Insurance.

WHY THE Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States is the Best company with which to Assure.

I.—Because of its Safety. Its surplus is larger than that of any other assurance company.

II.—Because of its Promptness. Of 1,043 death claims paid in 1885, nearly one-half were paid the very day proofs were received; while of the remainder, the majority were paid within the following three days. No other company can show such a record.

III.—Because of its Liberality and Reforms. All policies are INCONTESTABLE after three years. All incontestable policies are payable immediately upon receipt of proofs of death. The Society's policy contract is clear and simple, and liberal in its conditions. Its Non-forfeiting (Tontine or Semi-Tontine) policy affords all the ultimate benefits of the full Tontine, and has during its earlier years the surrender value and other material advantages of ordinary life policies.

IV.—Profit. No other company is paying on its policies, as large profits as are shown under the Equitable's matured Tontine policies with fifteen-year periods. Persons desiring assurance may obtain estimates of the probable results of similar policies, and of policies with twenty-year terms, which are expected to show even larger profits.

V.—Prospective Advantages. The unexampled progress of the Equitable in the past is the best guarantee of the increasing future value of assurance with the Equitable. Assets, $66,553,387.99 Liabilities, $2,091,148.57 Surplus, $64,462,239.42

FOREST MATTER.

Considerable prominence is given to the subject of forestry in the Interior Minister's report. Beginning at the first Hawaiian Agricultural Fair in 1852, the history of the country's agriculture in relation to plants and trees up to the present time is briefly outlined. Whilst acknowledging that "much permanent good" has resulted from the efforts of several gentlemen who have been "enthusiastic in their devotion to the care and ornamentation of our public grounds, and the improvement of our stock of ornamental and useful plants," the Minister says that "it cannot be lost sight of that many of the objects pointed out a generation ago as being desirable of attainment are just as far beyond our reach as ever, with this additional disadvantage, that during the thirty-five years' past "the demands of mechanical industry have almost entirely stripped our forests of their magnificent furniture woods, which in many respects are recognized as having no superior in the world. The cultivation of spice, fruit, medicinal, and textile plants as an industry, is no nearer attainment than at the beginning." The opinion is expressed "that the time has arrived for a more systematic and scientific treatment of the subject," an opinion in which intelligent and observant men will readily concur. For accomplishing this end the Legislative Assembly "are respectfully recommended to establish a bureau in the Interior Department, to be known as the Bureau of Industry, at the same time conferring authority upon the Department to summon to its aid the best scientific assistance obtainable to assist in the organization and management of the bureau." The proposition is, "to communicate with the Government of the British East Indies, soliciting their assistance in the selection of a suitable director for this bureau," $20,000 for the current biennial period being deemed a sufficient sum to inaugurate the enterprise. Opinions may differ as to the measure recommended and the course of procedure proposed, but there can hardly be a question concerning the importance of restoring our forests. We say restoring, because little is now left of what were once fine forests. Wood for mechanical purposes is scarce and high priced, and every year becoming scarcer and dearer. There is also scarcity for fuel purposes. Unless action for replenishing the continuous consumption be taken on a larger scale than at present the scarcity will increase from year to year. It will be seen from our legislative report that the Assembly has taken an intelligent view of this question, although it was not prepared to go to the length of establishing a bureau of forestry at present.

THE LEGISLATURE.

FORTIETH DAY—CONTINUED.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18TH.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rep. Aholo moved that the vote to pass the bill relating to districts for taxation, judicial and educational purposes, be reconsidered.
Rep. Dole said he was sorry to be obliged to ask for a reconsideration, he having obtained Rep. Aholo's kind assistance for that purpose. When the bill passed yesterday, he was unavoidably absent, and he found that a serious change had been made in his district, by the lopping off of Eleele. The matter of boundaries was a very serious one, and changes should be made only for very good reasons, as they were apt to disarrange taxation, judicial and educational affairs.
The motion to reconsider carried.
Rep. Dole moved that the bill pass without the change made in his district.
The motion was lost, and no further action was taken on the bill.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

The house went into committee of the whole on the Appropriation Bill, Rep. Kaunamano in the chair.
Interior Department—Continued.
Salary of Surveyor-General, $8,500
Rep. Palohau moved to amend to $7,000.
Rep. Kalua moved it pass as in bill.

Rep. Dole supported that motion. The incumbent was one of the hardest-worked and most efficient officials in the Kingdom. His services raised the value of real estate throughout the country.
The item passed.

Expenses Bureau Surveying, $40,000
Rep. Nahale moved to amend to $35,000, same as last period.

Rep. Kalua wanted the Minister of Interior to give some explanation of the increase. The disposition on previous days had been to increase items, and he was surprised now to hear motions for reducing items.

Rep. Dole saw, in the Minister's report, $1,800 for salary of engineer, which would account for the increase.

Minister Gulick referred him to another page, where it was, "engineer and draughtsman." The arrangements for the work of the staff were changed from former years. An effort was being made to comply with the homestead law of 1884.

Rep. Dole still thought there was a new official involved.
Rep. Brown asked if the cost of carrying out the act of 1884 was included in the increase.

Minister Gulick said it was.
Rep. Brown was in favor of the item at $40,000, saying it was well worth while incurring extra expense to keep the Portuguese people in the country by giving them homesteads.

Rep. Wight was always in favor of reducing appropriations, but still would rather increase than reduce those for the survey bureau. The fact that most of the officials were foreigners had nothing to do with his sentiment in this regard. The great difficulty every year was to find individuals who could point out the boundaries of lands. It would be false economy to curtail the expenditure for this bureau. The matter concerned every one of them.

Rep. Kekoa was in favor of the item. People were petitioning the house to have Government lands surveyed and divided among settlers.

Rep. Nahale spoke for his motion to reduce.

Rep. Paehale was in favor of letting the item stand.

Rep. Palohau was in favor of the amendment. The surveyor had never been to Kauai. They were too lazy. They wanted an engineer and draughtsman. Who had been doing the draughting all these years? He was glad to see that the hon. members for Lihue, Molokai, Wailuku and Lahaina were converted to his way of thinking. Hitherto they had been opposed to passing items as in the bills, but now they wanted to increase them.

Salary Superintendent of Water Works and Clerk of Market, $1,800
Rep. Palohau moved to make it $1,000.

Passed as in bill.
Salary First Clerk Water Works, $3,500
Rep. Nahinu moved to reduce to $3,000.

Rep. Thurston said it was $2,400 last period. He was sorry he was not able always to agree with the leader of the Government side of the house, the hon. member for Hanalei. While not in favor of cutting down the salaries of heads of departments, he would go with the hon. member in preventing increases to subordinate clerks.
Rep. Dickey seconded the motion to reduce.

Rep. Kalua moved to reduce to $2,400, and said this was the salary of the person about whom they had lately heard so much, and who so far as they knew had not taken the oath of allegiance. For a great many years that office was filled efficiently by a Hawaiian at $1,200 a year, but as soon as a foreigner was found for it the salary must be raised. It looked as if the person was taken into consideration instead of the office. This person had received the position on March 10, but had not taken out letters of denization till May 15. He was holding the office illegally; he was only a wait keeping himself at public expense, and the Minister of Interior seemed to be playing with the house.

Minister Gulick did not suppose a lengthy reply was necessary. In submitting items for the department the incumbent was never considered, as there was no assurance that anyone would be employed any longer than his services were satisfactorily performed. Changes had been made in the department, as to system and personnel, with the results of greater efficiency, more revenue, and exactitude in accounts.
Rep. Richardson moved the item pass as in the bill. The salary last period was not more than sufficient to pay a good book-keeper.

Rep. Castle said, if the book-keeping requirements of the Water Works were not to be greater than during the last two years, he should favor putting the item at the old figure. He moved that consideration of the item be deferred till more information was before the house.
Noble Bishop asked the Minister of Interior who was required to give bonds.

Minister Gulick said it was the first clerk, who also acted as cashier. Noble Bishop always thought it was the Superintendent who was responsible. It was a comfort to know that there was to be efficiency and improved methods. But judging from what one heard, efficiency and improved methods were something to come hereafter. Something had happened last year that ought not to happen next year. Why should there not have been efficiency and improved methods before? There were three or four items in the tables which showed an increase of revenue—the Water Works, Post Office, and Liquor Licenses. Many other items were less than they were before. They knew what had been said and what had been published about both those bureaus. In this bureau there was no doubt there was a great chance for improvement on what had been done hitherto. It was proper that bonds should be given and that only men of property should be taken as sureties.

Rep. Kaulukou supported the item as in the bill.
Rep. Thurston said that $9,000 having been lost last period, it was an honest rather than a smart man that was needed. The clerk had no responsibility, but the superintendent. The clerk had only to collect the rates, and there were only two collections in a year.

Minister Gulick said the office was open from 9 to 4 o'clock without intermission through the year. There was always somebody there to receive money, the office being governed by the same rules as the Interior Department.

Rep. Thurston said that might have been necessary lately when they had several years' work to overtake, but the office need not be open all the time. In addition to collections all he had to do was to receive applications for new privileges.

Rep. Dickey supported the proposed reduction, because the clerk took the office at $2,400.
Passed at $3,000.
Salary Second Clerk Water Works $1,800
Passed.

Running Expenses Honolulu Water Works, $6,000
Rep. Dickey moved to refer this item to the Finance Committee, to report on Monday, as there was a great deal of talk about the way the bureau had been run during last period.

Rep. Kalua wanted an explanation.
Minister Gulick referred him to full details in the report. Under this head, he said, are the pay of the different keepers of reservoirs, of men who are in constant employ to attach new pipes and privileges, and to repair any breaks that occurred. They are at work almost all the time, and sometimes have to work at night.

Rep. Dickey asked what was W. R. Seal paid $150 a month for.

Minister Gulick referred him to an appendix in the report, where would be found the whole story which made the employment of help of that kind necessary. It was a rather disagreeable and thankless task, and therefore he had the facts placed there in full.

Rep. Castle said the Interior Department was responsible for the Water Works having fallen into the hands of thieves, and Mr. Seal was called in to put things right.

The item passed.
Maintenance of Nurseries, $12,000
Rep. Castle asked if the Government had any plan with regard to the establishment of a bureau of forestry.

Minister Gulick referred him to the report, and read some extracts therefrom.
Rep. Castle hoped the Minister would bring in a bill to establish a bureau, and he would support it. He had in his desk a paper on the subject which he had read in the Social Science Association.

Rep. Dole thought the work that had been done here in foresting within the past few years had done much toward developing a favorable sentiment. He did not think that they could discuss the subject at that stage, as nobody had introduced a bill. He moved to pass the item as in the bill, which was the same as last period. It was rather late in the session to go into the establishment of a bureau. During the past six years Mr. Jaeger had expended $10,000 out of the appropriation, and the work that he had done and was doing was a very good beginning for forestry here. In Germany that work was performed by men trained as perfectly as military officers.

Rep. Paehale moved to reduce to $11,000, as the trees, having got a good start, require less care to keep them thriving.

Rep. Brown was in favor of passing the item as in the bill. As one of the committee appointed for that purpose, he had visited the nursery and was astonished at the number of trees. From the road one had no idea of it, but when he went up through he was in a perfect forest of young trees. Some of them were so high that on horseback he could not see over the top of them. They were extending up towards the remains of the old forest. He had been told that in the olden times the hills around Honolulu were wooded to their base. Trees had a great effect on the rainfall. When he was going to school there was scarcely ever any rain except during a kouna storm, but since the plains had been planted with algaroba scarcely a day passed without some rain.

Minister Gibson said the matter was one of importance, and although not one of his hobbies he took much interest in it. When the Minister of Interior was preparing his report they talked over this thing and he proposed that they should start a bureau of forestry, but that plan contemplated an expenditure of $20,000, and when they came to make up the Appropriation Bill they concluded to let it remain as before. He would like, however, to have that idea considered by the Assembly. There was very excellent work done there, but they had been expending money every session—he did not remember exactly, but the aggregate must be over $50,000, not all at that particular place, but money had been expended since 1864. There could be no question about the importance of the subject. With the decline of forests the people declined; with the increase of forests there was a favorable chance for the people to increase. There had been very good work done, and without compensation, and it might be worthy of consideration whether they were having the work done to the best advantage for forestry on an extended scale.

As the hon. member for Lihue had stated, the session was for advanced, but he thought they would have time to look into the matter more thoroughly. Along with the excellent work being done by the gentleman referred to, he would be glad if they could have something like the perfect system of Germany. Therefore he would move that this matter be referred to a special committee. There were several who had spoken on the subject—the hon. members for Lihue, Koolaula and Molokai—who would be prepared to give their most earnest attention to the matter. If he thought the time was too short, he should vote to pass the item, but he was convinced that the matter could have very careful attention.

Noble Bishop said the matter had awakened quite a general interest, and he was glad to see it. At the beginning forest cultivation, especially if you depend upon exotics, will for many years be a matter of experiment. What had been done for a few years past, either in a private way or in this nursery, had been with foreign plants. Trying to make a forest with our native trees had so far been a failure. So that beginning with foreign trees, it is a matter of experimenting a few years to find species adapted to our soil and climate. Forest planting has been going on at Lihue plantation for six or seven years under charge of a German forester, with a number of assistants constantly employed. He knew that many of the experiments there had been failures, having seen many of them in January and been disappointed. The forester himself had a great deal to learn, coming from a different soil, different climate and different conditions altogether. Mr. Jaeger had been living here a great many years before he undertook this work for the Government. He had been experimenting on his own grounds. He has a fair knowledge of botany and a taste for tree planting, and has been perhaps as good a man as could be employed if they had gone abroad for a man. He has trees and plants from many countries, and some of them had failed, but he was still going on with the experiment. If anything was to be tried different from what is being done, they wanted a law which should be carefully studied, and he did not think there was time to do it this session. As the experiment seemed to be going on prosperously he should favor the appropriation of this $12,000.

Rep. Kaulukou was in favor of this appropriation if they had plenty money, but they were constantly hearing the cry that there is no money for necessary purposes. This is a splendid plan for people who are laying out their grounds. They can get rare trees and plants for nothing. When a Hawaiian lady goes out there for plants she is refused. He knew of an instance the other day, when some Hawaiian ladies went out to Mr. Jaeger and asked for a few plants, but he said he was not quite ready. The very same day some white ladies went out and he dug out plants at once for them. He was in favor of covering our hills with forest but not in that way. This was a good plan for some to get rare plants, flowers and trees for their premises. That costs a good deal, but get the Government to carry out a plan like this, and it will be much cheaper than paying for those things out of their own pockets. The member for Wailuku said that he was talking very foolishly, but let that member go out there and get a hundred algate pears, and in a few years he would not give away the fruit of the trees that cost him nothing. The cry was now that they had not enough money to put the roads in good condition, yet members wanted to make an appropriation of $12,000, so that they might get plant and trees to put round their enclosures. If those young trees were all to be planted out on Government land he would be willing to vote this money, but if they were to be started in little boxes and given away to friends he did not believe in it. If people wanted their private grounds laid out in style they had better spend a little money of their own for trees. If Mr. Jaeger would start young trees and sell them there might be some reason for making this appropriation, as then there would be some return to the Government. He was opposed to the passage of the item, not because he thought trees were not a good thing but he was opposed to the way the scheme was being carried out. He therefore moved the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again.

Rep. Dickey did not know how the business had been carried out before, but from what he had seen he believed the money had been well expended. The matter was very important. Formerly our hills were covered with sandal wood and the beaches with koa. Those trees were very valuable and would bring in great revenue if they had them now. They had not died out, but had been allowed to be chopped down and not permitted to grow properly. In the forests of Hawaii and Maui sandal wood was now growing where cattle were not allowed to get at it. He believed that all the money that was spent properly now would yield five and ten fold if conducted intelligently. He agreed with the motion of His Excellency to refer to a select committee.

Rep. Dole thought the motion to refer to a committee was a good one. He felt sure that the committee would report that they were not prepared to take up the bureau of forestry immediately unless they were prepared to vote $50,000. It stood to reason that they could not employ an experienced forester out of an appropriation of $6,000 a year. It was clear that they could not have any assistance from the hon. member for Lihue without giving him algate pears for nothing. It was not true, it was false, that Mr. Jaeger made any discrimination in the matter of trees. People often had to wait for trees. Some kuaianas knew that forests were very efficient to prevent freshets.

Noble Macfarlane said since the presentation of the Minister of Interior's report he had heard a good deal of discussion on this point pro and con. There seemed to be a lurking suspicion in the minds of many members and of persons in the community that this office had been created for some special individual with a salary as chief of the bureau referred to. He believed that it was the sentiment of the community that if this money was expended to pay the salary of a skillful forester it would meet with general approval. To use a slang phrase there seemed to be an impression that there was "a nigger in the fence" somewhere. He for one favored very much the establishment of this bureau and he should be glad to see a bill introduced for that purpose. If the Minister of Interior would kindly state to the house that the item was intended to procure an intelligent and skillful forester—as the item came from his department—he thought the item would secure the votes of a majority of this house, and after his reply, if it was satisfactory, he should favor reference to a select committee.

Rep. Aholo remarked on the diversity of opinion as to giving trees away it increased the value of property, which involved a return to the Government in the shape of increased revenue from taxes, so that the appropriation would not be a loss but a gain. Although not a member of the visiting committee, by courtesy he had been permitted to accompany them, and he agreed in expressing astonishment at how much those trees had grown since he had seen them two years ago. If they made no more appropriation a great portion of the work already done would be lost. He was not in favor of reducing the item, as that would imply a reduction of the efficiency of the nurseries. Whatever was done with regard to the forestry bureau, those nurseries would have to be maintained in the meantime.

Noble Kane said that when the item came up he made up his mind that it should be struck out altogether, but after hearing the arguments he was strongly in favor of it. He approved of nurseries and forests. The member for Koolaula told them that where there were plenty of trees it increased the rainfall. There was a scarcity of water at the late fire in Honolulu, which might not have been but for the lack of trees. "Let us have trees." If by spending a few thousand dollars each year they could have large forests and plenty of water, let them have forests and water too, and by and by they might not need any Superintendent of Water Works. His Excellency told them that where there were large numbers of trees it had a tendency to increase population. If that was so let them have the trees and the people. Those were two great lacks in this country; they wanted trees and they wanted people. If their land was full of people they knew that it meant wealth.

Rep. Amara agreed with the members perfectly about the value of trees. But he had been told that the gentleman had a private nursery also, and he did not think it was a very good thing for a man to have a Government nursery and a private nursery at the same time. He was liable to get them confused and not know which was which. By some unaccountable means all the choice plants might get into the private nursery. It was not proper that a man who had the handling of a large amount of money like this one should have a private nursery. It was not right.

Rep. Palohau was in favor of the item, as trees were a fine thing.

Rep. Richardson was in favor of passing the item. The house had already occupied three hours on it. A committee would simply report that they tired themselves out in consideration of the matter, and begged leave to recommend that this report be laid on the table for consideration with the Appropriation Bill. Therefore let them put it in the bill now.

The item passed, and the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again.

The report of committee of the whole was adopted.

A TARIFF RESOLUTION.

Rep. Hayselden moved a suspension of the rules so that he could present a resolution, and the motion passing he moved the following:—

Resolved, That the President of the Legislative Assembly appoint a committee of five to consider what changes should be made in the tariff of the Hawaiian Kingdom, where such changes do not conflict with existing treaties; and that they present to this Assembly a measure for the purpose of carrying out their recommendations.

He said there were many reasons for a resolution of this kind. Many articles paid too high a duty, and many others did not pay high enough. Raw materials, in some cases, paid very high duties, while manufactured goods often paid very little. There were already two or three bills before the house which proposed to change the tariff, and notice had been given of others.

Rep. Kalua supported the resolution, provided the committee be of five members.

Rep. Hayselden accepted the amendment, and the resolution was adopted.

On motion of Rep. Hayselden the house adjourned about 5 o'clock till 10 to-morrow.

Forty-first Day.

SATURDAY, June 19th. The Assembly met at 10 A. M. In the absence of the Chaplain, Rep. E. Kekoa made the opening prayer. Besides the President, Noble Walker, the following members were present: Ministers Gilson and Neumann; Nobles Kuleidani, Kane and S. Parker; Reps. Likialani, Baker, Brown, Kaulia, Kaulukou, Pahia, Kaunamano, Nahale, Nahinu, Kekoa, Aholo, Kaukau, Richardson, Kaula, Kauli, Palohau, Kaula, Kauli, Thurston, Paeahole and Keau.

Rep. Nahale, on suspension of the rules, presented a petition from North Kona, that a policeman be appointed for that district to look after truant children. Referred to Education Committee.

REPORTS. The President appointed the following special committee on tariff changes: Rep. Hayselden, Noble Walker, Rep. Richardson, Nobles Cleghorn and Macfarlane.

Minister Gulick presented a report from the Printing Committee, of work done, and Rep. Richardson from the Engraving Committee of similar purport.

RESOLUTIONS. Minister Gulick gave notice of an act to establish a bureau of forestry in the Interior Department.

The same Minister gave notice of an act to indemnify the Minister of Finance.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

On motion of Minister Neumann, the house took up the regular order of the day.

Third reading of an act supplementary to art. 26, chap. 9, Civil Code, relating to the prevention of smuggling. The bill was read.

Rep. Dole moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed, for the reasons that it was unnecessary and curtailed the liberty of the subject.

The provisions of the existing law were stringent enough to prevent smuggling, and the proposed law was liable to abuse. It puts too much power into the hands of petty officials to annoy people. This was no imaginary experience, because individuals landing at Kahului and elsewhere had been subjected to most humiliating treatment. If the bill applied only to foreign vessels, it might be admissible; but it included coasting vessels, and every steamer, schooner, sloop, or canoe plying among the islands was placed within the grasp of the Minister of Finance to crush it if he chose.

Rep. Brown gave the reasons of the Judiciary Committee for having reported up the bill. Under the present law a foreign vessel cannot go from one port to another along the coast to land goods, and the Collector-General had sometimes given permits to vessels to do so but without any law for it. The bill was supplementary in making the authority of customs officers clearer. The proposed act was necessary, as there was a great deal of contraband trade going on between these islands and San Francisco, and there was a good deal of smuggling between the islands. There was a doubt now whether officers could search inter-island passengers as well as foreign, when there was reason to suspect that they had smuggled goods, and this bill said it could be done.

Rep. Castle was disappointed in the Judiciary Committee having given no information on the bill, and having done nothing with it but recommending a verbal correction.

Minister Neumann said the explanation of the hon. member for Koolauloa should go far toward recommending the passage of the bill. The member for Lihue had evidently not studied or digested the bill, or he would not have made the motion. It was a notorious fact that in no country of the world, for its size, was there such unblushing smuggling going on as in the Hawaiian Islands. He went on to show that the bill was intended to prevent smuggling, and said if the hon. member for Lihue was in favor of having opium introduced at 10 percent ad valorem, then he should persist in trying to secure the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Rep. Thurston would do anything toward helping the Attorney-General to prevent opium smuggling, but thought the mark was overreached in this bill. He read the law to show that the Collector-General had now authority to issue permits for foreign vessels to call at different ports. In conclusion he moved that the bill be referred to the Judiciary Committee to have it amended in certain points that he had indicated.

After further discussion of details by Minister Neumann, and Reps. Brown, Thurston, Dole and Kaulukou, the latter moved the previous question, which carried.

Rep. Dole was beginning to speak, when Rep. Kaulukou called him to order, raising the point that only the introducer of a bill or mover of a resolution could speak after the previous question passed.

The President overruled the point, and Rep. Kaulukou appealed, when the decision of the chair, was "not sustained."

The motions to postpone and to refer were voted down, and the bill passed.

On motion of Rep. Kaulukou, at 12.10, the house adjourned till 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

WM. G. IRWIN & CO., SOLE AGENTS FOR THE KINGDOM OF

The Celebrated Taro Flour

Alden Fruit & Taro Co., Prepared to offer special inducements to Plantations and Shipping Agents.

Taro Flour is packed in suitable containers for transhipment between the Islands and for foreign shipment. Special orders will be received and packed in any style required. This Taro Flour is FAR SUPERIOR to that manufactured last year.

Grand Success.

The new method of making Poi out of TARO FLOUR has reduced the time from 2 1/2 to ONLY 1 HOUR. The old method of cooking it in a bag has been discarded. There is no need of building a fire specially for the purpose, for it can be cooked at the same time that the ordinary meal is being prepared.

Take an agate iron or porcelain lined saucepan, and pour into it one part of Taro Flour to two parts of water. Mix well and be sure there are no lumps. Place the saucepan over a good fire and stir the flour and water with a wooden spoon or stick until it becomes thick, which will take from 3 to 5 minutes according to heat employed. After it is thick, occasional thorough stirring is necessary, adding a little warm water from time to time to prevent its getting too thick. Let it simmer for nearly an hour and be almost as stiff as putty—that is, quite thick. Put it into a calabash or large bowl, and let it stand from two to three days, when it will become nice and tart.

Should the Poi show a tendency to become cloggy or lumpy, strain it through a piece of netting into a pan or bowl and smooth it down with a potato masher or wooden spoon.

Persons preferring sweet Poi will find that by cooking the flour according to the above instructions while preparing their evening meal, and letting it stand overnight, it will be in proper condition for use on the following morning. 1852

BALLADE OF THE THROUGH EXPRESS.

Oh, Engineer of the Through Express To San Francisco bound,

God speed you through the wilderness And the shadows of night profound;

Ring out your cheery whistle sound Past peak and lone pine tree,

And the grave scarce marked by the prairie mound.

As you rush from sea to sea.

Oh, Engineer of the Through Express, There's never a good man gone

Holds more of the strands of happiness Than are 'round your right hand wound;

As you look and lean from your iron pound With your elbow on your knee,

While the whirling, whirling wheels go 'round

As you rush from sea to sea!

Behind you—a bride in her wedding dress;

And a general renowned; And a smiling babe with a golden tress,

Like a cherub with sunlight crowned; And a murderer ready to confess,

Should you fall him, or even he May outrun the fangs of the law's direness.

As you rush from sea to sea!

ENVOY.

Oh, Engineer of the Through Express What rider can he be,

Whose Pale Horse you may 'e'er distress, Though you race from sea to sea? —Railway News.

SUNDAY LAWS IN GERMANY.

An interesting return has just been presented to the German Parliament showing all the laws which have been passed from time to time in that country with regard to Sunday labor. These laws are classified in the return under three heads. The first comprises those which go back as far as 1750, and have for their object the security of freedom for Sunday services—servants and apprentices, for instance, were not to be hindered from attending the laws of the second period have a wider scope, their object being to obtain "public rest," not only during divine service, but during the whole day, and to forbid any work capable of disturbing this rest. So far, however, work in private places, in factories, etc., was not interfered with. These two classes of laws were designed, in fact, simply in the interest of religion. It is different with the third and more recent period of legislation, which exhibits a purely economic and social point of view, and starts from the principle that Sunday is a day which must be "sanctified" to physical repose. These laws have, therefore, a wider scope, and forbid work in factories, shops, etc.

A BATTLE-FIELD LOVE STORY.

Appropos of romantic marriages, there is probably no man in Congress who can show a better record than Representative William J. Stone of Kentucky, who takes Oscar Turner's place in the House. The story of Stone's terrible wound on the battle-field was told not long ago, but the best part of the story was left out.

The battle where he lost his leg was near Cynthiaana, Ky. He was in the Confederate service, and after the battle was lying on the field, gasping for water, with his leg shot away almost to the hip. A Federal soldier saw him and asked him if he was not thirsty. He replied that he was, and the Yankee went off and brought back a canteen full of water. He raised the wounded man and gave him a drink, and then in kindness left his own canteen by the side of what he thought to be the dying rebel. He said:

"I will leave this, as you may want to drink again after awhile."

Mr. Stone lay upon the battle-field for some time, hugging the canteen to him. The troops had now all left the field and none but the dead and dying remained. At this time a number of young ladies from the town of Cynthiaana came to visit the battle-field. They had gathered up the ramrods scattered among the dead, and one of them finding Mr. Stone still alive and the hot sun beating down upon him, took a bundle of these ramrods and stuck them into the earth, making a half-moon of paling-fence about his head. Over this she spread her shawl and did what she could to ease him. This young woman is now Mrs. Stone, one of the accomplished women of our Congressional society. Stone fell in love with her on the battle-field and after his recovery he succeeded in winning her. —Cleveland Leader.
