIND—THE PROBLEM OR SAVING THE ISLAND FROM BECOMING BARREN—GAY INTERESTS MAY ACQUIRE IT.

Several years ago Governor Carter stated that the Island of Lanai would soon be another Kahoolawe, unless something was done to stop the ingress of wind and sea along its shores, but the combination of Territorial land laws and the federal prohibition of acquisition of more than a thousand acres by any corporation, have prevented any action. An effort is now being made by means of land exchanges, as more than 1,000 acres cannot be sold in a lot, to get the island all under one control, as it has been decided that in no other way can the land be profitably worked.

The land divisions of the island now are quite peculiar. It consists of about 86,000 acres, of which the government owns 47,000 acres, but only holds 1,000, all the rest being under lease. The 1,000 acres, however, happens to hold a very large part of the island's water supply. Gay has about 12,000 acres and Irwin and Spreckels have 28,000 acres. Grants and Kuleanas make up the rest. The different holdings are not in single lumps, but are apart, so that no definite plans of transferring water supply can be made. It is claimed, because of difficulties in acquiring rights of way.

The high winds are literally blowing the soil of the island away. At Hale-o-ola, where an old native cemetery was founded, the bodies interred years

THE STRAIGHT TICKET

By BRAND WHITLOCK Mayor of Toledo.

It is idle to abuse the bosses, the hoodlers, the grafters and the rest. They are bad enough, goodness knows, and so, no doubt, does badness; but they are not, after all, so much to blame. They have only believed what everybody has taught, that money is everything. They have adopted the conventional standard, and chosen to live after the prevailing ideal. Were not most of them, for example, as little boys in Sunday-school, told that if they would only bring their pennies regularly they would, some day, grow up to be rich men like Mr. Rockefeller? Besides, they were permitted, and even encouraged, to become bosses, and so to make grafting and hoodling possible on a large scale, because the great mass of the voters, although citizens in a so-called free country and entitled, each one, to vote, have consented to become something less than free men, have voluntarily disfranchised themselves and actually conspired to throw away their votes. They have done this by belonging to parties; that is it precisely, belonging. Men who belong are not free; they are owned. And unless the men in it are free, a country cannot be free. And when men cease to be free, democracy fails, and an oligarchy is established. This is what has happened in our cities; thus have they become the shame of democracy.

No, it is not the boss who is responsible; it is the man who votes the straight ticket. There are large numbers of such men in every city in America. They are very proud of voting the straight ticket; they speak of voting the straight ticket and of their having voted it since they were twenty-one, and of their determination to vote it as long as life lasts and the central committee sends around the hack on election day, as if this were a cardinal virtue entitling them to general consideration and respect. It can, of course, be said of these men that they are for the most part decent, respectable citizens, who do their duty by their families, their business associates and their church; furthermore, they actually think that by voting that straight ticket, they are doing their duty by their state.

The superficial, dilettante reformers, who hope to save the state by establishing a kind of aristocracy of the "better element," have long complained that they disregard and neglect politics; but these men do not disregard politics; they talk politics half the time, even if they do not think politics. They speak of their party devoutly; it means more to them than their city, or their state, or their country. They have a phraseology—they talk of party fealty, party allegiance, party regularity, party sedition, party treason. They talk of "throwing away votes," of "losing votes," as if, to win, one must always be with the winning side; as if ballots, even though there be but one in a million, do not count when cast for principle alone! Partyism to them is more than patriotism. They are of a part, not of the whole. They have "conveyed themselves implicitly;" they are no more their own masters; they have parted with their sovereignty; they have submerged their individualities, dwarfed their personalities; they belong; they are owned, and hence, as has been said, cannot be free. America is, or was intended to be, and some day will be, a democracy, and democracy means the whole people, not a part of them. And democracy means free men, not owned men.

The party man, indeed, is in a curious state of mind. Passionately devoted, and unalterably committed as he is, to his party, he nevertheless does not insist that that every one belong to his party. He does not even wish that. He insists only that every one belong to some party—any party, though more especially a party that stands for nothing but itself. He proclaims his respect for his neighbor who belongs to an opposing party, but he treats with something like contempt the man across the street who says that he belongs to no party at all. Why is this? Because, to the party-man, the party is of primary and paramount importance; the principle is secondary; the party has ceased to be a means, merely a vehicle to carry onward a principle; it has become an end in itself. The party-man has lost sight completely of his town, his state, his nation; he feels that he has discharged his duty, and his whole duty, if he is, as he loves to say, "loyal" to his party—that is, if he votes his party ticket. Thus he enters the state of the crystallized mind; the form is everything, the spirit nothing. He thinks or feels that, by belonging to a party, he is patriotic, just as many men think that by belonging to a church they are religious.

In their beginnings, parties, no doubt, were bodies of men who believed in certain principles, and thought, wisely enough, that by organized, united effort they could advance those principles and bring about their adoption. So far, parties were useful. But in time the principle is established, takes its place in institutions, and, in due accomplishment. But the party, the bare organization, remains, and, enjoying its victories, finding the fruits sweet, it longs to perpetuate itself.

MET A MARKED NORTHERLY CURRENT

BRITISH S. S. AOTEA MET UNUSUAL CONDITION WHEN NEAR THESE ISLANDS.

With about the heaviest cargo of coal ever brought here the British S. S. Aotea, Captain Prosser, arrived this morning from Newcastle via Sydney. She brought about 6000 tons of coal to be discharged at this port. The vessel belongs to the Shaw Savill and Albion Company, Ltd., of London and operates between England and the Australian colonies. She was chartered for the present trip.

The vessel loaded the bulk of her coal at Newcastle and then went to Sydney to load bunker coal, the harbor at Newcastle not being deep enough for her to load to the desired draft. The Aotea left Sydney October 20. For three or four days before she made the islands she encountered a strong northerly current. In fact the current was so marked as to make a difference of 5 degrees in 24 hours.

The smoke of two steamers, evidently bound to some of the South Sea Islands was seen. On October 18, in Lat. 3.25 north, Long. 172.48 west an object that had the appearance of being a top mast spar of a vessel, was passed. It seemed to be a pitch pine spar. The Aotea had strong northeast trades.

Captain Prosser has his wife and three children with him this trip. He was formerly master of the S. S. Awa- wa which used to operate between the Colonias, Honolulu and the mainland about ten or twelve years ago. The Aotea may go to Portland or some northern coast port for a return charter. She will eventually go back to New Zealand.

Her officers who are a fine lot of men, expect to meet some friends here. The officers are T. Prosser, master; H. Kir-

He is not in politics for principle; he is in politics for business. He wants something to sell, something for which in certain quarters there is a demand, something for which a certain few will pay high—that is, special privileges. He knows that as soon as a sufficient number of men have become partisans, unvarying voters of straight tickets, they need no longer be reckoned with; they can be depended upon to do the same thing every time over and over again, like performing bears—that is, they will always vote one way. They have voluntarily disfranchised themselves, eliminated their own personalities, and they no longer count. He pays, indeed, little attention to them save as now and then he permits the more prominent of them, in their capacity of eminent citizens to serve on honorary committees and superfluous boards, and when he deems it expedient to create a diversion, he allows such men to be of the two hundred honorary vice-presidents and sit gravely on the platform while the Congressman from the adjoining State glorifies the party record. Thus the partisans become like the Dead Souls in Gogol's novel, and the boss, like Tchitchikoff, can put them up and sell them to the highest bidder. The boss, as one of them told us, "knows his business." So long as the great mass of voters are stupefied by partisanship, and are clinging to the superstitions of party regularity, and go about expressing themselves only in dead phrases, just so long does the boss know that he can control—may, be—the government of the city. He knows that he need only dominate the central committee to have the party caucus and the party conventions at his mercy. Then he puts the names of certain men on the ballot, and those persons who have disfranchised themselves will inevitably vote their straight ticket, and formally, legally elect the man he has already chosen for them.

And now in order to establish more firmly his oligarchy on the ruins of the democracy its own members have destroyed, he advances another step; he has his legislatures recognize parties in the laws, where they never were entitled to recognition. Third parties, independent movements, become difficult, almost impossible, and new hypocrites and new frauds are perpetrated; the face of "bi-partisan" boards appears—election boards and what not—a whole vast paraphernalia and complicated machinery, enormously expensive to the people, but providing many new places.

About the same time he devises a new and most convenient form of ballot—that is, convenient for him and for the party automatons—and, as if no opportunity for hypocrisy should be overlooked he calls it the Australian system; though it bears no resemblance to anything Australian except, perhaps the dodo. He prints the names of his nominees in columns, and over each column he prints the picture of a bird—an eagle, a rooster, a buzzard, sometimes, in irony, perhaps, a bird of prey—and thereafter the party-man need exercise no intelligence whatever; the boss has made provision against every possible accident and contingency, even partisan perjury. The human organism which was once a free man needs only the ability to recognize a given bird when he sees it and put a cross under that bird. To such base and disreputable depths has partisan politics sunk in Ohio, for instance, that campaigns have been waged and won on the cynical cry alone: "Put your cross under the eagle and let it go at that!"

KINNEY ROASTS THE REPUBLICANS

DEMOCRATS HOLD TWO SMALL BUT ENTHUSIASTIC RALLIES AT PALAMA AND MOILILI.

Two Democratic meetings were held last night. One was at Palama and the other at Moilili. The attendance was not large at either meeting, but there was considerable enthusiasm.

Kamaha was chairman at Palama, and W. A. Kinney and Col. McCarthy were among the principal speakers. Kinney spoke both in Hawaiian and English.

"The endorsement of the Democratic candidates by the Civic Federation had not puffed them up," he said. "They are willing to take votes from angels or devils and they want them for the straight ticket."

Kinney said the Republicans would have been glad enough to get the endorsements of the candidates if other tickets had not been equally favored. He spoke of the intention of the Democrats to have the election law amended so that a cross at the head of a ticket would mean a vote for all the candidates in that party.

In that way there would be fewer spoiled tickets and less bribery. Kinney spoke of the action of Birbe at the last election and the failure of the Republican administration to punish him. He said that the statement made by some of the Republicans to the effect that Laukea was the candidate of the Advertiser, and that he would be led by the owners of that paper, is false.

He was supported by the Advertiser because the Republican candidate is unfit for the office; the paper could not stand Brown's record. "Laukea" said Kinney "will conduct the office as he honestly believes it should be conducted. The Republican speakers are confusing the voters so that hundreds of tickets will be spoiled and in that way Brown hopes to be elected. Care must be taken by the voters and they should not be misled."

Col. C. J. McCarthy spoke of an amended election law and described the Australian method, adding that the Democrats might not be benefited by it, but the deal would be a square one. "The ballot is the voice of the people," he said, "but it has been drowned by the spoiled ballots that have been discarded."

Col. McCarthy closed by reciting the career of Col. Laukea from the time he entered the service of the monarchy, as Secretary of the Foreign Office, to his position as Commissioner of Crown Lands. "And he served well and honestly in every capacity, for not a dollar that ever came into his hands was misappropriated."

McCarthy referred to Laukea's important mission as Ambassador to the Russian Court and his subsequent visit as the representative of King Kalakaua, to all the courts of Europe.

Laukea spoke of the police machine-drunkness and brothels and said that if elected he would enforce the law. He said he would put down the brothels and would not use the police department to do politics. He was followed by Charles Rose and Frank Harvey.

At Moilili there were many speakers. Charles Kauwe presided and introduced W. W. Thayer as the first speaker.

Thayer said crime was prevalent and the police were giving their time to politics. The Republicans had not given good county government. Thayer referred to Gear's promise of giving jobs to thirty-five more people on the police force. There were plenty of policemen now on the force to keep the town clean, but the trouble is that the men are set to do politics instead. He said it was logical to believe that this was a scheme to make the police machine even stronger than before, to benefit the interests of Brown and associates.

Charles Broad referred to his leaving the Republicans and said that they had not been straightforward in their dealings in the convention. The party was rotten and he could not stay in it. He was for clean politics.

Frank Harvey charged that the Republican board of supervisors was responsible for the band being stranded on the mainland. He spoke in favor of weekly payments of government laborers and gave a denial of statements that had been made that if elected he would be controlled by Kinney.

John Emmeluth discussed taxation and ridiculed the idea that Congress would ever pass a law to disfranchise Hawaiians. Jarrett said that if he and Laukea were elected sheriff and deputy, they would put a stop to the way in which things are being run. Trent said he was glad to have been able throughout his administration as County Treasurer to pay the laborers off in cash without any discount on their warrants. This had made the Republicans sore and they were trying to claim credit for this benefit. Even Bicknell, the Republican Auditor and candidate for re-election, had said on the stump that he had to pay 100 cents on a dollar, as Bicknell drew the warrants for 100 cents on a dollar. Trent laughed at this argument of Bicknell's. The cash arrangement was perfected through Trent, not the auditor. The Territory Treasurer, a Republican, had tried to get the Territory on a cash basis and pay out 100 cents on a dollar, but had failed.

Mrs. Puahi spoke last, saying that Republicans were holding out promises which they could not possibly fulfill.

TO HELP THE BAND.

R. W. Breckons has been appointed a committee of one by C. B. Cooper, Potentate of the local Order of Mystic Shriners, to collect a fund to assist the band boys home.

NON-SUIT GRANTED.

LARGE MEETING ON PUNCHBOWL

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES CONTINUE THEIR CAMPAIGNING WITH SUCCESSFUL GATHERING.

The Republicans had a very large meeting last night on Punchbowl and it was a very successful one. J. F. Morgan presided and at the start he asked that speakers avoid personalities. He presented John Hughes as the first speaker.

Hughes promised to use his influence as a legislator to enable the Portuguese to get their Punchbowl homes as their own property. He mentioned the fact that 1,200 more Portuguese are on the way here, and said that Republicans had brought them and would bring more if returned to power.

John W. Cathcart spoke in similar strain. He said that a Republican Congress would have to enable the Portuguese to get their lands, and that they could ask for the lands from such a Congress with better grace if they supported the Republican party.

McCandless discussed the tariff, saying that the Democratic doctrines meant ruin to Hawaii's sugar industry. He roasted Moore for failure to pay his poll tax, saying that this was the kind of a man who said that McCandless had Japanese in his employment. Moore never hired anyone, but if he did it would probably be a Japanese. He wanted it understood that McCandless employed citizen labor and paid them good wages.

W. O. Smith asked for straight ticket votes, to sustain in power the Republican party, which he said had given the people of the islands self-government.

F. T. P. Waterhouse, W. W. Harris, E. A. C. Long, W. T. Hawkins, J. S. Kaleo and A. D. Castro spoke in turn and then Charley Hustace made his address in Hawaiian. Vida followed with a plea for the whole ticket. Harry Murray gave a short address in which he asked all to vote for all the Republican candidates.

The last speaker was Chillingworth, who spoke for W. O. Smith referring to the latter's work in behalf of the people in connection with Charley Achi's efforts to "rob" them in the Kaplan tract matter.

STATE OF OHIO SUES STANDARD OIL CO.

CABLE ANNOUNCED THAT THE COMPANY WAS FOUND GUILTY—CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

The following is a statement of the beginning of the trial in which the Standard Oil was found guilty, as announced by the cable the other day:

FINDLAY (O.), October 9.—The suit of the State of Ohio against the Standard Oil Company, in which the company is charged with conspiracy against trade, began here today and progressed at a rapid pace.

A jury was secured in less than two hours; County Prosecutor W. L. Davis presented his case; Virgil P. Kline, attorney for the defense, made answer; Attorney G. H. Phelps of the prosecution then read documentary evidence until three o'clock adjourned at 4:40 o'clock. He promises to continue the reading during the greater part of tomorrow.

In brief, Davis stated to the jury that the Standard Oil Company became a trust in 1882, and, although it had several times since changed the form of its organization, it had not ceased to commit the offenses of a trust.

Replying for the company, Kline characterized as matters of ancient history the statement of the original formation of the trust. The Standard Oil Company, he said, was a corporation controlled entirely by its stockholders; it was in no way a trust; it could not so said that any of the statements of Davis relative to the early history of the company were true, but, if they were, they were not within the limits of Hancock county, and consequently without the jurisdiction of the court.

The company, he said, sold some oil at retail in the county, and might own some real estate here, but the statement that it was in any combination in restraint of trade was entirely unsupported by the facts.

The documentary evidence which the prosecution began submitting and which, it is stated, constitutes the bulk of their case, is contained in a document authenticated by the Supreme Court of the State as the status of the Standard Oil litigation before that body. It was all objected to by that company as irrelevant, but allowed to go in by Judge Banker, presiding. The documents read to the jury to-day, which occupied the whole of the afternoon session was the statement of the case for both sides, including the original trust agreement of 1882, the pleadings of the case before the Supreme Court in 1892, which resulted in the order to dissolve the trust; the pleadings before the same Court in 1897, resulting in a judgment by the Court that the trust had been dissolved.

McCandless For The Senate

L. L. McCandless for senator from this Island ought to receive the hearty support of every voter regardless of party.

With these qualities it is to be expected that he would have a positive record of legislation attempted and accomplished; and he has.

In the work of reducing Territorial expenditures within Territorial income, he took an important part, and the excellent financial conditions of the Territory, and the good financial conditions under which the Counties started out, is due, in large measure, to him.

As chairman of a committee he was instrumental in relieving the Territory of the expense of caring for the lights and lighthouses of the Territory, that expense being taken up by the United States.

McCandless incurred some enmity, perhaps, or at least some opposition, because of his effort to secure a franchise for a railroad that should open up the Koolau side of the Island through Kalihi valley, and extend out to the Waialae region.

McCandless' record as a legislator is one of hard and valuable work along the lines of careful consideration of the interests of the whole Territory, and of all the departments of the government, in matters of revenue and appropriations, and of effective work in support of measures looking to the progress and development of the Territory.

San Francisco's Disgrace

The Labor Union Mayor of San Francisco,—a salaried violinist when he first ran for office,—making a luxurious tour of Europe and utterly ignoring most direct and specific charges of corruption made by such men as James D. Phelan and several more or less responsible officials of the city and county; the press of the city constantly ablaze with the most libellous, unless true, charges against supervisors and the mayor, as well as many other officials; the police showing every sign of outrageous corruption, and finally, and worst, the relief camps full of scandals relating to unfair distribution of the supplies generously furnished for the aid of the blamelessly destitute, full of stories of embezzlement of supplies and favoritism given to abandoned women,—with all these features of her post-disaster progress, San Francisco furnishes a remarkable spectacle and an interesting study.

As a further element of the picture, San Francisco is in the midst of a most extraordinary carnival of crime. Murders, hold-ups, thuggeries of all sorts, are nightly occurrences, so much so that a meeting was called to organize a vigilance committee to protect the city from the thugs. But here, again, political differences and other rivalries stopped action, and nothing of much practical importance was done at the meeting.

Some day, probably, a careful and accurate history of the revival of San Francisco will be written. It may indicate how much truth there is in these wholesale charges of corruption and may explain why it was that the spirit of the first few weeks, a spirit of union, of mutual sympathy and determination to drop political antagonism and work only to save the city, has gradually given way to one of bitter inharmoniousness than ever existed before and to one in which criminal charges of corruption in office, which before April 18 would have staggered the city, seem to attract comparatively little attention and, are, with accounts of crimes in public streets, the principal features of the daily news furnished by the city's papers.

A Chance To Get Rid Of Murray

It is said that campaign funds for the Republican organization are getting low. Notwithstanding an amount was subscribed early in the campaign which it was thought would be sufficient for the whole of the campaign, so much money has already been spent that further efforts of the finance committee are said to be necessary.

ago are now exposed to the sun. The sea does not reach this place, but year by year the winds have blown away the earth in clouds of dust, until now the plain is crowded with skeletons, laying just as they were buried many years ago.

With proper distribution of the water supply, it is believed that much if not all of this could have been prevented. The holdings of land are in strips, however, and no plan of working them in harmony has ever been developed. It is believed that the planting of the right kind of grass, or of kiawe trees, would soon produce results. Forestation would be the best, and probably bring increased rainfall, so that the island might become very valuable property.

The exchange plan, it is said, is likely to lead to Gay's securing control of the whole island, in which case he will be able, it is thought, to bring about the desired improvements and save the island. It is understood that there may be a consolidation of his interests with the Irwin-Spreckels interests, and that the government may get in exchange for its Lanih holdings, lands on other islands which will be suitable for settlement.

"The island is one of extraordinary beauty," said Land Commissioner Pratt, who has been all over it. "Seeing it from the steamers passing one can get no idea of its attractiveness. But it is being slowly transferred into another Kahoolawe, and all talk of settling it with individual owners is out of the question. The problem has been before us for some years, has, in fact, been discussed ever since the beginning of Carter's administration.

"If the government should try to sell the lands, it could only offer its 47,000 acres in 47 lots and not one of the 47 buyers could do anything with his lot. The government cannot even lease the land, for use for any agricultural purpose, for longer than five years. Under these circumstances the exchange proposition seems to be the only feasible one, and it is up for public discussion."

Several large fortunes have been sunk in Lanih. Gibson, Hayselden and Gay, in succession, tried to handle the big deal, and Gay still has hold. The scheme now to be tried will give some one interest full swing, so that the available water may be used where it is most needed.

DEBATERS HAVE COME TO TERMS

THE DEMOCRATS GIVE IN TO THE DEMANDS MADE BY THE REPUBLICANS.

The debaters have at last come to terms, for this morning the Democrats gave in to the demands of the Republicans and they will now debate. The Committees will meet on Monday morning at 9 o'clock and arrange the minor details.

The following correspondence passed between the chairmen of the two committees this morning in regard to the debate:

Honolulu, T. H., October 25.
H. J. MOSSMAN, Esq., Chairman Democratic County Committee, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Sir:—Your note of yesterday re joint debate was duly received. I consider it unnecessary to enter into a discussion of my reasons for insisting on the original proposition as to the order of debate. The Republicans are in power, the Democrats are the attacking party, and you have conceded that the Democrats should open. I see nothing unfair, therefore, in having the speakers alternate.

Kindly end this correspondence with a definite reply, and oblige.
Yours truly,
H. E. MURRAY,
Chairman Republican County Committee.

Honolulu, T. H., Oct. 25, 1906.
H. E. MURRAY, Esq., Chairman Republican County Committee, Honolulu.

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of even date, re joint debate, wherein, in reply to our request for the reasons which justified you in insisting that the Republicans shall have the close in said debate, you make the following statement:

"I consider it unnecessary to enter into a discussion of my reasons for insisting on the original proposition as to the order of debate. The Republicans are in power, the Democrats are the attacking party, and you have conceded that the Democrats should open. I see nothing unfair, therefore, in having the speakers alternate."

In reply we beg to state that it is apparent that you had no reason for departing from the well recognized rule of debate, that he who opens shall also close, except the reason that you want your own way and propose to have it. But rather than have the debate fall through the Democrats are willing to assume a handicap that you are not entitled to ask for, and I, therefore, hereby agree to the debate upon the conditions you have imposed. As the speakers will alternate the proposition of the Democrats that an hour in reply thereto, with a close of thirty minutes, has no application. We presume, however, that the division of time is a matter of detail now and can be settled by the committees; and we give you notice that our committee will meet next Monday morning at 9 o'clock and conclude this matter of the apportionment of time, which, as we understand it, is the sole detail undisposed of. Yours truly,

H. J. MOSSMAN,
Chairman Democratic County Committee, County of Oahu.

WATER HEARING WAS ALL USELESS

SUPREME COURT SETS ASIDE THE WATER COMMISSIONER'S RULING IN THE PALOLO VALLEY WATER RIGHTS CASE WITHOUT DECIDING THE MERITS OF THE CASE—A WATER DISPUTE THAT MAY BE BEGUN ALL OVER AGAIN.

The Supreme Court this morning decided the Palolo valley water rights matter placed in the water when it case, reversing the decision of the water commissioner and throwing the case out of court, without settling any of the merits of the controversy. The while he was here, was called on an account found that the nature of the proceeding was such that the real valley. He is said to have decided in favor of the rights of various parties favor of the underground stream, but could not be determined and so all the his deposition was not allowed to be proceedings so far had are useless. In evidence.

The suit was begun by the Palolo Land and Improvement Company against the Territory and Kaone Kaa. A decision of a water commissioner made. The petitioner, as owner of the lands of Kaone, claimed the right to all the surplus waters of the lands, and petitioner was the owner of certain land proposed to divert the waters by dam and entitled to the surplus water strutting a dam. It was claimed by thereof and asked that the petitioner the Territory in behalf of settlers be allowed to use all the water as it the lower end of the valley that the saw fit, there being no allegations as proposed dam would shut off their to any controversy or other persons in-water. A claim was set up that there rested or disputing the claim or what was a definite underground channel use of the water was desired and no from the upper lands to the lower and prayer for process, and the record not that the lower settlers had rights in showing service of process on any one the water from this channel. Mrs. N. personally or by posting or newspaper kula, water commissioner, decided publication.

WORK ON KAHULUI BREAKWATER

IS PROCEEDING STEADILY—TONS OF ROCK BEING DUMPED ALONG THE INNER SIDE OF IT.

KAHULUI, October 24.—The breakwater grows steadily, and day after day tons and tons of rock are dumped along the inner side of it to act as a retaining wall. The rock wall is now out the entire length of 2900 feet, though many tons more are still to be piled in. The dredger keeps steadily at work and pours in the coral dredgings back of the rock wall, though not as fast as could be desired. The winter storms will strike the breakwater long before it is completed, and the builders will be able to learn just what effect the force of the waters is going to have upon the structure after it is completed. If in its uncompleted state it stands the stress of the winter weather, there will be no doubt about its lasting when completed.

The Kahului R. R. Co. are now engaged in overhauling their wharf, putting in new foundation piles, and making several improvements. The landing steps have been moved to the windward side of the wharf near the end, just opposite to where they formerly were, and made more accessible than the old ones. A few years hence and Kahului will be a decidedly different looking place.

FOOTBALL TOMORROW.
Tomorrow on the Punahou campus there will be a game of inter-collegiate football between High School and St. Louis College. Punahou will play St. Louis on next Monday on the home campus.

A TREAT FOR YOU.
If you are worn out with the cares of business, or if your wife has overdone herself with the cares of the house, why not try a day or two at Haleiwa? The expense is probably not as great as the beauties of the place would lead you to believe and the returns in renewed vigor discounts all cost. St. Clair Bidgood, Manager.

SPORTS

BIG LEAGUE STAR TEAM

NATIONAL GETS SEVEN AND AMERICAN TWO MEN IN PRIZE LINE-UP OF BALL TOSSEES.

ALL-AMERICAN BASE BALL TEAM FOR 1906.

Catcher—Kling, Chicago (N.)
Pitcher—Brown, Chicago (N.)
First Base—Chance, Chicago (N.)
Second Base—Lajoie, Cleveland.
Third Base—Steinfeldt, Chicago (N.)
Shortstop—Wagner, Pittsburg.
Left Field—Stone, St. Louis (A.)
Center Field—Donlin, New York (N.)
Right Field—Lumley, Brooklyn.

Baseball writers all over the country are busily engaged in selecting an All-American base ball team for the season of 1906. A base ball authority of Boston has the nerve to submit a list without the name of George Stone for left field. Think of it, the incomparable Stone, who has the greatest batting average of any man in either league, being left off an All-American team.

It seems absurd. The Boston Post man also picks Jimmy Sheekard, of the Chicago Club, for left field. This selection is on a par with the same writer's choice of "Chick" Stahl for center field over Mike Donlin and Harry Bay.

The New York World's base ball authority picks Arthur Devlin for third base, in face of the fact that Harry Steinfeldt, of the Chicago Clubs, has a far better batting average than Devlin, and played rings around the New Yorker in the field. Steinfeldt and Devlin are in the same league, and Steinfeldt is the real leader of the National third basemen, Arnold and Lobert having played in only a limited number of games.

Hans Wagner is everybody's selection for shortstop. Hans is no better an infielder than Bobby Wallace, but he can out-hit Bobby, and his wonderful work on the bases makes him the most valuable player in the business.

Like Wagner, Lajoie, of Cleveland, has no rival for second base. The big Frenchman is a terrific hitter, and plays second base better than any man in America. Wagner and Lajoie are considered the greatest ball players in the business. Both have ranked among the leading batters of their respective organizations for many years, and each is in a class by himself playing their respective infield positions.

Wagner is probably the more valuable man of the two, for he is seldom out of the game. Lajoie is unlucky.

and is always getting crippled at critical stages.

He injured his leg sliding to second base last year and the accident kept him out of the game for several months, and cost his club the championship. Wagner is never out of the game more than a day or so. He never gets hurt seriously, and is a better base-runner and run-getter than Lajoie.

In selecting an All-American team, the most difficult task that confronts one is deciding between Hal Chase and Frank Chance for first base. Chase is a grand young player, who has played a phenomenal game for the New York Americans this year. He is outshining the greater leader of the Chicago Clubs, but Chance has the best fielding average and has displayed remarkable form as a base-runner and run-getter this year. Chance is also an ideal leader for a great ball club, and the writer would pick him to manage his All-American team.

Kling and Bresnahan are outshining and outfielding Sullivan and Schreck, the two best catchers in the American league. Clarke, the hard-hitting Cleveland catcher, is entitled to consideration on the strength of his wonderful work with the willow, but for general all-around work, Sullivan and Schreck must be classed as the American league's two best backstops. Kling and Bresnahan have it in them, and the writer would pick the Chicago and New York National catchers for his team.

"Three-Fingered" Brown is the greatest pitcher of the year, and, of course, is selected as the leading bowler of the All-Americans. Brown is a National leaguer. Eddie Plank, the crack southpaw of the Athletics, comes next and is the American league's winning pitcher. White, of Chicago, and Mathewson, of New York, look like the pick of the rest, although Mathewson was not at his best this year. Leever, of Pittsburg, has a better record than the Giant star, but Mathewson was sick all spring and failed to display his real form until it was too late to cut down Leever's lead.

For the outfield, the Republic has no hesitancy in selecting George Stone, Harry Lumley, of Brooklyn, and Mike Donlin of New York. The latter is picked on his best form. He was playing great guns with the stick last spring, when he crippled himself sliding into third base at Cincinnati and was put out of the game for the rest of the season.

Stone is the premier slugger of the American, and Lumley and Donlin are two of the greatest sticklers in the National. What a bunch of bingling this trio could tear off working on the same team, Lumley is the leading extra-base slugger of the National.

Donlin and Stone are fast men and past grandmasters at the bunting game. All three, Stone, Lumley and Donlin, are left-handed batters. The infield, however, is composed of four right-handed batsmen, Chance, Lajoie, Wagner and Steinfeldt—Callins in St. Louis Republic.

THE EVENT OF THE SEASON

CELEBRATED AT THE PUENENE CLUB HOUSE BY A VERY ENJOYABLE AND SUCCESSFUL DANCE.

KAHULUI, Maul, October 24.—Last Saturday evening at the Puene Club House the boys of the place gave a most enjoyable dance. In sending out their invitations they announced that it was to be given to celebrate the event of the season, but so far it has not been learned just what they considered the event of the season. However that may be a large crowd was present to enjoy the event and from all accounts they did so enjoy it to the fullest extent. The music was furnished by a Hawaiian orchestra made up of boys on the plantation and the music they furnished was very good. Light refreshments were served about midnight, up to which time dancing was indulged in without a break. Altogether the affair was a most enjoyable one.

GAS WORKS ON FIRE.

An alarm of fire was turned in yesterday from Box 51 shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The fire was in the engine room of the Honolulu Gas Co., Ltd., in Iwilei. The entire building was burned out as far as the wooden part was concerned, but the engine and boilers were not injured. The fire department responded rapidly and with their usual dispatch put the flames out. The gas tanks were disconnected from the engine room immediately so there was no danger from the tanks. There will be no shortage of gas in town as a result for the tanks are filled and the engines will be running again shortly. The fire is supposed to have started from a cigarette.

STUDYING SPECIAL COURSES.

It is reported that a large number of young Chinese students are turning all of their attention to special work which will fit them for positions in developing China when the awakening comes. These courses will be in civil, electrical and mining engineering, civil government, irrigation, scientific farming and the like. Already a young Chinese student of Maui has gone east to study civil engineering when he previously intended to study medicine. He was advised to make the change by a member of the Imperial Commissioners who came through this place about eight months ago.

MASONIC TEMPLE AT KAHULUI

WILL BE DEDICATED ON SATURDAY, NOV. 10—MANY MASONS EXPECTED FROM HONOLULU.

KAHULUI, Maul, October 24.—The Masonic Lodge of Maul, No. 984, have decided to formally dedicate their new Temple at Kahului, on Saturday, November 10. The building is all but completed, and the carpenters and painters will be all through by the end of next week. It has been decided to entertain the friends of the Lodge by a grand ball to be given in the Lodge rooms of the hall on the Thursday evening preceding the dedication, which will make it the evening of the 3rd. Both the dance and the dedication are in the hands of good committees, and a big time is anticipated. Many visiting brothers are expected from Honolulu, and it is hoped also from Hilo, to attend the dedication, and on Saturday evening immediately following the dedication a Masonic banquet will be given in the banquet room adjoining the Lodge room in the Temple, at which all Masons present are expected to be present.

The Temple is a decidedly handsome building, and would be an ornament to any place. In its present surroundings it does seem rather out of place, but the new plans for the improvement of Kahului intend that the sea-port town shall grow to the building. As the leases held by the Chinese and Japanese on the lots near by the new hall expire they will not be renewed, but the occupants will be offered locations in a different spot conforming to the plan of the town, and the locality in the vicinity of the new hall will be laid out in blocks for dwellings and other business blocks.

The new warehouse being erected by the Kahului R. R. Co. opposite the Masonic Temple is nearly completed and looks very well with the business front that has been put on it.

MARCELLO ACQUITTED.

P. Marcello was found not guilty of larceny by the jury that tried him in the United States District Court yesterday. He was charged with stealing twelve napkins, valued at $5, from the U. S. A. transport Buford. District Attorney R. W. Breckons prosecuted. Marcello was defended by E. W. Sutton, a young attorney whose first case here this was. The jury consisted of C. J. Falk, George Cavanaugh, Samuel Kaaloa, H. P. Roth, J. J. Egan, Frank H. Foster, Thomas B. Lyons, Neil

President Gri this morning banded the boys of Punahou into a swimming club. The idea is to meet the Kama in the water as well as on land. Punahou has several good swimmers, a number of them having won points in recent Myrtle-Healani contests. A field meet in the water as well as an occasional water polo match between the two institutions would be interesting and help out the island sports materially.

Troubles Over The Inspectors

BUCKLAND RECEIVES A VERY SOLEMN PROMISE FROM MAUI-SALARIES REFUSED.

A reply was received this morning at the Secretary's office, to the letter written to the Maui election officer who opened his package of ballots contrary to instructions. The reply says: "Your letter was received and I saw everything in it. Please excuse me because I misunderstood. Now I know, I promise before God and you, I will not open any packages hereafter."

Buckland expresses himself as satisfied with this promise and explanation.

Locally, there is still some trouble with the inspectors. Olie Swain has offered his resignation in the Fourth of the Fourth. In some others there are reports of resignations.

In two cases, inspectors have written that they will not accept the compensation of $10 allowed them by law. The two generous ones are W. F. Pogue of Maui and E. A. Mott-Smith of Honolulu. "We would like to receive some more such refusals," said Buckland, "for the election appropriation is running short."

MORE TESTS OF LANSING OIL

OIL COMPANY IS SUFFERING HEAVY PENALTY BY REASON OF OFFICIALS' ACTION.

Some more tests are being made by Engineer Howland of the Public Works Department, of the oil aboard the steamer Lansing. New samples were taken from the vessel yesterday, some from the surface of her big tank and others from the bottom, and the tests are under way now. Tests yesterday indicated a rise in the flash figure, but it was still considerably below the legal figure of 100.

The new tests will be completed today. In the meantime the steamer is still prevented from discharging her cargo, and the authorities insist that it shall not be discharged until it meets the terms of the law. "The trouble is an old one," said Attorney General Peters. "The company has come here before with oil that was not within the requirements. Now when they land here with a cargo like this, it is time to lay down the law."

"As to statements that the action of the authorities is in the nature of a punishment of the company, I have no denial to make. We are going to carry out the law and I admit it is a punishment."

The punishment is not a light one either. The cost to the company, of the delay of the steamer, is estimated at something like $500 per day.

Third Appeal Overthrown

SUPREME COURT STICKS TO TAX RULING AND CASE WILL GO TO WASHINGTON.

For the third time, the Supreme Court this morning ruled in favor of the tax assessor in the matter of the Oahu Railway & Land Company's tax appeal regarding Ewa lands, assessed at $300,000. "This is the third time that this assessment has been before this court," says the decision, "the contentions of the taxpayer having been twice overruled, in 16 Haw. 264, and 17 Haw. 573, 163.

"The facts are not substantially different from what they were then and therefore need not be restated. Per curiam. There is no merit in the contention of the taxpayer that the assessment is invalid and void because contrary to the statute and to the federal constitution. That question was disposed of in 17 Haw. 163. The claim of the taxpayer that this court has changed the settled law that this contract was not taxable has no application to the facts of this case, because the interest which is taxed is an interest in land and specifically made taxable by the statute. The evidence shows that the amount of the assessment is not too high. The decision of the tax appeal court is affirmed. Castle & Whittington for the taxpayer, M. F. Prosser, Deputy Attorney General, for Assessor."

The repetition of the appeal is understood to have been for the purpose of perfecting an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

An Opportunity

Commissioner M. T. Simonton will sell at Public Auction at the front entrance of the Judiciary Building, Honolulu, on

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3,
AT 12 O'CLOCK NOON.

Real Estate and Improvements that should invite the attention now of investors who are looking for safe propositions. The property is offered under foreclosure proceedings of the Hawaiian Trust Co., Ltd., vs. Mille Morris, and the sale is ordered by the Honorable W. J. Robinson, third Judge of the First Judicial Circuit.

The land comprises 2 64-100 acres, situate on King street, just Ewa of the Palama rice fields.

Improvements comprise 14 Cottages, each containing Parlor, 2 Bedrooms, Dining Room, Kitchen and Bath. At present the rental returns are $70 per month.

These buildings occupy but a portion of the property; the most valuable part comprising a piece approximately 172 feet on King Street and about 236 feet deep to the portion now built on is unoccupied.

There is also an unoccupied space of about 130 feet at the mauka end of the property, giving room for the erection of 4 more cottages.

The Cottages are not old, and find ready tenancy.

This valuable property is now producing a good rental, which can be vastly enhanced by improving the unoccupied portions.

All particulars required can be obtained by application to

MESSRS. BALLOU & MARX,
305 Stangenwald Building.
