Not very many years ago, Gay spirits have said: These Isles were by a sudden thro' Out of the ocean bed.

All signs that we can see found. Point to this great upheaval. The strata dark of lava found Is not the rock a primeval.

So fresh and recent are these Isles. All things in nature here. "The lovely event" all smiles And smiles soft and clear.

A Queer String of Accidents.

At the corner of the Honolulu and the Rue Basse du Rampier on the afternoon of April 7 a private carriage, an ordinary Parisian affair, and a washerwoman's wagon passed the way. The drivers of these vehicles were indulging in the Parisian form of billingsgate, when the horses became very restive, and the one attached to the horse-drawn wagon started toward the opera. The wheels struck the pavement; the driver was thrown out and crushed under the wheels. A little farther on a man who claimed to be passing was run into and badly hurt. Meanwhile a young servant girl, who was leaning out of a fifth story window to see what was going on below, suddenly fell forward, the window bar having broken, and was instantly killed on the pavement. The horse was still running madly on. Two policemen rushed forward, and in the confusion the driver of the Bon Marche, and in the collision tore off a wheel of the fiacre. A little farther on he upset another large goods wagon, and immediately after broke the shafts and lantern of another fiacre. The horse was finally stopped by two men—London Telegraph.

Her Contradictions.

"Queen," said a man thoughtfully the other day, "the contradictions of women. I know a girl who was plucky enough to go out on a Dakota ranch to rescue a brother who was going to the dogs out there. She rode 40 miles in the night to a border town and went straight into an saloon where she knew she would find him, fearless and resolute, and when that girl came back home and was told to be married she was so shy and timid that she wouldn't let a person be asked to the church to see the ceremony. If I look in and find anybody there, she told her father, I won't go in, and he knew she wouldn't, so there was no one there besides the family."—New York Times.

KEEP WITHIN THE LAW.

Honolulu does not need a vigilance committee yet. True, Justice is blind-folded and has to feel her way. But in Hawaii she is guided and guarded with judgment. The law court is the bulwark of civilization. It is the refuge from the chaos of anarchy. It is hampered and often exasperating in its operation. In the end it is triumphant.

"Taking the law into their own hands" is the most desperate and dangerous expedient to which a people can resort. It has been successfully undertaken and has been justified in every way. That was where violence forced defense.

Here the enemies of society and Government are minor, in substantial factors. They are simply active symbols of the axiom that talk is cheap.

So, we say to the hotheads, "hoo-manawau." Time is a never-failing physician. To hang or to let and feather a few helpless individuals would do no good. The poorest use you can make of a man is to kill or abuse him. With their eternal flow of foolish chatter these irreconcilables are annoying.

That is all. Some of them are vicious and some of them don't know any better. People who amount to anything in our affairs pay no attention to the streams of libel. These demonstrative dissenters belong to a class of shrimps reported to General Grant during the war. He said of them that it didn't make any difference which side they were on.

It is wise to keep entirely within the law. That is the best course. ADMIRAL WALKER will probably be able to hold his own.

THE efforts of the authorities to discourage incendiarism are prompt and praiseworthy.

"DISDAIN hatreds. Hear both sides and delay judgment until reason has had time to resume her sway."

WHERE, oh, where is little Captain Palmer? The Boston Transcript is now an annexation "out and outer."

THE merchant marine of the United States comprises 23,586 vessels of 4,644, 024 tons. Great Britain has twice that tonnage.

It is a good thing for those interested in Hawaii that extensive experiments with cannaigre are being made in California.

SIR GEORGE PULLMAN has announced a departure that will please the worthy Mr. Jos. Marsden. Upper berth rents are to be reduced and snorers will be supplied with clothespins.

WAR in Africa; war in Asia; turmoil in Europe; Congress about to meet in the United States; revolutions in South America; peace and plenty and steady habits in Hawaii.

TAMMANY is a complete wreck. Some of the leaders are in jail. Some are in Europe and Canada. The remainder are dodging officers, friends and interviewers and hiding from Rev. Dr. Parkhurst. Tammany was routed horse and boots!

THE STAR fails to see any occasion for the abuse heaped on Manager Levey of the opera house by a San Francisco theatrical paper. Mr. W. R. Dailey advertises himself on the coast as manager of the theater here. Probably he has authority to do that. In Honolulu Mr. Levey still figures as lessee and manager of the house.

THERE is every reason why the United States should encourage Hawaii; some of the reasons are commercial; some are based on moral grounds; some are the result of the blood relationship which exists; some are strategic in their character. There would be mutual advantage, but the United States would gain much more by the transaction than would Hawaii.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE.

How She Was Once Not Escorted Home. "Speaking of bad breaks," said the lawyer, "Jack Berkeley, a friend of mine, was telling me the other night of an experience of his which he looks upon as a record breaker."

"He was attending college during the time that Professor Stowe occupied a chair at Bowdoin, and one stormy night the learned gentleman, being out to have his comfortable quarters, asked Jack if he wouldn't go down to the station to meet Mrs. Stowe."

"Jack didn't know the lady, but he willingly accepted the honor of escorting so great a celebrity as Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe and hastened down through the snow and sleet to wait for the train."

"After a time he presented himself before the professor without the expected guest. "Where is she?" demanded that gentleman.

"She didn't come, sir," said Jack. "Oh, but I know she did. She wrote me she was coming, and Mrs. Stowe never disappoints me," was the very positive answer.

"But, sir," protested Jack, "there was only one person got off the train, and that was an old Irish woman."

"Sir," cried the professor, "what can have happened to her?" "At that moment there was a knock at the door, and Mrs. Stowe entered."

"Ah!" exclaimed the professor gleefully. "There you are! I sent this young gentleman down for you, and he escorted you to my room."

"I did not remember seeing him, too," said Mrs. Stowe. "Poor Jack! The cold perspiration stood upon his brow. He had taken the immortal author of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' for an old Irish woman."

"He stammered out something and fled. He never could look Professor Stowe in the face after that."

"Mrs. Stowe never cared much for dress," said a woman present. "I dare say, as it was a stormy night, she had paid less attention than usual to her personal appearance."

"A friend of mine who knew her very well one day asked her if she preferred white stockings to colored ones. She spoke of it because Mrs. Stowe's white hosiery was very noticeable with her black gown."

"No," said the author, "I don't know that I do."

"Not at all," said Mrs. Stowe, putting out a foot cloth in a black stocking. "But the other foot has a white one," persisted my friend.

"Mrs. Stowe quickly investigated. "Why, so it has," she laughed. "Well, I suppose I didn't pick up mates, and unconsciously changed the subject."—New York Recorder.

Where He Was.

"How many stories has this building?" asked the stranger. "Several thousand," was the reply. "What—why, where is it?" "In the friction department of the public library,"—Washington Star.

Born a Genius.

Disease Threatens to Cut Short a Noble Career. But Hood's Sarsaparilla Restores Good Health.

Lillie May Bentley is an accomplished elocutist and natural born speaker of only 12 years of age. She is the only child temperance lecturer before the public. Her genius, however, did not exempt her from an attack of a disease of the blood. Her own words bear testimony to the doctor's advice. "I thought it was the only thing to save my life, but I

"I heartily join with the many thousands that are recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla: I had been troubled from infancy with gatherings in the head. I was compelled to leave school upon the doctor's advice. He thought it was the only thing to save my life, but I

Continued to Grow Worse. I was persuaded finally by a friend to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The use of one bottle acted effectively upon the blood and I began to improve. After the use of three bottles the gathering ceased and I am cured of my former trouble. I owe my life and will always remain a true friend to Hood's Sarsaparilla." BURGLARY AND ARSON.

GUITAR SHOP RAIDED AND THEN FIRED BY THE THIEF. On Nuuanu Avenue—Starter For a Great Fire—A Suspect in Under Arrest. A miscreant entered the little guitar store next to the Bee Hive saloon on Nuuanu street at 1 o'clock this morning, stole two guitars and set the shop on fire. From the alleyway on the mauka side of the building a small window through which entrance was effected. It is about ten feet from the ground and was reached by placing a board on a barrel over which the burglar climbed. This curtain over the window was thrown amid the rubbish and fired as the burglar was leaving. From the shop the thief went around the saloon, climbed over the corrugated iron fence on the mauka side to a Chinaman's yard and from there reached the street. The man was barefooted and put on his shoes after getting out again. He had a pretty big foot wearing about a No. 8 shoe. The shop belongs to A. Dias, a Portuguese. Dias charges the crime to a native miscreant. He says the native in question was in the shop yesterday to examine a guitar. He was shown a fine instrument. The musician stated that he was not prepared to buy the guitar, but had a friend who would take, and would bring him around. This instrument is gone, along with another of smaller value. It is believed that the miscreant was committed by the native and the house fired to hide the first crime. Chief Hunt attended to the fire personally and discovered that it was incendiary. A couple of Chinamen sounded the alarm. They were arrested as suspects, but were soon released. The fire was extinguished in a few minutes and the damage was slight. But for the good work of the department there would have been a great fire. The blaze was in the center of a block of old wooden buildings. The musician, whose name is William Sea, was then arrested and lodged in jail. He is a native of Hawaii, a boat black near Bay Horse saloon. He was also arrested on suspicion of being an accomplice with Sea. Members of the band say Sea is a tough fellow. He manipulates the xylophone and the kettle drum and is down for a solo tonight. A COLONY. Plan to Add Fifty American Families to Hawaii. B. R. Henry is here from Oregon on an important mission. He wants to establish an agricultural community. Mr. Henry proposes to bring his people from the Willamette valley. He says that fifty families can be secured easily. Mr. Henry came on the Australia. Eight gentlemen favorable to the project are with him. Three brought their families. The others who will come are of considerable means. Their plan is to settle on Hawaii, engage in general farming, plant coffee and stay. Mr. Henry has interested Chief Justice Judd, W. R. Castle and Joseph Marsden in the enterprise. President Dole and other officials are to be made acquainted with Mr. Henry's mission. The Government will give every reasonable encouragement to colony scheme. There is no religion or politics or "A. D. 2000" in the business. These farmers are simply tired of Oregon and believe the Islands offer inducements. Mr. Dillingham reports satisfactory progress on the Waianae extension of the Oahu railway. The carpenters have started upon the construction of the bridges and culverts. MR. MAGNIN IS HERE.

An Old Kamaaina Revisits the Island Paradise. Kamaainas will remember L. Magnin who did business in this city many years ago and moved to San Francisco in 1883. He had a dry goods store in the building now occupied by Hollister & Company on Fort street. He has visited Honolulu but once within the past eleven years. He is here now, having arrived by the Australia Monday morning. Mr. Magnin has large interests in this city in the way of real estate. Mr. W. W. Hall is his agent. Among his most valuable possessions are the building occupied by the Wing Wo Tai Company and the one in which the Lovejoy business is located, both on Nuuanu street. Mr. Magnin is down on business connected with his property and will return by the Australia. He is engaged in the real estate business in San Francisco. One of his sons is associated with him. He has a beautiful residence over in Alameda. There he finds a retreat from Wall street life. He is much pleased with Honolulu after several years absence. A LOT OF OPIUM LANDED. SEVERAL HUNDRED POUNDS WERE BROUGHT ASHORE MONDAY. Police Now After It—What they Know of the Case—Hold Business. A 8 o'clock last night a shore boatload of opium was landed on the beach at the rear of the Myrtle Boat House. The boat, the men, and the act of landing were seen by several parties. There were several hundred pounds of the drug in the lot. To the beach the boat came from toward a schooner that arrived quite recently. The boat belonged to Mrs. Reist, who lives in the Aloha bathing resort. It was stolen from her place just after dark. It was taken around the harbor, loaded with the opium and brought back. Two men managed the boat. A third one stood on the walk near the boat house as a look-out. The boat was rowed slowly along to the landing. Then the opium was put ashore. It was in a number of heavy packages. The men quickly gathered it up and placed it near the old immigration barracks. Two of the smugglers then put off for town while the third returned the boat to the place they had found it. One of the men is thought to live here; perhaps two are residents of the town. The third was a sailor. He is rather tall and dark, resembling a Spaniard. The above is the extent of the information in the hands of the police at the present time. ALL ABOARD FOR WAIANAE. Railway Construction Will Soon be in Full Blast. Mr. Dillingham reports satisfactory progress on the Waianae extension of the Oahu railway. The carpenters have started upon the construction of the bridges and culverts. Lumber for the purpose was received by the Jewett Sunday. The grade and road-bed has been completed nearly to Waianae. Track laying is a small part of the work. It can be completed in a few weeks. The road will be completed in time to move the present sugar crop, or sometime in January. CULLINGS FROM COURT. A fisherman named William Fisher, a native woman and a horse are badly bruised up. The woman was at first thought to be killed, but afterward proved to be only severely stunned. Fisher lives at Ewa. He was going home in a wagon without lights. The night was pretty dark, it being cloudy at the time. He drew up in front of a poi shop at Moanalua. Approaching from behind, on the dark road, were three native women, horseback, riding at a rapid gait. They lived at Moanalua. They had just left two sailors belonging to the Australia, with whom they had been riding. The horses did not see the wagon in the road, and one of them charged blindly into it. Horse and rider went down. Fisher was knocked out of the wagon. He sustained a ugly gash on the leg and was lacerated by the shock. The horse ridden by the woman had both of its legs injured. BRAVED A HURRICANE.

The schooner Mary Dodge, Capt. Bergman, arrived Monday afternoon 21 days from Eureka. She brought 200,000 feet of redwood lumber for Wilder & Company. She had good weather until near the islands. On Friday afternoon, when sixty miles off Molokai, a hurricane with violent seas struck her. During that night, on Saturday, Saturday night and Sunday the storm continued. The fore gaff was carried away. The billows rose higher and it seemed as if the vessel would be swamped. Captain Bergman rushed his men out and threw 10,000 feet of lumber into the sea. This was Sunday afternoon. That night the storm abated. The next morning (Monday) Oahu was sighted, and the Mary Dodge made port about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The schooner brought one passenger, a Mr. Nelson, who will return on her. This is Captain Bergman's first trip to Honolulu. He is an American of German descent. He says everybody is talking about Honolulu around Eureka and along the coast. They think up there that this is the coming country. The captain was surprised, however, to find everybody here speaking English. On the way down he went so far as to fear he would have difficulty in making himself understood at the Custom House. On the contrary, the first American he met gave him a good American handshake, and Captain Bergman now feels that he is in a thoroughly American city. MARINE NOTES. The Hawaiian bark R. P. Rithet sailed Friday afternoon taking a light cargo of sugar and four passengers. The schooner Kentmere drifted on a sand spit near Astoria, Ore., on the evening of November 23. Reports say she has been floated, but is considerably damaged. The British bark Routenbeck, Captain Russell, arrived Monday afternoon 160 days from Liverpool. She brought a cargo of general merchandise and is consigned to T. H. Davies & Company. No passengers. Experienced good weather most of the way. PASSENGERS. ARRIVED.
