CORRESPONDENCE TELLS WHOLE STORY

Letters of A. V. Gear to the Republican Committee.

SITUATION STATED AND REPLY GIVEN

Suggestion of Executive Committee Accepted to Save Possible Defeat of Other Candidates--Position Plain.

Following is the correspondence exchanged between the Republican Executive Committee and A. V. Gear regarding Mr. Gear's candidacy for the Territorial Senate:

Honolulu, October 20th, 1900.
James A. Kennedy, Esq., Chairman Republican Territorial Committee.

Dear Sir:—I have been urged by intimate political friends and a large number of voters to become a candidate for the Territorial Senate as an Independent Republican. These requests have become particularly urgent since the nomination of Henry Waterhouse on the Republican Senatorial ticket.

Being a firm believer in "party" I find myself in a very trying position and refer the matter to your Committee for consideration and suggestion.

On one hand, a sufficient number of voters have voluntarily proffered their support to assure my election with the knowledge that I am a Republican, and a supporter of Republican principles as expressed by the national and local organizations. A large proportion of these voters as you are doubtless well aware absolutely refuse to vote for Mr. Waterhouse. This of course weakens the whole Republican ticket and seriously threatens its defeat.

On the other hand, the question arises whether I as a Republican running independently in the organization would in any way lessen the strength of Republican candidates now practically sure of election.

The party harmony, to secure which I was willing to withdraw has as you know been nullified if not utterly destroyed by more recent action of the nominating conventions. (The Republican ticket as a whole cannot be elected) I am therefore relieved from any obligations to be inferred from my action at that time. This is borne out by the numbers now urging me to run, who accepted the ticket as originally framed. Also by the fact that certain supposed supporters of the present ticket have openly advocated fusion with the Democrats.

At no time have I sought a legislative nomination and while personal preference would lead me to remain out of the field, I feel that in justice to those urging my candidacy and election I cannot remain indifferent to their request. You will doubtless appreciate the necessity of immediate action on your part.

Respectfully yours,
A. V. GEAR.

Honolulu, H. T., Oct. 23, 1900.

Whereas this Committee is in receipt of a communication from A. V. Gear, Esq., addressed to the chairman of this Committee, stating that he has been urged by a large number of voters to become a candidate for the Territorial Senate as an Independent Republican, and referring the matter to this Committee for consideration and suggestion;

Now, after due deliberation had thereon, it is

Resolved, That, because of Mr. Gear's position in the Republican party, and his strength as a Republican leader, and because of the confidence in him as a loyal man, this Committee would regret to see him appear as an Independent candidate, and would suggest that he advise his friends, that such a step on his part would jeopardize the success of the party, and seriously injure his usefulness as a Republican.

Honolulu, H. T., Oct. 23, 1900.
A. V. Gear, Esq., Honolulu.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed please find copy of a resolution passed by the Executive Committee of the Territorial Committee of the Republican party at a meeting held on that date.

Very respectfully,
JAMES A. KENNEDY,
E. R. HENDRY, Chairman.
Secretary.

Honolulu, H. T., Oct. 25th, 1900.
J. A. Kennedy, Chairman Republican Territorial Committee.

Dear Sir:—Yours of October 23d, enclosing Resolution passed by the Executive Committee is acknowledged.

After due deliberation I have decided to inform my friends that I consider the interests of the Republican party any man, and that its success is of more stands sponsor will best be served by my refraining from accepting an Independent Republican nomination for the Territorial Senate.

Your action relieves me from any responsibility for any of the universal recognized weak points in the Republican Senatorial ticket. My action should convince you of the utter falsity of the impression emanating from members of the Executive Committee that I was personally instrumental in instigating the petition to which I have drawn your attention. I believe that the Republican party is greater than any man, and that its success is of more importance than the fulfillment of the ambition of any man or men representing a minority whose acts or personal opinions are not acceptable to the people. True party harmony consists in harmonizing candidates with popular sentiment, giving the opinion of one honest voter at least equal weight with an almighty dollar. As you consider that this has been accomplished I abide by the results with you, hoping that Republican principles will triumph at the polls, a triumph that will only be secured by the election of a Republican majority from Oahu to the House and Senate.

I cannot agree with you that my candidacy as an Independent Republican would "seriously injure" my "usefulness as a Republican." The character and number of those urging my candidacy is of such a nature that I need have no fears on the personal grounds you mention. At no time have I considered the situation from the standpoint of prejudicial personality. My single purpose, aim and desire in this campaign is to secure the success of the Republican party. It is with this end in view that I accept the opinions of the party managers, hoping that they have acted in equally good faith and with equal disregard for personality at a time when defeat is by no means an impossible eventuality.

Yours very truly,
A. V. GEAR.

SAILOR SCARCE.

Capt. Bray of the Sailors' Home says that sailors are very scarce now. There are many seamen who have steady employment on shore and do not desire to go to sea. Those open to sea service are very few. To this fact he attributes the success of the Sailors' Union in putting a crew on board of the Star of Russia yesterday and he believes that, as long as this condition exists, the Union will be able to hold prices up to $50 to the Coast.

"It is a pity," said Capt. Bray, "that after Frank Cooke has spent so much money in fitting up the Sailors' Club that it should have fallen into the hands of the Seaman's Union for their exclusive benefit. Of course non-union seamen can go to the club if they dare to. But they are afraid to go there. The other day a non-union sailor went to the club and was actually imprisoned for several hours. He claims that he was struck in the face several times by the union seamen. Being a foreigner he does not understand our ways here and wondered if he had got into the station house."

Election Saturday Night.
Major Camara having resigned his position in the National Guard, an election to choose a successor will take place Saturday night at the Officers' Club. It is understood that Captain Kenake is the only man who is slated to run.

Mysterious Deaths Puzzle Authorities

Three Well known Portuguese Are Struck Down--Drank Liquid Supposedly Wine While in House Where Sudden Death Recently Occurred--Others Drank and Are Living--Investigating.

Augustine Medeiros, horse trainer. Joe Silva ("Hotel Joe"), guard at the Insane Asylum.

Joaquin Cabral, driver of hearses of the undertaking establishment of H. H. Williams.

The above is a list of the Portuguese who have died since yesterday afternoon from the effects of some liquid found in the house of J. A. Silva, the Punchbowl florist and fruit raiser who was found dead in his room last Tuesday. Medeiros died at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Cabral at 9 o'clock last evening and Silva at 4 o'clock this morning. Although medical aid was summoned in the case of each, nothing known to medicine was found to be of any avail. All manner of reports were spread about on the streets this morning and the Police Department was simply swamped with inquiries as to the true state of affairs. Portuguese Charge d'Affaires Canavarro was on the scene early this morning and, at about 10 o'clock, he and Sheriff Brown started out on a trip of investigation.

In order to get the story in all its details, it will be necessary to go back to the death of the florist, Silva. It seems that this man was living alone in a shack on the nursery grounds, his family not being in the country at the time. He was not seen by any of his friends on Monday and on Tuesday morning several of these visited his home. There were no signs of life about, so the men went directly to the room known to be that of Silva. They knocked but no answer was received. The door was tried and found to be locked.

This aroused the suspicions of those who had gone to investigate and so the door was kicked in. A ghastly scene was presented to view. On a chair in the middle of the room was the body of the nurseryman, facing the door. At first, it was thought that the man was either asleep or intoxicated, but this theory was soon proved erroneous. He was dead and his body was cold, showing that life had been extinct for some time.

His death was not considered suspicious and a certificate of burial was granted by Dr. Pratt, the executive officer of the Board of Health, who was summoned to the place to make an investigation. The funeral took place the same afternoon.

The news of the death of Silva reached the ears of Mr. Canavarro soon after the discovery and he and J. M. Ozorio, the Portuguese Journalist, hurried to the scene. While a list of the things in the house was being taken, a number of Portuguese who had heard of the death, paid a visit to the house. Among the number were the three men whose names head this story: J. L. F. Silva, the police officer, and a number of others, including a woman. All were Portuguese living in the immediate vicinity of Silva's nursery.

It was not long before Medeiros, who was intoxicated at the time, spying a number of bottles in the room which he believed contained liquor, suggested that the crowd join him in a drink. Mr. Ozorio remonstrated, stating that although Silva was dead, he could still see. The liquor or whatever was in the bottles, belonged to him while alive and no one had a right to disturb it.

No heed was given to these words and Medeiros proceeded at once to help himself to the contents of one of the bottles. In this he was joined by Cabral and Silva, as well as the policeman, J. L. F. Silva, the woman mentioned above and a number of others. The drinking continued until Medeiros, Cabral and Silva were in a very hilarious state and the crowd left the house feeling very happy.

Yesterday afternoon Medeiros was suddenly taken ill. He complained of great thirst and an inability to see anything going on about him. At 3 o'clock he died, evidently in great agony. The same symptoms were experienced by the other two men and they died at the times stated. When it was found last evening that Cabral was very ill, Henry Williams, his employer, was sent for. When he saw the condition of the man he sent for Dr. Wayson who appeared on the scene immediately. He did all that he could for the man but he was unable to save him. Cabral was too far gone. He was unable to recognize the features of Mr. Williams but he could tell him by his voice.

Officer Silva, one of the men who visited the home of the florist on the morning of the discovery of the body, was seen by a Bulletin reporter this morning. He had the following to say:

"Medeiros urged me to take a drink out of one of the bottles found in the room and, seeing that all the rest were drinking, I took one glass and no more. The liquid tasted very much to me like wine and I did not think anything was wrong. When I got home I began to feel great thirst and drank water at frequent intervals throughout the day. I now think that the fact that I took only one glass of the liquid and drank so much water on the top of it, saved me from death. As soon as I found that Medeiros had died under suspicious circumstances, I went to the doctor and got some medicine. The other people who drank with me are not dead yet, although we have all felt nauseated at times since we took the liquor. An awful burning sensation in the region of the stomach has been felt by all of us.

There is one very peculiar thing about this whole matter. Pimentao, the night watchman at the depot, drank four glasses out of the same bottle from which Medeiros poured his liquor and he is perfectly able to attend to his work today. He has felt uncomfortable at times but, otherwise, he is perfectly well."

There are a great many theories as to the contents of the bottles from which the Portuguese drank. Some say that there was a great amount of fusil oil present while others say the bottles contained methylated spirits. Vivichaves, who visited the house while Medeiros was still present, says there was red liquor in the bottle found in the back part of the house and yellow in those found in the room with the dead man.

One bottle of the latter is now in the possession of the police and, as soon as possible, an analysis of the contents will be made. A post mortem examination of the bodies of the three men will also be made to ascertain just what they died of. The bottle at the police station is about a fifth full of a yellowish liquid which looks for all the world like dirty alcohol.

It is thought by a great many that the nurseryman, Silva, died of the same thing as the other three Portuguese and there is a great probability that his body will be exhumed in order to ascertain definitely. He was found dead with the bottles in the room and the direct cause of his death was not known. Then again Silva was known to be a drinker and an illicit distiller of liquor. He may have been experimenting with some of his concoctions and, drinking some, expired before help could be summoned by him.

Dr. Pratt was seen today in connection with the death of the nurseryman, Silva, and, in answer to a question, he had the following to say: "There is no doubt whatever in my mind that the man died of a disease of long standing which was perfectly apparent when I called at the house and made an examination in the presence of the Portuguese Consul. The door of his room was not kicked in as has been reported to you. On the contrary, there was a man in attendance on Silva all day Monday and this same man was with him when he died. The symptoms at the time of death were not at all the same as those of the three victims of yesterday and today."

An autopsy was held by Dr. Emerson on the body of Silva who died this morning. Drs. McDonald, Herbert, Wayson, Pratt and others were present. The stomach was removed and the contents will be examined by Dr. Ingalls, assisted by Prof. Shorey and others. The coroner's jury was called this morning and the bodies of the deceased were viewed, but there will be no session of this body until the experts hand in their report.

The bodies of Medeiros, Cabral and Silva will be buried this afternoon.

An Unpromising Labor Resource

French Canadians have been mentioned among other sources of plantation labor that might be tried. It is very unlikely that success would reward efforts at recruiting in that quarter. Two or three years ago a large number of French Canadian families were induced to go to Brazil. When they arrived the conditions were found so different from what the recruiting agents had promised that the poor people made a scramble for home and friends again. This experience will doubtless make it a difficult matter to induce the peaceful habitant of Quebec to leave his happy home again for unknown regions. Besides, there is a tremendous development in coal, iron and copper mining, copper smelting and steel manufacture to a large extent with capital from the United States—going on at present in the eastern provinces of Canada, which makes the labor demand greater than the supply.

Employers and Employees.

It will be with a feeling of relief no doubt that it is learned that at last one may obtain help without the trouble and disappointment of skirmishing among friends and acquaintances, thus in many cases causing unpleasantness and ill-feeling. Again, on the other hand it will be a pleasure to any in search of positions to be able to register with a responsible business agency and be saved the discouragement of a sarcastic "Not at present," or in other words "Don't bother me" that so often meet an application for work. By registering in this manner and leaving references, etc., much running hither and thither, with consequent disappointment, is saved, and owing to the numerous applications for help and situations on file in such an agency the securing either of a position or of help is much expedited.

Robt. W. Atkinson at the solicitation and with the encouragement of many prominent local business men, as well as of the religious community, has established such an agency here in Honolulu. Mr. Atkinson has long held a prominent position in New York and Brooklyn where he has done good work but at the behest of his physician and on the advice of local friends he has made Honolulu his place of business for the future. He has established an advertising, commercial and general business agency which will attend to job printing and public typewriting and will furnish awnings and tents for picnics, meetings, church parties, etc., this latter being a specialty and satisfactory work being guaranteed at reasonable prices. In addition to the employment agency a general house renting agency is maintained and by registering your wants with Mr. Atkinson whether a house, room or a tenant is wanted much time and expense will be saved.

Brash as sureties, to stay execution of the Supreme Court judgment against the principal for $54,630.75 with interest from May 1, 1900, and costs of $623.60, pending the result of appeal from such judgment to the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

THE ELECTION IS PROTESTED

ATTORNEY GENERAL DOLE WILL NOT ENDORSE PROTEST

Leakage in Sewers--Degraded Official Refused Liquor License--Fire Station Contract Hangs Fire.

Most of the time at the Governor's council this morning was occupied with a protest against the election of Robert Wilcox as Delegate to Congress.

Davis & Gear, attorneys for A. B. Loebenstein, had lodged the protest with the Attorney General, requesting his endorsement thereon to give it effect. The ground of protest was that the election was held without authority of law, the Legislature having yet to provide for the election of Delegate to Congress.

Attorney General E. P. Dole reported having answered Davis & Gear to the effect that he had no official concern in the matter. His view of the question was submitted in the form of a brief.

Robert Waialeale, who lately resigned the office of Deputy Sheriff of Koloa, Kauai, under a cloud, had applied to Treasurer T. F. Lansing to grant him a liquor dealer's license for that district. The council would not consider the application for a moment.

Superintendent of Public Works J. A. McCandless reported upon a leakage in the sewerage system which was more than the contract allowed. The Government need not accept the contract if the leakage exceeds sixty gallons a minute. Mr. McCandless was instructed to have the contractors set the thing to rights.

Mr. McCandless reported the bids for No. 4 engine house as printed where. The contract has not been awarded. After the meeting Mr. McCandless said the lowest bid was above the Government's estimate, but it would give a better building.

PAYING PROPERTY TAXI 8.

BUILDERS IN SESSION

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION WAS EFFECTED YESTERDAY

Eight Hour Law to Apply Only to Carpenters and Helpers—Permanent Officers Elected.

The adjourned meeting of the Builders, Contractors and Mill men was held in the office of John Ouderkirck, King street, yesterday afternoon, J. Lucas presiding and A. Harrison acting as secretary. There was a full attendance. The report of the committee on organization was read and accepted as a whole and the committee thanked for services rendered. The report was as follows:

Honolulu, November 7, 1900. Meeting of the committee appointed by Chairman J. Lucas on organizing a Builders' Association met at 9 a. m. and the following named persons were present: Chairman J. Ouderkirck, Secretary A. Harrison, Craig, Hoffmann, Wilhelm.

I. After consideration of the subject it was resolved that we organize as a "Master Builders' Association."

II. Name to be Master Builders' Association of the Territory of Hawaii.

III. Objects of the Association.—To form an association of all the master builders of the Territory of Hawaii whose vocation connects them wholly with the interest of building.

IV. That the purposes for which such association is formed are as follows, to wit: To join in one association all the master builders of good repute doing business in the Territory of Hawaii, whose vocation connects them wholly or generally with the industry of building as an employing contractor in any branch of the building business.

To establish and maintain among the persons so associated a just and equitable system of dealing and a uniformity in commercial usages.

To acquire, preserve and disseminate valuable information and statistics which may be of use to any or all of the several trades engaged in the building business.

To procure by lease or rent, and furnish, provide and regulate and maintain, suitable rooms for the use of its members and for the meeting of this body, for officers, and other purposes.

To establish and enforce a system of arbitration for the settlement of disputes or misunderstandings which may arise between its members or be connected with the various trades in which its members are engaged; said system to be in accordance with the by-laws of this association.

To adjust differences and settle disputes between members or between members and others.

To promote and secure the mutual improvement and advancement and welfare of all mechanical and industrial interests and all artisans in their several vocations, to the end that membership in the association may be an assurance to the public of skill, honorable reputation and probity.

The said association shall have power to make all necessary rules, laws, regulations and by-laws for the use and government of the Master Builders' Association of the Territory of Hawaii, and for the members thereof.

V. That the place where the principal business of said association is to be transacted is Honolulu, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

VI. That the administering officers shall be composed of a president, vice president, treasurer, auditor, secretary.

This committee recommends that at the first annual meeting of this body that the president be empowered to name a committee of three to draft by-laws to govern said body.

Permanent organization was effected and the following officers chosen to serve during the ensuing year: John Ouderkirck, president; J. Lucas, vice president; A. Harrison, secretary; F. Wilhelm, treasurer; Wm. Mutch, auditor. F. W. Beardalee (chairman), J. H. Craig and F. Pettus were named by the chair a committee to draft by-laws and report within a week. It was voted that the journeymen commence work at 8 o'clock.

It was further voted that the eight-hour law refer to the carpenters and then helpers, the men who had made the demand. This having been done, the meeting adjourned until Wednesday, November 21, at the same time and place.

SEATTLE BEER.

The ever popular Rainier beer is becoming a household word and "will you have a glass of Seattle," is more often heard than anything else. The Criterion Saloon has the beer on tap or in bottles.

DOWNING IS ACQUITTED

Charles Downing was acquitted of murder in the second degree, for killing a native named Poni at a blowout in Liliha street early this year. The case went to the jury shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Strauss having ably addressed it for the defense and Mr. Cathcart for the prosecution. Within an hour the jury agreed on a verdict of not guilty.

Judge Humphreys released the prisoner on his own recognizance until Monday, there being two charges of assault with a deadly weapon pending against him.

Following proceedings reported in the Bulletin yesterday, the prosecution in rebuttal called Lahapa, a woman who was mixed up in the case. Downing had testified that she had warned him before the fatal melee that the native men intended to do him up for his money. This she denied. Cross-examination, however, developed that she had previously declared she had no knowledge of the facts.

At the close Deputy Attorney General Cathcart stated that he would consult Attorney General Dole as to the assault cases before they were called on Monday.

HERO MYERS OF PEKING

Capt. John T. Myers, U. S. M. C., the American hero of Peking is a passenger by the Doric going home on parole, a convalescent from his wounds and sickness in China. Capt. Myers' Eastern service is not up until next May but he will probably be given leave of absence to regain his health until that time. Capt. Myers is a cousin of Dr. R. P. Myers of this city. To a Bulletin reporter Capt. Myers said:

"Yes, we had a very serious time in Peking. Besides the American marines under my command, I also had command of the English and Italian contingents. We had a number of very severe fights. At one time I was on the wall five days and nights without sleep and when it was over I slept twenty hours consecutively."

"Yes; I am still lame from my wounds. I was struck in the knee by a Chinese javelin making a very painful wound. After the relief of Peking where I contracted typhoid fever. When well enough to take the trip I was transferred to Yokohama hospital. I shall be glad to see home again."

RANSOM WAS TOO LATE.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 29.—The dispatch from Manila Saturday night in regard to the fate of young Arthur Venville, a member of Lieutenant Gilmore's party, at the hands of Filipinos, has put an end to the hopes of young Venville's mother, Mrs. H. Marsh, who resides in this city. It was thought that the Filipinos were holding young Venville for ransom, and the sum of $262 was subscribed here by sympathizing friends last summer and forwarded to General MacArthur at Manila for the purpose of obtaining the young man's liberty. The fund, however, will probably be returned to this city and turned over to Venville's mother.

Hated by Europe.

We are hated all over the continent of Europe. Paris made a fete day when she imagined that Sampson's fleet was destroyed. The German Emperor hates us for taking 3,000,000 fighting men away from him as well as because we are republicans and he is a believer in "the divine right of kings." The Austrians hate us for humiliating Spain, but Russia hates us most and worst because the map of the world shows two huge nations—the only two—which balances the map, which reach from ocean to ocean, and which represent theories of life and government as contrary, hostile and wide apart as the poles.—Julian Ralph.

Edict Against Long Skirts.

The local board of health in one of the districts of Vienna has placed placards in all the public gardens and parks, directing the women who visit these places to hold up their skirts if they trail upon the ground. The notice states that as these enclosures are devoted to the recreation of persons desirous of escaping from the dusty town, the authorities forbid dust to be swept into heaps by trailing skirts.—Medical Record.

Ten Porto Rican.

The trustees of the University of Chicago have decided to give free tuition to ten of the Porto Ricans who wish to be educated in this country, provided their living expenses are furnished by public-spirited citizens. This action was taken in compliance with a request from M. G. Bumbaugh, United States commissioner of education at San Juan, Porto Rico.—Public Opinion.

Auditor H. C. Austin has produced a long judicial opinion to support the docking of John E. Bush's salary for election day, when the Hawaiian interpreter stood as a candidate for Representative. He says Mr. Bush's recourse is a writ of mandamus, but presumes he will not think it worth while.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE LEAKS

Principal Townsend of the Kaahumanu (Beretania street) school came into town this morning to see about having the building made habitable. The rain is coming through the roof and making a mess of things. As it is a new building, occupied for the first time this year, and moreover a fabric to which the Educational department and citizens point with pride for its architecture and substantial appearance, the discovery that it is not even rainproof must be disagreeable all round.

The indoor baseball match between the Board of Directors and committee-men of the Y. M. C. A., which was to take place next Saturday has been postponed on account of an evangelist meeting to be held in the building on that evening.

CHINESE REFORMERS' REBELLION DISCUSSED

Viewed With Element of Distrust by Europeans

CAN SUNG YAT SUN CONTROL HIS FOLLOWERS

Parallel With Taiping Rebellion—Varying Reports as to Object of Movement—Foreign Protection Demanded.

Under the caption "The Southern Rising, What Is It," the Shanghai Mercury says:

Telegrams from the south have for several days past been growing increasingly serious. To simple rumor of discontent there has been added news of sporadic attempts at riot here and there, with accounts of piratic attacks in various places, and now it seems as if the whole province of Canton is ripe for revolt and taking the incitatory steps to make it successful.

As usual accounts differ. Reports take the tints of the media through which the movements are viewed. From certain quarters we learn that the prime movers in the rising are hand in glove with Kang Yuel and the Reform Party, that their motto is "Friendship with the Foreigner, and Death to the Manchu;" others give a very different complexion to the movement.

They describe it as a simple outbreak of armed combined rōdism; they point to attacks on Mission Churches and other foreign property as proofs of the true nature of the spirit by which the rebels are moved; but they say nothing of the apparent dread with which the mandarins, already with no control outside the city walls, appear to view the situation.

It is in fact a complex and tangled matter, one which adds enormously to the difficulties of the Powers, and yet may in the end prove a blessing in disguise. The chief danger to the foreign resident in China for the past few weeks has been the danger that an ineffectual peace might be hastily patched up. The Canton rising, if it does nothing else, will probably delay the departure of the foreign forces, and allow time for full consideration of the whole position.

There is no little resemblance between the present situation and that of forty years ago. A foreign army occupied Peking then. There was a formidable rebellion in progress in the South—the Taiping. Then, however, it had already been raging for ten full years. Started in 1850 by Hung Sentsuen, a Hakka schoolmaster, it gradually rolled on its way to the north, taking three years to reach Nanking. Many looked upon the "Heavenly King" as a real reformer, but fully knowledge seems to confirm the opinion with which our late friend, the Rev. Wm. Muirhead, who had friendly interviews with the Taiping leaders, mainly agreed, that Hung was nothing but an able, astute, keen-sighted impostor. What mischief he wrought in China no words can tell. Cortes burnt his boats so that his men might have no means of retreat; the Taipings did worse: wherever they went they made the land a desert, so that there could be no turning back. Gathering in all the local scoundrelism, the rebels rolled along. Robbers from the mountains, pirates from the coast, smugglers and ruffians from everywhere, swelled their ranks, which snowball-like increased at every step, cold-blooded cruelty carrying death to everything within reach. So it moved along, taking, as we have said, three years to reach Nanking. Then for seven years more there was desultory fighting between rebels and imperialists, but in 1859 the Taiping met his fate. He ran against the armed force of foreigners, English and French, stationed at Shanghai, which the Heavenly King wanted to round off his dominions. For the protection of the settlement Sir Charles Staveley, then in command here, determined to insist on the neutrality of the thirty mile radius, and after various ups and downs, Gordon was appointed to the command of the "Ever Victorious Army," with the result which every schoolboy knows. The principal rebel chiefs met their death at Soochow through the treachery of our old friend Li Hungchang, and little by little the rebellion came to an end, having destroyed probably more lives than all the European Wars with William the Conqueror to the present day put together.

Was this movement the prototype of that now beginning? To say that this is a momentous question is to minimize its importance, an importance which it is almost impossible to exaggerate. There were and are many people who believed that the foreign powers, England mainly, made a fatal mistake in opposing the Taiping. Here again a judicial estimate of the evidence pro and con is most difficult to make. In no country but China could it have happened that while we fought her government in the north we fought her enemies in the south. History may repeat itself. It is not always safe, as the Americans have found in Manila, to enlist rebels on one's side. A government in being is an entity with at least some show of power. A rebel chief is a nobody, in most cases an upstart fighting for his own hand, in all an unproved adventurer whose political power is as evanescent as the "it" of our boyhood's equations.

What then are the Powers to do in face of the new complexity? One thing is evident: It will be their duty to keep the rising within as narrow limits as possible. They must vigorously cut off all war supplies; they must promptly punish all attacks upon foreigners; they must if necessary send troops to Canton, to Swatow and any other threatened ports, and they must warn Dr. Sung Yat Sun and his co-reformers that they will be held personally responsible for the lives of such foreigners as may in the issue of events come under their control. With quarrels between the Imperial Government and its subjects the foreign powers under ordinary circumstances would have nothing to do. But as we are living at present under very extraordinary circumstances, non-interference may be neither desirable or expedient. What the Chinaman is under varied influences we now know fairly well. In his arm chair sipping his tea, he may be a kindly, well-disposed, thoughtful, Confucian philosopher, even a philanthropist. Give him power, rouse his passions, and awake his distrust, and for what he may then become enquire within the walls of Yu Hsien's Yamen, the gates of Paojing, and the precincts of the Imperial palace. The Reformers may be admirable in desire, kindly in disposition, and excellent in intention. But are they sure that they could make their followers the like, are they even sure success would leave themselves the same? We have some doubt on the point, and having it are convinced that a gradual system of reform such as we hope may follow the re-accession of Kuang Hsu will be infinitely preferable to the blessings bought with blood in the way promised by the southern rebellion. We answer our self-imposed query therefore in this wise: the southern rising, whatever it be, whether piratical, anti-foreigner, or reforming, is one to be put down as rapidly as possible in the interests not only of the reformers themselves and of the Chinese as a race, but of the Allied Powers, and the world generally. We can see no advantage likely to accrue from it that would not be far too dearly purchased by destruction of property and loss of life.

DIOCESAN SYNOD. The annual meeting of the trustees of the Anglican Church in Hawaii was held in the Sunday school-room of St. Andrew's last evening, Bishop Willis presiding. Rev. Alex. Mackintosh's seat was occupied by Rev. V. H. Kiteat. A committee of three was appointed to inquire into the matter of insurance on the cathedral building. The sum of $25 was granted Rev. W. Ault of Lahaina for the purpose of repairing the cottage in Wailuku, where he intends to take up his permanent residence.

The annual report of Treasurer Henry Smith was presented and approved. In it was reported a gift of a church site at Kalihii in the Kaula tract, made by W. C. Aehl and wife. The area is 8,000 square feet. The treasurer also stated in his report that the church was indebted to Mr. Aehl for the right of way to the church site in Kohala, Island of Hawaii. The secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the church to Mr. Aehl.

Notice was given by the Bishop that he would convene a session of the Diocesan Synod on Monday, January 7, 1901. All the clergy and lay representatives from all parts of the Islands will be in attendance. After this Synod, the Bishop will attend a convocation of the American church to be held in the State of California. It is very probable that, at that time, negotiations will be entered into looking toward the regular incorporation of all the churches of the Islands as a part of the American jurisdiction.

In Korea visiting cards are a foot square. The savages of Dahomey announce their visits to each other by a wooden board or the branch of a tree artistically carved. This is sent on in advance, and the visitor on taking his leave pockets his card, which probably serves him for many years. The natives of Sumatra also have a visiting card consisting of a piece of wood about a foot long and decorated with a bunch of straw and a knife.

A Slight Inaccuracy.—"Mamma," said the little girl, her eyes wide with excitement, "I do believe the minister told a story!" "Why, the idea!" said her mother. "You don't know what you are saying."

Citizens Sunday Made London Pulpit Feature

London, Oct. 29. - Citizen Sunday is a new institution which was established yesterday by the concurrent action of hundreds of preachers in the metropolis. The obligations of true citizenship were enforced from the pulpits both by the Established Church and the Non-Conformist bodies. The return of the London volunteers after an arduous campaign was a safe and obvious topic, and the borough council election next Thursday suggested colorless homilies upon the duty of taking hearty interest in local government and choosing without prejudice the best men. The pulpit admonition was not out of place under the second head, for municipal elections have never been taken seriously in London, where "bumble-dum" and "vestry-dum" have always excited a fine irony and cynical amusement.

Now that the vestries are re-grouped and transformed into twenty-eight borough councils, with mainors, the obligations of citizenship invite pulpit reflection. These councils will be empowered to expend about $15,000,000 annually in an area of 125 square miles, with a population of over 5,000,000, while the London County Council hopes for $50,000,000. They will be something more than sub-municipal agencies and centers, although Lord Rosebery's "Federalized London" seems a rhetorical expression, and the tendencies of decent realization are more potent than the forces of centralization. When the list of candidates are made up mainly of former vestrymen, it seems probable that the business of lighting, paving and cleaning the streets will be conducted by the same men on the old lines, and that there will be no radical changes in the system of local government.

In consequence of the adoption of the new municipal mechanism, one thing is already noticeable—a tendency to drag national politics into local contests. The conservatives have dropped the name of moderates, and are striving to carry borough elections on party lines. Reynolds newspaper, and a man of considerable ability as an organizer, has launched a new party, known as the National Democracy, which may attract many dissatisfied radicals and workmen. Its principles considered primary are automatic registration, with three months' qualification; manhood suffrage, with a single vote; abolition of the House of Lords, and the cost of elections at the expense of the State. The trades unions and labor party are represented in the new organization and a small group of radicals formerly in Parliament is taking an active interest in the movement, but the socialist agitators are not yet prominent. It is not clear whether the National Democracy will open new lines of cleavage within the Liberal party.

Gypsin.

One of the most recent substances to be tested by the British fire prevention committee is a material known by the trade name of "gypsin." It consists of a mixture of plastic hydraulic lime with coke or sand and asbestos, and then moulded into bricks. The test was made with a partition constructed of bricks of this substance laid in hydraulic mortar, with joints one-quarter of an inch thick. On the side nearest to the fire the partition was coated with a thin layer of fire-clay, and an area of seven feet nine-inches by ten feet was exposed to the flame. The test lasted an hour, and a temperature of 2,050 degrees Fahrenheit was attained, but the partition proved impervious to the flames, and at no point was its outside surface possessed of sufficient heat to ignite a match.—Public Opinion.

Dog and Horse Meat.

On account of the high price of other meat, not only horse meat, but also dog meat, is used by people as an article of food in Germany. The new meat inspection bill (called here "a law to raise the price of meat") does not adequately protect the consumer against bad meat, but excludes many first-class products from the country. According to the statistical yearbook of German cities, it appears that the consumption of horse meat is on the increase, and in Breslau, Chemnitz, Dresden, Leipzig, Zwickau, and other places dogs are slaughtered for food.

Drummers in Switzerland.

During the year 1898, 23,585 commercial travelers were on the road in Switzerland. In 1899, the number was increased to 25,697. Of these, 20,665 were Swiss, 3,828 German, 1,176 French, 350 Italian, 173 Austrian, 49 Belgian, 28 English, 18 Dutch, 8 Spanish, 1 Swede, and 1 American. From these figures, it is not surprising that Germany, France and Italy should have captured the lion's share of the Swiss import trade.

Preventing Incrustation in Boilers.

A. Relat of Antwerp, has patented the following method for preventing incrustation in boilers: A mixture of sugar, tannin extract, silicate of potash or soda, and boric acid is added to the boiler water to keep the salts in solution; when the water attains a density of about 15 to 25 Be, the boiler is "blown off." The working periods range from a fortnight to three months, according to the quality of the water in use. Glycerin and alkaline sulphates are sometimes used in the mixture.

BLEU HAS "COLD FEET."

Owing to the storm last night the steamer Doric did not venture out until 7 o'clock this morning. Even then the sea over the bar was running mountains high and the pilot boat that was trailing was compelled to cast off or be smashed to pieces. There were four boys in the boat and they had a perilous time getting ashore. While coming over the crest of a great sea David Palua, who was steering was thrown into the air and struck on his head at the other end of the boat, making an ugly gash in his forehead. Shortly after this a heavy sea struck the boat splitting her side and filling her with water. It was a marvel that the boys reached shore alive.

Seeing that the Doric was laying off and on outside, and that the boat had returned without the pilot, Capt. Hilbus started out with the tug Elen but encountered such heavy seas on the bar that he was compelled to turn back or lose his house. He then requested Capt. G. H. Brokaw of the tug Fearless to make the trial. True to her name the pretty tug breast the terrible seas on the bar and virtually the Doric was lying about a mile off plowed through it. The tug was most skillfully handled by her able captain, the bar and by 9 o'clock the Fearless had the pilot ashore.

Adulterated Milk.

Louis Ake, a native driver of one of the milk wagons of the Enterprise Dairy of which Nobriga is the manager and principal owner, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of selling adulterated milk. His case was called in the Police Court this morning and partly tried. Some of the witnesses were not present and police officers were sent out after them and, as the Deputy Sheriff was busy with the cases of the Portuguese who died on Punchbowl slope under suspicious circumstances yesterday afternoon, last evening and this morning, the case was continued until tomorrow. The defense is being represented by Attorney De Holt. Prof. Shorey was the principal witness for the prosecution. Three specimens of the milk sold to the New England Bakery were brought into court as testimony for the prosecution. Nobriga himself was an interested spectator.

"Well, I see," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "the Methodist Church adheres to its old position that dancing is not the proper caper."
