THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

There have been decided recently in the U. S. Circuit Court, New York, two important cases that have been tried several years.

The bark Reindeer of Hallowell, on her voyage from London to Boston, in 1854, was run into, in the Chop of the English Channel, by the steamship Hermann...

The second involves essentially the same principle, viz: COLLISION-DUTY OF VESSELS WITH WIND FREE, AND OF ONE CLOSE-HAILED, COMING THROUGH.

We are inclined to think upon the whole of the evidence, that the better opinion is, that the two vessels, which from the courses given were crossing each other's track at nearly right angles...

We agree with the Court below in dismissing the libel, and affirm the decree.

The Tredre, or Ship Worm. The young tredo, called minute holes in wood, which holes are at first discoverable only by the use of a magnifying glass...
