The Value Of Confidence

In no line of business is the buyer's confidence of more importance than in the selling of clothing.

The dealer who attempts to convince the buyer that his goods are the best, and that his place is the place where the best could be obtained, must see that the facts conform to his statements, and that his goods are in every way up to the standard. He had better never try to sell to a man than to mislead him or to exaggerate; for the customer will quickly discover such practice of misrepresenting merchandise.

There is never danger of a protest and always a certainty of full value received when a coat or suit is recognized as

JAPANESE SELL KUMERIC TICKETS

The story that the Kumeric has been chartered to take Japanese laborers to Vancouver, which was published exclusively by the Bulletin, is confirmed by the fact that K. Maruyama, a Japanese interpreter in C. F. Chillingworth's law office, has opened a steamship ticket office at the corner of Bereania and Aala lanes.

K. Maruyama has caused to be inserted in the Japanese papers an advertisement stating that the steamer Kumeric will leave this port for Vancouver on June 20. Those who desire to go are requested to purchase tickets on or before June 15.

"In this connection C. F. Chillingworth is backing up the proposition and K. Maruyama is handling the Japanese would-be passengers," said Wakabayashi, a hotel keeper, this morning.

The passage money per head is $30, and there are already 1000 Japanese awaiting the arrival of the Kumeric. One of the prominent Japanese said this morning that there are about three runners endeavoring to get the plantation laborers to go to Vancouver. They are telling them that at Vancouver the laborers receive from $1.50 to $2.50 a day. On the strength of that statement many Japanese laborers have decided to leave their posts and go to Vancouver. So far the managers of the plantations do not know what has been done on the quiet by these runners. The laborers will continue working on the plantations until a certain date, which has been set by the runners, when they will quit work at once.

The Japanese papers advertise the fact that those who desire further information to call on "Charlie" and K. Maruyama, who represents the immigrants.

GETTING READY FOR CONGRESSIONAL TRIP TO WAIALUA

Manager Bidgood of Haleiwa was in town today making arrangements for proper care of the Congressional party during their trip to the popular country hosiery and the surrounding plantation country.

As there will be a number of hosts go down from the town to see that all information is given regarding anything in sight, the hotel will be taxed to capacity. Comfortable accommodations will be given everybody, however, for the crowd has yet to be produced which failed to get all that is desired at Haleiwa.

Seeing Harbor Of Hilo

(Special Bulletin Wireless)
HILO, Hawaii, May 21.—The Congressional party spent a good portion of its time today seeing places of interest about Hilo. Secretary Atkinson and Capt. Otwell took the members of the Rivers and Harbors Committee on a tour of the harbor with special reference to the construction of the Hilo harbor breakwater.

Everything is in readiness for a very pleasant stay at the Volcano House although the fire in the pit is not very active just at present.

TAX COMMISSION LOOKS FOR KICKS

Sends Circular Asking For Criticism Of Tax Laws

WANTS SUGGESTIONS TO REMEDY DEFECTS

SECRETARY JUDD GIVES DETAILED STATEMENT OF COMMISSION'S PLANS FOR ITS WORK

The Tax Commission, which was appointed by the Governor a couple of weeks ago after the recent legislature had provided for the appointment of such a body, is at present busy collecting kicks against the existing tax laws as well as suggestions as to how their defects might be remedied. The commission consists of W. F. Frear, A. A. Wilder and A. F. Judd. At the first meeting of that body Frear was appointed chairman and Judd secretary.

The Tax Commission is instructed to thoroughly examine and investigate

NEBRASKAN MUST BE FUMIGATED

Cofor Orders Her To Come Here From Kahului

The steamer Nebraskan has run up against the strict quarantine regulations which Dr. Cofor intends to enforce against vessels coming here from Salina Cruz in order to keep the dreaded yellow fever out of the territory.

The Nebraskan arrived at Kahului yesterday morning from Salina Cruz, but to come to this port immediately in order to go through quarantine. She is expected to arrive this afternoon.

"The fact that the Nebraskan was to go to Kahului first was entirely unknown not only to me but also to the local agents," said Dr. Cofor today. "Had I known of it in advance I could have sent a doctor over there and have her fumigated at Kahului. As it was, however, I had to ask the agents to order her to come here."

The Nebraskan will be subjected to fumigation here, principally against the yellow fever mosquito, after which she will be held in quarantine for five days, whereupon she can go where she pleases. These precautions will be taken even if we find no suspicious circumstances on board her, as we do not intend to run any chances whatever of getting yellow fever in here."

The Dowsett Co., Ltd., today filed papers in ejectment proceedings against Keliikipi, Bikole, Keenu, Nisano, Okahara and Y. Sato, who, the plaintiff claims are unlawfully in possession of a piece of land belonging to it at Kaula, Honouliuli, Oahu, consisting of 1.22 acres. The plaintiff asks also for damages in the sum of $150.

A wireless message from Delegate Kalaniana'ole from Hilo states that the Congressmen favor the plan of a trip to Haleiwa, but they want to go there by sea as they do not wish to see any more sugar plantations.

Public Congressional Meeting At Aala Park

The executive committee of the Republican Central Committee held a meeting this noon at which it was decided to hold a public meeting at Aala Park for the purpose of giving the general public of Honolulu a chance to see the visiting Congressmen and hear them speak. The meeting will be held on the evening of Thursday, May 30th, at 7:30 o'clock.

While the principal feature of the evening will be the speeches of the Congressmen, the local orators will also be given a chance to show their mettle. The local speakers will, however, be limited to Hawaiians, the idea being to show the visiting statesmen that the Hawaiian, when it comes to the display of oratorical gifts, has to take a back seat to no one. While only certain ones will be invited to speak, these will be allowed to choose their own subject.

When the Congressmen return from the other islands they will be approached by the members of the committee with a view of ascertaining which of them will wish to address the local community. The affair will be influenced by music, which will be furnished by a Hawaiian string orchestra.

Will Publish Vetoes Of Governor Carter

Governor Carter's veto messages are to be published in both English and Hawaiian. The Governor believes that this is about the best way of letting the public know his attitude on certain questions that came up at the last session of the Legislature and his reasons for disapproving of the various measures that fell under his disapproval.

So far as Hawaii is concerned, this action establishes a new precedent, but it is not unusual in some other commonwealths for the vetoes of the Governor to be published. Governor Hughes of New York does this, and is also done in Wisconsin, Arizona and a number of other States and Territories. Governor Carter thinks it a good idea and has adopted it.

Challenge By Wallach

The irrepressible J. Lor Wallach is still industriously making strenuous bids for notoriety by continuing his attempts to offend the ignorant class-hoof, head of the leper settlement at Molokai, or to any member of the Board of Health, if they can prove to President Pinkham and the entire Board of Health offering them a reward of $500 if they can prove that he cannot cure leprosy with his now so famous fake remedies.

The challenge is contained in an advertisement in the Ke Aloha Aina, a Hawaiian newspaper, and reads, translated, as follows:

WALLACH'S REWARD OF $500
I, J. Lor Wallach, desire to pay a reward to Mr. L. E. Pinkham, President of the Board of Health, if he can prove to me that I cannot cure leprosy with my now so famous fake remedies.

Should you disregard and pay no attention whatever to this notice, then I would ask the people to judge and decide for themselves who is the prevaricator.

LAND SOLD AT AUCTION

Land Commissioner Pratt yesterday at noon sold at public auction a parcel of land consisting of 154 acres of mountain pasture land at Hanalei, Koolau, Maui, for the sum of $771, which was one dollar more than the upset price. H. P. Baldwin was the purchaser and only bidder, through J. P. Cooke.

COMMITTEE OF SEVEN GIVES UP JOB San Francisco, May 20.—The Committee of Seven, which was trying to settle the strike, has resigned. It was unable to secure the cooperation of Spreckels and Heney.

Mayor Schmitz appointed fifty reputable citizens to deal with the labor agitation now going on in San Francisco. From these fifty seven were selected seven, as an executive committee, but their efforts to restore normal conditions have failed and they have given up further attempts.

The Commission solicits your assistance in their work and requests you, if such be your pleasure, at your early convenience to address them in writing, setting forth your views:

1. As to any change which might be made to the common advantage in the present laws of Hawaii concerning taxation or in the administration or enforcement of such laws.

2. Your reasons why such change should be made.

3. Any improvement in the tax laws which might be regarded as more than a change of present laws, with such suggestions framed appropriately as additions to or substitutes for the present laws.

We have sent these letters to everyone who we thought might be especially interested in taxation matters.

HONOLULU SALOON LIMITS DEFINED

License Commissioners Establish Liquor Boundaries

Punchbowl, Beretania to King and along King to Liliha street, southwest of the foot of Liliha street to the gas works. No licenses will be issued outside of the district thus defined. It embraces the Waikiki side of Punchbowl street and the mauka side of King and Beretania streets. No licenses will be issued for saloons on Fort street.

The Board also resolved to insist on a strict compliance with the statute relating to bonds for licenses. Two good sureties will be required on each license, or one qualified by unencumbered real estate in double the amount of the license.

The question as to what constituted a good bond created some discussion at the meeting. Jack Lucas contended that the bond of a reliable surety company, either as principal or security, with a personal bondsman in either capacity, is a good enough bond for the Board to accept. A. J. Campbell insisted that the bond should be executed in strict compliance with the requirements of the law or it might be worthless. It was finally decided to submit the matter to the Attorney General for a written opinion.

A large number of applications for licenses, both wholesale and retail, were considered by the Board, which voted to advertise them for four weeks, as required by law.

MAGOON'S ADDRESS, SAYS DUNNE,

MOST DISGUSTING

Argument on the demurrers in the Along case finally came to an end yesterday afternoon when J. J. Dunne, for Mrs. Afong, concluded his reply at 3:43 o'clock. Judge Robinson stated that it would probably be the middle of June before he gave his decision.

J. Lightfoot concluded his argument at noon on behalf of the respondent Emmalina M. Magoon. R. W. Breckons, associate counsel for the complainant, submitted his case without argument. In making his reply Dunne handed out a hot roast to Magoon for his washing of the family dirty linen before the court. He characterized Magoon's attitude as the most disgusting, humiliating and degrading exhibition he had ever witnessed in court.

EMMALINA PREFERRED PANU TO HUSBAND

David Crowninberg was this morning granted a divorce by Judge Robinson, from his wife Emmalina, on the ground of adultery on the woman's part. He complained that she deserted him seven years ago and has since that time been living with a man named Panu on Kaula. Part of the evidence introduced was a certificate of judgment by the District Magistrate of Kaula, Kaula, that he had found both Emmalina Crowninberg and Panu guilty of adultery and had fined them for it.

HELLO BILL TAKES WELL

The most laughable piece on earth, "Hello Bill." This was the consensus of the opinion of the thousands who attended the Ellens last night. At least there seemed to be thousands from the manner in which the house was packed.

The play is just another case of "be sure your sins will find you out," but told and acted in this instance in a way that makes your sides ache with laughter. Geo. Hernandez is in the leading role and the many who have seen him in the plays that have gone before, know what that means.

The new songs with new illustrations were well received last night and will be repeated again tonight. The tots will again go through an entertaining side stunt, and Miss Luce, who, by the way, very much resembles Lillian Russell, in features, but by no means in age, will endeavor to please as usual.

Benner: Does your wife practice economy in shopping? Jenner: It depends on whether she is buying shirts for me or a gown for herself.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES LOSE WORTHY MANAGER

After Many Years Toil Mrs. Berger Resigns

The Associated Charities held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the rooms at 1116 Alakea street. President Judge Dole presided. The following letter, from Mrs. E. F. Berger, was read and created some excitement and much regret.

Honolulu, May 20, 1907.
Mrs. J. M. Whitney, Secretary Associated Charities of Hawaii, Honolulu, T. H.

Dear Madam:—Wishing to return to the States to reside permanently, I hereby resign my position as manager of the Associated Charities of Hawaii, my resignation to take effect in July, or as soon thereafter as a new manager can be obtained.

Trusting that this matter will be considered at the meeting to be held on this date, I am,

Sincerely yours,
EDITH F. BERGER.

Mrs. Berger has been the most efficient and successful manager of the organization since 1899.

The letter was wholly unexpected, and brought a shock with it. A motion made by Bishop Restarick to the effect that action on the resignation be deferred until the next regular meeting in June, was unanimously carried.

The first deficit in the life of the organization was shown by the treasurer's report. The amount is $315.50.

Of 111 persons who had applied for relief during March and April 83 had received relief. Three persons have been furnished passage to San Francisco, and five have been given frog beds at the Queen's Hospital.

A committee will be appointed at the next monthly meeting whose sole duties will be to look into pauperism throughout the Islands. The committee will be known as the Committee on Causes and Cure of Pauperism.

COUNTRY CLUB'S BY-LAWS ARE SLIGHTLY CHANGED

On account of some of the Country Club's by-laws conflicting with each other a meeting was held last night at the Young Hotel for the purpose of straightening them out, with a few amendments. The wording of a few sections was about all the changes that were made, and only one of great importance, that being in connection with the admission of ladies to the privileges of the club. It was settled that ladies could become members of the club and have the privilege of voting as all other members, and may also be allowed the privilege of the grounds by the directors, if proposed in due form and on the payment of a small yearly fee, and a small monthly due.

Sixty members of the club were present, and outside of the business mentioned above there was very little done. President Bishop presided.

PUAKEA PLANTATION CO. FILES ARTICLES

Articles of incorporation of the Puakea Plantation Co., Ltd., of Kohala, have been prepared and will be filed by the Waterhouse Trust Co. The newly incorporated company has taken over the planting interests of what has hitherto been known as the Puakea Planting Co., situated on the James Wright estate just above Mahukona. It is expected that the sugar output will be increased from 900 tons, as at present, to about 1000 tons in three or four years.

The incorporators and officers for the first year are as follows: John Hind, president; W. S. May, vice president; H. R. Bryant, treasurer; A. Mason, secretary; Robert Hall, director. The capital stock is $50,000, divided into shares of $20. It has all been subscribed.

D. A. R. HOLD MEETING

The most important business of the afternoon related to the plans for the coming year. An entertainment for next month had been thought over as a fitting ending for the year's work but it was found that June was so full of social gatherings of one sort or another that the idea was given up. In view of all this it was decided to save the program for the opening meeting next October, which will begin a new year.

It was also decided to offer prizes to pupils of the public schools, who would get up the best papers on the deeds of the Revolution and the heritage. One new member was proposed, Miss Martha Barker Weing, daughter of Capt. Holt Parker of Honolulu.

TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1907.

Of excellent Governors, Hawaii has no end. The trouble is to pick one.

Given permanent ships to carry them, the tourists will come to Hawaii.

When travellers begin to take short cuts it means that some of them are just a bit tired.

The Mayor of Honolulu will be a more important man than the Governor of the Territory.

New plantations do not attract much attention these days. They simply go ahead and make money.

A first-class interisland polo contest should complete this year's record of events among the sportsmen.

Four-cent sugar prospects were never contemplated with more undemonstrative pleasure than during this year of 1907.

Although Hendry's office is like a distillery, there is comfort in the fact that all officials can prove alibis in the matter of tanks.

Honolulu is highly pleased to be so near New York. May the New Yorkers give practical evidence of their pleasure at being so much nearer Honolulu.

There is no place in the world better suited to inspiring first-class shark stories than Pearl Harbor. Hence, presumably, Jack London's temporary residence.

No harbor of Hawaii will be a complete haven for the ships of the Pacific till at least one is furnished with a dry-dock that can be of service to the largest ships of commerce and war.

That meeting at Aala Park should be a fitting windup of the Congressional visitation. It will bring the people and the Congressmen together and "close the campaign in a blaze of glory" with which visitors and hosts are so well acquainted.

The outline of the saloon limits as acted upon by the Oahu Liquor License Commission, officially recognizes the necessities of a red-light district. Pulse moralists will presumably alternately raise an outcry and peek through their fingers.

Hawaii always turns up with a representative participating in any event of note. And the late Captain King's service in assisting the quick trips of the famous American ship Drednought is properly recorded in the incidents of history worthy a permanent place.

Ruf breaks down and cries. Schmitz calls his antagonists here and tells them to come on. If their hands be equally deep in the graft box, the difference in their attitude before the court may exemplify the relative peculiarities of the Latin-American and the German-American.

Mrs. Berger's withdrawal from the management of the Associated ties is a distinct loss to Honolulu. The quiet success of this organization may be charged up principally to Mrs. Berger's ability and good sense, and the only doubt for the future is whether her successor can continue the high standard.

INFORMING THE CONGRESSMEN.

A Bulletin correspondent complains that a conspiracy of silence prevails while the Congressmen are here; that anyone who presumes to voice his sentiment on a public question will be howled down as a knocker.

This paper does not so understand the situation. Advice has been offered that our people should refrain from airing their petty grievances while guests of the Territory are here. This does not mean or at least should not be a barrier against any statement which a citizen may wish to make on matters of public policy, with which the members of Congress have to do.

Information that will develop facts and give a fair understanding of the sentiment of the people is more than likely to be received with favor by the visitors. They want to know. And while they are not holding public hearings to listen to complaints, the fault for withholding any information is the fault of no one but the person who fails to give it.

BRUNER'S TIMELY WORD.

W. W. Bruner, without interfering with anyone's peace of mind, took the opportunity to tell the visiting Congressmen of the need for a protective tariff on coffee in order that a profitable industry might be added to American possessions within the tropics.

Mr. Bruner is to be congratulated. Speaking to the visitors while they were in the midst of the coffee district made it possible to not only illustrate every detail, but answer questions suggested by observation on the ride through the country.

Bruner is one of the few who has made good in the coffee industry against heavy odds which cause the American farmer to seek other fields. And though he stands as a shining example of what can be done, it is true that protection for coffee is necessary to the upbuilding of a prosperous population with the industry which every American is supposed to desire.

GRAVES AS A PRESIDENT-MAKER.

Editor John Temple Graves of Georgia is getting himself very much before the public as sponsor for a scheme by which he means to put either Bryan or Roosevelt in the White House after Roosevelt's present term expires.

Graves does not want for opportunity to be in the lime-light; hence it must be assumed that the speed with which he has arrived may be indicative of popular favor for his plan.

First Graves called upon William J. Bryan to nominate Roosevelt for another term because Roosevelt is carrying out principles enunciated by Bryan. The Democratic leader responded: "Not as at present advised."

Now Temple in a public speech comes back on the other tack and requests that Roosevelt join drives with Bryan and put this first commoner in the highest position of the country. Temple says some things in support of his proposal that are very true. For instance:

"Party ties in general have never held so lightly as they do today. The cheap newspaper and the rural mail delivery have built the clearest and most practical Democracy in the world.

"From the stalwart ranks of either party there have risen and

LUCKY SIX STILL ON THE MOVE

The Lucky Six, who have been making an imaginary tour of the Pacific Coast, and which trip will be made in reality when the Contest has settled the question of who's who, were last heard from at Sacramento, the Capital City of the Golden State.

California is totally dissimilar from any other land under the sun. Its climate is different. Its history is different. Other States have grown by slow stages through their ability to annex a straggler now and then, who settled within its confines and became one to swell the crowd. Not so with the glorious State through which the Lucky Six are now traveling. Like "Topsy" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" fame California "never was born; just grew on some dark morn'g." It went to sleep one night with the stars blinking down upon a wilderness of mountains, forest and uncultivated valleys and awoke the next morning a seething, crowding fighting mass of humanity, all crazed in a search for gold, which, report had it, was lying about loose for the want of someone to pick it up.

For scenery, California has no equal on the face of the globe, and the Lucky Six are going to have more than a peep at this glory of glories.

After a round of receptions, parties and functions at Sacramento, the enjoyment of which will ever remain a bright star in their memory for years to come, the Lucky Six will "move on" to the metropolis of the Pacific Coast, San Francisco. It was but one short year ago that this cosmopolitan city of over half a million souls was destroyed by fire. The destruction was so complete that about all that was left was the name. But the Lucky Six will find a beautiful city arising from its ashes; a city that will contribute to their comfort and pleasure for many days. The Cliff House, which is reached by electric cars, is down on the bill for a visit. There they will find a beautiful structure that is famed the world over. A stone's throw from the veranda are the wonderful seal rocks, covered at all times, with a squirming, wriggling mass of seals.

Golden Gate Park, one of the largest in the world, being five miles long and one and a half miles wide, and all under a high state of cultivation, will be a source of wonder to the Hawaii representatives. Electric or steam-cars, as they may prefer, will carry the Lucky Six to the Leland Stanford Jr. University, a most complete college of learning, that compares more favorably with similar institutions throughout the world.

Just across the bay is located the University of California, nestled in among the foothills back of Berkeley. Notwithstanding the fact that the Lucky Six will be of the gentler sex, a visit to the Union Iron Works will be made. It will be one to be remembered. To stand in that hallowed spot where the pride of the Navy, the Oregon, was built will be something to talk about in years to come. Besides, there are other big ships under construction there, including the new Inter-Island boat, the Mauna Kea, which it is hoped the Lucky Six will honor by going on board before she is consigned to her native element.

Sightseeing is not all that will occupy the Lucky Six during their stay at San Francisco. They are to be seen as well as to see, and they will find that every minute will have its use. Receptions, parties, balls, gatherings at private homes of representative people, and such like will fully occupy the days and some evenings.

LOVE OF TSUGA AND TAKAO DEFIES LAW

Once Sent To Jail, They Repeat Offense When Out

The course of true, though illicit, love of Tsuya Ogawa and Takao does not run at all smoothly. In fact, it is full of all sorts of obstacles.

But despite this it remains persistent and steadfast. Not even judges and juries and prison walls are able to sever it. Love laughs at locks as well as at locksmen, even though it cannot force them.

The main obstacle to the love of Tsuya and Takao is a husband with whom Tsuya is afflicted. If he were out of the way, all would be well. But so long as he remains the lawful husband of the woman, the law frowns upon the love of this Romeo and Juliet with the staid eyes.

Last year Tsuya and Takao were convicted before a jury in the United States Court of the crime of adultery and each of them served a jail sentence for defying the laws of the National Government. But as soon as they were released, they rushed once more into each other's arms and renewed their pledges of fidelity—to one another.

But Uncle Sam heard of this defiance of his laws, and he has again reached out and laid the hand of authority upon the erring ones. Today they are on trial in Judge Dole's court on the same old charge, though on a fresh count.

TAM PONG HAS ONE TOO MANY WIVES

Tam Pong is troubled with a superfluity of wives. This is an ailment which usually proves troublesome, and in Tam's case it is liable to prove very much so. In fact, Tam is in pinks already. He was arrested this morning on a warrant issued by the United States Commissioner and brought before Commissioner Hatch.

Tam has two wives. One is an old one and the other is young and, in Tam's eyes at least, very pretty. Needless to say, if Tam considers that he has a superfluity of wives, it is the old one whom he considers superfluous.

In fact, Tam Pong appears to be madly infatuated with wife number two, so much so that he has deliberately defied the United States of America, and that in spite of the fact that he has had ample warning.

About two years ago he was halted before the Federal authorities and told that the laws of the United States do not look with favor upon a man's having more than one wife at a time. That might be all right in his own country, but if he intended to remain here he would have to get rid of one of them. As it was wife number two he was told to send her to papa in China, and as wife number two happened to be the one Tam particularly wanted, he followed his own inclinations in the matter and kept them both. Hence his present plink.

He was bound over for trial.

SMITH'S BODY IN DANGER

The hearse bearing the body of "Silent" Smith, the dead millionaire whose remains recently passed through here en route to New York, had a narrow escape from being demolished in a collision with a runaway team in the latter city.

The runaway grazed the hearse and missed the carriage bearing the widow by no more than three inches. The latter attended the services at St. Bartholomew's church, but was too ill to go to the cemetery.

The gold mines of Western Australia have paid dividends amounting to over seven millions of dollars.

CAPT. KING SAILED ON FAMOUS DREADNOUGHT

Editor Evening Bulletin:—The late Capt. Jas. A. King was before the mast on a round trip of the American clipper passenger ship Drednought. He treasured this experience as one of the most interesting and valuable chapters in an unusually adventurous life. This was just about the time the new side-wheel steamers were beginning to replace the full-rigged packets on the Atlantic. The Drednought had actually beaten a steamer in a fair and square race out of New York. The popular picture of her then was in every public house and in almost every home from the Atlantic seaboard to the mid-West prairie. This view showed the great craft off Sandy Hook in a snow-storm and in keeping with the subject, was a spirited drawing.

Capt. King said that with a chum about his own age he signed for a voyage on the Drednought, but hoped to secure discharge on the other side. However, Capt. Samuel Samuels, commander of the sovereign of the seas, kept an eye on the lads and they were held off in New York.

"He made speed," said Capt. King, "by forcing her at night, putting on a jace under cover of darkness that would have put the passengers into panic. Capt. Samuels rarely appeared before 10 in the morning and seemingly paid little attention to his ship in daytime. At night he took entire charge, gave her absolutely all the canvas she would bear, including studsails and for hours had her heeled over like a yacht in a squall. He had fine officers and a picked crew.

"The Drednought was more handsomely fitted than any vessel of any sort afloat in her day. The foremast on the bow and the great balls at the mastsheads were taken down and boxed on deck just as soon as she was outside either New York or Liverpool. Everything that could aid her master in getting everything out of her was done and done with a rush. On a moonlight night there would be a glare on the water from her copper bottom.

"Even a brass band was carried by the Drednought and it not only gave concerts for the entertainment of the passengers, but serenaded every craft we passed and that meant music every time we sighted anything ahead bound in our direction."

It was the proudest boast of the late Denis Kearney that he had been a sailor on the Drednought under Capt. Samuels and Capt. King said he believed this.

The Drednought, among other titles carrying that of "The Beautiful Ship," was built in Newburyport, of hard pine. Her keeces were of hick-matock. There was a lot of brasswork about her, but she was always shining. The Drednought was very heavily sparred to allow the immense spread of canvas for which she was noted. Her tall masts were staunchly stayed and had a slight rake. This chantry of the Drednought was first sung on the British side of the Atlantic:

Sheet home the maintop-sail While the fierce tempest blow; Bound away in the Drednought, To the westward we go.

The package contained a Japanese silk fan, with ivory sticks and a red tassel. Miss Prissy opened it and spread it out in her lap, exclaiming over its beauty, her face the color of the tassel.

"Oh, it ain't nothin'," said the captain. "I did a favor for a friend of mine that's skipper of a barkentine just home from Hongkong, and he gave it to me. He had some stuff he'd brought for his daughter, and the duty on it would have been pretty expensive, so I fixed—but never mind that. I thought maybe you'd like it to carry to church in the summer time or something. Why, hello, Tempy! How'd you do?"

The younger sister entered the room, her poplin rustling and every curl in place. She gushingly shook the captain's hand and said she was so glad to see him.

"Oh, Tempy," cried Miss Prissy, "just look at this lovely fan Cap'n Titcomb brought me! Did you ever see anything so pretty?"

Miss Tempy exclaimed over the fan, but somehow her enthusiasm seemed a little forced. It may be the captain noticed this; at any rate, he picked up the second parcel and handed it to her, saying:

"Here's a little somethin' I brought for you, Tempy. I don't know's you'll like it, but—"

Miss Tempy's present also was a fan precisely like the other except that the tassel was pink. Miss Prissy's interest in her sister's gift was intense, but when it was discovered that in no important point were the fans dissimilar and that neither was better than its mate both of the ladies appeared to be a trifle disappointed, although they tried not to show it.

"We're so glad you've come, cap'n," said Miss Prissy, after the fans were laid on the table. "We've got so many things to talk to you about, and we want to ask your advice, Bradley, don't you think you'd like to go out into the dining room a little while?"

The boy, acting upon this decided hint, went into the dining room, and Miss Prissy shut the door after him. "Now, Cap'n Titcomb," she began, "I s'pose you were awfully surprised to hear we'd took a boy to bring up? Well, you ain't any more surprised than we are to think we should do such a thing. But it seemed as if we just had to or else give up bein' Christians altogether. I'll tell you how it was."

And she did tell him, beginning with the exact relationship between Bradley's mother and the Allens, expatiating upon the shiftlessness of the boy's father and how he "never saved a cent," nor even took out an insurance policy to provide for his son in case of his own death.

"But, mercy me," she exclaimed, lifting her hands, "what on earth we'll do with a boy is more'n I know. What shall we do?"

"Bring him up in the way he ought to go, I guess," replied the captain calmly. "Send him to school first thing. How is he off for clothes?"

"Hain't got any that are fit for anything but the rag bag," replied Miss Prissy with decision. "And that's all."

"Well, I'll tell you. 'Twas the old maids' boy—Ben Nickerson's son. Barney said he brought him over in the coach last night."

"You don't mean it?" exclaimed the choppfallen Mr. Weeks. "Well, if that ain't enough to— Ez made me throw in a hat that was with a dollar 'n' a ha' 'cause he said he'd pay cash for everything and take his chance of gittin' his money back. And Prissy and Tempy always pay cash for everything. Regular Titcomb trick!"

The loafers about the store roared with delight.

"Oh, I tell you," remarked "Squealer," "you've got to keep your weather eye peeled when you're dealin' with Cap'n Ez. He'll have you, head and heels, if you ain't careful."

"That's all right," grumbled "Blue"; Bachelor, "but he'll get feichted up all standin' some of these days. You can call him smart if you want to, but it's pretty risky smartness, most folks think. You notice his schooner's always makin' record trips, and he's always havin' presents give him and all that. How many presents did you have give to you, Cap'n Jabez, when you was runnin' a coaster?"

"Not a one," indignantly replied the person addressed, Captain Jabez Bailey. "Not a one. What I got I had to work for."

It may be that Captain Jabez over-worked during his sea experiences. Certainly no one in Orham had known him to do a stroke of work since he retired to live on his wife's earnings as a dressmaker.

"Well," commented Captain Erl Hedge, who was not a member of the circle, but had dropped in to buy some tobacco, "I like Cap'n Ez. He does love to get the best of a bargain, and he's a 'driver' on a vessel, and perhaps he likes to shave the law pretty close sometimes. Ez is a regular born gambler for takin' chances, but I never knew him to do a mean trick."

"What do you call that game he put up on the old maids?" asked "Squealer." "You know 'bout that, didn't you, Jabez? Seems Prissy and Tempy wanted to sell that little piece of cranberry swamp of theirs 'cause it didn't pay them to take care of it and keep it in shape. Prissy told Seth Wingo about it, and Seth said he didn't want it, but that he'd give them so and so a fair price, consid'rin'. Well, they was goin' to sell it to Seth, but Ez comes home 'bout that time, hears of the deal and goes to Prissy and buys it for $50 more'n Seth offered. And inside of three months along comes that Ostable company and buys all that land for their big swamp. They say Titcomb made more'n a hundred dollars out of that deal. If you don't think that's a mean trick, Cap'n Ez, you ask Seth Wingo what he thinks of it."

BASEBALL "DO" AND "DON'TS"

The following suggestions for the members of the baseball squad of the University of Chicago were recently posted upon the college bulletin board by Coach Dickenson, of that institution: "DO'S" Show signs of life all the time. Chop the ball down so it will not go into the air. Get into your position quickly when you slide in out. Hit at the good balls. Pick them out and rap them hard. Step into the ball and meet it with all the weight on the front foot. In this way you get the full weight of your body into the strike. "DON'TS" Don't step away from the ball. Don't strike at every ball that is thrown. Don't lose your nerve when you get two strikes. Don't gaze around the field, but watch the pitcher all the time. Don't bend the back foot or shift the position as the ball approaches. Don't lunge into the ball as if swinging for a home run; simply rap it.

ONE FISH STORIETTE

Portage, Me., April 20.—When the snows melt, the ground thaws and the trappers return from the woods to get a taste of semi-civilization, some wondrous stories get into circulation. This spring is no exception to the rule, and the yarns that are spun are weird and close to unbelievable. Of the crop of stories the following is a sample: "I ran almighty shy of hardback, to say nothing of fresh grub, while I was shifting camps up by the Allegash," said "Lanky" Bill Hooker, "and though I'd have to eat bark unless I caught something pretty quick. 'The partridges had all taken to their snow blankets—it was so cold—and as for rabbits, you couldn't even get sight of a track. I tell you when you can't see rabbits it's all-fired cold. "Well, I got to a point where I most made up my mind to try wildcat stew when an idea hit me. I was out one morning when it was close to forty below zero watching the water pour over Big Falls and drop in ice, when the wind blew a clip of moss-covered bark down into the big pool. There was a splash, and out dropped a three-pound trout. He just mistook that clip for a winter fly and grabbed. "That was enough for me. Back to camp I went, dug up an old bass fry, fringed up a line and pole and lipped back. If there was to be any more fish, enough to bite 'm a-goin' to have a press," says I. "Law or no law, it's a fish breakfast, dinner and supper. My hands most froze at the first cast, but I hauled the fly proper, and the next second I had the handsomest trout alongside you ever clapped eyes on. He froze stiff going through the air, and the line froze, too, but that didn't bother me any. I ran back, dumped the trout in a pan of water and hauled out the line. Then I caught another trout. "They bit as fast as I could throw the line, and by the end of two hours I had fifteen snooters. They came to life in the pan, so I had fresh fish for two days. Then it warmed up a little and I only had to thaw out the line for every second fish."

BASEBALL DISPUTE

The Enos baseball team has entered a protest in the League Baseball League on account of other teams playing league men.

WILL JOY COME BACK

The prospects are that within the next few Saturdays those who attend the baseball games will have the pleasure of once again seeing Big Barney Joy twisting them over for the St. Louis team. It looks as though Barney had absolutely failed to make good and we can hardly see where it is to Long's advantage to keep him. Barney is the real thing in the Honolulu League, but when it comes to mingling with players who make baseball a profession he seems to be unclassified. It is too bad that Joy did not make good as it would have been a big boost to local baseball and the chances are that more of our boys would have received offers. Now this League will be looked at as the rankest sort of snobs. Cy Russell is at present the captain of the Oakland State League team and it might be that Cy, knowing Barney, will offer him a berth. Will Joy accept? To a rank outsider it looks as though he will hit the first ship headed this way. Barney has probably had his fill of Coast League ball and will accept a home to take his old place with the Iron Works and play ball in a league where he is "A."

The Wants of Women.

"Men wants but little here below," So Post Goldsmith used to say; But that was many years ago, And man, he wants a lot today— A lot of things, a house and lot— And women also wants some stuff To put within the house she's got. She never seems to have enough. The Moral—If you want to sell A little WANT AD, might be well.

JACK O'BRIEN Despite all his shrewdness, Jack O'Brien has finally overreached himself. The Philadelphia's bout with Tommy Burns at Los Angeles, which he lost by a decision after 20 rounds, not only puts an end to his pretensions to the boxing championship, but it adds final conviction to the opinion held by followers of the ring that no fighter in which he figures can be on the level. Those who watched his fights closely discovered that he never showed to good advantage in a first bout with a man. George Williams, Jack Bonner, Peter Maher, Kid Carter, Twin Sullivan and Bob Fitzsimmons all made good showings with him in first bouts, but in a second or third meeting O'Brien would defeat them with ease. Gradually the method of his system leaked out. The public began to see that he regarded the initial bout as only a feeler for a second and longer contest. Those who paid money to see a first contest were simply cheated for Jack never cut loose. Here is the explanation of O'Brien's unpopularity in his home town, which has puzzled many. In six round bouts permitted by local laws he loafed so often that he actually became a poor attraction, being forced to fight at the Broadway for the small purses offered, because the big clubs did not regard him as an attraction. But the first actual scandal was O'Brien's fight with Walcott in Boston, April 29, 1903. This was so raw a fake that the crowd quit the hall before the bout was half over. Hissed for his share of the crookedness, Walcott confessed that he was hard up and had to have money, hence had lent himself to a scheme by which he agreed not to knock out O'Brien on pain of something a greater sum of money than was offered for the bout. To make the bargain sure, Jack insisted on having the cash put up in advance. The method worked so well that with variations it was employed in subsequent contests. The most notorious of these was the bout with Tommy Burns at the National Athletic Club, January 27, 1905.

NOTICE Four months later, almost before the owl over this boat died out, O'Brien went still further in a meeting with Kid McCoy. Almost every newspaper in town roared the pair for fakers, and O'Brien was hissed for some time afterward every time he entered a local boxing club as a spectator.
