HONOLULU RAPID TRANSIT NOW ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Governor Dole Sets Great Wheels in Motion in Presence of Hundreds of People.

Lightning Propelled Cars in Grand Procession Through the City—First Division of Pioneer Electric Railway System Started With Roaring Big Traffic.

Honolulu waited long for rapid transit by electric traction and its patience has at length been rewarded by the opening for traffic of the first division of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co.'s system of street railway. This epoch-making event took place yesterday—Saturday, August 31, 1901—with a slight amount of ceremony and a great deal of wholesome recreation to about five hundred representative people of the city. No sooner was the opening celebration over than the cars were started running for business. This was late in the afternoon, Honolulu immediately "caught on to the trolley," to use an expressive and rather precise slang, for last night it was estimated that a thousand persons crossed Fort street every hour riding in the electric cars.

The invited participants. Within the past week cards had been issued in the following form: "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, The President and Directors of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. request the honor of your presence at the inauguration of its regular car service, on Saturday the 31st instant at 2 p. m., at the Power House on Kapaeha street, Honolulu, August 28, 1901."

The invitation list given below is that used as a directory in the company's office and has not the names of ladies, but the wives of married men were invited all the same according to the form above given. There were about five hundred people in the assembly at the Power House. The following was the invitation list and few there were in town invited who did not respond, besides which "the stranger within the gates" was numerous.

Your operations and I know the difficulties have been great. I have been cognizant of many of them, and I feel that it is my place to congratulate the public more heartily than I can congratulate the company.

I thank you for the honor which you have extended to me, Mr. Manager, and will be very glad to assist the company in my small way.

Immediately the Governor concluded his reply to the address, he turned to the engine and opened the valve at 2:28 1/2 p. m., and the tremendous motive power of latter day industry and commerce was pulsing into the conductors. The band played "Aloha Oe."

The Excursion.
Nine of the company's handsome cars were aligned on Alapal street with the trolleys set for the Jowntown route. Of these seven were the splendid excursion cars, adaptable to all weathers and with upholstered seats of rattan, which have been previously described in this paper. The two remaining cars were of the open pattern with slat seats. All were manufactured by the American Car Co. of St. Louis, but have been set up in the Rapid Transit Co.'s barn here under the skilled foremanship of C. E. Bartlett, who came to Honolulu some years ago under engagement by the Hawaiian Carriage Manufacturing Co.

As speedily as possible the guests were disposed aboard the cars. Small American flags were attached to the trolley pole cord of each car. Manager Ballentyne carried throughout the afternoon a national flag of silk on a gilt spearhead, which was given him by Will E. Fisher in honor of the occasion. The band was seated in the forward car, which led off the procession at 2:45.

As the imposing-looking train of cars, keeping several lengths apart, moved through town it was greeted with open-mouthed gladness by crowds all along the streets. It seemed all beholders were smiling with gratification at this latest evidence of progress, while not a few cheers were heard.

There was no attempt at making speed on the outward trip. Going up the Liliha street grade, indeed, it was evident that the nine cars on one wire made a maximum load. At the height of it, the stress was relieved by some of the forward cars going to the summit while those in rear waited. There will be no such load piled upon a single circuit in regular traffic, so that the manner in which this test was stood speaks highly for the efficiency of the line.

Returning, the excursion was extended out to College Hills in the opposite direction from the power house, the line to that new suburb branching up College street from Wilder avenue along which the main line proceeds past Oahu College. There was a brief stay at College Hills, where the company greatly enjoyed the breeze and the expansive view. The grade on College street is steeper than that on Liliha street and the procession was subdivided to surmount it. With the return to the power house the excursion was over. Manager Ballentyne was congratulated profusely upon the pronounced success of the inauguration.

Opening of Traffic.
While the excursionists were still dispersing, the working staff of the line was reporting for duty on a regular time schedule for actual traffic to A. Pratt, superintendent. John C. Bell, the motorman on the leading car in the inaugural parade, has been instructing motormen for the company the past two weeks. He is an experienced man from the Denver Tramway Co. Mr. Bell has been assigned the coveted "No. 1" badge.

The ten cars assigned for duty in opening traffic yesterday, all but one of which took part in the procession, were manned as follows:

MOTORMEN. CONDUCTORS.
J. C. Bell, Daniel Nicholson
J. F. Benbow, J. H. Taylor
John Hickok, E. K. Maboe
H. P. Downing, E. K. Maboe
Geo. Robinson, Moses Kekahio
G. S. Wright, F. Stream
Chas. H. Cook, M. B. Mac
Oscar H. Roth, M. B. Mac
A. A. Sherman, B. M. Day
Hugh Burle, A. H. Day

Traffic was started by sending two cars out from the power house in opposite directions and quick succession. The first was dispatched for Manoa (College Hills) under G. S. Wright, the motorman and Kekahio as conductor. It started at 5:21 p. m. Then, at 5:22, a car started downtown bound for the opposite terminus at Nuuanu, the motorman being B. F. Benbow and the conductor J. H. Taylor. After that cars were dispatched in either direction every ten minutes, through trips being made from each terminus until about 11 p. m.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY ENACTED AT WAIALUA

Murder of a Woman Followed by Suicide.

MURDERER REFUSED TO SURRENDER DRIVES HIS VICTIM'S FRIENDS OUT OF HOUSE BEFORE KILLING HER.

Shot at the Officers Who Want to Arrest Him—Made a Will While Sitting Beside His Victim's Dead Body.

Yesterday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock a dramatic tragedy was enacted at Waialua, and at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a tragic sequel was added, closing a story of two lives which crossed each other unhappily. Kealoa, a well-to-do Hawaiian resident of Waialua, a young man 28 years of age and had been twice married, having several children. Her first husband was Kaapua, and her second husband was Kalamakee, a lawyer and judge of the district. She is a sister of Representative Kekeli, and her father lives in Honolulu. It is said that she had been receiving the attentions of Kealoa, the murderer, for some time, until a week or so ago, when she refused to longer have anything to do with him. Kealoa became jealous of another man, and the double tragedy was the result.

It was early in the morning when the crazed man arrived at the woman's house, which is close to the Kaupoo bridge near the old Halstead premises, and when he entered with threats of violence, the other inmates of the house fled at his bidding, leaving him alone with the woman who had aroused his jealousy. Angry words followed, in turn succeeded by pleading, but the woman refused to make any promises to Kealoa, and what else ensued will never be known, except that sometime after the inmates of the house had been driven from it, there was a pistol shot and a shriek. The man had killed the woman.

The frightened natives ran away and spread the news among the neighbors, and when the story reached Dr. Hubert Wood he hastened at once accompanied by School Orme of Waialua plantation towards the house. The tragedy had taken place, to see what might be done for the woman who had been shot. As they neared the house some natives who had been watching the place since the sound of the shot, approached the physician and warned him against entering the premises, saying that the man had barricaded himself inside and that it would be dangerous to go near.

Dr. Wood and Mr. Orme, however, continued towards the house, thinking to be of possible service to the victim of Kealoa, notwithstanding the fact that the desperate man was armed and had given warning that if anyone tried to get into the house it would be at the peril of death as he would surely shoot. They got as far as the lanai and were nearing a door when two shots rang out, one of the bullets splintering a post behind the doctor; the two men then realizing the danger and foolishness of trying to force an entrance, and turned back.

The news of the barricaded house with the dead woman and the murderer inside spread rapidly, causing great excitement among the natives, who gathered at a respectful distance and waited.

Deputy Sheriff Andrew Cox arrived soon after the doctor's retreat, with a posse and a warrant of arrest, and a guard was placed around the place to prevent anyone from entering, while the deputy sheriff advanced cautiously towards the house. He had not gone far, however, when a shot warned him that the murderer was vigilant inside and did not mean to be taken without a fight, and situated as he was, the murderer had decided to die with the woman. He was at the time being. So it was thought best to wait for a time and see what the pleasure of the man inside the place might be.

Mr. Cox telephoned High Sheriff Brown about the matter and received instructions to don his uniform, advance upon the house, and to state to Kealoa that he had a warrant for his arrest, and that if Kealoa offered to fire upon him, to fire back and take the man dead or alive. Mr. Cox had not thought that Kealoa would fire upon an officer in uniform, and so had advanced without fear. The shots had come as a surprise and showed the deputy sheriff and his men that they had a desperate man to deal with.

by a second. One of the bullets struck the mattress, but neither struck the officer, who then threw down the mattress and ran forward with pistol in hand. Before he reached the door another shot rang out. The murderer had killed himself with the last bullet in the chamber of his Colt's pistol.

When the Deputy Sheriff and his men entered the house both the woman and her murderer were lying dead upon the floor. On the table were paper, ink and pen, and underneath a paper weight was a folded paper, which the dead man had written upon in the Hawaiian language. It was his will, which he had made while the officers of the law stood guard outside, preventing all hope of escape. He bequeathed all his property, which includes real estate, to his son and daughter.

A coroner's jury was empaneled and sworn, and escorted through the premises where the murder and suicide took place; the bodies were viewed and a thorough inspection of the house made by the jurors, who will meet tomorrow. The bodies were given over, after the jury had completed its investigations, to the relatives of the man and woman.

Maria Kalamakee, the woman who was shot, was between 25 and 40 years of age and had been twice married, having several children. Her first husband was Kaapua, and her second husband was Kalamakee, a lawyer and judge of the district. She is a sister of Representative Kekeli, and her father lives in Honolulu. It is said that she had been receiving the attentions of Kealoa, the murderer, for some time, until a week or so ago, when she refused to longer have anything to do with him. Kealoa became jealous of another man, and the double tragedy was the result.

CHILLINGWORTH'S MEN
SCORE A VICTORY
Capitol Aggregation Lost Its Wind in the Seventh Inning and Went Down to Defeat.

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth's coppers and the Capitols played nine innings of real baseball yesterday afternoon at the Punahou grounds.

Enough dust flew from the diamond to create a small sand storm and when it cleared at the end of the game Chillingworth's men had put it on to the Capitols by a score of 18 to 11.

At the end of the second inning the Coppers led their first chorus of whoops. The score was then 4 to 1 in their favor. They kept whooping until the end of the sixth inning, when they dropped into a minor key. The Capitols had piled up enough runs to make the game a tie. Score 10 to 10.

In the seventh inning the Capitols lost their wind and the Coppers scored for runs. The Capitols failed to score. In the eighth the Coppers copped two more. The Capitols made one. In the ninth and last inning the Coppers again scored and the game was over. The Coppers won by a score of 18 to 11.

AGENT OLMSTEAD'S REPORT ON IWILEI

Calls It Foul Disgrace to the American Flag.

AN INFERNAL ENCLOSURE OF VICE LARGELY FILLED WITH LITTLE GIRLS OF IMMATURE YEARS.

He Declares That the Territorial Officials Were Particeps Criminis in the Direct and Open Violation of the Law.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—The Department of Justice has furnished your correspondent a copy of the report upon the vice den of Honolulu, made some time ago by V. H. Olmsted, a special agent of the Department of Labor who was sent to Hawaii to investigate this criminal slavery. Hawaiians already know the result of that report—the closing of the den, but some of the officials of that Territory, and all of the people, will be interested to know what an agent of the United States government had to say about this officially protected criminal institution of the city of Honolulu. Mr. Olmsted's report is as follows:

"Within a mile of the centre of the city of Honolulu, a system of slavery more absolute and despotic than ever existed in the United States, is in existence, with the full knowledge and consent of the territorial authorities, and under their official control and protection. It is a legalized institution for female prostitution, the unhappy inmates of which are held in the most hopeless and degrading bondage subject to barter, sale, under complete control and disposition of the owners.

"The slaves pen occupies about two acres of ground surrounded by a board fence about twelve feet high. Within this enclosure are five one-story buildings, each about 250 feet long and 24 feet wide, of light frame construction and standing parallel about twenty feet apart, the spaces between them constituting the thoroughfares within the stockade. These buildings are each divided into two parts by a partition running lengthwise, and these longitudinal sections are subdivided into rooms of about 10 by 12 feet, paved with concrete to facilitate their ready cleansing by turning on the hose. They are scantily furnished, all exactly alike, with a double bed, a small table, a couple of chairs, a wash stand with bowl, a pitcher and towels and a small lamp.

"The buildings are owned by a Japanese company who rents them to the slave-owners for fifteen dollars each per month, the annual income thus derived amounting to about forty dollars per year. Each slave owner rents for from two to a dozen or more rooms, in addition to which he has to stand the expense of feeding and clothing his property and the regular charges of the health officers who exact an expense of two dollars per capita per month for making a physical examination and issuing a certificate of health—the possession of such certificate being a permit for the person in whose name it is issued to follow the vocation of prostitution under legal sanction and protection.

"The inmates of this moral pest house gain nothing from their occupation beyond a bare subsistence; they are allowed to retain no money whatever, but are required to turn over all receipts to their masters, who closely watch them and keep careful count of the number of their guests each night, usually collecting their filigree gains as rapidly as earned by entering the room of the slave as soon as it has been vacated by a visitor. But there a master owns several slaves, and business is brisk, he is frequently unable to follow this course; and in order that he may not lose any of his 'come, the miserable creatures that are brought together after two o'clock a. m. in a room within the stockade specially provided for the purpose, and are there required to hand over to their owners any monies not previously collected during the course of the night.

"Any attempt at insubordination or revolt is promptly and severely dealt with, the brutality with which the poor women are treated occasionally reaching such lengths of cruelty as to call for expostulation by the policemen, debarred from indulging in disorderly conduct. Once in a while, but very rarely, a master is arrested when his treatment has been particularly inhuman; but this is extremely seldom that he is punished, the victim of his brutality and the witnesses thereof being in such complete subjugation, and in

WIFE BEATER FINED.

Tells the Court a Hard Luck Story Without Avail.

Asaki, the Japanese woman-beater was fined $25 yesterday morning by Judge Wilcox, for assault and battery upon Serei, the little brown woman whom the Japanese beat brutally a few days ago on the waterfront. Asaki claims that the woman killed him in such an exasperating manner as to justify his striking her. He stated that Serei had promised to leave her happy home for him, but that after getting all his money under the pretense that she would love him truly, she had tried to skip out for Japan and had no more use for him. When he learned of her intended desertion he was mad, and let out his strong right arm. He had a piece of iron in one hand, and would have struck the woman with it had he not been prevented by bystanders. The Judge gave him a good scolding and fined him $25. Asaki feels very much injured, as he says the woman got about $50 out of him, and on top of this comes a fine to say nothing of having lost his sweetheart in the bargain.

AT MURPHY HALL.

The Temperance Apostrophe Heartily Greeted by His Converts.

There was a lively time at Francis Murphy hall last evening. Francis Murphy was received with the greatest enthusiasm. The boys sang in chorus the club song as the veteran mounted the stage. He was very brief in his remarks, encouraging all in their good resolutions. Upon your success in helping yourself by this method rests a great practical movement which will spread over this territory and then take root in the United States spreading from one end of the land to the other.

The Rev. Mr. Rice favored the audience with a few remarks and several songs.

The musical program included a duet solo by Mr. Nakuna, a duet by Bradley and Jean Sabate and songs by Wallace, Noyes, Kelley and Sabate. Francis Murphy will speak to men at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 p. m. today and at Central Union church at 7:30 this evening.

MANY MEN AND MAIDENS MAKE MERRY TILL MIDNIGHT

'Mid Music and a Maze of Moving Feet the Evening Hours Glide Swiftly By.

The concert and dance given by the Honolulu Athletic Club at Progress Hall last evening was one of those happy affairs which are always remembered with pleasure by the people who attend.

In a large, well illuminated ball in the Progress block, where there is perhaps the best floor for dancing in the city and where its elevation above the streets renders it susceptible to the cool and refreshing breezes of a tropical evening, there gathered last night to enjoy the delights of the dance in all its varied forms, some fifty or more couples, who, the ladies garmented in dainty costumes appropriate to the climate while the men wore the regulation dress suits despite the tropics, manipulated their agile feet in many a maze while, out on the balconies there awaited their stack numerous liquid and substantial refreshments calculated to delight and appease.

Promptly at midnight the glad music ceased, the tripping feet no longer stirred and all the merry men and maidens betook themselves to their homes.

Soloists' quinter furnished the inspiration for the dance.

The programme included twenty numbers. Messrs. Dougherty, Livingston and Jones sang.

Labor Man Hurt.

An unfortunate accident happened yesterday evening to W. R. Anderson, one of the workers in the Labor Day preliminary. The handle bar of his bicycle got loose and he was thrown on Bernina street. He was able to pick himself up, but believed his jaw was broken besides which his hands were somewhat swollen. Mr. Anderson sought his own doctor for relief, going to him without assistance.

FIERCE JAPANESE RIOT IN DISTRICT OF EWING

At 1 o'clock this morning word came that the Japanese on Honolulu beach, Ewa plantation, had been engaged in a terrible riot, amidst the near case, for an hour and a half. Their screams were terrible. A request for police had been sent to Ewa court-house.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

It was a busy day for the boat boys yesterday. All the remainder of the Japanese laborers at the Quarantine Island were assigned their liberty and to come ashore. The boys with their boats were early on the scene and the bidding for passengers was very brisk.

There were about eighty-five persons released as bona fide immigrants. Those who are being detained in the quarters of the Commissioner of Immigration are now housed and guarded at the expense of the steamship companies bringing them here.

The big American bark Abbey Palmer after a fair voyage of forty-one days from Newcastle, arrived here yesterday morning with coal for the O. R. & L. Co. On the voyage up she struck the ship St. David, which arrived lately at Kahului, thirty days from Newcastle.

Treasure of the Islander. VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 24.—The steamer Islander, which was wrecked off Douglas Island, near Juneau, Alaska, August 18, had a large amount of gold on board.

SAILORS FAIL TO PROVE THEIR CASES

Mate John Lund of the Bark Foohing Suey A Free Man.

WAS PRACTICALLY NO EVIDENCE THE MATE HIT ONE MAN AN EASY BLOW WITH THE BIGHT OF A ROPE.

The Carpenter's Black Eye Consisted of the White of His Eye Being Red—No Back Talk Was Allowed on Board.

Mate John Lund of the American bark Foohing Suey is once more a free man.

When the vessel of which he is the chief officer arrived in this port from New York after a voyage of 121 days, two members of the crew, Tual Genex and Thomas Burke, brought charges against the mate, alleging that on different occasions he had treated them in a brutal manner.

The case was heard yesterday afternoon before United States Commissioner Robinson. District Attorney Baird conducting the examination for the prosecution and Attorney A. G. M. Robertson for the defendant.

Several members of the crew testified, telling their stories as only sailors can. Not one of them, except the two complainants, could remember anything in regard to dates.

They knew that they left New York. If the Court wanted to know when the vessel sailed from New York, there was the ship's log-book which could be referred to for the date.

They knew that they had doubled Cape Horn. It was almost impossible for them to say when they were off the Horn. They knew they were off the Horn because they had dirty weather and there is generally dirty weather off the Horn.

Their testimony would not have gone very far to convict the Foohing Suey of ever having been off Cape Horn. If the vessel had been before the Court charged with that particular crime.

Their testimony was interesting and now and then there was a glimpse of the hardships of a sailor's life as well as the hardships of the life of a ship's officer, but what they had to say was not enough in the way of evidence to convict the mate of anything more than "cussin' an' swearin', which ain't nothin' unusual at sea, sir," or pushing a sailor to his work or striking him with a rope "only once, sir; yes, the blow was a very easy one; it didn't hurt him at all."

There were four separate charges to be heard. Tual Genex, the ship's carpenter, alleged that he had been kicked in the face by the mate on one occasion while at another time the mate had struck him with a rope. Thomas Burke alleged that the mate had endeavored to choke him once and had also, at another time, assaulted him in another manner.

John Hill, one of the witnesses, swore to having seen the carpenter with a blood-shot eye. He didn't know how the carpenter got his eye in that condition, but heard some of the other men say that there had been some trouble. He couldn't tell if the carpenter had any other signs of conflict on his face because he had a great growth of whiskers. He had not shaved since he left New York.

Another witness, as he was about to be sworn, said that he could not speak English. He was a German. He was sworn, nevertheless, and it developed that he could speak very good English. He knew that on one occasion the mate had called the carpenter aft and that when the carpenter again went forward he had a black eye.

"What do you mean by a black eye?" asked Baird. "Der white of his eye was red," was the answer.

"Was there trouble between the mate and the carpenter at any other time?" "Dere was some droubles a couple of times, but I doud know vat it vas."

"Did the mate ever hit the carpenter with a rope?" "Yes, he hid der carpenter mit der bight of der rope."

"Did he hurt him?" "Naw, he never hurted him, he hit him easy."

"Was the mate angry?" "Was there trouble between the mate and the carpenter at any other time?"

"Dere was some droubles a couple of times, but I doud know vat it vas."

"Did the mate ever hit the carpenter with a rope?" "Yes, he hid der carpenter mit der bight of der rope."

"Did he hurt him?" "Naw, he never hurted him, he hit him easy."

"Was the mate angry?"

"Vat's dat?" "Was the mate mad?" "He vas growling all der time."

"Don't mates growl all the time?" "Maybe, he vas not rough to me."

Charles Peterson, the next witness, testified that the mate called the carpenter and that the carpenter was a long time coming. A row resulted in which it was alleged that the mate kicked the carpenter.

"How far was the mate from the carpenter at the time you noticed them?" was asked of the witness. "I don't know."

"Can't you say whether it was so many inches, or so many feet, or so many miles."

"No, I didn't have a measure with me, besides, I'm no navigator. I don't know about those things."

Thomas Burke testified to having seen the mate hit the carpenter with a rope. He did not know why the mate did the striking. He did not know where the blow landed. It was dark.

Burke then went on to tell about his own troubles. He was sworn for the second time, to testify in his own case.

His troubles had to do with the taking in of a sail. The mate ordered Burke and others to do something or other, accompanying his order with a general and very impolite insinuation reflecting on the morals of the sailors' ancestors.

"What happened then?" asked Baird. "I told him I was not what he called me."

"He told me not to give him any back talk. I told him I was not back-talking, but that I was not what he called me. Then he started to choke me."

"Did he hurt you?" "He choked pretty hard." "Did he knock you down?" "He shoved me down twice."

"What then?" "I told the mate he ought to be ashamed of himself attacking an old man like me. He always took advantage of me and the carpenter because we was old men."

Another witness testified concerning the mate attacking Burke on another occasion. Burke, he said, was scraping the deck near the mainmast.

"Don't scrape the wood, only the dirt," said the mate. "There was no answer." "Do you hear what I say?" "Of course I do."

"Well, don't give me any back talk." "I gave you no bad answer." "Then it was, according to the witness, that the mate administered a blow."

Tual Genex, the carpenter, told his story in an excited manner. His statements were not definite and amounted to very little or nothing.

Commissioner Robinson discharged Mate John Lund, not considering the evidence sufficient to hold him. The mate departed a free and a much relieved man.

Nerves of Weak Men

I have demonstrated the fact that weakness of men, the result of early or later indiscretions, such as Drains, Impotency, Loose Back, Vertigo, etc., will not yield to a stimulating treatment. This accounts for the fact that drugs never cure. The medicines given for these troubles, essentially poisonous, are intended only to stimulate. Continuous stimulation must result in harm. Thousands of patients have said to me: "Doctor, when I took this or that medicine I felt better in an hour, but after a month my weakness returned, and I was worse of than ever." "Better in an hour" means a powerful stimulant—means a wrecked constitution.

Electricity Is Strength!

That's what you want, strength, not stimulation. Electricity will never cure in a day; it does not cure in a week. It takes two months, it may take three, but the results are there to stay. I am the inventor and introducer of the famous Dr. Sanden Electric Belt, with attachment for men. It embodies the best efforts of my 30 years as a specialist. Worn at night, it strengthens you when you sleep. Currents act upon the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Bladder, Prostrate Gland and all weakened parts. It weighs but five ounces. Currents instantly felt.

Fashions and Society.

ALTHOUGH many have been grumbling and complaining because there has been so little gaiety during the warm weather, there are others who are simply charmed for a chance to catch their breath, as it were. Surely during the summer months one should be free from social duties and formal calls, and yet, alas! there are some dear deluded ones who are highly offended if you are "out" on your day. I do not know of any one who pretends to keep strictly to their day just now, and if you are caught on the wing it is generally in an Empire gown or something less—generally less.

And why not? Don't for a moment delude yourself with the idea that there are no gay goings on, simply because you fall to hear of them. There is a certain gay coterie here who could never allow such a state of affairs to exist, and many a delicious supper is partaken of sub rosa, and many a nimble dime exchanges hands; but who is the wiser? Surely not the looker-on. I might tell of other gaieties, but perhaps it would be better not. So you see the summer time is not wasted after all, and Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do. And better still, he never tells.

It requires more than the normal set of fingers these bright summer days to enumerate the red gowns that can be seen flitting about the town and on the hotel verandas. For comfort's sake, for the last three years red has been worn on the golf links, and having once formed its acquaintance, we have lavishly adopted it, even to the requirements of a full dress toilet. No woman hesitates any longer to wear, for example, a hyacinth blue foulard figured over with huge scarlet poppies, and on top of all this riot of color she will perch a hat of poppy red straw, trimmed with hyacinth blue foulard that is powdered with poppy red dots. When she raises and opens her parasol it unfolds as a cloud of tulle fire and her jeweled ornaments are usually ruddy rubies, garnets or other bright sanguine stones. Where these startling frocks do display themselves to best advantage is on the croquet ground, or on the seat of a private automobile. Nothing short of a decollete fall dress is considered too elaborate for the croquet lawn, and red is the proper color in which to enjoy this revived and ladylike sport.

It is in the cool of the day when the game is in full swing that a fashion chronicler gets the best chance to observe the mode, and so far as the croquet lawn makes revelations the expressively long skirt, spreading out prodigiously at the feet, is the shape to be followed for some time to come.

As the exquisitely clad woman steps about after the bulls, it is essential to lift the front of the skirts sufficiently to permit safe locomotion. There is a great art of doing this, for many of the skirts are of satiny surfaces, foulards sun pleated, ten yards wide at the foot and then supplied with a thick, gauze ribbon ruche at the tip end of the trailing garment. The sun pleating is so accomplished that the skirt clings close as far down as the knees and flares like a double petunia below. With such skirts the proper petticoat is made narrow at the knees of taffeta. Below this a gathered and accordion pleated flounce of soft taffeta is set on, and over this falls a flounce of white lingerie batiste that is entirely concealed by overlapping frills of lace. It is very much the fashion to carefully cut the rear of the dress skirt a suspicion shorter than the trailing lacy petticoat, the glories of which peep forth with great effectiveness. This point is particularly emphasized in lawn party gowns.

Just now there are two distinctive styles of summer automobile dress. The private ones are not yet in use, but they will come, and we might as well know how to dress for one. One from front, rosy red, and long skirted and worn when the groom handles the lever. The other is red and simple and becoming; and worn when the owner of the trap drives herself.

Among the recently developed variations in fashions is the fancy for wearing lace hats to informal summer dinners. When the dinner is large, very formal and at the house of a new acquaintance the hat is not de rigor, but for less ceremonious feasts it is not only proper for all airy, fairy species of head gear, to be assumed with the low necked and short sleeved evening dress. The hat is any size or shape one may desire, but it is all of lace. Flowers, feathers and ribbons are not permitted, but jeweled ornaments are liberally employed, and the most elegant of these are formed on heavy lace of one tint, and trimmed with a light net lace of another tint.

Mr. Ned Macfarlane gave a dance at the Hawaiian Annex last Monday evening in honor of his nieces, the Misses Irigard and Helen Macfarlane. A more perfect night could not have been chosen, and the scene was almost fairytale. The moon was at its height and the reflection on the sea made a picture well worth viewing. The different houses were brilliantly illuminated and the Quinette Club played for the dancers. The large lanai of the bathing pavilion was used for this purpose. Dainty refreshments and delicious punch appeared most successfully to the inner man. In the distance many moonlight bathers were having a dip, and couples in twos and fours disappeared themselves on the rustic benches, or promenaded about the grounds. There were about fifty guests. Miss Irigard Macfarlane looked extremely pretty in a dainty white gown, while Miss Helen was a picture of girlish loveliness. There were many charming gowns worn, but the key-note was simplicity. Mrs. J. S. Walker was most elegant in white organdy over white silk, and Mrs. A. M. Brown's costume of white with baby blue suited her to perfection. Miss Jessie Kaufman in a fetching costume of black lace over black taffeta, and Mrs. F. M. Hatch in pale blue were in good form. Miss Ella Stansbury in white and Mrs. A. G. Hawes, Jr. in yellow and cerise were noticed.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McBrine, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. "Jimmie" Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Griswood, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. H. Macfarlane, Mrs. Bent, Miss Jessie Kaufman, Miss Ella Stansbury, Miss Lillian Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Boyd, Mr. Harold Spencer, Mr. Will Castle, Jr., Mr. Clarke, Mr. Irvine, Mr. Wores, Mr. Hancock, Mr. Walter Dillingham, Mr. L. Dillingham, Mr. Carter, Mr. Fuller, Mr. Tarn McGrew, Mr. Addison Mizner.

The San Francisco Examiner has the following: "One of the big social events of Honolulu will be the wedding of Miss Harriet Lewers and Arthur F. Wall, Miss Lewers is the daughter of the millionaire lumberman of the islands, Robert Lewers of the firm of Lewers & Cooke. Miss Lewers and her mother are at present in this city, where the trousseau is being made. They will leave next month for the Islands, and the wedding will take place shortly after. Miss Lewers is a strikingly handsome young woman and is highly accomplished, having been educated in the East and abroad. She is one of a second generation of the family who were born in Hawaii.

"Mr. Wall is connected with the Wichman Jewelry Company of Honolulu and is a great favorite in society on account of his culture and remarkably fine tenor voice. The wedding will be a big church affair to take place in the evening. There will be bridesmaids and all of the accessories that go to make a fashionable wedding.

The bride will wear a magnificent wedding gown of white satin and point lace and will wear a wedding veil. She is the sister of William Lewers of the Frohman Company. He starred last season with Maud Adams.

Thursday evening Jean Gerardy gave us one of the greatest musical treats Honolulu has ever experienced. One could write pages in praise of his matchless skill and wonderful technique, but I think the majority were thrilled by his heart-reaching tones without realizing all that Gerardy is noted for wonderful expression and I have seen stolid men and women become by his matchless skill. Gerardy is more than an artist, for he possesses genius, and there are few such in the whole world. He has also youth and good looks, and the world before him. I am glad we are to have him again next Thursday, for it is not often such an one passes our way.

Attorney General E. P. Dole made quite an imposing appearance on the deck of the China. Some waggy friend presented Mr. Dole with a lei to which were attached long white streamers. Mr. Dole innocently allowed himself to be decorated without noticing the bridal attachments, and created quite a little stir among his friends for the space of a few minutes. He will probably return to Honolulu in October.

Our only Addison Mizner has arrived in town after a most exciting visit at the Volcano House. It nearly proved his Waterloo but with his usual presence of mind the nimble "Add" turned the tables, and now everyone is pleased—but not everyone. But, seriously, how can anyone be really angry with him, for he is only an overgrown kid and the best hearted chap imaginable. Even his enemies he feels pleasantly towards, no matter whom. He says he cannot remain angry to save his life.

Secretary Cooper entertained the following gentlemen at his Peninsula home on Saturday: Major Doris, Captain Pond, Captain Merry, General Breckinridge, Captain White and A. G. Hawes, Jr. Captain Merry took the whole party down on his launch, and a jolly day was passed amid the lochs. General Breckinridge expressed himself as much pleased with the proposed naval site.

Ex-Governor Cleghorn has invitations out for the wedding reception of his granddaughter, Miss Elsie May Kelliob Robertson, and Mr. James E. Jaeger on Wednesday evening, from 8 to 11, at Ainalaha. Miss Robertson is a beautiful girl and most popular with her friends. Mr. Jaeger is one of the most talented young men on the Islands.

Governor and Mrs. Dole returned from Hawaii last Saturday morning. The Governor is in excellent health and spirits, and does not seem in the least concerned regarding the rumors of his "dear friends." Mrs. Dole also seems in much better spirits than for some time. They are both looking exceedingly well, and the outing has been most beneficial.

The engagement of Miss Floe Hill, daughter of Mrs. Walter Hill of Kailihi, to Mr. Walter F. Drake has been announced. Miss Hill left for San Francisco on Wednesday and will be married in January, on her return to the Islands.

The Young Women's Christian Association had a delightful time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Damon at Moanialua, last Saturday afternoon. They took the friendly lunch basket and picnicked on the grounds.

Mr. Tarn McGrew entertained a few friends from the tramway on Wednesday evening at his new home on Hackfeld and Green streets.

Miss Anna Paris, who was going East on the Ventura, has indefinitely postponed her trip. She expected to place her nephew in a good school.

The Rev. George Adams and Mrs. Adams left on the Ventura for San Francisco. They take away many pleasant memories of their vacation.

Her Majesty the Queen gives a luncheon tomorrow in honor of her birthday. There will also be a large loan in the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. McStocker and daughter, of Olan, and Miss Afong are again with us after a delightful visit to the coast.

Among the personages on the Sonoma was Congressman Lord. He was entertained with our beautiful city.

Mrs. Dillingham, with her daughter, Miss Marion, left on the China. Miss Marion will return to college.

Letters from Mrs. Mumford tell us that she is enjoying her San Francisco visit to the uttermost.

The W. G. Coopers have returned from the mountains and are at their Waikiki place.

Mrs. A. H. Judd and family left on the China for a long visit to the mainland.

Chief Justice and Mrs. Frear departed on the China for a visit to the coast.

Mr. Becker gave a dinner at the Moana Hotel Monday evening. His guests were Mr. and Mrs. Porter Boyd, Miss Irigard, Mrs. Bent, Mr. J. Tarn McGrew and Mr. Avery.

Miss Kate Corwell is spending a few weeks with Mrs. Mary Widdifield.

Miss Nellie White will return to town for the Scott-Ivers wedding.

Mr. Sraun has departed for San Francisco, but will soon return.

Monsieur Vizzavona has been quite ill, but is now able to be out.

Mr. J. S. McCandless sailed for the coast on the China.

Mrs. Wray Taylor and children returned on the Sonoma.

Colonel Samuel Parker arrived from Hawaii last week. "CHIFFON."

As to Honor Among Bankers. From the Cleveland Leader.

Another German banker has killed himself because he was embarrassed financially. Is the sense of honor more acute or the fear of the law's consequences greater in Germany than it is in the United States? That must be something to account for the German way of doing such things.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford Co., Pa., U. S. A. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by all druggists and dealers. SHAMROCK HAS HER FIRST TRIAL SPIN IN THE LOWER BAY.

Old Defender Columbia Beats the New Boat Constitution in a Trial Race Off Oyster Bay—This Sets Yachtsmen Guessing.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Professional betting men are beginning to show a keen interest in the coming international yacht race, and some men, who are well known in the sporting world, are inclined to give the long end to Shamrock II.

One of the most prominent of these sporting men is quoted as saying that the men who make bets are disgusted with the trials of the American boats, and that those with the bank rolls do not like the performances of Constitution. He has expressed the opinion that even money bets on the race will prevail.

Another high authority of this class says that he has found feeling and sentiment in favor of Shamrock, and he cites one instance of a bet made by a Chicago man of $100 to $50 that Sir Thomas Lipton's boat would win. Reports received from Detroit tell of a bet of $500 to $300 made by a Toronto man with a United States army officer that Shamrock would be the victor.

Even money bets are reported from Indianapolis, and would come from St. Louis that the prevailing odds there are 4 to 5 in favor of American boat. No heavy betting is reported from any place.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—It is too early for London to enthuse much over the America Cup races but there is a growing belief that Sir Thomas Lipton's chances are good. A commissioner, representing a number of sporting clubs, has sailed for New York, carrying £30,000 of Shamrock money.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The steam yacht Erin left her anchorage in Sandy Hook Bay at 7:30 this morning to go to Oyster Bay, Lieut-Colonel Bearbanks and family went as Sir Thomas Lipton's guests to view Columbia-constitution race.

Shamrock's First Spin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the America Cup, Shamrock II, was out for a spin in New York lower bay today, and although it only lasted about 90 minutes, it was a most satisfactory performance from start to finish. Sir Thomas Lipton and Designer Watson, both of whom were on board the yacht during her trial, expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied with the result, in sailing about eight miles dead to windward against a 2-knot tide, she covered the distance in 57 minutes, and the reach back of six miles in forty minutes. The wind was fresh and fairly steady from about south by east, and of from 10 to 12 knots strength. The yacht carried mainsail, working topsail, stay and jib. After the yacht's anchor was down, Sir Thomas boarded the Associated Press tug, and told the reporters that the Shamrock would go out for a long trial spin tomorrow, extending down to Sandy Hook and perhaps if there was clear weather and a good breeze, she might try to cover the America's Cup course outside the hook or 15 miles to windward and back. Sir Thomas, with a party of guests, will go to Oyster Bay in the Erin on Saturday, to witness the races between the Constitution and Columbia on Long Island Sound, under the management of the Sewanhaka-Corinthian Yacht club, whose guest he will be at dinner that day.

Columbia Beats New Boat.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 22.—The Columbia gave the Constitution a good sound beating today twice around the Sewanhaka triangular course. On corrected time, the old boat won by two minutes and 57 seconds, and on elapsed time, by one minute 19 seconds. But the figures do not represent the decisiveness of the Columbia's victory, for as a matter of fact, she beat the new boat twice.

The first time around the triangle of 1 1/2 miles she gained over 5 minutes. Then a whiff of wind on the short leg across the sound put the Constitution upon even terms, the wind now coming true again. This time the Columbia gained over a minute and a fifth. It was a day of sulky sound breeze, but if either boat got any advantage from the changes in the wind, it was the Constitution. It was at no time a white-cap breeze, and the sea was in smooth condition, which always favored the Constitution. The new boat did not seem to have any of the speed she has shown in light air. She was sluggish on the starting line, and although the two yachts crossed almost at the same minute with a one-gun start, the Columbia romped off and took a lead of an eighth of a mile, while the Constitution was gathering way.

To be sure, the Constitution was trying a new mainsail and drew very badly during the first round, but it kept going better and better, and for the last fifteen miles of the course was drawing very well.

Then, too, the club topsail was almost useless in the windward work. But all this does not account for her defeat, even on the last leg of the race in a close run for the home mark.

Seems strange that we should buy more wash shirts when we already had the completest stock in town. Yet if you knew the inner history of this purchase the wonder would cease. It was one of those once-in-a-season changes, that brook not a moment's hesitation, much less refusal. Indeed, had we not accepted at sight, would we not have been traitors to your interests?

If you have use for one more summer shirt, these invite your inspection. Every shirt absolutely perfect. Styles—the latest; some plain; some with elaborate trimming; some with flares and flounces. There are all these materials—THESE GOOD MATERIALS—Covers, Denims, Crashes, Linens, Khakis and Piques. And please to suit all purses.

HAWAII'S TEACHERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Welcome and Address
By Superintendent
A. T. Atkinson.

DAY OF INTERESTING EXERCISES

ESSAY ON OBJECT OF TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION AND ITS ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

First Object the Advancement of Pedagogues Professionally—Professor Alexander Speaks—Dodge Reads Original Poem.

The annual meeting of the Hawaiian Teachers' Association opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the lecture rooms of the High School building, over a hundred teachers of public and private schools being present. The Rev. Alexander Mackintosh opened the exercises with an impressive prayer, and the assembled pedagogues followed with the singing of Whittier's "Teachers' Hymn."

Superintendent of Public Instruction A. T. Atkinson then addressed the teachers, welcoming them and making the following remarks:

"This society as I understand it is one of mutual self help. You not only meet here once a year but meet once a month in other parts of the island. In these meetings you bring your course of procedure of the very greatest value."

"I can remember years ago when there was very little exchange of thought between the teachers, no unity, where now we have the results not only of this meeting but of the more frequent ones in the other islands and also among the districts each with its reading class."

"Perhaps there is no class of people better qualified for mutual thought elevation than teachers. The very nature of their daily duty is that of constantly elevating, raising up the minds of the children under their charge step by step. You not only exercise this influence for good among the children who come to you but it permeates through them to their homes. You may see few results of this spreading abroad of your labors. It may seem uphill work but the results undoubtedly do exist. I was speaking lately to a teacher from the Kula district in Maui where the population is largely composed of ignorant Portuguese and he told me that the teaching imparted to the children gradually but surely spread from them to the parents. Always spread and not expect too great results."

Mr. Atkinson read an extract from the speech of Dean James Russell before a summer school of teachers, in which they were severely criticised for being narrow and not being fitted to teach the subjects that they did, through lack of thorough familiarity with them. Dr. Russell traced the condition of affairs to the difference in surroundings allotted the teacher in comparison with the constant sharpening of wits compelled by the lawyer's and other professions.

"While I do not entirely agree with this speech," said Mr. Atkinson in conclusion, "I should advise broadening out, you cannot know too much. Read proper literature. Choose works on science and do not confine your study to the mere assimilation of book knowledge."

Prof. W. D. Alexander made a few general remarks in regard to the association, its objects and aims, and digressed interestingly upon subjects of importance to the teacher.

Mr. Phillip Dodge prefaced an original poem with a short talk upon the beauties of Hawaii and what they should mean and how it be utilized by the teachers in their work. The poem was entitled "How The Sun Breaks on Maui" and at the conclusion of Mr. Dodge's effective reading of his own verses he was accorded applause.

Mr. Gordon Osborne entertained the educators for some fifteen minutes with a cleverly illustrated animal story and gave some valuable suggestions on the use of the chalk for the interesting of restless little ones in the school room.

Miss Estelle Dyke's essay on "Thrill versus Theology" was accorded by all present to be a splendid one. Miss Dyke handled her subject in a masterly manner, showing in her essay much clear thought and strong logic. When she had concluded reading a hearty demonstration of appreciation was made. The forenoon exercises were concluded by Mrs. W. J. Forbes, who played an instrumental solo very acceptably. Outside under the big banyan tree the ladies of the Y. W. C. A. had been busy, and when the teachers emerged from the building an inviting prospect greeted them. Tables under the trees were heavily laden with variety of good things to eat, prettily arranged, and a bevy of little girls were hurrying about, anxious for their duty of serving the guests. About a hundred and fifty teachers and educators partook of the luncheon provided by the ladies, coffee and chocolate, sandwiches, cake and ice cream being served in abundance to all. The ladies who had the luncheon arrangements in charge were given a vote of thanks by the association. Mrs. Brown, the secretary, was assisted in the arrangements by Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Neelle Damon, Mrs. Royal Meade, Mrs. G. B. McClellan, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Enoery, Mrs. A. Maxson Smith, Mrs. Albert Rosa, Mrs. Axtell, Mrs. Paiv and a number of other members of the Y. W. C. A.

Over an hour was spent in chatting and lunching in the grounds before the pedagogues returned to the consideration of more weighty matters. The afternoon program was opened with a song, "A Summer Night" very sweetly sung by Miss Helen Desha, and the teacher's were favored later with other vocal selections, Edward Crabbe singing in a pleasing manner "A Rose in Heaven" and Miss Emma Taylor, in her usual pleasing manner and sweet voice, sang "My Thought of You."

The business part of the exercises were very brief. Reports were made from the branch circles of the association by T. H. Gibson for Oahu, C. W. Baldwin for Hawaii, Mrs. Copeland for Maui, and J. C. Davis for Kauai. The reports showed all the circles to be in good shape, both in work done and in financial matters. A discussion was had as to the proposed agitation of pensions for retired teachers, and the general opinion of the meeting was that steps should be taken towards securing legislation in the matter. A committee was appointed to take such action as should be deemed advisable in the matter. The members of the committee are Mr. Swain, Mr. Taggard, Mr. Copeland, Mr. Davis and Dr. Rodgers.

A reading course was discussed and adopted for the year as follows: McMurry's Special Method of Reading, Dewey's The School and Society, Bailey's Botany, Kellogg's and Jordan's Zoologies, and for literature, the Merchant of Venice, and Julius Caesar.

New officers were elected as follows: Mr. Taggart, president; Mr. Dowdle, Miss Deyo, Mr. Davis and Mr. Wells, are vice presidents for the different circles.

The retiring president, Prof. Townsend being in the Philippines. Miss Kelley the vice president being ill, Mr. C. W. Baldwin presided over yesterday's meeting.

Mr. Jared Smith, of the government experiment station, made a most interesting address on the science of agriculture, which he pointed out was not only a science in itself, but that to understand it one must also study chemistry, physics, botany, entomology and mineralogy. He gave examples of how these sciences were all combined in the study of agriculture and showed how without a knowledge of all these one would be seriously handicapped with the pursuit of agriculture.

Mr. Baldwin read the following essay on the object of "The Teachers' Association of Hawaii and what that organization has Accomplished," after which the meeting dispersed with the singing of "America."

"The object of this Association is, primarily, the advancement of our teachers professionally. This includes the giving of a normal training as far as such is in the power of the Association to give. Thus, in accordance with that plan, the attempt has been made to better the scholarship of teachers as well as to give them practical instruction in methods. But any attempt to state definitely the scope of the Association's work must be unsatisfactory for the present. It hardly includes the spirit of fellowship and mutual helpfulness which such an organization engenders."

With this brief statement of the first part of my subject, I shall leave it to the second part which requires more attention.

What has been accomplished by this Association? Has the Association accomplished the object for which it was instituted? To answer this we must look to the work of the Association.

The work of the Association has moved so much in that of the Summer school that it is somewhat difficult for us to state where the one begins and the other ends. But the Summer school is the child which outgrows the parent. The island and district circles are the Association. Therefore, to note what has been accomplished by this association, it is necessary to observe the district or local circles.

We cannot look at all of those circles—but one will suffice. The Makawao circle has heretofore been one of the most active of these circles. It is typical of what such associations should be. Embraced among the members of this circle are Yale and Harvard graduates and those of the Makawao Government schools. Such being the material of which the circle is composed. The question has been, What to do?

To make a long matter short, the question has worked out somewhat its own solution, as many such questions will if we get to work at them in earnest. At present the work is planned to meet the wants of those who most need help—advancing advancement in scholarship, discussion of methods and the illustration of lessons with actual classes of children. It has not been the work of a day, or a year, but of several years, to come to this solution of the matter.

The plan has been to assign subjects to all in turn—judgment, of course, being used in such assignment. That this plan has worked for the benefit of some goes without saying, but to claim that it militates against others is hardly open to argument; for such have willingly given their services for those who need them; and the giving of honest thought to the subjects called for has resulted in good to all—great and small alike.

What such an association as this may accomplish is shown by the following, if you will pardon its use.

At one of the early meetings of the main association held at Wailuku, I was called upon to lead in a discussion upon geography teaching. Later I was asked to give a series of lessons on local modeling at the local circle meeting. This time there was a vigorous protest that I should instruct others how to teach geography when I felt I did not know how to teach that subject myself. But programs are relentless and the lessons were given. Again, a geography subject was assigned to me at a later meeting. It would have been strange, indeed, if I did not know something of the subject of geography teaching after such a process. Thus when I came to assume my present duties I found that I was thoroughly prepared to take up all of the branches with which I had to deal with the exception of number work, for I had never handled this subject at any Association meetings. Those of the Hawaii teachers who are present may now know why I was somewhat late in taking up the subject of number work.

That you may understand what this Association has accomplished, I wish I could take you back with me to the first meeting which I attended on Maui. I have a recollection of listening with wonder and awe to three or four speakers who spoke in terms that were strange, and upon subjects that most of us dared not say anything. Or could you go with me to that later meeting, when discussion had to be shut off in order to get through with the program, and to the last of the Maui yearly association meetings—a meeting characterized by a discussion of subjects that approached the ideal.

There is no longer any doubt, according to a noted specialist in hair and scalp diseases, that baldness and itching scalp are caused by the candida germ. There is a way of getting rid of it, though, when you know the nature of your little enemy. Pacheco's Dandruff Killer will destroy the parasite because it penetrates to the entire depths of the hair-follicle. It then feeds the roots and follicles and rebuilds the waste tissues.

JUDGE GEAR RE-LIBERATES AN ILLEGALLY HELD PRISONER.

Cathcart Makes Strenuous Attempt to Get Time—Court Would Not Tolerate Any More Arrests Upon Original Charge.

Chida Manzabaro appeared before Judge Gear yesterday for the third time upon an application for a writ of habeas corpus. The ground upon which the application was based is found in section 1074 of the Civil Code, which says: "No person who has been discharged upon a writ of habeas corpus, shall be again imprisoned or restrained for the same cause, unless he shall be indicted therefor, or convicted thereof, or committed for want of bail by some court of record, having jurisdiction of the cause, or unless after a discharge by default of proof, or for some material default in the commitment in a criminal case, he shall be again arrested on sufficient proof, and committed by legal process, for the same offense."

Deputy Attorney General Cathcart made a strenuous attempt to secure a continuance of the matter until Tuesday next. The best he could accomplish, however, was to secure a couple of hours in which to prepare his return to the writ.

"You surely are familiar with these habeas corpus cases," said Judge Gear, addressing Cathcart, "why should you require so much time. Surely you are not surprised, are you?"

"No, indeed, I'm never surprised in habeas corpus matters," replied the Deputy Attorney General, "but there is a new point involved here on which I would like to rest myself. These material habeas corpus diversions are becoming very regular, but this point now raised compels me to ask for time."

Attorney F. M. Brooks stated that Chida Manzabaro had been released by the Court, afterwards re-arrested, contrary to law, and that, in his opinion, the request for time on the part of Mr. Cathcart was something very unusual and strange.

Mr. Brooks went on in a burst of eloquence to characterize the proceedings on the part of the Attorney General's department as a mere continuation of disgraceful disobedience and evasion of the orders of the Circuit Court.

Brooks said that it could be shown that the High Sheriff had in his pocket the illegal warrant for the re-arrest of Chida two days before the Japanese was released by order of Judge Gear on habeas corpus.

He stated further that the District Magistrate was allowing a continuance of a hearing on this illegal warrant until next Tuesday.

"The prisoner is unjustly and illegally restrained of his liberty," said Brooks, "and he does not see fit to yield any more of the rights left to him. I have been around some, not so much as some other people, however, but I have never seen a place where orders of the Court were treated as they are here."

Judge Gear stated that the statute was so plain and the right of the prisoner, Chida Manzabaro, was so clear, that he would, with the agreement of the Attorney General, call a Grand Jury at once to investigate, with a view of indicting the prisoner if he was released. Deputy Attorney General Cathcart again asked for more time to consider the matter.

Judge Gear then closed the matter by ordering the case set for noon. Cathcart presented his return in court at 12 o'clock, admitting the allegations in the petition.

Judge Gear discharged Manzabaro on the writ of habeas corpus and gave the High Sheriff and the Deputy Attorney General to understand that no more arrests upon the same charge would be tolerated by the Court.

Cathcart informed the Court that he had not intended any such course of action.

Judge Gear, before making the order releasing Chida, intimated that he would withhold his decision until a special Grand Jury could be called to consider the case. Cathcart would not say whether he would prosecute the case before the jury if it was called. The order therefore, was made.

As soon as Chida got outside of the Judiciary building he was arrested upon a new and separate charge, that of being "accessory" to a murder.

A third writ of habeas corpus in favor of George Wade will be discussed on Wednesday, his case having been set for that day.

HONOLULU RAPID TRANSIT
NOW ACCOMPLISHED FACT

and conductors posted up in the barn in an order to stop every car fifty feet from the end of the stone wall in Palace Walk, when the conductor must see that the side of the car next the wall is clear of standing passengers, and the car is not to proceed faster than four miles an hour until the wall is passed.

It is important for the public to know that the electric cars will only stop at the farther corner of each block, excepting in the case of unusually long blocks where stops will be made at points to be marked with signs.

An Indispensable Man.

Rapid transit would be a farce without a good man in the engine room. The company has him in the person of Robert Menaugh, a typical engineer—big and jolly and holding nothing in the world more important than the machinery in his charge. Two of the engines are operated for the normal traffic, the third being a reserve engine for unusually heavy business and cases of temporary suspension of duty by either of the others.

REPUBLICAN BOYS' MASCOT WASN'T WORKING YESTERDAY

The Republican and Advertiser baseballists had it out in a very interesting game at Makiki yesterday. The boys are great enthusiasts and showed themselves some day likely to do wonders on the diamond.

The Republican printers had a mascot along in the person of a fine specimen of the genus goat. He wore the Republican colors and flaunted a copy of the Advertiser at the end of his caudal appendage. The mascot, however, wasn't working, for the Tiser boys carried away the honors. The goat took revenge by eating the copy of the Advertiser attached to his tail, having to turn a somewhat to get at it. This is the story, briefly told:

Republican . . . 5 1 0 3 2 2 1 0 1—15
Tiser . . . . . 3 0 5 2 3 2 0 1 0—10

Hopli of the Republican made the star play of the game, making a home run strike.

A FEW QUESTIONS?

IS YOUR HAIR FALLING?

The canoe is a parasite in the hair-follicle eating away the delicate membrane which holds the hair root in place. The only way to stop falling hair is to destroy the parasite which causes it.

Then you are suffering from a parasitic disease, distressing, annoying and one that indicates uncleanliness.
