

CLEANUP DAY PAYROLL ONE FOURTH STUFFED

Forty-nine of the laborers to whom pay was voted by the city and county supervisors for clean-up day work have refrained from coming round for their $2 each, and in eighteen cases, according to Supervisor Low, chairman of the investigating committee of the board, it is known that men were paid by the road department after having been paid by the clean-up committee.

This result of the inquiry is claimed by the clean-up committee to justify the charges made by Wolfers, of the graft in connection with the payroll. The road department payroll called for the payment of 234 laborers, at $2 per day each. After it had been passed, attention was called to the fact that the business men's committee records showed that only 168 men worked, and an investigation was ordered.

The figures now arrived at by the investigating committee tally almost exactly with those of the clean-up committee. This committee claimed that there were sixty-six more men on the county payroll than had actually worked. The eighteen stated to have been given double pay and the forty-nine who didn't call for their pay make a total of sixty-seven. "Laborers who didn't call for their money are evidently not entitled to any pay," said Supervisor Low today. "Evidently they got news of the investigation and decided not to call after wages for work they didn't do."

DUISENBERG PAID $10,000 FOR SEAT

Ten thousand dollars is the price that E. G. Duisenberg paid A. D. Cooper for his seat on the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange.

This is the record, the last previous sale of a seat having been at $7500.

There are five applicants for seats at $10,000 and one has even offered this amount for a half interest in a seat.

The holder of a seat is entitled to have an alternative who may attend the board in the principal's absence.

ANOTHER LEILEHUA AIR FLIGHT; PASSENGER GOES THIS AFTERNOON

Aviator Masson will make an ascent in his biplane at Leilehua this afternoon at 5 o'clock, taking with him a passenger. This will be the first occasion on which a passenger has gone up in an air-ship in the Territory.

Just who will have the distinction of making the first trip has not been given out but it is rumored that the "fare" will be a young officer of the Fifth Cavalry, who is actively identified with sports at the post.

Masson made a series of flights at Leilehua this morning. The first, which took place at seven o'clock was a splendid one. The biplane rose to a height of between 800 and 1000 feet and made several circles of the post, coming to ground as gracefully as a bird. Several other lesser flights were made, but no great height was attained in these owing to the engine missing a number of times.

The trouble with the engine, will, it is expected, be put right by five o'clock this afternoon and visitors to Leilehua from Honolulu are likely to be treated to a brilliant exhibition of the craft of the birdman.

WANT TO USE OLD FISHMARKET

At an important meeting of the Board of Immigration, held yesterday afternoon, a resolution was passed authorizing an application to the Governor to secure the old Alakea street fish market as an immigrant station. The matter of a permanent station has been under consideration for some time, and the board is now generally agreed that the fish market site is best adapted to the purpose.

It was also decided definitely that A. J. Campbell shall proceed at once to Europe to recruit another shipload of Portuguese laborers. Mr. Campbell will possibly be able to get away by the Manchuria, on Saturday next. He will proceed at once to London, where he is authorized to charter a suitable vessel for the purpose of bringing the immigrants direct to Hawaii via Cape Horn.

The board discussed the proposition of securing some Italian immigrants, but Mr. Campbell will make no efforts along this line at present, as negotiations will have to be taken up first with the Italian government.

SAY JAPANESE WILL CONTROL

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The findings of the Army War College, which has been investigating the policy of expansion adopted by Japan, show that the insular government has settled 79,000 Japanese in Hawaii, and that their number is increasing, but that in the Philippines there are less than 3000 Japanese. The report shows that the coffee industry has passed entirely out of American control into the hands of Japanese. It is predicted that it will not be long before the Japanese control the sugar plantations.

DIVORCE CASES

Mary Ann Gunderson has brought suit against Martin Al Halverson Gunderson for divorce on the triple grounds of extreme cruelty, habitual intemperance and non-support. Alimony and custody of two minor children are also prayed for by libellant.

Rose Ah Leong sues John K. Ah Leong for divorce on the ground of non-support.

It is expected that the taking of evidence in the McQuaid divorce suits will be concluded this afternoon.

LAUNCH PARTY HAS TO SPEND NIGHT AT SEA

Grave anxiety was caused last night by the non-return of a party who had gone out in a motor launch belonging to the light house tender Kukui, at the invitation of A. E. Arledge, Superintendent of Construction, 19th Light House District. The fears that had been engendered, however, were dispelled this morning when the Kukui returned with the missing boat swung up in her davits, and the party all safe and sound on board.

At Arledge's invitation a party of ten—five ladies, and the same number of the opposite sex—set out at about eight o'clock from the light house tender in the gas launch which the men use in their work of looking after lighthouses, etc. The little boat was in charge of quartermaster Sweeney, who holds a second officer's license. Everything went well and the evening was such a calm one that it was decided to remain away a little longer than had been planned. It was urged that it would be very nice and enjoyable to wait for the rising of the moon, and accordingly the boat cruised around. Very soon she was off Diamond Head, and everything was going smoothly, when suddenly without any warning at all, the engines became noticeably wrong. They perceptibly slowed, and then stopped altogether.

The Vessel Helpless.
Sweeney took a look and he soon discovered that the batteries had petered out. Of course, he knew that there was no chance of getting the vessel back to port under her own power, so he set about making a signal for help.

He accordingly got a lot of cotton waste soaked it in oil, out of which he fashioned a torch. This made an excellent flare, and Diamond Head was signalled to by means of frantic waving, but there was no response. A couple of Japanese sampans were seen approaching and these were also waved at, but they either did not understand the signals of distress, or they would not delay their trips out to sea. Soon all sight of land, except the lighthouse, had disappeared in the distance, and the boat slowly drifted towards the south.

They Sang Hymns.
Nothing could be done. The night was calm, and there was nothing out of which to make a sail, and no means of propelling the boat towards the land. Nobody seemed at all perturbed, except, of course, the natural feeling that those on shore would worry considerably over the long absence. Hymns were sung, and the whole party showed the bravest spirit in the face of what might soon prove to be a serious position.

Kukui Boat Dispatched.
The people on the Kukui, however, were not idle. They had become anxious, and felt that something had gone wrong, or the boat would have been back by eleven o'clock at least. Twelve o'clock came, and there were no signs of the boat, so a row boat was dispatched to look for the gasoline launch. It cruised down to the entrance, and made a careful lookout

Honolulu Growth Shown By Building Permits

That Honolulu is growing some is evident from the building permits being issued this summer. That its growth in intelligence and culture is keeping pace with material advancement is apparent from the fact that the permits for structures for educational purposes in the past thirty-five days exceed by a large amount those issued for domestic purposes.

From June 8 to July 12, inclusive, permits for educational buildings, including the Carnegie library, represent a cost of $98,000.

In the same period the permits for dwellings, omitting all tenements, together with houses costing less than one thousand dollars, cover an aggregate cost of $85,843. This amount is for twenty residences, the estimated cost of each being entered on the permit, which makes an average cost of $4292. The range is from $1000 to $28,500, the next below the maximum being $15,000.

Adding the cost of dwellings from $500 to $1000 and of tenements, the amount of permits for places of abode is increased by $8800, making a grand total of $94,643, which is still $3263 less than the estimated cost of educational structures.

Following is the list of permits for the period above stated, leaving out all repair jobs and construction below $500 cost:

C. Hedemann, residences (2), Judah street, $2500, $1600.

G. G. Gurney, residence, Pahoa and Twelfth avenues, Kaimuki, $2840.

Episcopal Church, residence, Emma Square, $15,000.

Milverton's Pay Held Up

The Supervisors held a meeting at noon today to pass on the payrolls for municipal employees. The payroll was duly passed with the exception of the item for the salary of Deputy City and County Attorney F. W. Milverton, which was held up, because he has gone to Kona without obtaining a leave of absence. Milverton is private counsel in a case being tried in Kona and has gone to try the case.

Supervisor McClellan called attention to Milverton's departure without leave of absence. There was considerable criticism over Milverton's last absence without leave, but his salary was paid. At today's meeting Low seconded McClellan's motion to hold up the salary and refer the matter to the ways and means committee for investigation.

Treasurer Shingle, who is going to the coast, applied for and was given six weeks' leave of absence.

The Postoffice will make up a mail for Guam and Manila by the transport Sherman leaving here tomorrow at five for the points named. The mail will close at the post office at four o'clock.

More Oahu Land Openings

Within the next three or four months a number of tracts of government land on Oahu are to be opened for sale to homesteaders, according to Governor Frear, in reply to an inquiry made this morning.

Besides the several hundred acres near Koko Head, including a 1500-foot beach frontage which will be offered in small frontages for beach residences, the Governor stated that several hundred acres in Waianae, and another tract adjoining it in the Lualaba district, are to be opened. Part of this land is now held by the Waianae Sugar Company, and some of it is under irrigation for cane. According to the Governor there is some very desirable land in both tracts.

CIVIC FEDERATION CHANGES AS RESULT OF NEW MEMBERSHIP

At the regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Federation held yesterday afternoon at the Public Service rooms, a number of important matters came up for discussion. All of the committees brought in written reports. The following are extracts from some of these:

Political Policy.
From membership committee's report: "Perhaps the most important outcome of civic day campaign will be the development of a policy on political matters based on the criticism heard by the canvassers in the course of their work. There is a strong sentiment against certain kinds of political activity—activity of a nature which practically makes the Civic Federation another political party. It is evident that there is a big demand for a Civic Federation working along lines of health, parks, education, etc."

"The political policy of the Civic Federation needs careful study. The other points of criticism heard by the committee are that practically all power is vested in the executive committee, without reference to the membership. A revision of the constitution, involving the principle of the referendum, seems necessary."

The Local Theaters.
From report of committee on law and order: "A communication from the secretary of the Church Club of St. Andrews containing a resolution from that body concerning the passage of a censorship ordinance of all public entertainments, particularly the moving picture shows, was made the subject of special consideration of the committee."

"The committee believes that the community is as well guarded now as it would be under a censorship ordinance, since it believes that to right frame or to make a censorship ordinance to suit the case for this community would be a most difficult undertaking. The committee has in touch with the amusement companies and the chairman has held conference with Mr. J. H. M. Magoon, the new manager of the amusement company, and he assures us that the resolution passed by the last management is still in effect and will be upheld; that it is his intention to exhibit nothing but good, clean, instructive and educational subjects. He invites examination and criticism and will do all he can to give the public clean shows. We can report that during last week the Red Cross pictures have been well received, and we have heard no complaints of late as to the general good character of the picture parts of the four theaters in the combine. As to the other parts of the entertainments, there may be at times some portions that might be better or improved, but these are very difficult to censor."

Mention is made in the law and order committee's report of the excellent manner in which the officers and men of H. M. S. Kent and Challenger conducted themselves while in our city and of the interest taken by them while here in matters concerning the peace treaty now before the two great nations of the world.

"The committee heartily indorses the present movement relative to international arbitration."

VISITORS HERE BY THE SHERMAN

Colonel David J. Rumbough, First Field Artillery, who comes to this military district in command of the Second battalion of his regiment, continued his journey, after reaching this port on the Sherman this morning, to his station at Leilehua, Colonel Rumbough had his baggage transferred from the Sherman to the railway station and with his wife and daughter, went immediately to assume his official duties. The colonel has been in command of the unusually large number of troops on board the transport, on route here from the coast.

Captain F. E. Hopkins, First Field Artillery, was adjutant aboard, Captain Hopkins is battalion adjutant on Colonel Rumbough's regimental staff.

Captain J. P. Spurr, detailed to the Quartermaster's department, is Captain and Quartermaster of the Sherman. This is Captain Spurr's first trip in this capacity, and all of the passengers attest to his attractive efficiency in the office of the ship.

Among the passengers arriving this morning on the troopship, none are better known or more popular than John J. Sebree, brother of Rear-Admiral Uriel Sebree, retired U. S. navy. Mr. Sebree knows everybody in the Philippines Division, and everybody knows and likes him. He is familiarly called "Dad Sebree" as an affectionate nick name. He is returning to his duties as Chief Clerk at Department Headquarters, Department of Luzon, after a leave of absence spent in Missouri, visiting his wife who is detained

Sherman Brings More Defenders.

The U. S. A. T. Sherman made a dignified arrival in port this morning after a leisurely trip of eight days from San Francisco, berthing at the Oceanic wharf, where she poured out her human freight of officers and men, as well as a number of women and children, who have accompanied husband and fathers and sons to their new home.

Soon after the boat was tied up, the deck began to present an animated appearance for the seventy-eight men of the U. S. M. C. were drawn up and then marched off to their quarters at Camp Very. The vessel was crowded, for there were twenty-nine in the first cabin, fifty second cabin and 300 steerage, for Honolulu, six in the first cabin, one in the second, three in the steerage for Guam, and eighty-six in the first cabin, eighteen in the second, and 600 in the steerage for Manila, making a grand total, when the boat left San Francisco, of 1,153.

A number of those who were kept on board amused themselves by buying pineapples from the Chinese vendor on the wharf. The Chinese had a very erratic aim, and it usually took about four attempts to enable him to land the fruit on the deck of the transport. Each failure was greeted with ironical cheers, and then when at last the fruit would be caught, the fact would be heralded with applause. The Chinese grinned good naturedly, but when he threw one up that missed the soldiers above, and fell into the water, the applause was deafening. Some Kanaka boys showed great enterprise and patience in fishing for the floating fruit with a wire that was bent to a more or less correct circle.

The officers were soon renewing old acquaintances on the wharf, and the work of bringing out the 600 tons of freight for here was begun simultaneously with the debarkation of the troops. Crude signs were in readiness and stationed at various points on the dock directing the men from each section where to go in order that they might be dispatched with the least amount of confusion. Customs men kept the gangway clear in order that the officers would not be hampered in any way.

The Sherman has two batteries of the 1st Field Artillery for here, as well as seventy-eight enlisted men who will go to Camp Very. Colonel D. J. Rumbough of the 1st Field Artillery is the commanding officer. He will leave the transport here, and his place will be taken for the remainder of the journey by Captain C. F. Armistead.

A list of the first and second cabin passengers who arrived here this morning ar, as follows: Colonel D. J. Rumbough, 1st F. A., wife and daughter, Chaplain S. M. Boll, 1st F. SOCIETY

OVER THE TEACUPS.
By Lady Gay.

There is a sort of cold cruelty in leaving your husband these unbearably depressing warm days to remorselessly enjoy yourself alone in some cool retreat.

And where, though his heart may also yearn to travel, your unromantic but exceedingly necessary spouse must perforce labor on in the midst of his sweaty toil and grimy, dust-clogged office towards one at least of the many ends which ultimately secures your fall attire.

As a rule, this casual indifference among women has become a fixed social law, for the observance of which many sacrifices are made.

'Tis bad enough surely in those populous cities where, even though feminine society has flown to green fields, the open country, the seashore, or other "pastures new," there are still left enough diversified amusements to enable their men folk to while away otherwise arduous hours, but in Honolulu the desertion is little less than a crime.

You will find a few of this lone species motoring in solitary magnificence through the dusty thoroughfares, feebly endeavoring, oft with small success, to assume an indifferent attitude.

There are some whose families have gone abroad, whose distant letters bring an occasional breath of relief from the drought of their own life's pleasure.

To these men, through all the stress of business pressure which assails them on every side, there is always a moment to be snatched to glance anxiously at the desk calendar announcing the next steamer's arrival.

And always those moments also to describe with unselfish, glowing pride the largesse of pleasure being afforded their loved ones through their own sacrifice!

To a woman her husband's life seems often a capacity for an easy camaraderie and diversification among his fellows when compared to her own somewhat irksome indoor restricted routine, but as a matter of fact, those pleasanties exchanged between men of the world are often affected diplomacies which are generally understood and so recognized.

A man's social recreations compare pitifully insufficient to match his wife's systematic indulgence, and his portion of happiness therein is usually the satisfaction of the knowledge of his wife's contentment and well being.

When their wives have gone to the country, the club occasionally or a moving picture show grant them an evening's recreation.

Already you can see them loitering in the lobbies of the theaters awaiting their turn in a line of eager humanity from Kakaako to buy a ticket, with an expression on their faces which seems to indicate a wonder large and incredible at the doubtfulness of present-day social institutions!

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

A party comprising Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Lyser and family and Dr. and Mrs. Philip Frear will leave town on Saturday to occupy the Tantalus cottage of Governor and Mrs. Walter Francis Frear for three or four weeks.

Mrs. Sarah Newcomb has issued cards to a bridge party at which she will entertain at the Hawaiian Hotel tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Myrtle Schuman presided as a charming young hostess yesterday afternoon at a daintily appointed luncheon, at which she entertained in honor of Miss Madeline Ross, who leaves next month to attend school on the mainland.

The hostess and her guests gathered at one o'clock round an exquisite luncheon table which was trimmed with tones of pink, green and white.

A centerpiece was represented in the form of a flaring gold basket, brimful of white daisies, frail pink duchess roses and young lace maidenhair, stray blossoms and tendrils of fern being dropped here and there over the lace cloth.

The handle of the basket was caught in an artistic bow of shell pink tulle, and several smaller gold baskets, filled with daisies, roses and maidenhair were placed about the table.

The luncheon cards were hand-painted in the design of ships.

After luncheon, the hostess and her guests repaired to the drawing-room, which was dressed in duchess roses and maidenhair ferns, and here several games were played.

The prize for the novel guessing contest, "The Light That Failed," by Kipling, was won by Miss Helen McLain.

Those present were the Misses Madeline Ross, Olivia Long, Helen Spalding, Helen McLain, Margaret Restarick, Daphne Damon, Thelma Murphy, Pauline Schaefer, Ruth Soper and Myrtle Schumann.

Mrs. F. C. Lyser entertained quite informally at her home on College street Monday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. G. F. Bush, who celebrated her birthday on Monday.

Violets and pink roses were prettily arranged throughout the rooms and two tables of bridge were played.

The first prizes were awarded to Mrs. Samuel Wright Tay and Mrs. Emil Berndt, who became the happy recipients of dainty lawn and lace fancy work aprons.

After cards, delicious light refreshments were served.

Those present were Mrs. G. F. Bush, Mrs. Charles Atherton, Mrs. A. Gartonberg, Mrs. Frank Blake, Mrs. W. W. North, Mrs. Guy Gere, Mrs. Samuel Wright Tay, Mrs. Emil Berndt and Mrs. F. C. Lyser.

Quite a number of young people are looking forward to the party at which Master Wren Timberlake will entertain at Fort Ruger this evening.

The guests will arrive at the end of the Kaimuki car line about eight o'clock, where they will be met by army wagons.

An ascent of Diamond Head and descent into the crater will be made by moonlight, and other amusements afforded the young people in the artistic quarters of the host.

Mrs. Timberlake will chaperone the party.

The dancing party at which Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Waldron were to have entertained last evening in honor of Miss Pauline Schaefer has been postponed to Saturday, the 15th inst. About one hundred cards have been issued.

A very pretty bridge afternoon was that at which Mrs. S. De Froest entertained Tuesday at her home in Manoa Valley, in honor of Mrs. Frazier of Berkeley, who is at present visiting her brother, Mr. C. P. Morse.

The drawing-room and library, where the card tables were arranged, were daintily decorated with frail baskets filled with quantities of shell pink asters and asparagus plumosis which fell over, partly veiling the flowers. These baskets adorned many small side tables and the daintily appointed tea table whence delicious refreshments were served at five.

The prize of the afternoon, a cloisonne tea stand, was presented to Mrs. Percy Morse.

Among those present were Mrs. Percy Morse, Mrs. R. G. Moore, Mrs. Bierbach, Mrs. Bon, Mrs. F. C. Lyser, Mrs. W. W. North, Mrs. J. L. Young, Mrs. Benner, Mrs. Farmer, Mrs. McAndrews, Mrs. Ware, Mrs. Philip Frear, Mrs. Tarleton, Mrs. Drew, Miss Dutot, Mrs. Lindeman and Mrs. Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Watson left town for Haleiwa this morning, where they intend to spend a month in the rest and recreation this beautiful country hostelry affords.

Cards have been sent out for a bridge party at which Mrs. Tuttle of Fort de Russy will entertain on Saturday in honor of her house guest, Miss Ziegler.

The Service Bridge Club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph E. Sheedy on Pacific Heights, when, amid potted palms and cut flowers, two tables of bridge were contested.

The first and second prizes, in the form of Madeira tea cloths, were presented to Mrs. William H. Winters and Mrs. W. H. Smith, respectively.

At five, sandwiches, cake, fruit punch and salted almonds were served.

Mrs. Sheedy occupies one of the most quaint and artistic bungalows in the city, and her gracious charm and hospitality have made her very popular.

Those who played yesterday were Mrs. William H. Winters, Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Pardee, Mrs. Marx and Mrs. Turner.

San Francisco Wasp: The engagement of George Beckley of Honolulu and Miss Beatrice Campbell, sister of the Princess Kawanakoa, is of interest to San Franciscans, as both Miss Campbell and Beckley are well known here. Miss Campbell was educated in Berkeley. Mr. Beckley's sister Anita Beckley, was formerly well known in San Francisco.

HILO LABOR UNIONISM.

Labor unionism has made no progress in Honolulu for many years and won't for many years to come if the employing class knows what is good for it. The snake showed its flat head here while the Young hotel and other big buildings were constructing and one experience with it was enough. The merchants won't soon forget the delegation that waited on them with a demand that they should discharge their Oriental clerks—who were needed to wait on Oriental customers in this polyglot community—not the threats of boycott, the attempts to "organize" the cane-field laborers and the rank hypocrisy shown by the union leaders in surreptitiously buying their own hats and shoes from the Chinese and Japanese. When the building operations eased off, the unionists had to go. They were not encouraged to stay here for odd jobs, and since they have let Honolulu alone.

But not Hilo. Hilo has a native labor union which lately sent its president, David Ewaliko, to Seattle, where he sat as a delegate to the International Longshoremen's Association, a branch of which Hilo is now forming. Just what may be expected of this new phase of union activity may be judged by the Advertiser's report of what Ewaliko said in his statement on returning. We quote:

One of the main features of the convention, said Ewaliko, was the address of the president of the organization, who had encouraged the unions to enter politics, showing how successful such action had been in San Francisco. He also warned the various branches not to enter on strikes, without first having the approval of the executive committee.

Ewaliko had introduced a resolution, which carried, to the effect that the American Federation of Labor should be asked, at its convention, which will take place this month at Toledo, to appoint an organizer to take charge of the organization of branches in this Territory, his salary and expenses being paid by the Federation of Labor. This resolution was adopted, and it is expected that an organizer will soon be on his way.

Another resolution which was of importance to Hawaii, was one favoring legislation providing for the absolute exclusion of all Orientals from the Territory of Hawaii and from the Pacific Coast States. This resolution was carried, as well as a recommendation to the American federation that it assist in the work of getting such a measure through Congress.

The members of the local union, which is to be organized this week, are to be instructed to refrain from all trading with Orientals, definite instructions to this effect having been given Ewaliko at the convention.

So this is the program—to enter politics on the San Francisco plan of rule and ruin and graft; to get an "organizer" to work up union sentiment here; to seek the absolute exclusion of Orientals, and to refrain locally from trading with Orientals. It is a very pretty program indeed but if the employing class submits to it for a moment, it will show itself worthy of the misfortunes that triumphant unionism implies. In other words if the employers in the face of such threats, hire an active union labor man for any purpose or retain one on their pay-rolls they will show themselves traitors to their own best interests and those of the community. Disturbers of the industrial peace should be shown all over the islands that they can not pursue that course and keep their jobs too.

WATERING PLACES AT HOME.

Mr. Jeffries, whose prominence suffered total eclipse from the intervention of a dark body last year, is now in Germany taking a cure. So are various other Californians and some thousands more of eastern Americans. Mr. Porfirio Diaz, late of Mexico, is also drinking the waters and incidentally helping a hotel to thrive and a German doctor to make easy marks.

Turn about is fair play and it would be no more than the right thing for German health-seekers to come over and take their cures in America. One cannot name a German spa, the virtues of whose healing waters exceed those of the famous and non-famous medicinal springs in the United States. Take Saratoga, Virginia White Sulphur, Clifton, Deep Rock, Waukesha—all these American spas have curative values, and when it comes to California, the state is one big geyser reservation of liquid antidotes, hot and cold. There is a match there for every medicinal spa of Europe, those of Vichy and Carlsbad included.

Some day the world will hear of the California spas and come to them. For the most part they are hidden away on little stage-roads, far from the trains, and small taverns give roofage to the traveller and not much else. There they are, boiling from the rock in some natural arbor of the woods, gushing up amid flowers and vines or steaming hotly on the shore of a placid brook. In some parts of the state, north and south, you find them every few miles, and they are all good for some ailment. At one place, the Geysers, in Sonoma county, there is a wonderful group of springs in a crater, most of them hot, and each different—sulphur, magnesia, vichy, chalybeate, borax, etcetera—with hot, cold and steam baths attached, an ideal place in which to treat rheumatism and skin diseases.

Jeffries turned his back on California cures when he went abroad to drink and bathe for his rheumatism, though, of course, he had the comforts of European housing and sightseeing besides. And then distance lends enchantment to the view of cures as of other things. But it all ought to be reciprocal and, we believe, will be when California attends in the German way to the comfort of travellers. What these coast watering places need are better roads, better hotels, more doctors and nurses, and something for people to do. Nature has done its part; when man does, the California spas may be heard of as often as Carlsbad, Vichy or Bad-Neuheim.

CLEANING UP TOWNS.

Fugitive items in the papers show that the spirit of civic cleanliness is spreading. Here are a few:

The Silverton, Ore., council is considering the septic tank as the solution of the problem of sewage disposal. It is argued that Silver Creek is not equal to the occasion during the months of low water.

Acting under orders from the city authorities, the express men and draymen of Pendleton, Ore., will keep off the paved streets during the summer months, except when moving.

In the process of organization at Astoria, Ore., is a stock company composed entirely of home capital, for the purpose of collecting and disposing of all garbage in the city.

Declaring it a menace to the public health, the city council of Boise, Idaho, condemned the hog ranch of E. W. Yeomans, which he is conducting on an island in the Boise River.

This is news from the West where people are supposed to be a bit careless about sanitation but it is a better showing than is made by many Eastern cities of similar size where the people cling to the ways of the fathers. The fathers were pretty punk in sanitation.

NO LAZZARONI FOR HAWAII.

Whatever the planters may feel about Italian immigrants—and they are not of one mind—there are many well-wishers of Hawaii who hope that there may be enough Portuguese and Spaniards to enable the Board of Immigration to get along without the lazzaroni.

We know the Portuguese and respect them. They are good workers and peaceable citizens. The Spaniards give Cuba splendid field labor. But the lazzaroni are so bad as to constitute one of the most dangerous problems with which the immigration bureau of the United States has to deal. If it were a question of North Italians, all right. But the northerners stay at home, till their farms and carry on their other little industries. They don't migrate. But the dirty, dirk-carrying lazzaroni, with their fleas, their laziness, their hot temper and their general worthlessness, are ready enough to try the hazard of new fortunes. If they are to be brought here the only consolation to those who want Hawaii to keep its civilization as well as its sugar profits is that the most of these immigrants would soon go to California where there is a large Italian population engaged in wine-making.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

As a man grows older his hinges creak, and his teeth fall out and his eyes are weak; and he has pains in his side and back, and all his innards are out of whack; his limbs are feeble, his feet are cold—it's a bitter thing when a man grows old! When a man grows old he is prone to tell of the joyous days when the world wagged well; when he was younger the skies were fair, and peace and virtue were everywhere, and maids were lovely and men were bold; such dreams will come as a man grows old! As a man grows older he sighs and croons of sweeter zephyrs and brighter moons, of nobler rivers and larger seas and finer sunsets and higher trees; the past has glories he'd fain unfold, as a man grows old, as a man grows old! Oh, let him go on his weary way, and tell the tale of an ancient day! It's all that's left when this life is serene, and the wind is bleak and the night is near! These tales and visions, so often told, are all that's left as a man grows old!

WALT MASON.

The advance in the retail price of milk by the Dairymen's Association to eleven cents a quart, seems to be justified by the added expense of the electrical treatment which insures purity. The price is still below that of private dealers and is midway between the original price charged by the Association and that received by Mr. Pond, when he was in business for himself. Eventually, we suppose, the product will go higher with the growth of the consuming population both civil and military, and we may yet see the time when refrigerated milk and cream will come from the other islands to keep up the supply.

If the solid men of Honolulu ever get tired of the municipal politics we get they have pull enough at Washington, if they want to exercise it, to get something better.

Was this a session for investigating trusts or working out the problems of reciprocity? One has to stop and think.

Nobody can find any of Kuhio's counts against Frear even by advertising for them.

It's a pity that Harriman didn't live long enough to see the Supreme Court put a lei on his merger.

Hoke Smith is the only member of either of Cleveland's cabinets who has survived in active politics.

The uplift movement is good for everything but the mercury.

The whole Fifth cavalry may charge in aeroplanes yet.

Social note: The 'Ayes' Ammonds are returning.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

DR. PRATT (of Board of Health)—I am thinking of organizing an association in the city schools which will stimulate interest in sanitary matters among our future citizens.

JOE RICHARDS—I didn't know I was out of a job till I read the heading in the Advertiser this morning. I am working as hard as I know how on the milk inspector's business.

FRANK KRUGER—As chairman of the health committee of the supervisors, I have no knowledge of Joe Richards, milk inspector, being out of a job, as reported this morning. He is still doing work under Dr. Norgaard.

POSTMASTER PRATT—We are waiting for the new federal building in order to assign lock boxes to a large number of applicants who cannot be supplied at present. We have pretty nearly outgrown our present quarters.

J. W. PRATT—Business is good in Honolulu just now. I have never had a more active month in real estate than the present one. I think my auction business was good too, but haven't had time to figure up how good.

A. F. GRIFFITHS—I have been asked to recommend trained boys for seven different positions, and four other places have come indirectly to my notice. This big crop of jobs shows that business is good in the islands.

PRESIDENT BERNDT—About fifty road men have failed to claim the warrants made out to them for the clean-up day work, and about half that number which had been taken have been returned. Does this look as if the clean-up committee had already paid these men or not?

THIRD OFFICER DIGGS, S. S. Wilhelmina—No, no rope broke on the Wilhelmina when the earthquake took place at San Francisco, but the vessel dropped and then shot up again, as though she had hit the bottom and bounced up. The longshoremen ran on board, as they thought that it would be safer on the steamer than on the shore.

A. D. LARNACH—The point of the joke so common in the comic papers, about the office boy who wants to attend his grandmother's funeral when there is a ball game, applies to our Asiatic brethren. I know a lawyer whose Chinese office boy told him that his father wanted him home by four o'clock. He is a bright office boy and could easily have got permission to go to the game between the Chinese and the Kelos. Now why is it that office boys never come out with straight talk on such occasions?

"Under The Coconut Tree"

By H. M. Ayres.

Baseball has been responsible for some wonderful descriptive writing, but it is safe to say that the following paragraph which appeared in last night's Bulletin has not been equaled since Hashimura Togo quit the newspaper game:

"Filled, crammed, packed and jammed to its fullest capacity, literally bursting with the seething, jumping, yowling mass of humanity that it contained, the athletic park ball grounds presented a spectacle never equaled in this town.

"With nerves on edge, faces set and strained, with every muscle drawn taught, the different fractions of fans sat coiled ready to spring into the air wouldn't it?

Those high-pitched fans are also worthy of attention, and a nice point is involved as to whether the writer refers to the fans whose pitch was on top benches of the bleachers or to the rooting fans with the high-pitched voices.

Criticism apart, however, the above sets a new mark among the local writing fraternity and one which will not soon be eclipsed. It is quite in "W. R.'s" best style; eh, what?

Since we began selling lots in this land we have learned a thing or two:

First: That the real demand is for moderate size house lots—and in accordance with our suggestion the owner has sub-divided; the two large lots into twelve smaller ones containing from 15,000 to 20,000 square feet; Still good sized lots!

Second: that the lots in this land come pretty near selling themselves: The reason? Because the lots are not remnants nor undesirables left over after the pick, but are the real choice locations. This is easily proved by a visit to the land. Let us show you.

WILLETT AND GRAY MARKET REVIEW

Following is Willett & Gray's sugar market review in part from the issue of June 29:

Raw—The undertone of the market has been strong throughout the week.

The heavy business done at the close of last week, basis of 2 3/4c. c. & f. or 3.98c. landed, covered 700,000 to 800,000 bags or about three weeks' supply and, naturally, the refiners have since thought it best to sit still. Some holders who did not take advantage of the opportunity to sell are now willing to accept the same price, but are content to wait for a resumption of the demand, confident that they will obtain as favorable or better figures.

One feature of the week is the reported sale of Philippine sugars for June-July shipment at "market price day of arrival"; if the sugar arrives early in September the chances favor a market price higher than the present value.

Refiners refuse to consider offerings of Javas or other distant sugars at an advance over spot quotations, especially for October-December arrival, expecting that supplies will then be so abundant as not to warrant higher prices.

The present Cuba crop will be practically all absorbed by October 1st and the principal new crops which will be available later in the year are the Java cane and European beet crops; the prospects of the European crops, are, at present, not all that could be desired; reports are received of continued droughts in several important sections of Germany, Austria and Russia, also damage done by insects; when drought is experienced in September after the plants have obtained a good growth and leaves cover the ground, the effect is more good than harm, and when it comes in June, before the plants are well rooted, there is danger of much damage, and it may be impossible to make a good crop there depending on the weather which follows; in most localities, however, the crop is making favorable progress, according to our cable advices from F. O. Licht.

In Cuba eight centrals are still grinding when weather permits; all reports agree that the prospects of the next crop are most favorable, with a large increase in plantings and ideal growing weather conditions thus far.

At the close the market is strong with indications of prices working up closer to the European parity as we approach the end of the supply of Cuba sugars for the season.

Visible Supply—Total stock of Europe and America, 2,313,513 tons against 2,251,909 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The increase of stock is 61,604 tons, against an increase of 75,670 last week. Total stocks and afloats together show a visible supply of 2,488,513 tons against 2,381,909 tons last year, or an increase of 106,604 tons.

Refined—The demand continues good. Most of the deliveries are against outstanding contracts entered on basis of 4.90c less two per cent., about three-quarters of which contracts are now closed.

Quite a little business has been done at the current quotations of 5c, less two per cent. for granulated.

The strength of the market for raws warrants an advance in refined, which is expected to take place, after the Fourth of July holidays.

NAME WILL EVER BE ILLUSTRIOUS

Submitted by E. D. Tonney, chairman of committee for the purpose, the following memorial resolution touching the death of Hon. H. P. Baldwin was adopted by the Chamber of Commerce:

"Whereas, This chamber has been called upon, with profound sorrow, to record the passing from this earthly life of the Hon. Henry Perrine Baldwin, whose name upon the long roll of the members of this body will ever be illustrious,

"Be It Resolved, That the members of this Chamber of Commerce herein record their sense of personal loss in the removal of a kind and generous-hearted friend;

"That they recognize the uplifting influence of his life in this community, as a record both of great administrative power and of high commercial honor;

"And that they join with all hearts and conditions of men in these islands in an expression of thankfulness for the inspiration of such a life, begun and ended in their midst—at once the embodiment of noble achievement, high civic pride and Christian virtue; and

"Be It Further Resolved, That these resolutions be preserved in the records of the chamber, and that a copy be submitted to the widow and family of our friend, with the expression of our respectful and sincere sympathy."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Armin Hansberg, of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., has been elected a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

The regular meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee will be held at the rooms of the committee, Young Hotel building, at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

C. H. Cooke, Geo. P. Denison and J. D. Dole have been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce as its members of the shippers' wharf tax committee.

W. H. McInerney's proposition for a joint committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association to arrange programs for public holidays has been referred to the Chamber's entertainment committee.

On receiving the report of William G. Cooke, delegate to the Mohonk conference, the Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution to have a standing committee on arbitration and to endorse the treaties of arbitration as recommended by President Taft.

E. G. Duisenberg has bought the seat of Alfred D. Cooper on the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange. Mr. Cooper retires from 'change to devote his time to tending the San Carlos Milling Company, which will operate a central sugar mill on the island of Negros, Philippines.

A. B. Arleigh & Co., Ltd., books and stationery, is enlarging its borders by taking in the store lately occupied by Dietz's Jewelry store, Arlington block, Hotel street. The partition between the two stores is to be taken out, making one grand salesroom. Besides this expansion in front, the Arleigh establishment is to have an extension twenty-five feet deep built on to the rear of the double store. For the present the store entrances will not be altered, although they are rather narrow for the large space to which they will give admission.

Former Chief of Police Wappenstein of Seattle has been found guilty of accepting a bribe of $100. The jury was out seven and a half hours. Wappenstein was one of the recalled Gill administration.

EWA ONLY SUGAR STOCK CHANGED

Ewa went to $32 on the Honolulu exchange today for five shares, following sales of 35 shares in recess of the previous figure of $31.75. Oahu brought the unchanged rate of $31 for 20 shares between sessions and 35 on the board. McBryde was very active without change between sessions, 325 shares in four unequal blocks going at $6.50. A quarter less is bid, but an eighth more asked. Pioneer is steady and not inactive at $209, in three lots of ten shares each reported. H. C. & S. holds at $38.50, three parcels of ten shares each at that being reported. Oahu six per cent bonds maintain the rate of $9 in a sale of $2000.

On the Hawaiian exchange 15 shares of Brewery are reported sold at $21.25, which is an advance of three-quarters of a point.

Defendant maintained that he had only slapped him, and as there were no outward and visible signs of facial damage the erstwhile "terror" got off lightly.

Kaui Mignol and Ben Kabea were acquitted of assault.

Chas. Kahope, drunk and glad of it, was taxed the usual "three and costs," and H. Welch, who had deserted the grape vice named after him in favor of bug juice, forfeited his bail.

KEIOS BEAT CHINESE BEFORE A RECORD BREAKING CROWD

The Kelos got away with the All-Chinese nine yesterday afternoon before the biggest crowd that has ever witnessed a ball game in these islands. The score was six to three, and the game was won by a series of electrifying swats and misplays in the first two innings.

The visitors carried too many guns for the Chinese; that was evident throughout the game, which, however, was full of interest, and was keenly watched by five thousand spectators till the last ball was pitched in the last half of the ninth.

The rooting was a caution. The Japs gathered in the maka bleachers and the "Chinks" arrayed themselves on the other side of the grandstand. They roared each other's nines during the warm-up work and they laded out applause and criticism with marvelous zeal and gusto throughout the game.

An International Struggle.

It was an international struggle in all reality and was regarded as such by the opposing forces and their supporters. The crowded arena, the waving of hundreds of flags, the yells, shouting and tumult, and rising above all, the din of the band, all went to make an impression on the great crowd present which will not easily be eradicated.

It must be borne in mind that it was not a holiday game, and considering this, the immense gathering was all the more remarkable. Practically everyone was there. In front of the grandstand strolled newspapermen, lawyers, baseball magnates and scores of baseball lights of the past and present. Every policeman on the force seemed to have been detailed for the game, and it was just as well that this was so, for the tension between the opposing factions was intense and it would not have taken much to have strained it to the breaking point.

Warned Against Disorder.

The start of the game was delayed and the crowd were beginning to show their impatience when the Chinese took the field at 4:45. The start of the game was prefaced by a megaphoned announcement to the effect that if there was any fighting the police would stop the game.

Bert Bower umpired in his usual capable manner, and even the windy grouch with his "R-r-otten" was conspicuous by his absence.

Japs Score Quickly.

The first inning of the Japs was a success and yielded a brace of runs. Kanld hit over second and reached first, stole the second bag and passed along to third on a passed ball. Miyake, hit by pitcher, took his base and Kanld came in on Koyama's smash to short. Miyake got home from the third station on a wild throw.

The Kelos fattened their total by the addition of two runs in their next essay at the bat. Higo got a pass and pilfered second. Sugase lammed the ball to the middle garden and reached second by virtue of an error. Sasaki scored Higo with a sizzler past second and Sugase also romped home on the play.

In the third Miyake registered his second run in the game, being passed to first, stealing second and going to third on a balk. Fukuda did the trick with a beefy hit to right field.

Chinese Begin to Score.

The Chinese opened their account in this inning. Tin made first on a nice hit to third. He passed to second on Asam's sacrifice, and Apau did the needful with a two-bagger.

The Chinese notched another in the following inning. Che Bui nearly put the ball over the fence with a mighty stroke and negotiated two posts on what, had it not been for an interfering screen, would have been a home run. Kan Yen sent Che Bui to third with a hit to center and L. Tin's timely hit to right field gave Che Bui the credit of a well-earned run.

In the fifth the visitors tallied a single, Koyama coming in on Fukuda's two-bagger.

The Finish.

The only other scoring was in the second of the seventh. L. Tin connected with an innocent one, which was good for a couple of sacks. Asam brought Tin home with a hit to right, and after having cleverly stolen third was nipped at the winning post while trying to pass under the wire on a hit of Apau.

Score by Innings and Summary:

Runs	2	2	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	6
Base hits	1	2	0	1	0	0	1	5

Runs	0	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	3
Base hits	0	0	3	3	0	2	0	8

Two-base hits, Fukuda, Che Bui, L. Tin, Apau; sacrifice hits, Sasaki, Asam; left on bases, Keo 4, All-Chinese 3; first base on errors, Kelo 1, All-Chinese 0; double play, Ayau-Asam; hit by pitcher, Miyake; struck out, by Apau 7, by Sugase 2; bases on called balls, off Apau 4, off Sugase 0; passed ball, Che Bui 1; balk, Apau 1; umpires, Bower, Mayne; scorer, W. T. Raposo; time of game, 1 hour, 48 minutes.

THE REFEREE

They tell me that the only thoroughbred remaining at the Emeryville track is the peerless mare Bubbling Water, by Colonel Wheeler—Shasta Water. Of the thousands of thoroughbreds who formerly held forth and sported silk on that famous track she alone remains. Stalls by the score are empty and deserted and the crack mare has the entire track and racing plant to herself. With the advent of the racing laws, the horsemen with their thoroughbreds scattered far and wide throughout the country.

Molera and Joseph, who own Bubbling Water, have been flooded with requests from various racing associations throughout the country to bring the good mare out of retirement, as she is a big attraction. They preferred, however, to let her rest up in the quietness at the bay track and plan to ship her to Europe this fall to try for honor and glory across the pond.

Bubbling Water is a great favorite with the ladies, indeed there has been none greater since the days of the gallant black mare Imp. When she starts they never fail to have a little wager down on her. Dr. Derby and I stood in the stand at Emeryville at the beginning of last December and watched the mare beat Arrassee, Chester Crum, Eddie Graney and others with consummate ease and at that established a new world's record for a mile and seventy yards. Eddie Graney was carrying only 80 pounds and the mare packed something over 122 pounds. She moved like a machine, with a swinging, effortless stride which seemed to fairly eat up the ground, and won her race hand-riden. After the race her owners refused $20,000 for her.

Bombardier Wells who is today the best heavyweight in England and who is regarded by many as Jack Johnson's most formidable opponent, is a boxer pure and simple with wonderful footwork and a dazzling left. He does not like the game, however, and is in it because he figures that he can make more money at it than in any other line of work which he is capable of turning his hand to. He is quite a youngster and possesses a reach but little inferior to that of the black champion. Tall and lathy it is evident that he needs development and building up before he can be termed a rugged fighter. After losing to Gunner Mohr he placed himself in the hands of a physical instructor who paid particular attention to the strengthening of his abdominal muscles. A striking improvement in this respect was manifested in his next fight, a twenty-round go with "Porky" Flynn over whom he got the decision after the bout had gone the limit. Wells will be a different man in another couple of years and it may well be that in him England will have her first heavyweight champion in years who has been worthy of the title.

An amateur boxing tournament should prove a drawing card in Honolulu and it is a wonder that such has not suggested itself to local promoters. There is a wealth of amateur fistic talent in the various branches of the service stationed in Honolulu and there would doubtless be a number of aspirants for ring honors among the civilians of the city. The expense of such a tournament would be small for there would be no passages to pay to and from the Coast, no substantial guarantees to furnish and no purses to hang up. Medals for the winners and Gladys. The course is round the island of Oahu.

Jimmie Fitzgerald, the speedy long-distance man, is still trying to arrange a race over the full Marathon course with Anton Kaoo. There is some hitch in coming to terms, however. Meanwhile the veteran is keeping himself in shape and building himself up for what promises to be the hardest race of his career.

Mellvain, the colored boxer, whose go with Dick Sullivan at the old Zoo is still talked about, may be matched to fight Roy Kenny in Hongkong. There is little doubt that had Mellvain taken up the boxing game seriously when young he would have made a great name for himself, as he possesses most of the things which go to make a successful pugilist.

and runners-up in each class would be all that would be needed. The public would flock to such contests for every boy who donned a glove would be a trier and there would be no frame-ups or "fixing." If a man quit it would be because he couldn't stand the gaff. Who knows that there may be latent boxing talent in the Territory today which, if brought out may in time become a champion. Such a man hesitates to make his debut in the ring on a professional basis but would be willing to don the gloves in an amateur tournament.

SPORTDRIFT

Sugase, the Kelo's pitcher, is half German, having a German father and a Japanese mother.

A Family Medicine Without Alcohol

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic and alterative, free from alcohol. What is a "tonic"? A medicine that imparts strength or tone; a medicine that builds up, gives vigor and power. What is an "alterative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Ayer's Sarsaparilla does all this without stimulation. Ask your doctor if a family medicine, like Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is not vastly better without alcohol than with it.

Campbell Parker estate, a one-third interest in the property held by Mrs. Kate W. Cooper, widow, and Mrs. Kate H. Cooper, is transferred to T. S. Douglas, and by another document immediately restored, subject to said mortgage.
The property in question consists of but 851 square feet, and is now owned by Douglas, who holds a two-thirds undivided interest, and the Mesdames Cooper, who own the remaining one-third.

THE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

At its second meeting held yesterday afternoon, the Board of Harbor Commissioners considered the matter of dredging a new slip and building a large wharf at the foot of Kilanea street—the first street east of the Alakea street wharf. The plans which have been considered by the Public Works Department are to place this new wharf at the disposal of the Matson Navigation Company, in place of the Hackfeld and Brewer wharves now used by that company's steamers. It is also planned to sell the material excavated from the slip for filling in large areas of low lands in Kakaako and Kewalo districts. The completion of this proposed work will require probably several years.

For the purpose of getting together in the matter of harbor requirements, the Board decided to call a meeting for July 26th with the various steamship and railroad interests. This meeting is expected to bring out much interesting and valuable information. The Commission will also visit every landing in the Territory as soon as practicable, and will hold a public meeting at Hilo for the purpose of learning and considering the wishes of the Hilo business men in the matter of wharves in the rainy city harbor.

The Hackfeld wharf will be repaired at once, and the new Richards street wharf will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

GALBRAITH TAX CASE SUBMISSION

Tomorrow morning has been set for hearing the Galbraith estate income tax controversy in the Supreme Court. It is upon an agreed statement of facts between Assessor Charles T. Wilder and Hawaiian Trust Co., Ltd., trustee. Last year the gross income of the estate was $19,816. From the court it is desired to know if the trustee is required to be taxed on the net income in excess of management expenses; if the trustee, in addition to the expenses of management, may deduct (a) the amount paid to annuitants, (b) one or more exemptions of $1500; or, is the surplus income over expenses and annuities exempt so that the trustee need pay no income tax thereon, and is the tax assessable against the annuitants individually or against the trustee.

WHY THE WITNESS DID NOT GRADUATE.

Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction T. H. Gibson has made a strong denial that there was anything irregular in the refusal of Principal McCloskey, of the Hilo High School, to permit Miss Machiyo Arakawa to be graduated from the school on account of testimony which she gave in connection with the Richmond-Compton scandal last spring. It seems the girl has complained that she was entitled to graduate, but according to the records for the past four years, she has but eleven and a half credits, when fifteen are the minimum required. The girl bases her claim on a letter given her by former Principal Richmond to Principal Wood, of the Normal School, in which he stated that she had twelve and a half credits and would be graduated at the end of the term.

Superintendent Gibson states that Richmond either exaggerated in the matter or was mistaken as to the facts. He does not believe that there has been any alteration of the records.

DEATH OF W. FORD THOMAS

Wesley Ford Thomas, one of the old residents of Sierra county, died at his home at 515 Shrader street, San Francisco, on Saturday evening, June 17.

Mr. Thomas came to Sierra county along about 1850. He returned to his home in Pennsylvania in 1857, married Miss Sarah McCrory (a sister of Mrs. Alembly Jump) and came back to Downsville some three years later. He was elected county clerk of Sierra county in 1864, and served two terms in that office, but went to San Francisco with his family to reside permanently early in the 70's. For many years Mr. Thomas was one of the most prominent custom house attorneys on the Coast, he having made that branch of law a special study, and at the time of his death was customs attorney for J. D.

Spreckels & Co., the Oceanic Steamship Company and the Western Sugar Refinery Company. He also served as deputy collector of customs at San Francisco under John F. Miller for several years in the early 80's.

Mr. Thomas was born in Pennsylvania in 1831, and at the time of his death was nearly eighty years of age. He had suffered for many years with arterial sclerosis (hardening of the arteries), and this disease is what carried him away. An aged widow who is only six days his junior, one son, Harry B. Thomas; a widowed daughter, Mrs. Lida M. Sheets; Miss Kate Thomas and a granddaughter, Dorothy Thomas, are the immediate surviving relatives.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday, June 26, and was largely attended by many friends from Sierra county.

SAFETIES DON'T MAKE HIT IN CHINA

By J. A. BRECKONS, (Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WASHINGTON, June 24.—The many clever street car ads which depict the enormous popularity and sale of the useful and ever popular safety razor would fall decidedly flat in China, for, according to the report of Consul General Amos P. Wilder of Shanghai, the demand for such articles is very small and limited almost entirely to Americans and Europeans, who number about 12,000 in this port.

Mr. Wilder further states that although safety razors have been on the market of China for at least ten years, their sale today still continues small. The reason for this is explained by the Consul General by the fact that the native Chinese has always some one to shave him, and a razor for him to use himself does not appeal strongly. Well-to-do Chinese gentlemen have their own servants perform this operation, others employ itinerant barbers who come to the house, while the great mass of natives frequent the barber shops, where for 3½ cents the head will be shaved in prevailing fashion, the queue combed, plaited, and glossed, wax removed from ears, and a light massage administered to neck and shoulders.

Shaving the head must be performed by another, and being thus driven by necessity to the razor in the hands of another, the chances are that the beard will also be attended to, as the hirsute growth of the native is extremely meager and the shaving of the face is a secondary and unimportant operation. Even were the safety razors feasible for self manipulation on the head, the chances are, declares

Mr. Wilder, that the native would still cling to the cheap luxury of having some one do the work for him.

"Importers are lukewarm on the subject of taking an agency for safety razors, as many are of the opinion that these articles could not, for many at any rate, be handled to advantage. Moreover, most of the responsible retailers are showing one of two popular makes, and unless other firms have a very attractive proposition to put forward," says Mr. Wilder, "I am not sanguine of much success."

"One manufacturer set up an attractive establishment in Shanghai and in less than a year was closed up and an agency arrangement made with a local concern to dispose of the remaining stock. This stock, I am told moves slowly, the principal demand being for new blades. In making shipments of fine cutlery to this market it is absolutely necessary to pack in some way to guard against rust. The climate is damp and many a good safety blade is spoiled by rust along the cutting edges."

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL

Paragraphs That Give Condensed News of the Day.

An advertiser wants a set of books to keep at night or during odd times. A good book binder, who understands ruling machine, is wanted at once at the Star office.

Governor Frear expects an official call from the newly-arrived Chinese consul tomorrow morning.

Joe Keola and George Campbell were lifting a heavy piece of iron at Catton, Neill & Co.'s foundry early this morning when the iron slipped and fell on Keola's right foot, inflicting a deep cut. The injured man was removed to Queen's Hospital.

Judge Robinson has signed a decree of adoption, whereby parental relations are conferred on Hiram and Ana Kaehu with regard to the infant daughter of Rose Rowan.

Boy Scouts: Suit's tree. Boys call at the store and ask the man, everything free for Green Stamps, Fort and Beretania streets.

Tonight at the Salvation Army hall, corner King and Nuuanu streets, the services will be conducted entirely by two business men. J. C. Day is captain and J. Martin, lieutenant for the evening. Musical talent is also to be supplied. A good time is anticipated.

A meeting of the Hawaiian Philatelic Association will be held this evening at the home of its president, William Woiters, on Spencer street, at which members will be elected, committee reports considered and some very rare stamps shown. An interesting paper upon oldtime Hawaiian stamps will be read by Charles Husted, who has a magnificent collection of those rarities.

The next mail to San Francisco will be carried from here on Saturday by the Honolulu. The Manchuria, it was expected, would have been leaving on that day, but will not arrive here until the following day. There will therefore, be two mails in two days. The Honolulu is a seven day boat, so she will not be due at San Francisco until the 22nd, as the Manchuria is a six day boat she should arrive there at about the same hour. Residents will thus have an opportunity of sending two mails in two days, and by the Manchuria leaving a day late they will be given this extension without any loss of time at the other end.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDER

Two of the employes of the City Mill got into an argument at the lumber yard this morning and Kunita, a Japanese, hit Pua, a Hawaiian man, over the head with a 2x4 board five feet long.

Thinking, when he saw his victim fall senseless, that he had killed him, the Japanese fled and he has not yet been arrested.

Dr. Moore, on the way to attend a patient, met Pua, covered with blood, coming down the street, and drove him to the police station, from whence he was removed to Queen's Hospital. Pua's skull was not fractured, but he sustained a nasty scalp wound.

The police sought for information as to the affair at the lumber yard, but the Japanese employed there shut up like clams on being interrogated, and all that could be got out of them was "do savvy."

LAUNCH PARTY

(Continued from page one.) over the dark expanse of water but nothing was seen. The boatmen were compelled to give up the search, but determined to make an early start in the morning if the boat had not returned. Kukui to the Rescue. The launch did not return, and this morning steam was got up in the Kukui. By seven o'clock the Kukui was steaming out on her mission within twenty minutes of getting an order to leave the wharf. The crew of the Kukui figured that the launch would drift along to the south, as that was the set of the current. She steered in a southerly direction, and about ten miles due south, immediately facing the channel, the launch was picked up, with the occupants none the worse for their night in the open. They were perfectly happy, but hungry. One lady member of the party as she stepped on the Kukui murmured a fervent "Thank God," and soon they were all seated at a hot breakfast, which quickly made them light of their adventure. Sweeney's Story. Quartermaster Sweeney, when awakened from his sleep on the Kukui this morning, bestowed high praise on the way in which all had acted on board. He said that there was never any danger at all, and all seemed to realize that they would be picked up sooner or later. "The torch that we rigged up," he said, "must have been seen at Diamond Head, but I guess the keeper was in bed by that time. We saw two sampans and we signaled to them by waving the torch, but they didn't stop. I suppose they thought we were fishing boats, as there are a lot of them out there fishing, but they didn't stop to inquire. "We saw the transport Sherman this morning, but we did not signal her. Had we done so, I know she would have sent out help to us. Everybody was happy enough, and there was never any scare at all. I think I'll have the rest of my sleep now. Those girls were about the finest and gamest girls I've ever been out with." Captain Kariger's View. Captain Kariger came on the tender as the Star representative was leaving. He said that the launch party were lucky that they had no wind at all, or else the position would have become serious. "The breeze that is springing up now," said the skipper, "would have proved bad." Among those in the party were the Misses Risher, Sutherland and Warner. The young ladies whose names have been mentioned were resting this afternoon, making up for the sleep they had lost during the previous night. The male members of the party were M. G. Johnson, C. Franz, Cross, Harris and Hardesty.

COCOANUT TREE

(Continued From Page 4.) committed in his district calls to mind the case of Naone, deputy sheriff of Koolauloa, who failed to report the death of Lakana who fell under the wheels of a handcar near Hauula after a drunken debauch in which the police officer is alleged to have participated. What's become of that investigation about which such a hue and cry was raised a short time ago? Hens on a farm near Columbus, Ind., are laying purple eggs, due to a continuous diet of mulberries, bushes of which were blown from the trees. Now we come to think of it, eggs laid in the red dirt belt out Kaimuki way have for some time past been acquiring a strangely ruddy tinge. "This isn't an owtel," remarked the proprietor of the hostelry to a would-be guest with strongly developed, long-distance payment ideas. "Then I will pay as I go," replied the man with the collar-box and a brown-paper parcel. "Wrong again," exclaimed the landlord, "you will pay as you come." And the bed and the supper were the first day! Charlie Lambert denies the assertion in the morning paper that he is a bony face. We don't blame him a bit; this thing of newspapers getting fresh with people's physical characteristics has got to be stopped! Editor: "Who is that individual who was in the office just now making so much noise with his mouth?" Reporter: "Kid Sluggem, the prize fighter." Editor: "So; I thought he was an auctioneer."

WOULD HAVE CAUSED ROW

There were great doings on the sidewalk diamond on King street yesterday at the noon hour and for a time it looked favorable for interesting developments. Everyone was on the spot giving his views and getting acquainted with the views of others on the momentous point at issue—everyone from Barney Joy to Billy the Bat Boy. What was the rumpus all about? Let's see. It appears that for the Keio series of games members of the Oahu League are admitted free. Two or three of the long-headed Chinamen got together and concocted as cute a little hold-up scheme as has been heard of in Honolulu sporting circles for a long time. These astute financiers figured it out that the Chinese games with the Keios constituted a separate and distinct series and that by holding up the Oahu League members for payment at the gate they would be tearing off a piece of extra profit. The nefarious scheme got noised about, and in process of time came to the ears of President Chillingworth of the Oahu Baseball League. To put it mildly, the news upset him. He ranted, roared and, figuratively speaking, foamed at the place where the pol disappears. If such a thing came to pass he would withdraw the Oahu League from co-operation with the Keio series and by so doing bug the thing up. He had a nice injunction handy and would use it if the worst came to the worst. The boys themselves planned everything from creating a riot outside the box office at the athletic park to stringing up the members of the Chinese nine in a row. Just when everyone was chattering at once and a policeman had been sent for to move the crowd on, an emissary of the athletic park people hove in sight and declared that the attempted hold-up had fizzled out like Willie Crawford's imported fireworks and that Oahu League members would be admitted to the ground on presentation of their faces at the gate.

INCIDENTS OF THE MAIDEN VOYAGE ACROSS THE ATLANTIC OF LARGEST STEAMER AFLOAT

NEW YORK, June 21.—The White Star steamship Olympic, with her 882½ feet of fresh painted black sides, slid into port today and gave New York its first glimpse of the largest ship afloat.

She left Quarantine at 8 o'clock and was tied up at pier 59 on the minute of 10. Eighteen tugboats were used in warping the ship into her berth and this operation was done with remarkable quickness, considering the size of the vessel.

The Olympic completed her maiden voyage over the long course, a distance of 2,894 miles, in 5 days 16 hours and 42 minutes. Her average speed was 21½ knots an hour and her longest day's run, 548 nautical miles.

All the way up from Quarantine there was a continuous series of salutes for the new floating hotel, and no matter how small or how smoky the craft was which saluted her, the three whistles were returned by the Olympic. Soon after the ship passed the Cunard piers, the Lusitania, sailing a little after 9 o'clock, pushed out into the river. She was just astern of the Olympic and there was a good chance to compare the size of the two ships. Those on the boat deck of the Olympic could look down on the swarming deck of the Lusitania and the greater size of the Olympic was very apparent.

It was a millpond passage and there was hardly a move out of the ship to suggest seasickness to the passengers. Light winds and seas were the rule, and the 489 first cabin passengers, 263 second and 564 third class on board spent most of the time on deck. The second-class passengers, in fact, were compelled for amusement to ride up and down on their elevator and to institute boxing matches, in which even the women passengers tried a hand.

The great liner, in command of Captain E. J. Smith, R. N. R., sailed from Southampton on last Wednesday at noon and from Queenstown the next day at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after touching at Cherbourg. Soon after leaving Southampton she passed through a great fleet of British warships anchored off Spithead, awaiting the coronation review. The British sailors in the fleet lined the rails, and gave the big liner a lusty sendoff. There were about seventy-five men of war in the anchored squadron. The Olympic encountered no fog until Monday night, when off the Banks, when she was slowed down from 7 until 11 o'clock.

There was a dance on deck that night, but it did not begin until the fog blew away, as the orchestra could not compete successfully with the fog horn. Today the liner passed Fire Island shortly after midnight, and at 2:25 o'clock this morning she was off the lightship. The pilot had been taken aboard east of the lightship, and as the night was a beautiful, clear one it was decided to come up to Quarantine. Gingly the great ship crept up the Ambrose Channel with Pilot Julius Adler in charge, and anchored in Quarantine at 4:30 o'clock.

With a forty-mile gale blowing as the sun climbed over the trees down opposite Bay Ridge, the ponderous new ship swung to her anchors with a fleet of other liners in the neighborhood, but all looking very small in comparison. There were an Austrian liner, an Italian, two Hamburg-American ships from the West Indies and a Royal Mail liner, the Magdalena, which had the honor of being in Quarantine at the same time as the Olympic. With the westerly wind whistling and the Narrows a river of blue, it was a fine marine spectacle.

The mail boats and the health officer's boat seemed like flies against her side. The men from the government cutters went on board through a port in the port side, forward. In going up to the ship, it appeared that she was no higher than the Rotterdam and that her bow was sharper than is generally the rule with White Star boats. Also noticeable was the absence of the big ventilator hoods usually seen on the superstructure of a liner.

Two men appeared walking around inside the rim of the last of the four funnels, and that called attention to the fact that a new ventilating system is used in the ship and that part

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN EASTERN AND LOCAL TREATMENT OF KELOS

The Friend: There were several of us who wanted to have the young men, fresh from their tour on the mainland, treated as students of an American college would be treated, — say, even a little better, for international friendship sake. We figured that they would have received many courtesies at the hands of American students, and we did not want an anti-climax here. The interest in Keio and its baseball team began way back. In Tokyo their representatives came to the hotel to see the writer, to enquire about their prospects in Honolulu. He warned them that there was more money in the professional Sunday kind of ball they were playing at the Athletic Park (which back East we used to call "mucker" ball), but said that if the schools and colleges in Hawaii took the matter up, there would be good ball, not so much money (though all the net returns would be theirs), but that they would be treated like gentlemen. No denial could be made to his statement, that no respectable team from any college east of the Rockies would play them on Sunday. As a result of this talk, they were reported in the next issue of the Japan Times as determined to play no Sunday ball on their American tour. Of course, this had nothing to do with religious considerations.

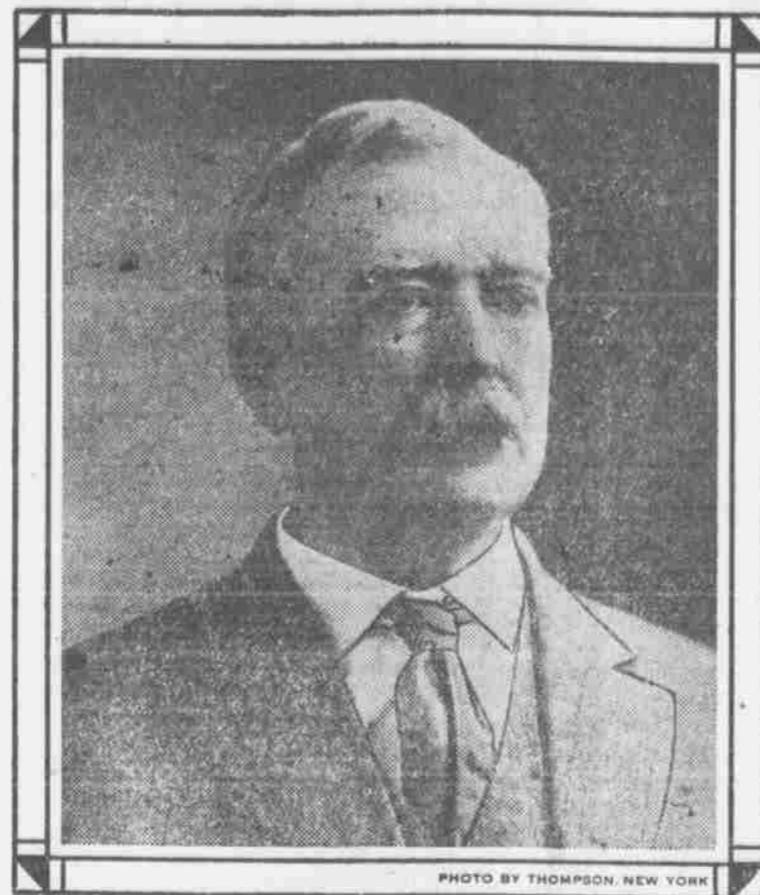

When a letter came to Mr. Richards from Mr. Jones, the manager in Japan, asking what could be done in the interests of Keio which would put them on the social plane where they belonged, some gentlemen representing Oahu College and Kamehameha and the Mid-Pacific Institute were called together. They cordially assented to the plan of making the Keios the guests of those institutions, arranging games for them and giving them all the net receipts. Manager Ballentyne kindly offered the use of the old baseball grounds, and all that remained was to get teams. Then we discovered that we could not get enough teams of an amateur kind that would warrant first-rate games to insure good attendance and consequently good returns to the Keios.

The reasons for this state of affairs are somewhat complicated, and perhaps do not belong in an article written only to show what we would have liked to do for the Keio boys. This much may fairly be said: Many of the so-called student teams here are dangerously near professionalism. As to how much Sunday ball has had to do with this, we have our own opinion. The players individually may claim that the money that is paid their team does not come to them, but they appear to be bound by signed agreements with their managers, which links them to Sunday and Athletic Park.

It should be said, however, that President Chillingworth of the League was most courteous in his willingness to have this question resubmitted, but it was found that local Japanese gentlemen had cabled authority for going ahead on the basis of a former agreement. So any change of plans was given up.

It is a queer and regrettable thing that no student tennis can be found here to play Keio on student terms, and that their rules made for American should have to be reversed for Hawaii.

EMMETT O'NEAL, Governor of Alabama.

ARMY AND NAVY

The United States has devised a system of military targets by means of wiring which has resulted in such accurate hits as to have scored a percentage of one hundred.

The military by which these moving targets have been tried believe that no foreign system is superior to the one this country has adopted.

The guns can be trained on these targets at sea or by land at a distance of four hundred miles. Firing can be operated by a system of wiring the guns.

Target practice worked on this principle, which was at first in the nature of an experimental trial, has proved satisfactory beyond great expectations.

When the coast artillery are practicing with their large guns at sea, used to arrange the targets far out at sea.

The strong searchlights now used by Uncle Sam's service are practically all twenty-four-inch mirror and gears. The smaller diameter lights have been put aside for the larger ones that are now used with great success. For it has been demonstrated that the size is fully adequate to cover any object to be picked up at sea, or that is wanted to be covered by the strong rays brought into the limelight for investigation, as it were.

Rays from these searchlight towers probably reach a distance of nine miles. But it has been found to be of no immediate benefit to the gunner to see a ship or an object at such a distance more than just to distinguish its nature. For should the figure thus brought within the stream of light prove to be a ship, on account of the geographical formation of the earth the mizzen's top only could be brought within shooting range at a great distance.

Nearer the ship to the station of the searchlight more advantageous would be a shot designed or sent on a message of destruction and death, maybe. Hence except for warning as to approaching dangers, a searchlight that is a close neighbor to a gun need not be strong enough to locate objects at more than three or four miles distance.

This fine target record, however, as worked out by this military system, is practically perfect. The searchlights serve as beacons by night.

Less Army Posts.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The War Department is preparing to reduce the number of army posts in the United States by one-half, according to Maj. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, who was a witness today before the House committee on expenditures in the War Department. This is in line with the policy of concentration of the armed land forces of the United States, which has been worked out by the Army War College and eventually, Gen. Wood said, will result in economy. But, owing to what he called the "ill-advised" location of army posts in past years and the continuing expenditure of money on them, it appeared to the committee as if, initially, the government will have to abandon millions of dollars' worth of property if the general staff plan is carried out.

Commenting on the recent activity of United States troops along the Mexican frontier, Gen. Wood said that the proposition, as a mobilization of a skeleton force, was a success, but as a mobilization of a war-strength division was a failure. There had been, he said, no adequate preparation for reserve war supplies.

THE ALEXANDER HUNTING PARTY

Miss Annie M. Alexander, niece of Professor W. D. Alexander, who has probably shot more big game than any other American woman and who was with her father at the falls of Victoria Nyanza, when he received fatal injuries from a falling rock, is the woman referred to in the following account of a Berkeley University wilderness expedition:

BERKELEY, July 2.—Results of a scientific expedition sent by the University of California to northern Humboldt county, Nevada, and collections made in the Pine Forest mountains, in Virginia valley, were made public here yesterday by Walter S. Taylor, curator of mammals in the California Museum of Vertebrate Zoology, when announcement was made of the discovery of three entirely new species of animals of which scientists had no previous knowledge.

In reporting on the findings of the expedition Taylor stated that a peculiar factor in the trip followed the failure to discover many species of the big game supposed to exist in the mountains, despite the wildness of the country and the sparse population. The only big game species discovered were the mule deer, the prong-horned antelope, the coyote and the wildcat.

The exploring party was composed of Miss Annie M. Alexander, furnishing the expedition; Taylor, Miss Louise Kellogg and Charles H. Richardson.

Three new species of animals were found and collections made of thirty-four known types of small animals. The new species discovered by the scientists are known as the Nevada golden-mantled ground squirrel, the Nevada wood rat and the intermediate short-tailed meadow mouse.

The new variety of squirrel, according to Taylor, are found making their homes in niches in granite boulders and are very shy. The Nevada wood rat ranges in the Great basin region of Nevada, making its home in the sage brush. The new variety of mouse was discovered at the head of Big creek at an elevation of 8,000 feet.

SOME RESULTS OF INTERNATIONAL PLAGUE CONFERENCE; RATS NOT INFECTED DURING THE EPIDEMIC

(Correspondence Chicago News.) PEKIN, China, May 20.—The international plague conference concluded, the delegates went on to Pekin to pass four days in a round of sightseeing and entertainment as the guests of the Chinese government.

The interim report presented to the Chinese government, consisting of a summary of the evidence prepared by the editorial committee and a series of resolutions upon various subjects drafted by subcommittees and submitted to the conference in plenary sessions for approval, is not to be made public until the complete record of the conference is published. In the meantime, however, it may not be inopportune to summarize briefly the evidence laid before the conference.

There are strong grounds for believing that the popular theory according to which the inception of the epidemic was due to infected tarabagans is correct. The American delegates have shown not only that this animal is extremely susceptible to plague, but that it suffers from a form of subacute or chronic plague, which may give a clew to the cause of the disease being epidemic in North Manchuria and Mongolia.

Rats Free From Plague.

Only one case has been reported in which a rat was found to be plague-infected during the Manchurian epidemic, though upward of 30,000 rodents were examined by the Chinese and Japanese authorities. One dog is reported to have died of plague in Dairen, and there are circumstantial accounts of infection among mules, which are believed, in some instances, to have carried plague into previously uninfected villages. Though climate and other natural influences may have contributed directly or indirectly to the decline of the epidemic, the chief factor in its eradication appears to have been the drastic preventive measures taken by the Russian, Japanese and Chinese authorities.

It has been conclusively demonstrated that there was no decrease in the virulence of the bacillus during the latter stages of the epidemic, and evidence has been adduced to show that even in small villages and hamlets the devastation wrought by pneumonic plague frightened the inhabitants into taking crude but nevertheless effectual precautions.

Spread of Infection. The only definite evidence produced in regard to the spread of infection supported the theory that the disease was introduced in every center by the arrival of persons actually suffering from plague or incubating the disease. There has been no reliable evidence to show that pneumonic plague can be carried by clothing or merchandise or by vermin. A series of interesting experiments performed by the Japanese and American delegates may be taken to prove conclusively that the breath of the sufferer is not infective apart from particles of sputum expelled by coughing, or possibly by forcible speaking. The sputum is infective so long as it remains moist or frozen, and it has been suggested that dust can only carry infection by acting as the medium for small particles of moist or frozen sputum. Houses need not be regarded as infective apart from the presence of infected sputum.

The incubative period of pneumonic plague appears to vary from about two days to seven days, but is usually three to five days. No types of plague have been encountered but primary pneumonic, or pneumonic and septicaemic combined. By some experts the pulse is regarded as the earliest diagnostic sign, by others, including Professor Zabolotny, the temperature is relied upon. The absence of marked physical signs in the chest during the early stages renders diagnosis difficult.

Nearly All Die.

Prognosis is unfavorable, less than five recoveries having been recorded. In regard to the value of prophylactic inoculations with vaccines there has been considerable difference of opinion, but it seems to be generally conceded that the value of plague vaccines and sera during a pneumonic epidemic is doubtful.

The foremost delegates at the conference have been Dr. Strong of America, Prof. Zabolotny of Russia and Prof. Shibayama and Fujinami of Japan.

THE TARIFF TO BE THE ISSUE AGAIN IN NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, June 25.—As a Republican policy the protective tariff faces a most dangerous trial in the present revision of schedule by schedule.

The situation has been forced upon the dominant party by the House Democrats.

This, with the demand of the progressive Republicans that the tariff be reduced to meet the difference in cost of labor and material at home and abroad, has brought the question before the people as an issue in the coming campaign more forcibly than in many years.

It is the opinion of Democratic leaders that high tariff laws have been passed simply because the whole subject was considered at one time and that one section dealt with another in protecting local interests. The precedent which has existed in all previous tariff discussions has been to take up the industry of the entire country. This was broken by the Democrats, who conceived the idea that there should be no combinations made which would keep together the tariff law.

For the first time since tariff laws have been enacted the Democrats, in the opinion of their leaders, have struck at the weak point of the tariff law-making system, schedule revision, an extent to furnish necessary revenue. The result, they say, is that each schedule is considered scientifically and economically, with regard to the revenues, and without log-rolling with respect to sections of the country to protect a local industry.

With the Democrats continued in power in the House next session, this plan will be carried out. Their leaders say a tariff bill will be evolved which will not deal with the country relatively, but on the basis of what products and industry will produce sufficient revenue. Such a revision, the Republicans say, will effect a reduction of the Payne-Aldrich bill in some cases from 50 to 100 per cent and wipe out the actual principle of protection.

It cannot be prevented except by the union of insurgents and Republican stalwarts in the Senate. President Taft and the Democratic regular leaders are now offering concessions to the insurgents which may effect harmony.

"The Democrats devised the schedule revision as the only honest way to consider tariff," said Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, a member of the ways and means committee. "It is the only right way to take up the tariff. For instance, the Pennsylvania members have always helped protect lumber and wool, in order to get a high tariff continued on iron and steel and manufactured articles. In the consideration of the tariff schedules by the ways and means committee this session we have found out just how much revenue a certain article would bring into the country and then reduced the tariff to law-making system, schedule revision, an extent to furnish necessary revenue."

"We will continue in the next session as we have started."

"I think by proceeding on this line the Democrats will devise the best tariff law ever reported and one which the Republicans, because of the demands of the country, will be forced to pass in the Senate."

of the ventilation is through this fourth funnel.

Watched for Her.
Half New York and all of neighboring New Jersey on the way to work this morning sighted the new steamship as she slowly entered port on her maiden voyage out from England. Richmond Borough dwellers saw her first, in the early morning light at sunrise. The North River ferry crowds along about the rush hour later in the morning were still watching her progress to her specially lengthened pier of the White Star line, of West Nineteenth street.

The new "biggest liner" left Quarantine at 7:45 o'clock and then edged in up the bay for the last miles of her maiden trip. As she lay off Port Wadsworth, Rosebank, Clifton and Stapleton folks on the Battery thought she was Staten Island. They were mistaken, however, as some parts of the Borough of Richmond could be seen beyond either end of the cell-like liner. The big bay looked distinctly smaller, as the nearly 900-footer moved gingerly toward her dock at pier 59.

Ten Tugs Helped.
Ten tugs helped her in. As she got alongside river boats, piers and other scales of comparison her real magnitude began to be apparent. The harmony of her lines concealed her record-breaking qualities when she lay out in the bay. She truly asserted herself when her eleven-decked height moved by the piers. The Olympic sails back on June 28 to complete her first round trip.

Captain E. J. Smith made no effort to crowd her engines on this first voyage, but the White Star people were happy, as they say this is a record for their ships and means that the Olympic will be depended on as a "six-day liner."

Over the short northerly route, she may dock after this on Tuesdays. She is not intended to beat the Mauretania's 68,000 horsepower turbines with her 30,000 horsepower reciprocating engines and 16,000 horsepower turbines.

Easy as a Catboat.
Pilot Julius Adler, who took charge of the Olympic on her first arrival here, said: "She handles like a catboat." As to her steadiness, the passengers reported having slept as soundly as they are used to sleeping in their own homes ashore, only more breeze and ventilation. The weather for the voyage was generally fine, although a little fog was met toward the end. South and west winds, strong to light, were reported most of the way across.

When preparing for the great ship to be berthed today the owners found that a huge fleet of tugs would be necessary to warp her in.
So many requests have been received to visit the ship, in fact, that the company announced today that it has set apart the coming Friday and Saturday as public inspection days. Incidentally an admission fee will be charged, the proceeds to be given to the Seamen's Fund.

Striking Ship Statistics.
Figures speak most concisely and eloquently of the supremacy of the Olympic. The following table records a remarkable advance in the dimensions of the latest and greatest conquerer of Neptune:
Tonnage, registered 45,000
Tonnage, displacement 66,000
Length over all 882 ft. 6 in.
Breadth over all 92 ft. 6 in.
Breadth over boat deck 94 ft. 0 in.
Height from bottom of keel to boat deck 97 ft. 4 in.
Height from bottom of keel to top of captain's house, 105 ft. 7 in.
Height of funnels above casing 72 ft. 0 in.
Height of funnels above boat deck 81 ft. 6 in.
Distance from top of funnel to keel 175 ft. 0 in.
Number of steel decks 11
Number of watertight bulkheads 15
Passengers carried 2,500
Crew 860

The gigantic size of the vessel is best appreciated when it is recalled that in length she overtops by 182½ feet the height of the Metropolitan Tower in New York—the highest office building in the world, and 132½ feet beyond the height of the new Woolworth building now under construction. She is four times as long as the height of the famous Bunker Hill monument, and 327 feet longer than the height of the Washington Monument.

Bilge or fin-keels prevent the boat from rolling, and the machinery is the unique combination of reciprocating engines operating the two "wing" propellers and a low-pressure turbine operating the centre propeller. This ingenious combination eliminates all vibration, with its accompanying discomforts, and assures that most important of all qualities, absolute steadiness at sea.
The Olympic has eleven steel decks on the topmost of which is a commodious promenade reserved for deck sports, on which may be played a number of outdoor games, including deck golf, for which there is provided an eighteen-hole course.

Here also is located a roomy gymnasium completely equipped. There is also provided a photographic dark room which is furnished with fittings of the latest pattern, all available without charge.

The Palm Court and Verandah Cafe are also situated aft on this deck. A striking feature of the promenade deck B is the sun parlor, where at times concerts are given by the ship's professional string orchestra, and evening dances are held with every degree of comfort.

The saloon deck D, just below the upper deck C, has as its most prominent feature the grand dining saloon, seating 550 passengers and extending the full width of the ship, 92½ feet.

Among many other special attractions for passengers in the first-class are the Turkish and electric bath establishment, completely equipped with a hot room, temperate room, cooling room, shampoo rooms and massage rooms, but more notably the adjoining large salt-water swimming pool. The remarkable dimensions of the Olympic have also made it possible to introduce for the pleasure of passengers a full-sized tennis and handball court, thirty feet long, extending through two decks, where these healthful exercises may be indulged in.

In second class the preparations for the comfort of passengers are thorough. On the promenade and bridge decks are situated the library and smoke room, and on the saloon deck a great dining hall, seating 400.

In third class every attention is paid to the needs of passengers. The rooms and berths are all comfortable and special rooms for families and two-berth rooms for married couples are provided. Large dining saloons, lounges, smoke rooms and social halls for passengers in the third class speak of the detailed care with which as ingenious a scheme of highbinding planned.

INSIST ON THE ECONOMY PLAN

By J. A. BRECKONS.

(Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—Because the advocates of a dollar-a-day pension bill insisted at the caucus June 14 that if any legislation outside of tariff bills should be included in the Democratic program for this session the consideration of the Hay omnibus military bill and two measures of great interest to the navy were laid aside for the present at least. A subsequent caucus may reverse this action, but just at present it does not appear that Democratic leaders are ready to open up the legislative program so as to let anything go through with the exception of tariff bills, most of which have been either passed or reported out.

The action of the Democratic caucus stirred up a feeling of resentment in the Senate which may force a change in the program of the House. The Senate leaders have already let the Democrats know that they do not propose to permit them to arrange the entire legislative program for the session. With considerable emphasis a number of the more influential members of the Senate have asserted that if the House pigeon-holes all of the bills sent over from the other end of the Capitol the Senate will give the same treatment to the House bills. The Senators have always conceded to the House the right to originate revenue bills but has insisted that the Senate is a co-ordinate branch of the legislative department, and as a consequence must participate in general legislation. If the House should yield to the Senate and open up its calendar to other bills than tariff legislation, it would be difficult to predict just what bills will be put through Congress at this session.

Chairman Hay addressed the caucus at some length, declaring that his omnibus military bill will result in something like a saving of six million dollars in the expenses of maintaining the army. He declared that it was in line with the general policy of economy adopted in the caucus of the Democratic members at the beginning of the session and that it would be a mistake if the party did not embrace this opportunity to carry out its promises to the people. While there was some opposition to some of the provisions of Mr. Hay's bill expressed by members of the caucus, the principal argument made against it was that if the party took up general legislation it would be impossible to make any limitation on the number of bills to be considered at this session. At this juncture the friends of the dollar-a-day pension bill came forward and insisted that it would be political suicide to pass any legislation unless a pension bill was put through. A pension bill would more than eat up the savings which Mr. Hay claims for his bill. The Democratic leaders say that a general legislative program would be disastrous to their economy scheme.

For the same reason the caucus refused to put its stamp of approval on Chairman Padgett's bill for the partial payment on the construction work for the navy and the bill (S. 2004) providing for the reduction from one year to six months in the period of suspension from promotion of officers who were found to be not professionally qualified. Mr. Padgett's declaration that these bills were urgent legislation and would result in a great reduction in the cost of maintaining the navy and did not move the caucus from its determination to shut out all legislation aside from the tariff bills. Representative Garrett of Tennessee also made an appeal without effect for the passage of the bill creating a board of health for Porto Rico. The fact that Mr. Garrett declared that thousands of lives might be saved by this legislation fell on deaf ears. The prospect of being forced to increase the expenses of the government by the passage of a large pension bill stampered the caucus.

THE THEATERS

The Honolulu Amusement Company has closed down the Park theater for two or three good reasons. One is that the rain has been continuous and has kept crowds away, while on the other hand the patronage has not been of the best from a financial standpoint, and thirdly, the company realizes that the public has learned to gravitate naturally to Hotel street, Honolulu's Great White Way, where nearly all the theaters are grouped.

The Empire was therefore opened last night, the vaudeville talent at the Park being transferred direct to the Empire, which is a favorite theater with the public. The program includes Harney and Haynes, ragtime specialists; the Tyrrels, the clever juvenile dancers, and Marjorie Lyubrooke, the soprano soloist. There is a fine line of motion pictures also.

Tonight the Bijou program will be headlined by Duke Johnson and Mae Wells, America's greatest colored artists, singers and eccentric dancers. This team of colored singers has had successful tours all over the mainland and in Europe, playing in many of the leading theaters in Budapest, Prague, Berlin, Brussels, Rotterdam, Vienna, and on many of the leading American. They made a favorable impression on the steamer.

The Reece Trio also arrived and will appear at the Bijou on Monday. They are singers and contortionists.

There will be complete changes in the programs tonight.

Tonight's changes at the Honolulu Amusement company's theaters bring all the talent back to Hotel street, with the closing of the Park and the reopening of the Empire. The management made a move in the right direction when it reopened the Empire last night, for now patrons after finishing with one theater merely have to step across the way to another theater, and the management benefits thereby.

Tonight also marks the first appearance of America's greatest colored artists—Duke Johnson and Mae Wells—singers and eccentric dancers, whose, dark songs and marvelous buck and wing dancing, are not excelled in the vaudeville world. This is perhaps the greatest colored team ever brought here. They have a reputation both on the mainland and in Europe.

They have a line of songs and eccentric dancing steps which are simply great and should pack the house. The pretty Boardman Sisters will give new songs and catchy dancing steps, while the Wirth Family will be seen for only a few more nights before they close and leave for the mainland. Their acrobatic feats are marvels.

At the Savoy Barnes and Robinson, the new team, has more than made good. Barnes in a piano act will surprise the audience tonight. This is a rare novelty. He also has a splendid singing voice. His team mate plays up well, particularly in conversation. Christian, the Danish musical comedian, continues with his peculiar line of entertainment.

At the Empire Harney and Haynes, the ragtime specialists, who have been headliners at the Park; the Tyrrels, the juvenile whirlwind dancers, and Marjorie Lyubrooke, the soprano soloist, will form a strong combination for entertainment.

New films at all theaters.

AN OPEN SECRET.

Many ask the reason for the continued and increasing demand for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The secret is that it never fails to give relief. The middle-aged men of today remember it as the remedy given them by their mothers for cramp, colic, dysentery when they were children, and its reputation as a positive cure for such ailments is still maintained. No remedy has ever been produced that is its equal for the prompt relief of pain. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

Committee is interested.

The committee, of which Representative Harvey Helm of Kentucky, is chairman, seemed much interested in Gen. Wood's comments on small and large garrisons and in the department's plan to abolish one-half of the existing army posts.

"Scattered small garrisons," said Gen. Wood, "have rendered the instruction of officers in the command of large bodies of troops practically impossible."

Small posts were undesirable for many reasons, the chief of staff said. One of the main objections was that at a small post a large percentage of the men were always busy cleaning up and doing police duty.

"This condition," he said, "is discouraging both to officers and men. At a battalion post, with sixty-five men to the company, an officer who can turn out twenty-five for drill is fortunate. So the small post is undesirable, not only from an economic standpoint, but also from the standpoint of straight military efficiency."

Gen. Wood explained that by a "small post" he meant a post of less than one regiment, and added that by far the greater part of the army was scattered around the country in this way. The War Department was considerably embarrassed in making plans for the abandonment of many of these posts, Gen. Wood said, by the fact that a great deal of money had been spent on them in recent years. He displayed hesitancy in criticizing the policy of former heads of the War Department and the military establishment that had permitted the carrying out of this policy, but finally described the process as "ill advised." Gen. Wood also spoke of local influences as an embarrassment to the department in its efforts to abolish many of the existing posts.

Maneuvers Along Border.
"Were the Texas maneuvers a success?" Chairman Helm inquired.

"Yes," the general replied, "in so far as getting the regular regiments to the front on time was concerned. There was no delay on the part of the troops, but we gave the railroads practically no advance notice, and in some cases there was a delay in getting cars to transport the men."

"Did the mobilization demonstrate the lack of 'team work' in the army organization?" Mr. Helm inquired.

"No," Gen. Wood replied, "everything went very smoothly."

Army and Navy Orders.
WASHINGTON, July 1.—Major Thomas L. Rhoades, medical corps, will proceed to Fort McHenry, Md., and accompany the One Hundred and Forty-Second Cavalry, coast artillery corps, to San Francisco.

Major Bianton Winship, Judge Advocate, is relieved from duty with the maneuver division, effective when his services can be spared, and will proceed to this city for temporary duty. Upon the completion of this duty, Major Winship will proceed to San Francisco in compliance with the general orders of July 6.

Colonel Robert N. Getty, promoted from lieutenant colonel, Seventh Infantry to Colonel on June 1, unassigned, will proceed to San Francisco on the first available transport leaving Manila, reporting by telegraph to the adjutant general of the army for further orders.

POLICE COURT

The assault and batterists all drew winning numbers in the police court lottery yesterday.

Tom Apana, Carmella Roman and George Wright, all charged with taking the law into their own hands, were discharged; the case against Andre Drughoff was stricken from the calendar and sentence on Anton Dogy was suspended for thirteen months.

Akin Yong Kwai, charged with using language more forcible than polite, was fined five dollars and costs.

In this case defendants are charged with having kidnaped Martha Kealoha, aged seventeen, and forced her into marriage with a Chinese man named Anima at Pahala.

The complainant alleges that she was taken to Pahala under false promises and inducements. She had no desire to marry Anima, but despite this, a license was taken out and the marriage took place.

Mrs. Mendolia, her sister, sent her money to return to Honolulu with, and criminal proceedings were instituted immediately after her arrival.

WASH THAT ITCH AWAY.

It is said there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you knew that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make an effort to take the trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

Best possible wash for pimples and all skin impurities.

If you have not already tried it, get a bottle today. We assure you of instant relief. Benson, Smith & Co.

DEFAULT IN FORECLOSURE.

Judge Robinson made an order of default against defendants in the foreclosure suit of J. D. Marques against Irene M. Cornwell and W. H. Cornwell, John F. Colburn and Tax Assessor C. T. Wilder.

In the open sea off Point Bonita some 8,000,000 feet of logs are menacing shipping. An enormous raft of logs broke up during a storm. Warnings have been sent out to vessels plying along the coast.

DIED.

SPARROWE—IN Santa Cruz, Cal., on July 11, 1911, Mrs. A. R. Sparrowe, mother of Mrs. G. Fred Bush, of Honolulu.

ON THIS ISLAND.

If you spend your holidays at Haleiwa you are near enough to town to run in and buy what may be needed in case of emergency. The bathing there is superior to any on the islands, for the beach is entirely free from coral. The fishing is good and boating is a pleasure beyond anything in the harbor here. The manager of Haleiwa hotel has in mind always the comfort and pleasure of his guests, and frequent dances, country rides and tennis and golf matches are the result. Haleiwa offers inducements not found elsewhere on the island and the house is well patronized all year 'round in consequence.

There're a lot of things need fixing

Says the Little Paint Man.

Things around the place will suffer from wear and tear. And after a while they get so shabby that we feel obliged to chuck 'em away and get something new in their place. But it's a mistake and if we only all had the "Brighten Up" habit we'd keep things spick and span all the time by having a pot of paint, a tin of varnish and a brush handy. Just read this and do some "Brightening Up" right away.

Paint your porch chairs in bright colors with S-W Porch and Lawn Furniture Enamel or S-W Buggy Paint. (S-W means Sherwin-Williams—the name that stands for good quality in Paints and Varnishes.)

The screen doors and window screens will look bright and new after a coat of S-W Screen Enamel. Makes them wear longer, keeps the screen from rusting.

Cupboards inside and out made fresh and sanitary with S-W Family Paint—21 attractive colors. Fine for touching up woodwork. Old, worn floors made clean and attractive with a coat of S-W Inside Floor Paint. Or a stained and varnished finish at one operation with S-W Floorlac.

Revarnish the front door with S-W Kopal. It stands the weather. Repaint the doors inside with S-W Family Paint.

No matter what you have to fix up, we have a Sherwin-Williams Finish that will do the job well.

There're a hundred other things that need touching up. Make a list of the dingy things and come to us and we'll tell you what to do.
