IMPROVEMENTS IN QUARANTINE

Immigrants No More to Be Trucked Through The Town.

WHARF AND RAILWAY SYSTEM AT KALIHU

Dr. Cofer to make the Changes in Connection With Occupation of Kalihii Detention Camp.

Extensive improvements are contemplated in the quarantine service at the port of Honolulu. They will be made in connection with the occupation of Kalihii detention camp as quarantine accommodation. It will be remembered that the United States Marine Hospital Service, represented by Dr. Cofer, some time ago effected an arrangement with the territorial Government whereby a portion of the camp came under the control of the service. A condition is that the premises thus transferred shall revert to the Government in the event of an emergency of pestilence arising which would require the original purpose of the camp.

Dr. Cofer has had somewhat elaborate plans prepared for utilizing the premises as a depot for the reception of immigrants having to undergo quarantine. The scheme involves one improvement that ought to be well pleasing to the community. This is the avoidance of carrying immigrants coming to work on the plantations through the city. It will be a timely innovation, in view of the revival of Japanese labor immigration, which has begun.

Upon the sea frontage opposite the camp a wharf or jetty will be constructed and connected with the camp by means of a railway or tram way. By this mode of transportation the people are to be conveyed from the wharf to the depot. Immigrants who may be sick or affected with any contagious disease will not be taken to the quarters at Kalihii, but be placed in the present quarantine station on Manoa Island.

THROWN DOWN A BANK.

R. W. Blake appeared as the complaining witness in the Police Court this forenoon against Koloma and Kolikoi, charged with assault and battery. Blake charged that he was assaulted upon by the two natives, thrown down a steep embankment and badly hurt. The trouble took place in Awaoluina a week ago Saturday night and it was not until Friday last that Blake was able to leave the hospital.

Blake explained that he had come out for a walk and that he had gone to a place where Kolikoi was seated with his wife. The native had the woman down on the ground and was tramping on her. He could not stand seeing a thing of the kind and pushed the man off. He then tried to get away, but before he knew it, he had been pushed over a cliff and had fallen a distance of some thirteen feet to a stream below. In the fall he had sprained his ankle and while lying unable to help himself, Koloma deliberately rushed down the side, called on the other natives to help him kill the "haole" and then deliberately shoved his head under the water.

Koloma told a very doubtful story and was put into a number of most embarrassing corners by Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth. Both men testified that they were drunk at the time. Judge Wilcox, remarking that he intended to put a stop to the frequent cases of assault and battery that had recently come to his notice, sentenced the two men to two months' imprisonment at hard labor each.

Attorney Kauia appeared for the defendants, gave notice of appeal.

COUNCIL FOR UNIONS

LABORING MEN TO HAVE A HEAD ORGANIZATION

Action Must Depend on Decree of This Body—Three Men From Each Organization.

The labor men of the city through their respective unions, have taken steps by means of which they will be able in the future to prevent any strikes that might come from individual unions with grievances against employers and by means of which it is sought to establish cordial relations and gain points sought after, through the medium of consultation and compromise rather than through the medium of strikes that out in more directions than one.

A council, made up of three members from each of the labor unions of the Territory and to be known as the Honolulu Trade and Labor Council has been organized and meetings are now being held each Friday night for the purpose of getting into good shape for future work. All the business there is always to be found upon the formation of organizations of the kind.

Another meeting is to be held on Friday night next and it is expected that, at that time, copies of the by-laws, recently adopted and now in the printers' hands, will be ready for distribution. At that time, the representatives from some of the unions that have not already been admitted to membership, will be voted in.

The three members from each union have been elected by these unions as their representatives and will have the business of their branches in their hands at all meetings of the council which will be presided over by Mr. Levine of the Moulders' Union, the duly elected president.

The principal object of the council is the deliberation of all matters affecting the labor of the city in which the respective unions are interested.

In the event of friction between employers and employees and a threatened strike as a result, the council will receive the complaint of the union or unions represented and after a careful weighing of the facts will either declare or refuse to countenance a strike.

In the event of the former result, the council will back up the union or unions. If, on the other hand, there is a determination to strike, notwithstanding the decree, the council will give no aid whatever. However, it is not believed that there will be such a state of affairs for if the council is to be the governing body, then its decrees must be followed by all union men.

Arbitration will be the watchword of the council until that ground is no longer tenable and the whole effort of the council will be along the line of preventing strikes where this is possible. Naturally, first and foremost will be the welfare of the laboring men.

A verdict of not guilty was returned at noon by the following jury: Edward K. Blake, Alex. K. Aina, Jas. Kalepoua, Guy Livingston, Wm. Herrick, Louis R. Campbell, Hermann Levy, Louis A. Hostia, David Northey, Wm. G. Rowland, George K. Kala and James M. Sims.

The appeal of B. R. Jones, alias Rice, from conviction of assault, on a police officer, with a fine of $25 and costs, in the Honolulu District Court, was withdrawn on motion of Mr. Brooks. Fine and costs were paid.

KALAUOKALANI AND HIS LEADERSHIP

THINKS KALAU DID NOT ACCOMPLISH ALL THINGS

Editor Evening Bulletin: In your issue of last evening the following appears: "The fight is now on: it is suggested that Mr. Kalauokalani, the man who fought for principle at the late session of the Legislature, even against his own comrades, and who never deserted his stand for one moment, be deposited as the leader of the independent Home Rule party. Mr. Kalauokalani is perfectly willing to do anything within the bounds of reason for the good of his party even to the extent of resigning from his present position as leader at the request of the majority. However, there is a large proportion of the Home Rulers who believe that Kalau has the right idea and that the failures at the late session of the Legislature on the part of the Home Rulers were due rather to those of the party who did not live up to what they promised than to any failure on the leaders part to carry out his part."

It is refreshing to be told in the columns of the Bulletin that Kalauokalani "fought for principle" and that only those who had the right to vote be employed on the public works of the Territory, etc., etc.

Now wherein did the members of the House fail to carry out Kalau's policy? Is it not a matter of fact that in the Senate, where Mr. Kalauokalani was supposed to control, he certainly had the majority, and with the old fossils he had foisted on the party entirely at his beck and nod, he certainly had a good working majority, and yet what did he accomplish?

The Lower House, controlled by the younger and more progressive members of the Home Rule party, cut down the extravagant salaries of the higher officials in conformity with the savings rendered by them, and reduced in a measure the expenses of government without hampering its usefulness. When the measure reached the Upper House Kalauokalani led the raise every time, and that was a shameful thing in every extravagant measure proposed by the Republicans to discredit the Home Rule party.

Kalauokalani gave out to his party that he was the father of the Dispensary bill, that it was a measure that it should pass, not only as a protection to the consumers who were being poisoned by the vile concoctions sold under the name of liquors, but also as a revenue measure for the government. However, the bill would be the means of bringing into the Treasury one million dollars annually, and saying, "The people might just as well have the benefits of any liquor traffic as the few liquor dealers."

But what did he do? The bill was introduced by Senator Kanaha only to be shelved in the Senate, where Republicans were trying their best to block legislation by disputing on all sorts of trivial matters, to discredit the party. Mr. Kalauokalani had sworn to do his best to uphold. That he did not pass is proof of his inability to be a leader. His side was in the majority. He certainly would have been able to carry the measure through the Upper House and left the door of vetoing it to the "missionary" governor that he had always used as a red rag to wave before the people when seeking for their surrages.

He has always laid the blame of that failure on Senator White. That may be, but where were the qualities of leadership that are so praised by the writer in your paper?

The writer well remembers several visits to the house of Kalauokalani in the interests of the said Dispensary bill after it had been introduced by Senator Kanaha. A very curious condition prevailed. Here was the dwelling of the leader of a party posing as advocates of reformed liquor dealing, but whose house was well stocked with all kinds of liquors. Men and women were being regaled with all sorts of liquors, from champagne down.

While there is a feeling on the part of many that the young men will step into the front rank, still there are others who believe firmly that the young men will see the matter in the right light and be satisfied to follow the lead of the staunch old leader—David Kalauokalani. The young men of the party have no wish whatever to shove the active, intelligent, faithful old men and workers who kept the party together at considerable personal discomfort and privations, but to induce a proper proportion of intelligent, English speaking Hawaiians, who naturally, from contact with foreign ideas, have broader and more liberal views of things in general.

A 'TISER INACCURACY

Honolulu, Nov. 6, 1901.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—Referring to the publication in the Advertiser of yesterday, 5th inst., which reads in part as follows: "That the Custom House nine would challenge the Capitols for $1000 on any date which the latter might name." "All the Capitols have to do is to cover the money which is ready at any time." I wish to state that this statement is entirely untrue.

A. M. NOWELL, Captain, Custom House B. B. Team.

As usual, the Advertiser is "off its base." It charges Manager Fogarty with the statement contained in the communication above and now the captain of the team comes out with a flat denial. Said one of the foremost members of the Winter League this morning: "The Advertiser seems to be trying to kill good clean sport in the city for several occasions of late, it has published in its columns all manner of absolute falsehoods that, on the face of them, would not hold water for a minute."

ROBBERY OF $15.

P. Lambert, one of the expert chefs of the city, now employed at the Union Grill, was robbed last night of $15. Lambert and his wife live in a cottage at the corner of Vineyard and Punchbowl streets.

Last night, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert went to bed at about 9 o'clock. Some time between 10 and 11, Mr. Lambert heard someone walking about. Thinking it was his wife, he paid no attention to the noise and went off to sleep again.

This morning, upon arising, Mr. Lambert found his purse outside the door on the grass. It had been removed from his trousers' pocket, emptied of its contents and then thrown away. A little farther on was his wife's pair of scissors. What the thief took these for is a question.

Mr. Lambert has reported the occurrence at police headquarters.

NEW AQUATIC WONDER

JOHNSON'S NEW BOAT SHOWS REMARKABLE SPEED

Captain Chris Johnson's new boat the Wikipiki was out for another trial yesterday afternoon in a fair wind and did some remarkable things. From her performance she will either have to go in a class by herself and sail against time or else give every other yacht in the Hawaii Yacht Club a big handicap. She is without doubt the fastest pleasure craft in the islands today, barring none and yesterday under ordinary circumstances developed a speed of about eleven miles an hour.

The boat is a freak, built on the lines of the lark type. She is very large, has a keel with six hundred pounds of lead on it and carries five hundred square feet of sail. She is very broad and draws but three inches of water except for her keel which is about three and a half feet deep.

The Wikipiki started out yesterday afternoon for a trial. She was sailed by her owner and builder and his son. After cruising about the harbor doing some fancy sailing the boat was headed for the bell buoy. She made the run from the light house to the buoy in the remarkable time of eight minutes. The tug Elou which started out quite a distance ahead of the Wikipiki was overhauled before the entrance to the channel was reached.

Captain Johnson is greatly pleased with the boat and says that outside she did better than was expected of her and did not slip water with her flat bow as he thought she would. If the weather permits the Wikipiki will be out again this afternoon tugging up and down the coast which will open the eyes of the yacht owners.

TWENTY-SIX HOURS FINDING VERDICT

Rodrigues Found Guilty By a Federal Jury.

EIGHT-HOURS LABOR CASE COMING ON FOR TRIAL

Two Edmunds Act Defendants Are Accused—Frank E. Thompson Resigns a Federal Office.

Cheong Ah Kai and Asa Watanaba, Chinese and Japanese man and woman respectively, were found not guilty of the crime with which they were charged under the Edmunds Act, in the United States District Court this morning. The jury was out less than an hour.

The jury that tried Antonio Rodrigues, for a breach of the same law, announced its finding of a verdict at the noon recess. Judge Estee resumed the bench to receive the verdict, but there was a long wait for the defendant and his counsel. The jury had been out twenty-six hours. Its verdict was guilty. Sentence was set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Correa noted exceptions with notice of motion for a new trial. The defendant was remanded to the custody of the Marshal.

This afternoon a jury is being empaneled for the trial of W. M. Campbell and Ohta for breach of the eight hour labor law for United States Government work.

Harry R. Smythe of England was made a citizen of the United States by Judge Estee this morning. Directly afterward he was enlisted by the court to act as bailiff to a trial jury going out.

F. E. Thompson resigned today as Referee in Bankruptcy for the Island of Oahu.

YOUNG MEN WILL RUN

Physical Director Young of the Y. M. C. A. is introducing a new form of sport into the work of his classes. It is road and cross country running. Two groups have already been organized from the membership of the Senior and Intermediate gymnastic classes. Last night, the Seniors elected Will Kerr captain and R. J. Allen secretary and treasurer. The Seniors will run from the gymnasium on Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock and the Intermediate on Monday and Thursday evenings at the same hour. Besides these evening runs, cross country runs and paper chases will be arranged for Saturday afternoons.

PORTO RICAN PRISONERS.

Sheriff Conroy of Kauai, who arrived in the Mikahala this morning, brought seven Porto Ricans with him. They were collected from Waiwaha, Lihue and other places on the island and have all been committed to the Circuit Court for trial. In the meantime they will remain in Oahu jail for safe-keeping. Four or five of the number are more boys. The Porto Ricans are giving the police of Kauai more trouble than all the other nationalities put together.

Victor Hoffman, the contractor, has brought suit against the Honolulu Brewing and Malting Co., for a foreclosure of mechanics' lien. The plaintiff claims that there is due him the sum of $12,208.11 which he claims is due for work, labor and material on the brewery.

Among the passengers booked for the Coast in the steamer Alameda are Miss K. M. Sorenson, G. Walter, C. A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Woolley, V. L. Tenney, wife and child, H. M. Denison, Paymaster Phillips, Harry Davis, J. E. Byrne and wife.

The first meeting of the German Artion Society will be held at the Eagles' Hall, Thursday evening, corner Bethel and Miller streets.

The new stocks are prettier and more dainty than ever, and are made with some reference to the waist with which they are to be worn. For example, if you have a blue flannel shirt waist the stock is of white taffeta with blue taffeta silk edging the turn over band, which has three small blue embroidered rings sewn in each corner. And then there are all sorts and kinds of neck scarfs of silk and crepe de chine with lace applique and embroidered ends. Scarfs of crepeone flowers on the ends. They are very pretty embroidered ones can be bought for $1.

Rather short ash ends with bows or a soft rosette finish at the waist line, are one feature of the new dress gowns. They are usually made of soft silk drawn in with a tassled finish at the end, and attached either at one side of the front or directly in the back.

THE PANTHEON BLOCK

CLAIM ON BUILDING BEFORE FIRE COMMISSION

Lessees Have Rebuilt With Brick in Place of Wood But Claim Only Insurance on Contents.

No hard and fast rule has been adopted by the Fire Claims Commission for cases where lessor and lessee both put in a claim for a burned building. Mostly such matters are referred to the parties for mutual agreement as to which shall remain as claimant. The only thing certain is that claims from both parties cannot be entertained.

One of these cases of overlapping claims, though both are not strictly on the building, has reference to the Pantheon block at Fort and Hotel streets. The building that was burned was wooden. For this the Widemann Estate has presented a claim to the commission.

With only four years of the lease to run, the lessees have replaced the destroyed shell with a neat brick fabric. Its three or four stories are all rented and there is a fair prospect to the lessees of getting their money back. They calculated their entire loss—in the stock of the old Pantheon saloon, the amount was $18,000 and cost of new buildings—at $8,000. L. C. Ables, David Dayton and Chas. J. McCarthy are the lessees.

Mr. Ables has gone before the Fire Commission to argue the equity of their being allowed $6,000, the amount of insurance on the old Pantheon stock and fixtures. They made this their sole claim. The insurance was taken as the gauge because it would be impossible to make an inventory of the goods burnt with certainty of accuracy.

MEMORIAL PLAN GIVEN SUPPORT

C. M. White in Favor of Recreation Grounds Proposition.

HE THINKS IT WOULD BE GENERALLY POPULAR

Both a Perpetual Monument to McKinley and a Permanent Boon to the Public Popularize Subscriptions.

Clarence M. White is highly enamored of the suggestion in the Sunday Volcano regarding the proposed McKinley memorial. This is to have it take the form of public grounds perpetually dedicated to outdoor athletic sports free to organizations and individuals.

"Nothing would appeal to a greater number of the people," Mr. White says, "as there is no popular need more distinctly felt."

"The memorial character of the place would be fittingly and durably expressed by an arch of stone at the entrance, bearing the inscription in raised or sunken letters, 'McKinley Recreation Grounds.' The inscription might be repeated on the grand stand.

"How many people would use a drinking fountain? You scarcely ever see anybody taking a drink of water, cold and clear as it is there, at any of the public fountains in San Francisco.

"Public recreation grounds would be an everlasting monument in honor of the memory of President McKinley. Placed in charge of a perpetual board of trustees, without restriction or limitation to particular sports so long as they are wholesome, such a place would conserve healthy field athletics for all time in Honolulu.

"Of course it is to be understood that an active management would always be exercised, for the prevention of every sort of disorder and rowdiness such as have characterized outdoor sports in too many recent instances."

With regard to variety of sports, attractive to the public as well as beneficial to the participants, Mr. White is of opinion that Honolulu has not by any means exhausted the full category. Lacrosse he mentions for one thing, in which the Pacific Coast has gained preeminence over the East, the banner playing of the game now being witnessed in British Columbia. It is a most graceful, withal a scientific game, and there are none more attractive to spectators. Mr. White believes that having it once introduced to them, people would pay a dollar gate money to see a first class lacrosse match rather than a quarter to see a cricket or polo game.

Another point Mr. White makes is the desirability of having the subscriptions to the McKinley Memorial made universally popular. Everybody should have the opportunity of contributing, rather than making the grand effort one to procure large subscriptions from a few wealthy persons. Mr. White fears that lists topped with $750 or $500 by two or three millionaires would have a tendency to overawe the many who stand ready with $5 or $1 for the fund.

HOW TO PRONOUNCE IT

Washington, Oct. 22.—So many mispronunciations of President Roosevelt's name have been in vogue in Washington that it has been found necessary for the statement to be made at the White House that the pronunciation is as if it were spelled "Roosvelt." This should settle a much mooted question.

NECKWEAR OF PRESIDENTS

"President Roosevelt is liable to revolutionize the collar business if he doesn't change his style," said a Broadway haberdasher to a New York Sun reporter. "Since he became President, we have had quite a number of calls for the Roosevelt collar. Of course, there is no such a collar in the market as to name or style. It is my opinion that the President has his collar made to order. Unquestionably there is more comfort in the kind he wears than in most others but they are not becoming to everybody any more than the high turn-overs would be becoming to President Roosevelt. The Roosevelt collar, if you care to get at its genesis, came in Presidential favor when Grant was elected the first time. That Grant wore a bow-tie, which gave the collar a different appearance from that worn by President Roosevelt.

"Lincoln was the first of our Presidents to discard the old-fashioned stock, which, if worn now, would make a man look as if he had a sore throat. Lincoln's collars, when he became President, were made more different of his shirt. 'Sewed on,' as a woman would say, I am told that Lincoln was not noticeably tidy in his collars. They had a wifed look always. His favorite neckwear was black silk tied in a careless way quite becoming to him. When Andrew Jackson succeeded to the Presidency the old stock returned to the White House. He wore the wide stand-up collar, which was encircled by a black satin stock with a short, stiff bow.

"Mr. Hayes collar was a broad, pan-down with long points, but it was not high. It did not make much difference what sort of tie he wore, as his shirt front was covered by his beard. Garfield's collar was rather tasteful, a turn-down with square points. His tie was black satin with a square bow.

"Mr. Arthur was the most correct dresser of the recent Presidents. He wore a high collar with points slightly turned out. The fit was always perfect. He was the first President to wear a fancy scarf, which was always set off by a handsome, but never loud scarf pin. He had, so I am told, the biggest stock of neckwear of any of the Presidents. He was rather partial to black with white dots.

"Mr. Cleveland's collars and style of neckwear looked as if they had been made from the same patterns as those worn by Andrew Johnson. However, Mr. Cleveland never confined himself to one kind of collar. I saw him at his second inaugural ball when he wore a plain, wide, turndown, under which was a white string tie.

"President Harrison wore a turndown collar, broad and simple, and a plain black tie, except on state occasions, when his neckwear was conventional.

"President McKinley usually wore a standup collar with slight flare points. He liked to be at ease, and that's the sort of collar for a man to wear if he wants to feel comfortable in a standup. Mr. McKinley's neckwear was in keeping with his character, simple and unaffected. "There have been a good many changes in Presidential neckwear since 1825, when John Q. Adams wore the high collar which was completely enveloped by the great bundle of material that was the fashion of the statesmen of the early period. I think he was the last President to appear in that style. But for plain, common sense, unconventional style the Roosevelt collar is, like its wearer, a style of its own."

A Remedy. The Scientific American says that one of the very best remedies that can be applied to a wound made by a rusty nail, and which is almost infallible in its cure, is to take a quantity of peach leaves and beat them to a pulp and then apply them to the wound, and in a very short time an improvement will be noted in the wound. Several persons have tried this remedy when all others failed to give relief, and it was beneficial in its results. At the season of the year when many persons are injured by tramping on a rusty nail this remedy should be noted.

WOMAN'S BOARD WORK THIEF IS SENTENCED

PAPERS REPEATED AND LETTERS AT MEETING

Treasurer Makes Good Showing-- Letter From Mrs. De La Porte Missionary In Carolines.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions was held in the parlors of Central Union church yesterday afternoon. Papers, reports and letters from various people engaged in the work of the Woman's Mission were read. Prayers were offered for the absent ones.

At the request of Mother Rice of Kauai, the name of Mary Rice, her daughter, who died in early womanhood, was placed on the roll of honorary membership. Miss Chamberlain, who presided at the meeting, stated the request. A vote was silently taken and the name was added to the roll by unanimous consent.

A letter from Mrs. C. M. Hyde, formerly president of the Board, and now in Dresden with her daughter, was read. Mrs. Hyde stated that her daughter was much improved in health and that they will soon return to Honolulu.

Mrs. Coan, the treasurer, reported $24 as the collections for the general treasury at the last meeting and $199 for the Armenian mission. Of this amount, $100 was given by one person, $30 by another and there were four $5 gold pieces. Mrs. Coan stated that $160 would have to be paid out by the Board for its regular pledges.

Mrs. Gulick announced that the missionary schooner Carrie and Annie had arrived safely at Pleasant Island in the Caroline group. The news came in a letter from Mrs. De La Porte. This lady spoke of the difficult work in teaching the natives. Bathing was not a virtue among the people and most of the natives displaced contact with water.

Mrs. George B. McClellan read a paper on "Missions in Central America" giving in detail the various attempts that had been made almost since the beginning of the last century, to establish Protestantism in Central America.

Miss Suter presented the report of work among the Chinese in Honolulu, reading reports from Mrs. Wood and Miss Whittemann. Mrs. Soares told of the work among the Portuguese, relating the difficulties attendant upon enlisting any interest among these people for Protestant teachings.

The treasurer announced that a collection of $34.25 for the day had been taken.

Peach Salad. Pare, halve, remove the stones from five ripe peaches. Stand cut side upward on ice, with one teaspoonful of sugar and three drops of lemon juice in each cavity. Crack one-fourth of the stones, chop these kernels, add to the whole stones and simmer. Strain, add one-half teaspoonful of ground nutmeg and three tablespoonfuls of sugar, stir until the sugar is dissolved. When cold add four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, pour over the peaches, keep on ice until serving time. Arrange the peaches on a bed of lettuce leaves.--Exchange.

The Modern Prize Fight--Mr. Fitz-Jeffries, said the reporter, "a cable message from Paris says the champion heavyweight of France wants to fight you." "Well, if he does," replied the great pugilist, "he'll have to do it in English. I'll be hanged if I learn his language."--Philadelphia Press.

THE FEDERAL COURT ANOTHER CASE GOING TO THE JURY TODAY

The Rodrigues Jury Committed to a Hotel Over Night With Privilege of Returning a Sealed Verdict.

Cheong Am Yai, Chinese male, and Aaa Watanabe, Japanese female, were placed on trial in the United States District Court yesterday afternoon charged with violating the Edmunds Act.

Judge Estee informed the attorney that he would give him more time than he desired, as he need not begin his address until this morning at 9 o'clock. He did not want to send the jury out at night.

The jury consisted of D. E. Whitman, T. W. Hobson, Edward Dekum, W. J. Hickey, K. B. Porter, John D. Holt, W. C. Hollinshead, W. E. Skinner, A. D. Scroggy, W. H. Barth, F. G. Smith and R. E. Lockwood.

With regard to the jury on the Rodrigues case, put since 10:30 that morning, Judge Estee gave instructions aided by stipulations of counsel--Mr. Dunne for the prosecution and Creighton & Correa for the defendant. They were to be taken to a hotel for the night and kept there, as nearly as possible, in one room. Should they agree on a verdict that evening, they might return sealed to the clerk by the hands of their bailiff. Either the bailiff or the Marshal must attend on the jury throughout. In case of finding a verdict in the meantime, the jury were to appear when the seal was broken at 10 o'clock this morning.

FOOTBALL ARRANGEMENT. At a meeting of the Hawaiian Inter-Collegiate Football Association held yesterday afternoon in the rooms of the Honolulu Athletic Club, the constitution and by-laws were adopted and George R. Carter and W. H. Baubitt were appointed official umpires for the season. A committee consisting of George Lucas, John Wise and W. Williamson was appointed to look into the matter of suitable grounds for playing. It was decided to charge an admission of twenty-five cents to all league games. The season will begin next Saturday. The Artillery and Punahou Athletic Club will try conclusions.

The Territorial Republican committee has only to decide whether it will do what is right or perpetuate a wrong.

The political activity during this off season indicates that lines are being laid for the next campaign in a way to make it one of the notable political contests of island history.

It is safe to presume that photographs of Admiral Schley published by the Illustrated weeklies and taken during the Admiral's attendance at the Board of Inquiry give an accurate representation of the man, who seems to have been largely libeled by a New York artist.

The chances are that Seth Low will be the next Mayor of New York and that Croker's power has been completely wiped out so far as any influence in national politics are concerned.

Objection is raised to Arizona's claim for Statehood because the Territory lacks the population to make a Congressional district.

Representative Beckley's chief difference with Senator Kalanika'oli'i seems to be on the settlement of the question of responsibility for legislative failures.

No better proposal for a McKinley memorial has been offered than the public play ground.

Roosevelt's known sympathy for the Boers while he was a private citizen has given high hopes in Boer circles now he has become President.

"I never was a firmer believer in the doctrine of protection than I am today. After some three months spent this summer in several of the countries of Europe, I am only strengthened in my convictions.

"This excerpt from a speech delivered by Speaker Henderson in Manchester during his European tour is a favorable indication that tariff tinkering will not receive marked favor from Republicans during the coming session of Congress.

"The only man in the Republican ranks who is known to espouse the tariff tinkering idea is Congressman Babcock. He has made considerable stir but nothing has thus far been offered to show any extensive following in Congressional circles.

"So many shades of red are to be worn this season that many women seem to be laboring under the impression that plum shades are back again '60. But that is hardly the case as the new reds range from the bright red wine shades to the tints of crimson purple, the red with plenty of yellow in it being the prevailing tint.

ROOSEVELT AND BOOKER T.
The source of all the Southern criticism of Roosevelt for inviting Booker T. Washington to dine at the White House table is found in the statement that the negro Washington could never be invited to sit at a white man's table in the South.

There are sections of our country where there is some intensity of feeling against the Irish, French Canadians and other nationalities; there are eastern districts in which cordial relations between Catholics of national repute and the President have given rise to dire forebodings that Catholic power is predominant in the councils of the Nation.

This criticism of which the present Southern uproar is a type is convincing evidence that our Presidents have a better conception of the declaration that all men are created free and equal, than many citizens of the country.

It is prejudice and prejudice alone that gives rise to criticism of the President by reason of courtesies extended by him to any citizen of the United States be he white or black, religious or irreligious, native born or of foreign birth.

Honesty and ability are the practical tests of American citizenship and recommend men to public preferment and personal courtesy.

General Leonard Wood's plan for the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with Cuba deserves the heartiest endorsement and co-operation of the Cuban people and the favorable action of the United States Government at the proper moment.

The enactment of such a treaty or agreement would open up for Cuba an era of prosperity such as the island has never known before.

The second move of the sugar trust is its purpose to crush competition, is disclosed in a publication devoted to the sugar trade.

It may prove, however, that this audacious move of the sugar trust will be its own defeat.

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Roosevelt continues to show his determination to appoint only good men to office, and to weed out of the service those who are unworthy.

When Cooper claims the sole credit for closing Iwilei, he means that as Acting Governor he was able to read the signs of the times and was very sorry that the order of Judge Gear prevented him from making a grand stand play.

CHINESE EXCLUSION.
[Utica (N. Y.) Press.]
The Chinese exclusion law, known also as the Geary act, expires next year, as it will then have been in force ten years, which was fixed as the limit for its application.

The Chinese are very much concerned about it and it is represented that they are preparing to defeat such a movement.

The Chinese Minister to this country, Mr. Wu, denies that there is any danger that so many Chinamen would come here, if permitted, that they would dominate by mere force of numbers.

OIL FOR THE ROADS

At a late meeting of the San Joaquin Valley Commercial Association, says "Oil, Copper and Finance," Mon. H. A. Jastro, chairman of the Kern County Board of Supervisors, read an interesting paper on the making of roads.

In 1890 my attention was directed to the method by which the town of Chino was repaving her streets. This town is located on a dry, sandy plain in the northern part of San Bernardino county, and the surroundings, nature of soil and also the climate are very similar to those in the San Joaquin Valley.

"After being thoroughly convinced that the oiling of roads will in a short time be of a permanent nature, we undertook to have oil applied to our county roads wherever the district road funds would permit, and during the year of 1900 sprinkled about twenty miles of road at a cost of $250 per mile, crude oil being worth $1.15.

"I wish to state again that these figures are for applying the oil hot under the De Camp system, and include all the costs connected therewith. On the other roads we applied oil cold this year, and find it can be done much cheaper. Several miles of road were oiled at a cost of $50 to $60 per mile, using from 90 to 150 barrels of oil per mile.

"The disadvantage of the latter process, I find, is that the cold oil does not readily assimilate with the soil, and consequently before the soil has entirely absorbed the oil the wheels are very apt to throw oil on inmates of vehicles driving on the roads.

"I have observed that the oil hot under the De Camp system should be applied hot, so that the oil will readily mix with the subsoil, and after the hard substance has been left on top of the road, thereafter the cold application will be just as effective, as permanent and much cheaper.

MOTOR ON THE TYPEWRITER.
Electricity plays such an important part in our everyday life at present that it is not strange that it is to be applied to the typewriter to lessen the exertion and increase the speed to be obtained from this useful piece of mechanism. The machine is the invention of Geo. H. Ennis of Troy, N. Y., his idea being to make the current do the entire work after the mechanism to which it started by a slight depression of the key. The mechanism has a lever beneath the keyboard, with a pin at the inner end just out of contact with a raised shoulder on a roller. Now, if the key were depressed the roller would be rotated by the motor, until the pin came in contact with the roller, the rotation of the roller driving the geared shaft which rotates the type wheel above. The shoulder on the roller is projected in such a relation to the typewriter above that the instant the corresponding letter reaches the lowest point of revolution the pin brings the roller to a standstill. This closes a second circuit through the pair of electromagnets at the rear of the paper roll, and the magnets pull the bar supporting the type wheel downward with sufficient force to imprint the letter on the paper, the type having been previously inked by contact with the ink roller above during its revolution to the proper point. The release of the key breaks the circuit and a spring returns the parts to their normal position.
M. Victorien Sardon was married under the most romantic circumstances. As a young man he worked and starved in a garret, and disappointment preyed upon his nerves until he fell ill. A young actress, Mile. De Brecoart, took compassion upon him, nursed him back to health, and introduced his work to the famous actress, Delaize, through whom he was first acted. Sardon fell in love with and married his benefactress, whose death, ten years later, was the great sorrow of his life. Sardon has made more money than any other dramatist, and he is probably the only man who ever gave Sarah Bernhardt a shaking. The incident occurred at a rehearsal—and at a period when the divine Sarah was less eminent than she is now. They differed as to the way in which a passage should be declaimed, and Sardon, losing his temper, seized the actress by the shoulder and gave her a shaking. She retorted by slapping his face, and afterward challenged him to a duel.

GERMANY DIFFICULTY WITH THE VENEZUELEANS
Washington, Oct. 22.—The parallel between the attack on the sailors from a German cruiser in Porto Cabello, Venezuela, and the attack on the men from the United States ship Baltimore at Valparaiso, Chile, July 15 and 16, 1891, is quite marked. In each case the sailors were unarmed, and were attacked by men in the uniform of the country. Chilians attacked our sailors and Venezuelians attacked the Germans. Chill finally apologized for the outrage, and paid the sufferers $75,000 but for a time there was grave danger of war. The German Emperor is quick tempered, and particularly careful that his people are not treated with indignity. He will certainly demand an apology from Venezuela, and the payment of an indemnity. The question arises whether, in the present disturbed condition of affairs in Venezuela, President Castro will apologize immediately. If he does not the German Government can be expected to make a demonstration, and to take steps to secure justice and to make it evident that Germans, particularly those in uniform, must be treated with respect.
There is, however, one quite important aspect to this Porto Cabello affair. Germany is known to have her eye on South America and to look to the time when she may be able to test our Monroe doctrine. Venezuela has many German residents and is especially popular with German colonists. Germany's capital invested in South America exceeds a billion dollars. With such large interests it is not surprising, that such an evidence of the unpopularity of the German nation is not calculated to encourage her. The development of German trade, and the increase of German interests as the mother country desires. It would appear as if German methods have been conducive to the development of a friendly feeling on the part of the South Americans for German people, and that is a danger to the further growth of German influence and interests in South America that American exporters will view without unalloyed pleasure, if not with satisfaction.
Cecil Rhodes is living quietly at a retired London hotel until the run of popularity for war heroes rises again. Mr. Rhodes had something to do with the present large British war profit empire, though without him the development of South Africa would not have reached its present stage.—New York Commercial.
A reform is contemplated in mourning apparel for children, which will do away with black gowns and substitute all white in their place, a large bow on the child's hat being the only touch of black.
Exposure to wet, dampness and cold invariably results in sudden chill, which if not attended to immediately will cause a cold. By mixing a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER in half a glass of warm water or milk, the whole system will be heated and the danger of cold avoided. A valid substitute, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. Price 25c. and 50c.
Silk embroidered buttons are one of the novel features of the new shirt waists and they come in all colors to match the material.

curtain department unrivaled
If there's one department we're more pride in than another it's that of our Curtains and Housekeeping Linens. Wherever else we may be strong or weak, in that basement department we're unquestionably excel. Not in that only our own opinion—we merely echo the general verdict. What has made that department pre-eminent? Factors not a few, among them this: For several months after we started business it was run at a loss, when it could have shown a profit. How so? We had the wisest management? Come what might, we were determined to have the most satisfactory assortment in the city—and we did. Now here are some very big values in fine qualities and exquisite patterns.

HANNA AND ROOSEVELT IN PERFECT ACCORD
ON PARTY MATTERS
Characteristic Conversation of the President Soon After Assuming Office—Mutual Understanding is Reached.
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 15.—The Commercial-Tribune today publishes the following special from its Columbus bureau:
So far as the administration at Washington is concerned, there will be no political changes in Ohio before 1904. The bond between President Roosevelt and the present leaders of the Republican party in this State is every whit as strong, politically, as were the relations that existed between Senator Hanna and President McKinley. The only difference that death has made is personal.
This assertion is based upon an accurate report of just what happened at the conference at Buffalo on the first day of the present administration.
Every one will recall that the new President sent for Senator Hanna the day of his arrival at Buffalo, which was the day upon which he took the oath of office. Perhaps it is not known though, that, in his urgency to have a talk with the Ohio Senator, the President sent for him three times that day. The Senator meant no disrespect, of course, but he was so broken in spirit with his great personal loss, and so distracted with the many details of funeral arrangements etc., which fell upon his shoulders, that he could not answer the first summons.
At this meeting the President, in the frank, impulsive way which is characteristic of him, asked for himself the guidance of the man who had been the mentor and friend of his immediate predecessor. He said: "Mr. Hanna, I want to do what is best for the party. I need you. I want you to be to me just what you were to McKinley."
"But that is impossible, Mr. President," said Senator Hanna. "Mr. McKinley and I were close friends for years and years, but our intimacy was a gradual growth. I never can be the same to any one else. With him I frequently differed on public questions. I could tell him he was foolish, and he could reply that it was I that was foolish. We could discuss our differences in the frank fashion of friends and brothers, and usually would manage to agree in the end. But I could not do that with you or any one else."
"Perhaps that is so, but I want all you can give me, myself. I want your advice and suggestions; I want your help in politics."
"You can have that, Mr. President, I assure you."
"I want more, Mr. Hanna. I want your machine."
"Why, Mr. President, I have no machine. The only machine with which I am connected is the Republican party. I am the chairman of the national committee, and it is only the good of the whole party for which I have been working. That is the only machine of which I know anything, and that shall be yours, Mr. President."
"You know what I mean. I want the political support of your organization just as fully as McKinley had it."
"You shall have that as far as I have anything to say about it, and if you will refrain, as I am positive you intend to, from seeking to build up a personal machine, but, instead, as you have stated, serve the whole country and the whole party as you have in your power to do, nothing under Providence can prevent your nomination in 1904."
"I am not thinking of that at this time," said the President. "This is not of my seeking. I wanted it to come in another way. I shall not, or try to, on the supposition that my term ends in March, 1905. Now, Mr. Hanna, tell me something about the Ohio situation."
The Senator smiled and said: "Why, Mr. President, the situation in Ohio is the same as everywhere else. I was elected, and also a Legislature which will re-elect Senator Foraker, without an opposing Republican vote."
"But, Senator, how about factions?"
"Why, there are no factions in Ohio. Senator Foraker and I are in perfect accord, and I assure you that you will never have a recommendation for appointment signed by one Ohio Senator. The recommendation will be signed by both or neither."
