Editor, Hawaii Medical Journal

Annual Report to the Hawaii Medical Association

As the Journal begins its 65th year of publication, the Editorial Board, our Peer-Review Panel and the authors who have contributed their manuscripts to the Hawaii Medical Journal should all take a bow. We remain along with the New England Journal of Medicine, the only two state medical peer-reviewed journals.

We owe much to the late Harry L. Arnold Jr., M.D., the first Editor who had the vision of a Journal for the Hawaii Medical Association. We also owe much to the late Henry Yokoyama, M.D. for his years of service to the Journal.

And a special thanks to Henry's widow Marjie, who with their family and friends started the Henry Yokoyama Fund for the HMJ. Their major contributions to the Hawaii Medical Foundation - Henry Yokoyama Fund help to perpetuate the name of our "News and Notes" Editor, and insure the continued publication of our Journal.

Mahalo to our local and national advertisers; Michael Roth, our Advertising Executive; Drake Chinen, our editorial assistant; Russ Stodd for his very popular Weathervane columns and for serving as our annual scientific meeting reporter; Ann Catts and HMA staff who proofread every issue of the Journal. And a special Mahalo Nui Loa to our cover artist, Dietrich Varez.

On to the next 65 years!
