MME. ALAPAI WILL SING

AT A CONFERENCE THIS MORNING IT IS BELIEVED THAT FINAL ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE WHEREBY MADAME ALAPAI WILL KEEP HER PLACE AS SOPRANO SOLOIST OF THE HAWAIIAN BAND ON THEIR TOUR.

It is believed that the differences which arose between Madame Alapai, the soprano soloist of the Hawaiian band and J. C. Cohen who is to take the band on tour have been amicably arranged. A conference was held this morning. It is understood that mutual concessions were made, and that Madame Alapai will accompany the band. The arrangement is understood to include provision for Madame Alapai to be accompanied by her husband, but does not provide for him so elaborately as was asked for. The negotiations have not been finally concluded, but it is believed that an agreement has been reached.

CAPTAIN BERGER.

"I think Madame Alapai takes an entirely wrong view of the situation and I am sorry for it," said Captain Berger speaking of the hitch in the plans for the tour of the band caused by her demand for largely increased pay for herself and salary and expenses for her husband to accompany her. "As members of the band we have some obligations to the community," he continued. "The position is this: Here is a band paid by the community—in the service of the community. Now the proposition is made to the community. Are you willing to forego the pleasure of the band concerts for four or five months, in order that the band

William Alapai, husband of Madame Alapai, soprano soloist of the band, insists that his wife's position and his own, in regard to her employment with the band, on tour of the states, has been misrepresented. "There is no attempt at a hold-up," says Mr. Alapai. "My wife is a professional singer. She is not bound to go with the band at all. If she does go, she will go only on certain conditions. If Mr. Cohen does not desire to comply with the conditions, that is his privilege and my wife, in that case, will not go. She is not dependent on this employment for her livelihood. I sup-

OUR FRIENDS, THE ELLEFORDS

BY ASHTON STEVENS IN THE EXAMINER.

Did you ever see the Elleford Company, which is playing at Oakland's Macdonough Theater this week in "The Prince of Patches"? Think it over. Don't say "yes" too quickly. You may have only heard of it. I know that I had been hearing of the Ellefords for many years, and frequently would run across one of their ingenious ads in a country paper. I fancied that Mr. Elleford himself must be some kind of a rustic John Drew, emulating the simple life of Creston Clarke. I wondered when we should meet, but he never came to San Francisco, and even Oakland knew him not (not to my knowledge) till this week he came to the Macdonough, there to give the first dramatic performance in either of the two principal bay counties since the fire.

I went to the Macdonough with the responsibilities of an historian on my shoulders. True, Oakland had offered some vaudeville since the San Francisco theaters were wrecked, but this was the first play, the first attempt to rehabilitate the Drama. And I was the official historian-grapher! Be still, anxious heart!

The man in the box office took my money, just as in the olden days—a dollar for two seats. The prices were ten-twenty-thirty, but these were the only seats left, and were in a box. A real usher gave me a real programme—this first printed one I had seen since Caruso at the Grand changed the title of Bizet's "Carmen" to "Don Jose." There at the top of it in high black top was the name of Elleford. But where was Elleford in the "cast of characters"? Nowhere.

I asked the usher if this was the really and truly Elleford company, and he told me to bet my life on it. "But where's Mr. Elleford the actor?" I demanded. "There ain't no Elleford the actor; he just manages."

And there went the illusion of a lifetime. My legend was dissipated. A manager! Why, the streets of San Francisco and Oakland are full of 'em.

A good little orchestra, in the percussion department in which I recognized San Francisco's Labor party Supervisor S. Davis, played good cheerful little music; and presently the curtain lifted to reveal curiously youthful players and a curiously youthful melodrama.

I never had seen an adult company quite so young; there was hardly a member but did not look as though he or she had been kidnapped from a seminary of acting. They were rich in passionate elocution and perfect gesture. When they cadenced a line you could all but see the vertical inflection. And "The Princess of Patches" was just made for them.

And what a house it was! Literally packed; volcanically enthusiastic; and as absorbed in this bit of make-believe as though it never had heard of the morning of April 18th, when the greatest melodrama of all time was played, a melodrama beside which Nuro's Roman nightmare is a Midsummer Night's Dream. The way this play was taken shows that there is plenty of sand left in the systems of the refugees.

WHERE TO VOTE NEXT NOVEMBER

THE NEW PRECINCT BOUNDARIES OF THE ISLAND, AS THEY WILL PROBABLY BE ANNOUNCED NEXT WEEK—LINES TO BE FOLLOWED BY REPUBLICANS IN REORGANIZING THEIR MANY PRECINCT CLUBS FOR NEXT CAMPAIGN.

Republicans generally are asking themselves "where they are at" as regards precinct lines for the next election, and the politicians are figuring on getting the new precinct clubs into shape. With a few exceptions all the club rolls on the island will have to be changed. This means a general reorganization of all the clubs, and it will be started at once when the announcements of boundaries are officially made. There are several precincts in the Fifth which remain unchanged, but the Fourth is all changed.

The streets by which the twelve precincts of the Fourth are to be bounded, according to the present plans, which will probably be adopted in the proclamation to be issued next week, are as follows:

- Precinct One—Maunaloa, Punahou, Beckwith, Alexander, Beretania, to the sea.
- Precinct Two—Beretania, McCully, Kalakaua, Avenue and Apua, to the sea.
- Precinct Three—Pensacola, Beretania, Pihoko, King, McCully, Beretania, Alexander, Beckwith, Punahou, Maunaloa.
- Precinct Four—Ward's (new), King, McCully, Kalakaua, Avenue, Apua, to the sea.
- Precinct Five—Alapai, King, Pihoko, Beretania, Pensacola.
- Precinct Six—South, King, Ward's (new street), to the sea.
- Precinct Seven—Punchbowl, King, South, to the sea.
- Precinct Eight—Nuuanu, Beretania, Richard, King, Punchbowl, to the sea.
- Precinct Nine—Richards, King, Alapai, to the sea.

Buildings Are Not Fire Proof

ATTORNEYS' VIEWS OF THE ALEXANDER YOUNG AND OTHER SUPPOSED PROOF STRUCTURES.

The claim that certain local buildings are fire proof are given hard knocks in a brief filed by Magoon & Lightfoot in the matter of the suit of the Territory to condemn the Camarinos building as a nuisance. The matter is submitted to Judge Lindsey, who is asked by the brief of Deputy Attorney General Milverton to declare this building nuisance per se. It was admittedly built in violation of the law and Milverton quotes authorities to show that it is a nuisance within the legal definition. Lightfoot on the other hand claims that the Territory should have punished the late Camarinos for building it in violation of law. As Camarinos is dead, he says the Territory is "without remedy."

In discussing the alleged dangerous character of the building the brief of defendants says:

"It may well be that the building in

Trusty Goes To Rock Pile

HIGH SHERIFF HENRY REDUCES A CONVICT WHO SMUGGLED WALRUS TOOTH.

One of the trusties of Oahu prison is breaking rock now. He has been reduced from the rank of trusty to that of common convict, and will have to take a term on the rock pile, all because he brought some pieces of walrus tooth into the jail. The pieces of tooth were given to him by some outsider, in the expectation that he would spend his time carving them into a set of chess men or some other ornaments. The high sheriff does not allow any objects brought into the prison except through his office, and he held that the convict had violated his trust in accepting the articles.

As a matter of fact the chunks of tooth would make very dangerous weapons, and the sheriff immediately confiscated them on finding them in a prisoner's possession. "In certain cases it may be proper to allow long term men to have such things," said the

SUGAR WAR HAS BEGUN

THE WESTERN REFINERY HAS BEGUN THE ATTACK ON ITS RIVAL THE CROCKETT REFINERY BY CUTTING THE PRICE OF REFINED SUGAR SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS A HUNDRED POUNDS—THE FIGHT WAS NOT UNEXPECTED.

The Western Refinery has begun war on the Crockett Refinery! It has cut the price of refined sugar, for the coast market, seventy-five cents a hundred pounds.

The fight was not unexpected. No one acquainted with the ways of the world, thought the Western Refinery people, who have had practical control of the coast market for refined sugar, would sit down and make no protest against the invasion of their territory by the Crockett people.

On April 6 the San Francisco quotation, as reported by Willett & Gray, was as follows: "Refined is in fair demand at unchanged prices. Both refineries quote as follows: Dry Granulated in bags, 5.30c; in barrels, 5.40c. Beet Granulated, 5.10c."

Willett & Gray in a later issue announce that "eleven days after the earthquake the demands is large at unchanged prices." Speaking of the situation as affected by the Crockett Refinery, Willett & Gray say in their issue of April 12:

Refined—with the placing on the market of the Hawaiian cane refined sugars in competition with the refined cane and beet sugars of the original refiners who have controlled the trade for very many years, there is opened up a new and important detrimental influence to the sugar situation.

Our first message regarding this competition came from Denver, Colorado, and now we have word from Omaha, Nebraska, one of the Missouri River points reached by New York, New Orleans and the best sugar factories of the extreme West. The Hawaiian (Crockett, California) refinery now enters that center of competition, and the first effect, as given elsewhere, is a lower parity for Granulated sugar.

The Federal refinery, under its increased production, is forced to seek new markets constantly, which accounts for its being found so far from home. There is plenty of margin between raws and refined to admit of a considerable further competition in prices before actual loss begins. Nevertheless the thing is something new in the trade and must be watched closely for further developments.

The market has been dull throughout the week. On Monday the Federal caught up in deliveries and reduced their price 10 points, to basis of 4.50c, less 1 cent cash for Granulated, prompt shipment, at which they are still offering, but the other refiners have made no change in their lists, basis of 4.60c, less 1 per cent.

Very few new orders are being placed, even at Federal cut, and withdrawals are only moderate in volume, the trade buyers being well supplied.

The decline in raw sugars has weakened the tone of the refined sugar market, but further changes in prices are expected to come rather slowly.

At the time that refined was quoted on the coast at 5.30c and 5.40c, it was quoted in New York at 4.60c, a difference of 4.60c, less 1 per cent.

VIOLIN CONCERT.

The violin concert given in Bishop Hall last evening was a success in every way. Mrs. A. B. Ingalls had the program in charge and much credit is due to her careful training. A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mr. C. B. Walwright of Lemon City, Fla., U. S. A., has written the manufacturers that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases of pains in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale all over the world. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, do not neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HOW SAN FRANCISCO FACED THE CRISIS

A COMMITTEE OF SAFETY WAS APPOINTED AND ORGANIZED BEFORE THE EARTHQUAKE WAS MANY HOURS PART-HEADQUARTERS WERE BURNED OUT FOUR TIMES—MEN LEFT THEIR OWN PROPERTIES TO DESTRUCTION TO DO THE WORK OF COMMITTEE

The San Francisco Chronicle of May 6 under the heading "How Citizens Brought Order out of Chaos" has the following account of the work of organizing for the protection of the city, and for the relief of the sufferers:

After the earth jumped back on the track at 5:13:47 on the morning of April 18 San Francisco came down on its feet in fighting mood, and the success of that fight has aroused the wonder and admiration of the world.

"How did you do it?" ask men of the East. "How did you maintain such excellent order and bring system out of chaos in so short a time?"

The answer is simple—American citizens and the further fact that many of those citizens are sons of their fathers and showed the thoroughbred strain in brought forth order?"

The first effective work began with the police. After the shock Chief of Police J. F. Dignan ran from his home at Pine and Mason streets to the Hall of Justice, where he was soon joined by Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz and the members of the Police Commission. It was a time when no man could stop to think twice; immediate action must be taken and action that must be absolutely correct on the first thought. The first official act was to send out squads and close every saloon.

Everywhere the streets were filled with the debris of fallen walls and cob-webbed with a tangle of dangling wires among which a half million people stood numb and dazed or groped their way blindly, not knowing where to go nor what to do. In a dozen widely scattered localities smoke devils were dancing from roof to roof and people gave way mechanically for the clanging apparatus rushing wildly to the fires.

But Denny Sullivan, the chief, was not in the van, the place he had held for so many years. He was lying crushed and bleeding under a mass of brick and mortar from the California Hotel. Only the boys of No. 3 knew that their beloved chief was as good as dead, but they charged on—a city's life was in danger. "There was no time to think of men."

In collapsed buildings there were many dead, but "let the dead care for the dead"; there were those yet living, pinned under fallen walls and beams. There were hundreds and hundreds of injured to be succored. There were hundreds of millions of dollars in shattered banks, the savings of the people, to be guarded against the time when some men go mad and seize on the possessions of a neighbor as one crazed brute snags at another. That was the situation, in brief, had confronted the 600 policemen of San Francisco, a handful to cope with disaster by earthquake, fire and the elements of chaos that a city of half a million breeds.

The Mayor, the commissioner and Chief Dignan had barely entered into conference when this message came to the Chief from Brigadier General Frederick Funston:

"Do you need help?" Did he?
"Yes; send all the troops you can," was the reply dispatched with all the haste of the city's need. Then the conference went on. It was brief. The situation demanded the co-operation of the entire city.

A Citizens' Committee was hurriedly decided upon, and the Mayor compiled the list with addresses from the City Directory.
(Then follows the names of the Committee of Fifty headed by James D. Phelan.)

These names and addresses were placed in the hands of a detail of police, a few names to each member of the squad, with instructions to have the committee at the Hall of Justice by 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

This work had barely been completed when the rhythmic "tramp! tramp! tramp!" of many feet was heard on the street as column after column of blue-shirted lads swung by, each carrying a short brown rifle and a belt of ball cartridges. Their officers reported to the Chief, who assigned them districts to patrol. The Chief then detailed squads of his force under the command of sergeants to the districts then burning, to aid the firemen and assist citizens to escape to places of safety. He then galloped to the corner of Seventh and Market streets to meet the troops from the Presidio, assigned them patrol districts and detailed a policeman to guide each command to its district. No one not on Market street or in the downtown district at that time can appreciate the feeling of relief that came over all as those silent, quiet, business-like boys swung by with the steadiness and precision of a machine, passing under tottering walls and entering the danger zone of dynamite and gun cotton razing buildings from the path of the fire.

The deeds of heroism and the courage displayed by police, regulars, the militia, firemen and civilian volunteers on the 18th and 19th will never be told; they cannot be. They were occurring constantly, a dozen in a block, throughout the city, and there was no time for names or details. The writer stood on a corner talking to a policeman who was on duty at a crowded corner.

"I saw my house burning a few moments ago. God help the wife and kiddies; I can't," said he, as he shut his jaws and turned to his work. He was "on duty."

An artillery lieutenant had his skull fractured by debris from a dynamited building. He might have run, but he did not. He was "on duty."

A lineman of the San Francisco Gas and Electric Company was cutting wires within the danger zone, when the Examiner building was dynamited and his scalp was laid open by a heavy fragment of plate glass. It was thought he was fatally injured and a policeman hurriedly asked him his name. "R. S. Cook, before I was married," said he, as he grinned cheerfully through the mask of blood that covered his face.

Firemen and civilian volunteers worked in the heat and smoke and noxious gases until they were overcome and fell in their tracks. They were dragged back and others stepped into the breach, to be dragged back in turn when they fell. Firemen fought with the determination of despair and cried like children when the failure of water deprived them of their weapon.

Before the hour set for the meeting of the Citizens' Committee the entire city was threatened with destruction. The sky was obscured with a pall of smoke through which swung the sun like a blood-red ball; great gouts of flame writhed and swirled through the smoke and underneath all 300,000 men, women and children fled for their lives, tottering under their most valuable possessions, while 100,000 more were preparing for flight. That was the situation when the Citizens' Committee met at the Hall of Justice at the call of the Mayor.

They assembled first in the office of the Chief, but a shock that threatened to bring the tower down on their heads drove them to the office of the Central Station in the basement, and it was not long before they were driven from there to Portsmouth Square.

There in the open air, surrounded by thousands of frightened Chinese and residents of the district, was the seat of municipal government during the late afternoon and early evening of April 18th. Then a

The New Precinct Arrangement

The action of Acting Governor Atkinson in changing precincts so as to allow better accommodations for voters, while probably unsatisfactory to some of the party leaders, is commendable as a fair fulfillment of the duty of his office, to see that every voter is given a chance to cast his ballot next election day.

The unsatisfactoriness to party leaders of all kinds, or at least to district and precinct politicians, lies in the breaking up of their political lines. The man who thought he had his precinct in his pocket, so to speak, will find himself in a new precinct, and he will have to stake up his fences again, dealing with a lot of new voters.

It is almost certain that without the action the executive has taken, carrying out the plans and advice of Chairman A. G. M. Robertson of the Republican committee, next election day would have seen a lot of voters deprived of their rights. In some of the old precincts the number of voters was considerably larger than could have been accommodated during the hours of an election, so that the closing of the polls would have found a lot of them still in line.

The New San Francisco

A fascinating symposium of newspaper opinion and comment on the San Francisco spirit and the new San Francisco which is to be, has been gathered by The Literary Digest. A part of this is as follows:

"On the day after Cannae, the greatest of even Hannibal's victories," says the Washington Post, "the Roman Senate offered for sale the land on which the Carthaginian army was encamped. That was the spirit which made the Romans the masters of the world."

"It does not exist because lines of transportation have agreed upon it as a site, but because it is the only natural site, the only possible site for the port of entry and the metropolis to California and all the country which lies back of it to the Rockies."

And should Eastern capital halt, maintains this writer, why, the local California capital can do the work. But why should Eastern capital halt? "In the first place, there has been no other earthquake in Northern California severe enough to shake down any considerable number of buildings since the early part of the nineteenth century.

"The new San Francisco will be a cleaner, saner, and safer city. The rookeries and tenements have been annihilated and Chinatown has disappeared. The new San Francisco will not be a city of traditions—of the pioneers, the gold rush, the vigilance committees, and red-shirted miners. It will be a greater city than in the past, for it has been purified by fire; but to those who know and love the old San Francisco—San Francisco the improbable, the maddest, gayest, liveliest, and most rollicking city in the country—there is something inexpressibly sad in the reflection that the City of the Golden Gate can never be quite the same when it is remodeled and rebuilt."

There may be some difficulty in doing all that in five years, thinks the Chicago Tribune, but the St. Louis Globe-Democrat remarks optimistically, "One year is likely to work a wonderful transformation in the charred city." And if San Franciscans will but follow the advice of the New York Evening Post, they will hereafter live that frugal, simple life for which St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of that city, is celebrated.

As to the fear of new earthquakes, The Post lightly remarks, "plenty of sane people will continue to regard California, with earthquakes, as better than any other place without." San Francisco despatches to the newspapers announces that within the next few days plans will be outlined for one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Various committees of citizens are at work and much study is being given to the plans drawn up by Daniel Burnham, the architect, long before earthquake and fire, for San Francisco had always expected to transform itself.

The country at large seems to pin its faith to buildings constructed on steel skeletons. Builders and contractors are sending their engineers and architects to San Francisco to make a close study of the effects of the disaster upon steel buildings. As the Philadelphia Inquirer observes, "nothing that man makes can withstand the ravages of time, but the steel structure seems to come nearest it." From the advance reports it seems likely, thinks the Chicago News, "that the experts' observation will tend to confirm the superior value of steel-skeleton construction as the strongest and most secure."

The sale of Fanning and Washington Islands, which was announced by the cable from London will please the many friends of the Greig family in Hawaii, and satisfy a sentiment of poetical appropriateness felt by many others who only know of the Greigs. Fanning's Island was discovered by Captain E. Fanning of the British ship Betsey in 1788, about twenty years after Captain Cook discovered these islands. That is why it has always been under the British flag. It was uninhabited when it was discovered. About 1846 three Englishmen, Wilson, Collie, and Lucett who lived in Tahiti took possession of Fanning and imported Polynesians and did a coconut oil business. In 1853 Captain William Greig and George Bicknell bought an interest in the island and subsequently became proprietors of the whole. In 1884 Bicknell died and left his interest to James Bicknell, now County Auditor of Oahu County. Captain Greig died in 1892 and George Greig succeeded to the unofficial title of "King of Fanning's Island." Litigation as to the joint ownership arose and was recently finally decided in favor of James Bicknell. He then sold his interest to a Suva solicitor, and the sale of the whole property on May 19, was for the purpose of making partition of the ownership. The Greigs have bought it, and their kingdom stands.

The friends of good government ought not to despair because County Treasurer Trent says he will not accept a nomination for county sheriff. A year ago he said he would not accept a nomination for county treasurer.

ENDEAVORERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

ELEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES OPENED TODAY

Today is the day given over to the Christian Endeavor Societies of the islands by the Evangelical Association for their convention. Bright and early the delegates gathered at Central Union Church for the sunrise prayer meeting. Over one hundred and fifty people were present and a most earnest prayer meeting was held.

The business of the convention opened with the election of officers for the ensuing year. Moses K. Nakulua was elected president, Florence R. Yarrow secretary, and Mr. Okumura was elected treasurer. Each of the islands elected a vice-president.

This is the eleventh annual meeting of the Christian Endeavorers of the Hawaiian Islands. The progress made by the societies is wonderful. Starting with only a handful of earnest workers the societies have grown until the entire group of islands are covered with earnest working members of the Christian Endeavor Societies.

Bible study followed the business session. An hour was spent in the study of a chapter of the Bible in which many took part. Seven different nationalities were represented.

This afternoon will be given over to further business, reports of committees and the like.

This evening in Central Union Church the grand rally of the Society will be held. Rev. Dr. Kincaid will deliver the address and it will be interpreted into Chinese, Japanese, Hawaiian and Portuguese. An enthusiastic meeting is looked for.

may be taken on a tour of the states, as an advertisement of Hawaii, as a promotion project? If the community is willing to forego their own pleasure for the time, for the benefit to the community and the islands as a whole, which it is believed it will be, then the question is, How can it be done? In answer to this Mr. Cohen offers to take the band, assume all risks of loss, guaranteeing to handle the band as a first class attraction, and of course hoping for a profit commensurate with the risk of loss he assumes and the large expenses he must be at before any returns whatever can be expected.

"Now the community, through the Board of Supervisors agree to this. It seems to me every member of the band ought to feel it his duty, to respond to the wishes of the community; to consider himself a soldier ready to do his duty for the community; to feel that he is benefitting the community, even if there is some inconvenience in it. Mr. Cohen has agreed to pay the members of the band more than they would get if the band remained here. No member of the band ought to say, 'No, I won't go unless I get everything I would like to have; I don't care that we are going for the benefit of the community.'"

"There is a duty to the community in this matter. We are in the service of the community. We ought to have a soldierly pride in doing our duty."

"Some of the members of the band are going to take their wives along. But they will do so at their own expense, except that they will get the benefit of the better rates of transportation and hotels which the management of a large party like our is able to get."

"I am very sorry that Madame Alapai does not look at the matter in the light of the obligation we owe to the community. I hope the matter can be arranged. I have some very promising understandings, but of course Madame Alapai's experience counts for something."

The naval transport Lawton sailed this afternoon at 1 o'clock for San Francisco and Mare Island. She will prepare immediately on her arrival for a trip to the Asiatic station.

A ROYAL BATTLE ON FOR TOMORROW

GAMES TOMORROW PROMISE MUCH SPORT—FIRST GAME IS SURE TO BE CLOSE.

Punahou vs. Honolulu. Maile vs. Oahu.

There is the schedule for tomorrow. Some of the sports that are to be held during the week and talk it over and tell how the game is to be won say that they can pick the winners, but then some of these self same sports were heard to say that last Saturday the Puns would be on top of the pile. But, alas—You know how the Oahus jumped all over them. The sad tale has been told and it is not to be repeated.

One of the managers—it would be a shame to tell his name—is sure that Punahou will win from H. A. C.'s and thus make good the tumble they took last Saturday. Well maybe they will—it is all in a lifetime.

It is generally thought that the Oahus will score about 20 runs against the Mailes. They may, but anyone who could have seen the practice that the Maile boys were going through the other evening they would not be so sanguine of a high score. Coach Benson was holding them right down to work and it will not be the fault of the coach if the team doesn't win. The boys seem to have a deal of hard luck to contend with. Perhaps if they shook up their batting order things would improve slightly. The boys deserve to win.

And so the wise ones may get left after all. It is an impossibility to get any of the aforesaid wise ones to put their forecasts down in black and white so perhaps they are only putting up the bluff that they know who will win. Well here are the teams now chosen for yourselves.

ence of from 70 to 80 cents a hundred. There has always been this large difference, showing the large profit there was in refined on the Pacific coast. This market, however, was not large enough to absorb all of the Hawaiian raw product, and since the Crockett refinery has opened up, the Western Refinery has imported Cuban sugars by way of New Orleans. This increased the difference between the available supply of raw sugar for this market and the ability of the market to absorb refined sugars.

Under the old contracts with the Western Refinery, the Hawaiian planters received the New York price less three-eighths of a cent a pound for their raw sugar shipped to San Francisco. The New York price was based on a price for refined that was on an average of perhaps seventy cents a hundred lower than the price of refined on the coast. So it will be seen that the Crockett Refinery can stand a very considerable cut in the price of refined, before the planters will begin to get a less price for their Pacific coast sugar than they would have got under the old contract.

The fight was not unexpected. Those interested were only wondering when it would begin and how.

It has begun.

CEMENT IS HERE

The local cement shortage has been partially broken. The S. S. Hong Kong Maru arrived last evening from the Orient with a special shipment of 5,000 barrels of cement for H. Hackfeld and Company. This shipment was a special one from Hong Kong. The local firm cabled to Hong Kong for the shipment of cement as that is a free port and there was no export duty to pay. Over half of the present consignment has already been sold and it is expected that the remaining portion will be taken by local contractors and builders or various interests in need of cement.

There is a second shipment of 6,000 barrels of cement on the German training ship Herzogin Sophie Charlotte which is now out 83 days from Montevideo. All of that cargo has been sold.

DEFECT TAX LAW DISCOVERED

original packages. It was claimed that the property was not assessable while in original packages. The company filed its appeal, R. W. Breckons appearing as attorney, and after consultation with Attorney General Peters Treasurer Campbell and Tax Assessor Holt decided to allow the appeal. The legal point was conceded to be a good one, and the appellant saved $2,000 in taxes.

The proposition is of sweeping importance as affecting many property assessments. All the big firms here, with the exception of the Fertilizer Company, paid taxes upon thousands of dollars' worth of imported goods which is still in original packages and was apparently technically exempt from taxation here. Of course they are expected to appeal before doing so again, where there will be a big slump in the next tax payments and the next legislature will have to provide some new tax laws. It is held that the legislature has not power to make any law that will tax importations in original packages, hence a new source of revenue will have to be developed, to take the place of that derived from big stocks of imported property now believed to be not taxable.

port my wife and have ever since we were married.

"She has been content to sing with the band here for $30 a month, because her home is here. But on this tour she will be travelling constantly; she will be expected to dress in a manner much more expensive than what is required here; there will be additional expenses for which $30 would not be compensation and for which $100 a month will not be too much.

"As for my accompanying my wife, I think that is only proper. She is going away for four or five months. Not every Hawaiian who has gone to the mainland has seen a credit to the race. I don't know what opinions of the race may be prevalent there. I feel it my duty to accompany my wife. She wishes it. She does not wish to go alone. In order that I may accompany her, it is necessary that suitable compensation should be made. There is no effort at a hold-up. It is simply a demand for suitable compensation and proper arrangement for escort of an honorable married woman."

CHILDREN'S AND OTHER EVENT AT RINK

Do You Use Ready Mixed Paint?

Electricity, guided by expert knowledge, can make better paint, faster and more economically than the most skilled hand mixer in the world. Even were the same materials used, the machine made paint would be the better. But the materials are not the same. Modern paint factories employ expert chemists, like the sugar industry here, and as a result have perfected the paint far beyond the comprehension of the hand mixer.

AMERICAN ATHLETES SURPRISE THE WORLD

EVEN THE AMERICANS WERE NOT LOOKING FOR SUCH A CLEAN SWEEP AT ATHENS.

The American athletes surprised the world in the Olympic games held at Athens recently. Incidentally they surprised themselves to say nothing of the Amateur Athletic Union officials and others who selected the track and field men representatives of the United States.

Just about the time the team left for Athens James E. Sullivan, secretary of the union, said that the American aggregation was not by any means the best that this country could furnish. He explained that the college men who are really the flower of American speed and brawn on either path and sword, could not arrange to go at this time of year, while others who are not college men were prevented for various reasons from making the trip.

Despite these drawbacks the Americans made practically a clean sweep of the competitions. They won all the events they were expected to win and others in which they chances were not considered bright.

In the middle and long distances the Englishmen were beaten at their own game. It was thought that the cross-country runners of the "tight little isle" would hold all competitors safe in their specialties, but the Americans proved too good for them.

The final of the 800 meters, running race, was won by Paul Pilgrim of the New York Athletic Club. In the 1,500 meters J. D. Lightbody of Chicago secured first honors after a breakneck finish with McGough, the Englishman. The American won by a bare half yard.

Far-away Australia came in for her share of disappointment. Nigel Barker, the Sydney University sprinter who outfooted Duffoy of Georgetown not long ago in Australia, was sent to Athens to try his mettle against the cracks of the world.

Australian eddies hardly expected Barker to cut any great figure in the 100 or 200 yards, as they felt that some of the Americans who hold records for short distances would prove too speedy for him.

The Antipodean wisecracker fondly expected, however, that Barker would distinguish himself in the 400 meters as he had time and again run crackling races over the orthodox "quarter". When the final test came the best he could get was third. Paul Pilgrim of New York was home before him in the 400 meters and so was Lieutenant W. Halswaller, an Englishman.

The result of the swimming competitions was a particularly hard blow to the Australians, and evoked sorrowful reminiscences. A few months ago the country named boasted of the swimming phenomenon of the century. His name was Bernard Kieran, and during his brief career he reconstructed most of the world's records. Kieran died suddenly in Australia recently.

A young swimmer named Healy was selected to represent Australia at Athens, and prominent Australian sporting writers prophesied that he would outswim Daniels of the New York Athletic Club over short stretches.

It didn't turn out that way, though. In the first heat of the 100 meters Daniels was home one-fifth of a second before Healy, which of course, meant a close finish. In the final heat it looked as though Daniels had simply toyed with the Australian in the preliminary swim. The New Yorker set a thundering pace and won, slowing down, in 1 minute and 13 seconds. Healy being a distant third, behind Heimay of Hungary.

It begins to appear in fact, that Daniels is as big a star in the natorial line as was Kieran the Australian.

HART'S SKATING WAS VERY FAST

IN THE RELAY WEDNESDAY EVENING AT THE RINK HART WON FOR HIS TEAM.

The relay race at the rink Wednesday evening was very exciting. The Diamond Heads by winning it won the cup for the second time. If they win again it will become theirs permanently.

WHERE THE FRISCO SPORTS ALL ARE

SPORTING EDITOR OF A SAN FRANCISCO PAPER HAS A LINE ON NEARLY ALL OF THEM.

The sporting editor of a San Francisco paper which is temporarily being published in Oakland has collected the following information concerning boxing celebrities:

Joe Gans who succeeded in saving his nightshirt and a pair of shoes, went to Los Angeles. He has been kept so busy telling the people of the south how it happened that he has had no time to form any plans for the future.

Frankie Neil and his dad went East to hire out as reliefs of the wreck. Harry Foley and Joe Thomas are still sticking around doing relief work. They will leave town when the state of their finances permits.

Biddy Bishop has gone to Seattle. Ziek Abrams is buying up bank books as a discount. If you have a thousand-dollar book take it around to Ziek and you might get the price of a clean shirt.

Many of the horsemen have gone to Seattle, Denver, Chicago, Philadelphia and other places where the dollar is lying around loose. Some of the race followers are located over in Sausalito, where the poolrooms open on the first of June.

Billy Reche went East with Hoch Keys to steer him in the right groove. Henry Harris is spending most of his time trying to locate his cigar stand. The old corner where the various fans were wont to congregate and exchange sporting pipes and put one another wise to the "low down" is now as barren as Mike (Twin) Sullivan's head. Not even a stogie is left.

Billy Jordan is inspecting the beef that is being fed to the refugees. Colonel Brady has hid himself to Los Angeles, where the consumption of the oil of joy is still sufficient to keep the wine agents busy.

Harry Corbett is down at his "Cute Tombs Cabin," drawing up plans for the greater Harry Corbett's place on Ellis street. He intends to install a pipeline accommodation between his new establishment and the brewery.

Eddie Grancy is shoeing horses at the foot of Van Ness avenue. Jimmy Coffroth is trying to decide which of 3,479 schemes he will tackle. Jimmy Pitt and his brother Willis the boy smokstack, left for the East today to arrange for a ten-round go with McGovern in Madison Square Garden, New York.

"Maonie" Greenberg is over in Oakland offering a helping hand to his burned out friends. John Day went to Chicago, where the essence of pleasure is still plentiful.

Johnny Reid took his staff of leather workers up to Seattle. Sol Lovison manufacturer of implements of war, is assisting in relief work.

Tim McGrath was one of the head nurses in the Emergency Hospital during the exciting times. Spider Kelley and Heine Raphael have gone East to re-establish themselves in the "off" business.

Matt Larkin is selling sporting goods in Oakland.

Harry Leap is negotiating a deal to open a coffee joint in Fillmore street. Jack Gleason has gone East with a film of moving pictures of the fire.

able to catch up. Hart is a very fast skater and also one of the most graceful on the floor. Bolster is also a good skater as is Sumner and Downey. Hart's competitors were Bowers and McCandless, which speaks all the more highly for Hart for both of these others are fast men. Hart's lead was increased to 25 feet during his relay.

Diamond Heads are expected to take the next race, winning the cup.

OAHUS WIN FROM CHINESE

By a score of 10 to 4 the Oahu College baseball team yesterday defeated the Chinese Athletics in an easy game. The Oahus made five runs on the start and then loafed for the rest of the game. They were caught napping and the Athletics scored 4. The teams and the score:

Mr. McKay also sent to Secretary Wood two copies of papers from Ceylon in which articles appear booming Hawaii. The Secretary is of the opinion that Mr. McKay is doing a great deal to boost Hawaii and is looking forward to his visit with some pleasure.

CENTRAL UNION HAS NO PASTOR

COUNCIL FORMALLY SEVERES TIES BETWEEN PASTOR AND CHURCH

Yesterday afternoon the Evangelical Association met as a council to consider the severing of the ties which bound Dr. Kincaid to the Central Union Church.

"This council approves the action of the Central Union Church and its pastor as communicated to this body and hereby dissolves the pastoral relation existing between Dr. W. M. Kincaid and the Central Union Church.

"In taking this action the council desires to put on record its high estimate of Dr. Kincaid's faithful and successful pastorate. An earnest and eloquent preacher, a devoted and indefatigable pastor, giving to his people time and energy without stint, ministering with rare acceptance to all in need, with distinguished ability in up-building the church which he has served—an enthusiastic student, his character and his conduct of his high office have endeared him to a wide circle.

"We commend him to the grace of God and pray that his future life may be crowned with rich blessing.

"To the church thus deprived of their pastor we express our sympathy and trust that God may soon unite them in the choice of a new leader sent by Him."

After the meeting had adjourned the annual tea party was held A. L. C. Atkinson, Acting Governor of Hawaii was present and addressed the assemblage on the liquor question.

Last evening a song service was held in Kawaiahao Church.

dynamited building cast its debris of bricks, mortar and broken glass over the square and government and advisory committee hastily adjourned to the Fairmont, on Nob Hill. Headquarters had been established there but a short time when it was driven back by the advancing wall of fire and an adjournment was taken until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at the North End Police Station, at 1712 Washington street.

When the committee met that morning it was soon in working order, and the following sub-committees were appointed:

Resumption of Civil Government, not including Judiciary; Resumption of Judiciary; Resumption of Transportation; Transportation of Refugees; Restoration of Water; Restoration of Light and Telephone; Relief of Hungry; Housing the Homeless; Restoring of Fires in Dwellings; Finance Committee of the Relief and Red Cross Funds; Roofing the Homeless (Sub-committee of Housing the Homeless); Press Agent; Drugs and Medical Supplies; Relief of Sick and Wounded; Relief of Chinese; Permanent Location of Chinatown; Restoration and Resumption of Retail Trade, 1720 Fillmore street; Auxiliary Fire Committee; Restoration of Abattoirs; History and Statistics; Organization of the Wholesalers.

One of the first orders of the committee was embodied in the first proclamation of the Mayor:

"Troops and police are authorized to kill on sight any person or persons caught looting."

After that there were occasional reports in the burned district. They may have been exploding automobile tires—no one stopped to inquire. The Coroner might have known had he not been so busy, and— or, Well, "there's a lot happens in the field that never reaches headquarters." Anyway, there was no further looting.

The sub-committees had not time to organize when the fire swept over the hills and they were again driven out. The Mayor issued an order that all records saved and the municipal government be removed to the police station at Haight and Stanyan streets, far out by Golden Gate Park, for a last stand. At the same time he ordered an adjournment of all committee to Franklin Hall, at the corner of Bush and Fillmore streets, thus establishing headquarters as near the fire line as practicable. If burned out there his orders were for all to rally at the Park Police Station.

That was at noon on Thursday. Within thirty hours the committee had been organized by men who left their property to destruction and within the same thirty hours the committee had been burned out four times and it had located the fifth headquarters. The city had been policed by regulars, militia and volunteers, and the most disastrous fire in history was under control.

The care of the injured, the feeding of the hungry and the housing of the homeless were the first consideration of the committees, and for the first day or two all else was subordinated to those works of mercy. It will require a large book to tell the details of the work of these committees, each being aided by hundreds of volunteers. Each member of a committee was vested with police powers, and automobiles, carriages and wagons of all kinds were impressed wherever found; their loads were dumped on the sidewalk and filled with injured or medical and food supplies the vehicles hurried on to destinations named by the committeemen.

The rapidity with which the committee effected an organization and order relieved the suffering and hunger of nearly 300,000 people is noteworthy. Changing headquarters five times and organizing and planning as the members fled along the streets was no easy task, but it was accomplished, and for nearly a week that committee arranged for the care of the homeless multitude.

The rapidity with which organization was effected and order enforced is what amazes slower going communities. It was done by California, backing up their executive with their lives and their fortunes, and back of them stood their friends, all Californians, with the same resources at the command of the city. As did the fathers of fifty years ago, so did the sons of today.

Foreign News By Cable

ANOTHER SLIGHT EARTHQUAKE. SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—A slight earthquake shook San Francisco last night. There was no damage.

TO ABANDON COMMERCE. SALT LAKE, Utah, May 18.—The Mormon Church is disposing of its business enterprises.

CASTRO BACK AT WORK. NEW YORK, May 18.—It is reported that Cipriano Castro will resume the Presidency of Venezuela soon, and that when he does he will grant amnesty to political offenders.

It is now some weeks since President Castro laid down the reins of power, stating most explicitly at the time, however, that he only handed over the control of affairs to the Vice President temporarily, feeling the need for a rest himself. At that time there were stories that Venezuela was just on the verge of war with France. Then came the San Francisco disaster and the temporary cessation of news by cable and what had happened in Venezuela in the meantime remained unknown to island people. Evidently, the war scare came to nothing, and peace has ruled since Castro stepped down.

NORWAY IS REJOICING. CHRISTIANIA, Norway, May 18.—The national fête is being celebrated with extraordinary enthusiasm.

PRINCESS GETS DIVORCE. PARIS, May 18.—The Princess Radziwill has been given a divorce, with alimony of ten thousand dollars a year.

NAVAL BILL IS PASSED. WASHINGTON, May 18.—The House has passed the Naval Appropriations Bill, carrying one hundred millions of dollars.

DOUMA DEMANDS REFORMS. ST. PETERSBURG, May 18.—The lower house of the Douma has passed the reply to the speech from the throne. It demands amnesty and other reforms.

PORTUGUESE CABINET RESIGNS. LISBON, May 18.—The Cabinet has resigned because the King has refused to postpone the meeting of the Cortes.

MOVEMENTS OF A-H STEAMSHIPS

TWO WERE SCHEDULED TO LEAVE SEATTLE TODAY FOR HONOLULU.

The next American-Hawaiian steamer leaving Puget Sound ports for Honolulu direct will be the S. S. Nevada on June 5. Freight Agent Morse of the line has received advices to this effect.

The steamers Nebraska and American are supposed to have left Seattle today for Honolulu. The Nebraska will load sugar for San Francisco at Honolulu and Kahului, and the other boat will load at Honolulu, Kahului and Hilo for Delaware Breakwater.

TO STRIP THE WRECKED OLGA

INTER ISLAND COMPANY WILL SEND THE STEAMER KAULANI TO KAHOO LAWE TODAY.

The steamer Kaulani is to depart this afternoon for Kahoolawe for the purpose of stripping the wreck of the schooner Olga. President Kennedy and Captain Clark of the Inter-Island Company returned this morning from an unsuccessful attempt to save the wreck. It has been decided that the only thing to do now is to send a vessel to the scene of the wreck and to take on every thing that is possible from her. Some sails were brought back this morning but it is thought that some of the masts and other portions of the tackle and such stuff, can be saved and brought to this port for the benefit of whom it may concern.

It is likely that the hull of the boat will start to break up in a few days. C. C. Conrath will probably be able to secure all of the wreckage as there is little likelihood of it being carried out to sea.

TRIED TO PULL OLGA OFF ROCKS

TWO STEAMERS PUT LINES ON THE WRECKED VESSEL YESTERDAY.

President J. A. Kennedy and Captain Clark of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, returned this morning on the steamer Kaulani, from an attempt to save the wrecked schooner Olga on Kahoolawe. Although two steamers were put to work trying to pull the vessel off the rocks yesterday, she would not budge and all attempts to save her have now been abandoned.

President Kennedy and Capt. Clark left here last Wednesday on the steamer Maui. They took the Maui and the steamer Noeou to the scene of the wreck on Kahoolawe yesterday. Each steamer put a line on to the vessel and a third line was made fast to a heavy anchor and run to the schooner where steam was gotten up with the donkey engine. At noon when high tide was up all three lines were pulled on but the vessel did not move. She went stern on and lies on a ledge. The Maui parted an eight inch hawser.

After trying for some time, the attempt to save the vessel was given up as useless, and the work of saving some of the sails was begun. Some of the sails were taken off and brought to this city by orders of President J. A. Kennedy for the benefit of whom it may concern.

There is about eight feet of water in the hold of the vessel. The tide rises and falls in her. The principal damage seems to have been done to her stern as the largest leak is evidently in that section.

LANDLORD RAISES RENT $17.50 TO $500

ALTHOUGH THE TENANT IS SHELTERING A SICK MOTHER THE RENT IS RAISED.

The San Francisco Examiner says: D. R. McNeill has raised the rent of a flat on north Stanyan street from $17.50 to $500 a month. The raise is the more distressing because the tenant C. W. Collett, is at present sheltering a sick mother and a brother, both of whom have been rendered homeless by the recent fire.

McNeill served the following notice upon Collett, who has occupied the flat for the past sixteen months: "To Mr. C. W. Collett, tenant at 22 North Stanyan street, San Francisco Cal.: You are hereby notified that the rent of the premises at 22 North Stanyan street will be five hundred ($500) dollars per month, commencing on the 15th day of May, 1906, payable monthly in advance.

"Dated at San Francisco this 30th day of April 1906. (Signed) "D. R. McNeill."

DEPARTING, Friday, May 18. U. S. S. Lawton, Parker, for San Francisco and Mare Island, at 1 p. m.

RECEIVED HAD NEWS. Dr. Hauxhurst, surgeon of the S. S. Hongkong Maru, received sad news yesterday on the arrival of the vessel from the Orient. He received a letter from his sister telling him of the death of an aunt in San Francisco on April 19, the day following the earthquake. No details of the cause of her death were given. She may have died from some organic weakness unduly aroused by her excitement or else she may have fallen a victim of the fire. Dr. Hauxhurst's family were fortunately living across the bay from San Francisco.

question is liable to take fire, so is any building. One of the most destructive fires in Honolulu was that of the new building on the corner of King and Fort streets belonging to Messrs. E. O. Hall & Son. This was a brick building, modern in every respect and yet it took fire. Another building was constructed on the site occupied by the burnt building and the second building is liable to take fire. So are the best buildings in Honolulu, including the Young Hotel, Judd Building, Stangenwald building and many others. It is manifestly absurd to claim therefore that the structure in question should be destroyed because it is liable to fire; for if this court will order the destruction of all buildings in Honolulu liable to fire, there would be no Honolulu left."

HILO ARCHIVES

Secretary Lydecker of the Board of Archives is going to Hilo next week to look for archives there. In the court house at Hilo, it is believed, are many documents of value, which will be added to the collection to be placed in the archives building here. They are records of the old governors of Hawaii and may be found to be of great historic interest.
