Healthy Exercise and Recreation on Saturday—Ball Players Take a Hand.

The baseball game having slipped up on Saturday, seven of the Regiment's team exercised their lissome muscles and displayed their agility with the cricketers. The idea is a capital one, for the cricketers have much to learn from the active and daring fielding of the baseballers, while the latter have the opportunity of mastering the science of batting and learning the difference between "brute slogging" and dainty masterful "play."

The game was one between an eleven captained by Rev. J. F. Lane and a team of thirteen captained by J. W. Harvey. The batting of Lane and Mackintosh was too much for Harvey's team which only scored 37 while Lane himself scored 42 and A. St. M. Mackintosh 36; the latter also being in excellent bowling form taking 9 wickets for 13 runs. The match would have been more even, as it turned out, if these two steady players had been divided, although upon ordinary occasions the teams would have been considered most evenly and impartially matched.

The baseball players are invited to practise with the cricketers on the grounds of the British Commissioner on Wednesday afternoons. Here they will soon pick up the glorious art of batting while they "keep in their eye" for their own game.

Thanks From the Troops.

The following letters from the boys of the Minnesota and Engineers Battalions have been made public:

TO THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

S. S. CITY OF PARA, }
AT SEA, July 8, 1898.)
MR. GEO. W. SMITH, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee of 100.

Dear Sir:—On behalf of this Regiment permit me to express my sincere thanks for the delightful entertainment prepared for us by the people of your beautiful city. We have received many attentions since leaving our homes in distant Minnesota, and while we have enjoyed them all, not one has given us so much genuine satisfaction, savoring as it did of home, as did your princely hospitality.

Most cordially yours,
C. McC. REEVE,
Col. 13th Minn., Vol. Inf.

TO THE OFFICERS' CLUB.

S. S. CITY OF PARA, }
AT SEA, July 8, 1898.)

COLONEL JOHN H. SOPER, Adjutant General.

My Dear Sir:—I'm leaving your city, whose beauties appear to us like a realization of a dream of fairyland, I desire to express to you, on behalf of my officers and myself, our most sincere thanks for the many courtesies with which we were fairly overwhelmed during our stay in Honolulu. The unceasing efforts of yourself and the members of your delightful club, which we take in no personal sense, but as evidence of your thorough sympathy with the Government whose servants we are, will be one of the most cherished memories of our lives.

Sincerely yours,
C. McC. REEVE,
Col. 13th Minn., Vol. Inf.

TO THE PEOPLE.

HONOLULU, H. I., July 7, 1898.

MR. GEO. W. SMITH, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee of 100.

Dear Sir:—The members of the United States Engineer Corps join in one strong and unanimous vote of thanks to your people here for the kind welcome and the lavish entertainment given us. The reception given us in San Francisco was "warm," but in Honolulu it had a homelike warmth that each individual of us will remember most pleasantly so long as he may live. I join with you in the hope that when we return Old Glory will be waving over your fair isles and that peace and plenty may be yours forever. We say three cheers and a tiger for the ladies and friends of Honolulu, and, as you say, "Aloha Nui" to all.

Very truly yours,
E. A. KIRKPATRICK,
Co. A, Battalion of Engineers.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE.

The Chinese Government has decided to change the seat of government from Peking to the City of Singan-fu, now the capitol of the province of Shensi. The reason for the proposed change is that Manchuria is virtually under the thumb of Russia, which has full control of the Liaotung peninsula and by its presence in Port Arthur is a permanent menace to the Government in Peking.

The English press opposes the change in emphatic terms. Great Britain is perfectly willing to see the Chinese Government move out of Peking, but it insists in the selection of Nanking as the capital, because there British influence is dominant while in Si-ngan-fu it is nil. The Russian Government, however, insists in having a final say, and another complication will be added to the Eastern question which eventually will lead the world into a disastrous war.

STOCK GAMBLING.

The artificial "boom" which has been created in sugar stocks has illustrated the fact that even in this most Christian community the gambling spirit, inborn in most men, controls the human passion for getting rich quickly. If the stock gambling was confined to professional speculators and to the sugar barons, we would let the evil pass by. If those people met their financial Waterloo in their mad rush for gain, they would not be entitled to much sympathy. But the sad fact is, that numerous "small" people, unfamiliar with the true conditions of the corporations whose stocks are offered, will spend their savings in buying inflated stocks only to eventually see the balloon burst and their savings gone.

In case of annexation a great "boom" is expected here. We believe that there will be a temporary boom in real estate, and investments in that commodity are always comparatively safe, as the speculator has something tangible for his money. Sugar stock will go down if we are annexed, because in very short order "cheap" labor will be an unknown quantity in Hawaii. A prominent financier in California wrote by the last mail that "it is safer to-day to hold beet sugar stock in California than to own cane sugar stock in Hawaii." When "cheap" labor ceases in Hawaii, which surely it will, there will be a panic and a scramble and the "small" fellows will go under. We believe that sugar will always be a paying industry in Hawaii, and that plantations will declare reasonable dividends of 5 or 6 percent. But while 6 percent is a fair return on stocks bought at par, it is hardly enough where shares have been bought for three or four hundred dollars. Let the professional gamblers have all the fun of speculating among themselves, but let all who look for safe and sound investments for their savings and small capitals steer severely clear of the inflated stockmarket of Honolulu.

CORRESPONDENCE.

More About the Library.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

I read with great satisfaction the letter of your correspondent in Saturday's issue on the Honolulu Library. He told the truth, and much more could be added thereto. The Library has been allowed in the hands of a few well-meaning persons to become an out of date institution. The want of energy and interest in the book buying department shews on the shelves and consequently shews in the number of subscribers. When people pay six dollars a year they want crisp, entertaining and new literature; if they do not find it, they quit and then we have the cry "we have so few subscribers." If your baker had but 20 stale loaves on his shelves week after week, I guess you would deal elsewhere, and the baker's cry would be "no customers." Now with $25,000 on hand the state of things must be altered. I want to know: (1) Who are the committees that I may wreath their brows with laurels? (2) Are they a self-elected body (like the Dole Government)? (3) When is the next election of officers? (all subscribers should attend). (4) Who is at present nursing the $25,000? Is it going into sugar stock? (5) What beneficial use has been made of the generous donation, since it has come into the hands of the trustees of the Library? I ask whether the committee on books can show a list of 12 new novels purchased within the last 12 months. Is it not a fact that there are hundreds of paper back novels on the shelves, which would perhaps be a benefit to the Leper Settlement, the Jail or the Queen's Hospital, and which would never be missed here. I desire to see a move in the right direction, even if we do offend the great powers who want to run everything in their own way. The subscribers ask for fair play and no favor.

A SAD DEATH.

Edwin A. Jones Called Home After a Short Illness.

The message announcing the death at Waikane yesterday afternoon of Edwin A. Jones cast a gloom over the community, in which the young man was so well known and well loved.

Edwin Jones caught a cold on the 4th of July, but his indisposition was not considered serious at the time. His condition grew worse, and on Saturday afternoon the resident physician of the district sent an urgent summons to Dr. Day to come to Waikane. Early on Sunday morning Dr. Day arrived and found the deceased in such a critical condition that Drs. Herbert and C. B. Wood were sent for, and the parents of the young man notified of the seriousness of their son's illness. The two doctors proceeded to Waikane with all possible speed, but when they arrived Edwin Jones was beyond human help, and at noon he passed away, surrounded by his wife and children and his parents.

Edwin A. Jones was born in Honolulu in 1863 and was consequently 35 years of age. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones, and had spent most of his life in Honolulu, where he was connected with different branches of his father's extensive business. He was very prominent in religious and social circles, and his death will be felt as a grievous blow by his coworkers in the interest of our Christian institutions and by the scores of his sincere and earnest friends.

He was married to Miss Bella Fuller, the daughter of Captain Fuller, and four young children were the result of the happy union. The deepest sympathy is felt for the sorrowing widow and her children, and for the grief-stricken parents whose hope and pride the deceased was.

The amiable, frank and upright character of Edwin A. Jones can best be summoned up in the words: "He had malice towards none; charity towards all."

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Spaniards are evidently just beginning to learn something about America and the Yankees. In a recent issue of "El Diario," published in Madrid, the editor wrote with unconscious humor that: "It will no doubt surprise our readers to learn that the Yankee President Magginy is a naturalized Chinaman, having been born in Canton."

In the death of Mr. Samuel Plimsoll which occurred last month in England, the seamen of the world have lost a friend to whom they owe the deepest gratitude. All seafaring nations have adopted the Plimsoll's water mark, and in the ports and waters of civilized nations the Plimsoll coffins, the term for vessels unfit for the sea, are seen no longer. The fight of Mr. Plimsoll in the interest of the merchant marine was hard and bitter; that he eventually won was a triumph to humanity.

The U. S. Marine Hospital.

It may not be generally remembered that Haalelea Lawn was once a United States Marine Hospital, and that Dr. John S. McGrew was in charge of it. This was in 1868 and 1870. In the September and October of the former year there were no less than three hundred sail of whalers in port. Those were the days when the slugs of gold rolled around freely and the coins of all denominations and countries passed current, and men and women especially were happy and jovial and King Fun reigned supreme and King Sugar was in his infancy.

The Special Prayer.

At St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday the following prayer "for those at sea and war" was used:

"O Almighty God, the Sovereign Commander of all the world, in Whose Hand is power and might which none is able to withstand; we make our humble supplications unto Thee in this time of war that the fierceness of man may turn to Thy praise, to the advancement of Thy Gospel, the deliverance of the oppressed, the putting down of tyranny, and the good of all mankind. Sail with them that sail, comfort the sick and wounded, support the dying, provide for the widows, shield the orphans; and in Thine Own time restore peace to Thy world, that Thy Church may joyfully serve Thee in all Godly quietness, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Who with Thee and the Holy Ghost liveth and reigneth, One God, world without end. Amen."

In the course of his sermon, Rev. Mr. Mackintosh referred to Hawaii as the ally of the United States.

THE WAVERLEY CLUB.

Important Meeting of the Committee of Management.

At the meeting of the Committee of Management of the Waverley Club on Saturday evening eleven committeemen met with President Gear presiding.

Secretaries J. T. Copeland and A. B. Scrimgeour were authorized to prepare the committee's reports for the quarterly meeting on Saturday evening next.

The special committee on the purchase of the Gulick library reported that the necessary funds for the completion of the purchase have been obtained, and the purchase was ordered to be consummated.

The bill for the purchase of billiard and pool tables and furniture, the property of the defunct Hagey Social Club, amounting to $342, was ordered paid.

The hall committee was authorized to have the tables re clothed during the removal of the Club to its new quarters in the same building, fronting on Hotel street.

The special sub-committee consisting of E. C. Winston, James T. Copeland and A. B. Scrimgeour were given full control over the arrangements and alterations for the new clubrooms which will be a trifle smaller than the present one, but will cost $50 a month instead of $60 as at present.

The special committee on the reception of the Boys in Blue reported that some 1500 letters had been written at the Club and over 400 names had been registered in the visitors' book. The expenses entailed by the reception were audited and paid.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Salter for the loan of two magnificent American and British flags for the decoration of the hall.

The special finance committee consisting of Messrs. Scrimgeour and Wright (who have already collected nearly $2000) was increased at their request, by the addition of the names of E. C. Winston, E. Winant, E. B. Thomas and President A. V. Gear. The duty of this committee is to procure funds from Life and Honorary members and donations to the special fund of $2000 for the Alexander Young Library Fund.

A large attendance of members is requested for the second quarterly meeting to be held on the 16th inst.

A Valuable Pamphlet.

Dr. Samuel Karr has issued a very valuable handbook in which he, in a brief and concise manner describes "the most prevalent diseases among horses in the Hawaiian Islands."

The doctor, who is a graduate of the Royal Danish Veterinary College of Copenhagen has studied his subject very thoroughly, and all owners of horses will find it to their advantage to secure a copy of the pamphlet which describes the symptoms of the diseases, explains the causes and prescribes the remedies.

The author has avoided all unnecessary professional terms, and all laymen can understand the language used. In districts where no veterinarians are available and even in Honolulu where people hesitate to consult a vet. for a slight indisposition of a horse, the book will be appreciated as filling a long felt want.

The pamphlet is neatly gotten up by the Makaainana Printing House.

A Farewell Lecture.

Rev. D. P. Birnie, on Thursday next, will deliver a lecture in the parlors of Central Union Church on the subject of "Across the desert, Sinai and Petra." The lecture will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Research Club, of which J. T. Crawley, D. H. Case and Ed. Towse, form the executive committee. Mr. Hedemann will assist with his stereopticon.

The Monitor Monadnock's delay in port is leading to conversation. It is said that General Merritt was rather frank in his expressions of opinion as to the delay after the manner in which the Monitor was hurried up at Mare Island.

THE SPANISH ARMY.

As a Correspondent of the Hongkong Daily Telegraph Sums Them Up.

The Spanish army does suggest comic opera. There are burly Falstaffian officers, swarming about the cafes and beer saloons, or driving about the fashionable parts of the city in carriages, or sitting on upper balconies laughing and chatting and watching the crowd in the street below. Even the barracks are provided with chairs and tables under the trees outside the entrance, like cafes, and there the officers may be seen all day long, apparently with nothing more to do than grow fat. What else could they do? Well, there are men who can always keep themselves usefully busy: Spanish officers of a class seem to be not men of that sort. If they have absolutely nothing else to occupy their time, they might at any rate devote two or three hours per day to the question whether there is anything in the world worse than an officer asleep on a beershop lounge in the forenoon when the enemy is at the gates of the city.

The rank and file can only be pitied. The Spanish "Tommies" are like so many Babes in the Wood, simple innocents as ever fell into the clutches of bloodthirsty ruffians. There are whole regiments of striplings, not long out from Spain, picturesquely attired, ready and willing to do anything and never count the odds nor flinch from death. They are light-hearted and good-natured, hardy and of long endurance; they can live on almost nothing, and hold out tenaciously where a British soldier would starve; they will endure the hardships and diseases of jungle warfare, and make light of them. But they cannot fight, because they are not trained and their leaders are no good. Target practice is almost non-existent. This sort of warfare requires not drums and trumpets, not high spirits and academical education, but it requires the faculty of hiding behind tree-stumps and shooting straight and quick. It requires a well trained eye, to spot every movement in the gloom of the greenery, to see further through the trees than the enemy can, to keep cover and drive him out of his. The Philippine native, like all the kindred Malay races, cannot do any fighting as a rule except at close quarters, slashing with his heavy knife. The weapon is much the same, be it called the machete, or bolo, or kampllan, or parang, or kris; the plan of action is the same, to rush in unexpectedly and hack about swiftly, without the slightest attempt at self-preservation. It is a form of fighting known to British troops in the Soudan and on the Indian frontier, and it takes a lot of stopping. Quickness of eye and hand can only be acquired by long and hard practice, and these poor Spaniards do not get that—until the time when they ought to be using it. The rifle-butts should be all fully occupied; they are deserted. The Spaniard is a proud, plucky, high-mettled, long-enduring, tenacious, desperate, heroic hopeless incompetent.

The Mauser rifle, too, in hard work is found to be a mistake. It has a case of five cartridges which have to be all used before any can be reinserted. That is to say, if a soldier has occasion to fire three, he must go on and waste the other two or else leave himself to meet a possible sudden rush with only two rounds in his gun. Nine times out of ten, he prefers to be ready with a full charge, and so his ammunition is wasted. Moreover, it is an unhandy weapon to work in a hurry. Perhaps it may be the fault of the men, or their misfortune in being un-drilled, but they are very often knifed in the act of reloading—which is a thing that should not occur often. Whatever be the explanation, there is something very wrong in troops with rifles and bayonets being driven steadily back by natives with knives. The rebels have some guns but most of the wounded soldiers seen in the streets have knife-wounds.

A Regiment Fitted by Lottery Winning.

In the middle of last year, one of the big prizes of the Manila lottery one month fell to a ticket held by the Government, and advantage was taken of the windfall to set up a whole regiment in boots. But the prudent officer who selected the goods, in taking care to get as many pairs as possible for the money, got a quality that looked nice and wore out in three or four weeks. In native warfare, bare feet are the rule, and consequently one of the favourite devices in the Malays' jungle fights always has been to prepare the ground, with sharp bamboo stakes, spiny pineapple tops, and a thousand and one other diabolical things which are to be had in profusion hereabouts.—Hongkong Telegraph.

His Grace the Duke.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich contributes to the May Century a characteristic sketch entitled "His Grace the Duke." The following story furnished the basis of Mr. Aldrich's essay:

On the 23rd of February, in the year 1554, Henry Grey, Duke of Suffolk, the father of a nine days' Queen, and the ingenious architect of his own calamity, was led from his chamber in the Tower to a spot on Tower Hill and promptly decapitated, as a slight testimonial of the Queen's appreciation of the part he had played in Northumberland's conspiracy and some collateral enterprises. Thus, like Columbus, he got another world for his recompense.

This is known of all men, or nearly all men; but not one in a thousand of those who know it is cognizant of the fact that the head of the Duke of Suffolk, in an almost perfect state of preservation, can be seen to this day in a shabby old church somewhere near the Thames, at the lower end of the City—the Church of Holy Trinity. It may be noted here, not irrelevantly, that an interview with His Grace costs from two shillings to three and six pence per head—your own head, I mean.

It appears that shortly after the execution of the Duke—on the night following, it is said—this fragment of him was secured by some faithful servant and taken to a neighboring religious house in the Minories, where it was carefully packed in tannin, and where it lay hidden for many and many a year. The secret of its existence was not forgotten by the few who held it, and the authenticity of the relic is generally accepted, though there are iconoclasts who believe it to be the head of Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk, who also passed by the way of Tower Hill in 1513. But the Dantesque line of the nose and the arch of the eyebrow and the skull are duplicated in the Duke's portrait in the National Portrait Gallery, and would seem to settle the question.

Mr. Aldrich gives this description of the relic:

"A few spears of brittle hair—not more than five or six at most—now turned to a redish brown, like the dried fibres of the cocoon, still adhered to the cranium. At the base of the severed vertebra I notice a deep indentation, showing that the executioner had faltered at first and had been obliged to strike a second blow in order to complete his work. A thin integument, yellowed in the process of embalming, like that of a mummy, completely covered the skull, which was in no manner repulsive. It might have been a piece of medidiphval carving in dark wood, found in some chantry choir, or an amiable gargoyle from a cathedral roof. Skulls have an unpleasant habit of looking sardonic. This retained a serene human expression such as I never saw in any other."—Vancouver News-Advertiser.

AT THE WICKETS.

Healthy Exercise and Recreation on Saturday—Ball Players Take a Hand.

The baseball game having slipped up on Saturday, seven of the Regiments team exercised their lissome muscles and displayed their agility with the cricketers. The idea is a capital one, for the cricketers have much to learn from the active and daring fielding of the baseballers, while the latter have the opportunity of mastering the science of batting and learning the difference between "brute slogging" and dainty masterful "play."

The game was one between an eleven captained by Rev. J. F. Lane and a team of thirteen captained by J. W. Harvey. The batting of Lane and Mackintosh was too much for Harvey's team which only scored 37 while Lane himself scored 42 and A. St. M. Mackintosh 36; the latter also being in excellent bowling form taking 9 wickets for 13 runs. The match would have been more even, as it turned out, if these two steady players had been divided, although upon ordinary occasions the teams would have been considered most evenly and impartially matched.

The baseball players are invited to practise with the cricketers on the grounds of the British Commissioner on Wednesday afternoons. Here they will soon pick up the glorious art of batting while they "keep in their eye" for their own game.

Thanks From the Troops.

The following letters from the boys of the Minnesota and Engineers Battalions have been made public:

TO THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

S. S. CITY OF PARA, AT SEA, July 8, 1898.

MR. GEO. W. SMITH, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee of 100.

Dear Sir:—On behalf of this Regiment permit me to express my sincere thanks for the delightful entertainment prepared for us by the people of your beautiful city. We have received many attentions since leaving our homes in distant Minnesota, and while we have enjoyed them all, not one has given us so much genuine satisfaction, savoring as it did of home, as did your princely hospitality.

Most cordially yours,
C. McC. REEVE,
Col. 13th Minn., Vol. Inf.

TO THE OFFICERS' CLUB.

S. S. CITY OF PARA, AT SEA, July 8, 1898.

COLONEL JOHN H. SOPER, Adjutant General.

My Dear Sir:—I am leaving your city, whose beauties appear to us like a realization of a dream of fairyland, I desire to express to you, on behalf of my officers and myself, our most sincere thanks for the many courtesies with which we were fairly overwhelmed during our stay in Honolulu. The unceasing efforts of yourself and the members of your delightful club, which we take in no personal sense, but as evidence of your thorough sympathy with the Government whose servants we are, will be one of the most cherished memories of our lives.

Sincerely yours,
C. McC. REEVE,
Col. 13th Minn., Vol. Inf.

TO THE PEOPLE.

HONOLULU, H. I., July 7, 1898.

MR. GEO. W. SMITH, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee of 100.

Dear Sir:—The members of the United States Engineer Corps join in one strong and unanimous vote of thanks to your people here for the kind welcome and the lavish entertainment given us. The reception given us in San Francisco was "warm," but in Honolulu it had a homelike warmth that each individual of us will remember most pleasantly so long as he may live. I join with you in the hope that when we return Old Glory will be waving over your fair isles and that peace and plenty may be yours forever. We say three cheers and a tiger for the ladies and friends of Honolulu, and, as you say, "Aloha Nui" to all.

Very truly yours,
E. A. KIRKPATRICK,
Co. A, Battalion of Engineers.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE.

The Chinese Government has decided to change the seat of government from Peking to the City of Si-ngan-fu, now the capitol of the province of Shensi. The reason for the proposed change is that Manchuria is virtually under the thumb of Russia, which has full control of the Liaotung peninsula and by its presence in Port Arthur is a permanent menace to the Government in Peking.

The English press opposes the change in emphatic terms. Great Britain is perfectly willing to see the Chinese Government move out of Peking, but it insists in the selection of Nanking as the capital, because there British influence is dominant while in Si-ngan-fu it is nil. The Russian Government, however, insists in having a final say, and another complication will be added to the Eastern question which eventually will lead the world into a disastrous war.

STOCK GAMBLING.

The artificial "boom" which has been created in sugar stocks has illustrated the fact that even in this most Christian community the gambling spirit, inborn in most men, controls the human passion for getting rich quickly. If the stock gambling was confined to professional speculators and to the sugar barons, we would let the evil pass by. If those people met their financial Waterloo in their mad rush for gain, they would not be entitled to much sympathy. But the sad fact is, that numerous "small" people, unfamiliar with the true conditions of the corporations whose stocks are offered, will spend their savings in buying inflated stocks only to eventually see the balloon burst and their savings gone.

In case of annexation a great "boom" is expected here. We believe that there will be a temporary boom in real estate, and investments in that commodity are always comparatively safe, as the speculator has something tangible for his money. Sugar stock will go down if we are annexed, because in very short order "cheap" labor will be an unknown quantity in Hawaii. A prominent financier in California wrote by the last mail that "it is safer to-day to hold best sugar stock in California than to own cane sugar stock in Hawaii." When "cheap" labor ceases in Hawaii, which surely it will, there will be a panic and a scramble and the "small" fellows will go under. We believe that sugar will always be a paying industry in Hawaii, and that plantations will declare reasonable dividends of 5 or 6 percent. But while 6 percent is a fair return on stocks bought at par, it is hardly enough where shares have been bought for three or four hundred dollars. Let the professional gamblers have all the fun of speculating among themselves, but let all who look for safe and sound investments for their savings and small capitals steer severely clear of the inflated stockmarket of Honolulu.

CORRESPONDENCE.

More About the Library.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

I read with great satisfaction the letter of your correspondent in Saturday's issue on the Honolulu Library. He told the truth, and much more could be added thereto. The Library has been allowed in the hands of a few well-meaning persons to become an out of date institution. The want of energy and interest in the book buying department shews on the shelves and consequently shews in the number of subscribers. When people pay six dollars a year they want crisp, entertaining and new literature; if they do not find it, they quit and then we have the cry "we have so few subscribers." If your baker had but 20 stale loaves on his shelves week after week, I guess you would deal elsewhere, and the baker's cry would be "no customers." Now with $25,000 on hand the state of things must be altered. I want to know: (1) Who are the committees that I may wreath their brows with laurels? (2) Are they a self-elected body (like the Dole Government)? (3) When is the next election of officers? (all subscribers should attend). (4) Who is at present nursing the $25,000? Is it going into sugar stock? (5) What beneficial use has been made of the generous donation, since it has come into the hands of the trustees of the Library? I ask whether the committee on books can show a list of 12 new novels purchased within the last 12 months. Is it not a fact that there are hundreds of paper back novels on the shelves, which would perhaps be a benefit to the Leper Settlement, the Jail or the Queen's Hospital, and which would never be missed here. I desire to see a move in the right direction, even if we do offend the great powers who want to run everything in their own way. The subscribers ask for fair play and no favor.

ANOTHER SUBSCRIBER.

A SAD DEATH.

Edwin A. Jones Called Home After a Short Illness.

The message announcing the death at Waikane yesterday afternoon of Edwin A. Jones cast a gloom over the community, in which the young man was so well known and well loved.

Edwin Jones caught a cold on the 4th of July, but his indisposition was not considered serious at the time. His condition grew worse, and on Saturday afternoon the resident physician of the district sent an urgent summons to Dr. Day to come to Waikane. Early on Sunday morning Dr. Day arrived and found the deceased in such a critical condition that Drs. Herbert and C. B. Wood were sent for, and the parents of the young man notified of the seriousness of their son's illness. The two doctors proceeded to Waikane with all possible speed, but when they arrived Edwin Jones was beyond human help, and at noon he passed away, surrounded by his wife and children and his parents.

Edwin A. Jones was born in Honolulu in 1863 and was consequently 35 years of age. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones, and had spent most of his life in Honolulu, where he was connected with different branches of his father's extensive business. He was very prominent in religious and social circles, and his death will be felt as a grievous blow by his coworkers in the interest of our Christian institutions and by the scores of his sincere and earnest friends.

He was married to Miss Bella Fuller, the daughter of Captain Fuller, and four young children were the result of the happy union. The deepest sympathy is felt for the sorrowing widow and her children, and for the grief-stricken parents whose hope and pride the deceased was.

The amiable, frank and upright character of Edwin A. Jones can best be summoned up in the words: "He had malice towards none, charity towards all."

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The Spaniards are evidently just beginning to learn something about America and the Yankees. In a recent issue of "El Diario," published in Madrid, the editor wrote with unconscious humor that: "It will no doubt surprise our readers to learn that the Yankee President Magginy is a naturalized Chinaman, having been born in Canton."

In the death of Mr. Samuel Plimsoll which occurred last month in England, the seamen of the world have lost a friend to whom they owe the deepest gratitude. All seafaring nations have adopted the Plimsoll's water mark, and in the ports and waters of civilized nations the Plimsoll coffins, the term for vessels unfit for the sea, are seen no longer. The fight of Mr. Plimsoll in the interest of the merchant marine was hard and bitter; that he eventually won was a triumph to humanity.

The U. S. Marine Hospital.

It may not be generally remembered that Haalelea Lawn was once a United States Marine Hospital, and that Dr. John S. McGrew was in charge of it. This was in 1868 and 1870. In the September and October of the former year there were no less than three hundred sail of whalers in port. Those were the days when the slugs of gold rolled around freely and the coins of all denominations and countries passed current, and men and women especially were happy and jovial and King Fun reigned supreme and King Sugar was in his infancy.

The Special Prayer.

At St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday the following prayer "for those at sea and war" was used:

"O Almighty God, the Sovereign Commander of all the world, in Whose Hand is power and might which none is able to withstand; we make our humble supplications unto Thee in this time of war that the fierceness of man may turn to Thy praise, to the advancement of Thy Gospel, the deliverance of the oppressed, the putting down of tyranny, and the good of all mankind. Sail with them that sail, comfort the sick and wounded, support the dying, provide for the widows, shield the orphans; and in Thine Owa time restore peace to Thy world, that Thy Church may joyfully serve Thee in all Godly quietness, through Jesus Christ our Lord, Who with Thee and the Holy Ghost liveth and reigneth, One God, world without end. Amen."

In the course of his sermon, Rev. Mr. Mackintosh referred to Hawaii as the ally of the United States.

THE WAVERLEY CLUB.

Important Meeting of the Committee of Management.

At the meeting of the Committee of Management of the Waverley Club on Saturday evening eleven committeemen met with President Gear presiding.

Secretaries J. T. Copeland and A. B. Scrimgeour were authorized to prepare the committee's reports for the quarterly meeting on Saturday evening next.

The special committee on the purchase of the Gulick library reported that the necessary funds for the completion of the purchase have been obtained, and the purchase was ordered to be consummated.

The bill for the purchase of billiard and pool tables and furniture, the property of the defunct Hagey Social Club, amounting to $342, was ordered paid.

The hall committee was authorized to have the tables re clothed during the removal of the Club to its new quarters in the same building, fronting on Hotel street.

The special sub-committee consisting of E. C. Winston, James T. Copeland and A. B. Scrimgeour were given full control over the arrangements and alterations for the new clubrooms which will be a trifle smaller than the present one, but will cost $50 a month instead of $60 as at present.

The special committee on the reception of the Boys in Blue reported that some 1500 letters had been written at the Club and over 400 names had been registered in the visitors' book. The expenses entailed by the reception were audited and paid.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Salter for the loan of two magnificent American and British flags for the decoration of the hall.

The special finance committee consisting of Messrs. Scrimgeour and Wright (who have already collected nearly $2000) was increased at their request, by the addition of the names of E. C. Winston, E. Winant, E. B. Thomas and President A. V. Gear. The duty of this committee is to procure funds from Life and Honorary members and donations to the special fund of $2000 for the Alexander Young Library Fund.

A large attendance of members is requested for the second quarterly meeting to be held on the 16th inst.

A Valuable Pamphlet.

Dr. Samuel Karr has issued a very valuable handbook in which he, in a brief and concise manner describes "the most prevalent diseases among horses in the Hawaiian Islands."

The doctor, who is a graduate of the Royal Danish Veterinary College of Copenhagen has studied his subject very thoroughly, and all owners of horses will find it to their advantage to secure a copy of the pamphlet which describes the symptoms of the diseases, explains the causes and prescribes the remedies.

The author has avoided all unnecessary professional terms, and all laymen can understand the language used. In districts where no veterinarians are available and even in Honolulu where people hesitate to consult a vet. for a slight indisposition of a horse, the book will be appreciated as filling a long felt want.

The pamphlet is neatly gotten up by the Makaianua Printing House.

A Farewell Lecture.

Rev. D. P. Birnie, on Thursday next, will deliver a lecture in the parlors of Central Union Church on the subject of "Across the desert, Sinai and Petra." The lecture will be under the auspices of the Young Men's Research Club, of which J. T. Crawley, D. H. Case and Ed. Towse, form the executive committee. Mr. Hedemann will assist with his stereopticon.

The Monitor Monadnock's delay in port is leading to conversation. It is said that General Merritt was rather frank in his expressions of opinion as to the delay after the manner in which the Monitor was hurried up at Mare Island.

THE SPANISH ARMY.

As a Correspondent of the Hongkong Daily Telegraph Sums Them Up.

The Spanish army does suggest comic opera. There are burly Falstaffian officers, swarming about the cafes and beer saloons, or driving about the fashionable parts of the city in carriages, or sitting on upper balconies laughing and chatting and watching the crowd in the street below. Even the barracks are provided with chairs and tables under the trees outside the entrance, like cafes, and there the officers may be seen all day long, apparently with nothing more to do than grow fat. What else could they do? Well, there are men who can always keep themselves usefully busy: Spanish officers as a class seem to be not men of that sort. If they have absolutely nothing else to occupy their time, they might at any rate devote two or three hours per day to the question whether there is anything in the world worse than an officer asleep on a beer-shop lounge in the forenoon when the enemy is at the gates of the city.

The rank and file can only be pitied. The Spanish "Tommy's" are like so many Babes in the Wood, simple innocents as ever fell into the clutches of bloodthirsty ruffians. There are whole regiments of striplings, not long out from Spain, picturesquely attired, ready and willing to do anything and never count the odds nor flinch from death. They are light-hearted and good-natured, hardy and of long endurance; they can live on almost nothing, and hold out tenaciously where a British soldier would starve; they will endure the hardships and diseases of jungle warfare, and make light of them. But they cannot fight, because they are not trained and their leaders are no good. Target practice is almost non-existent. This sort of warfare requires not drums and trumpets, not high spirits and academical education, but it requires the faculty of hiding behind tree-stumps and shooting straight and quick. It requires a well trained eye, to spot every movement in the gloom of the greenery, to see further through the trees than the enemy can, to keep cover and drive him out of his. The Philippine native, like all the kindred Malay races, cannot do any fighting as a rule except at close quarters, slashing with his heavy knife. The weapon is much the same, be it called the machete, or bolo, or kamplian, or parang, or kris; the plan of action is the same, to rush in unexpectedly and hack about swiftly, without the slightest attempt at self-preservation. It is a form of fighting known to British troops in the Soudan and on the Indian frontier, and it takes a lot of stopping. Quickness of eye and hand can only be acquired by long and hard practice, and these poor Spaniards do not get that—until the time when they ought to be using it. The rifle-butts should be all fully occupied; they are deserted. The Spaniard is a proud, plucky, high-mettled, long-enduring, tenacious, desperate, heroic hopeless incompetent.

The Mauser rifle, too, in hard work is found to be a mistake. It has a case of five cartridges which have to be all used, before any can be reinserted. That is to say, if a soldier has occasion to fire three, he must go on and waste the other two or else leave himself to meet a possible sudden rush with only two rounds in his gun. Nine times out of ten, he prefers to be ready with a full charge, and so his ammunition is wasted. Moreover, it is an unhandy weapon to work in a hurry. Perhaps it may be the fault of the men, or their misfortune in being un-drilled, but they are very often knifed in the act of reloading—which is a thing that should not occur often. Whatever be the explanation, there is something very wrong in troops with rifles and bayonets being driven steadily back by natives with knives. The rebels have some guns but most of the wounded soldiers seen in the streets have knife-wounds.

A Regiment Fitted by Lottery Winning.

In the middle of last year, one of the big prizes of the Manila lottery one month fell to a ticket held by the Government, and advantage was taken of the windfall to set up a whole regiment in boots. But the prudent officer who selected the goods, in taking care to get as many pairs as possible for the money, got a quality that looked nice and wore out in three or four weeks. In native warfare, bare feet are the rule, and consequently one of the favourite devices in the Malays' jungle fights always has been to prepare the ground, with sharp bamboo stakes, spiny pineapple tops, and a thousand and one other diabolical things which are to be had in profusion hereabouts.—Hongkong Telegraph.

His Grace the Duke.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich contributes to the May Century a characteristic sketch entitled "His Grace the Duke." The following story furnished the basis of Mr. Aldrich's essay:

On the 23rd of February, in the year 1554, Henry Grey, Duke of Suffolk, the father of a nine days' Queen, and the ingenious architect of his own calamity, was led from his chamber in the Tower to a spot on Tower Hill and promptly decapitated, as a slight testimonial of the Queen's appreciation of the part he had played in Northumberland's conspiracy and some collateral enterprises. Thus, like Columbus, he got another world for his recompense.

This is known of all men, or nearly all men; but not one in a thousand of those who know it is cognizant of the fact that the head of the Duke of Suffolk, in an almost perfect state of preservation, can be seen to this day in a shabby old church somewhere near the Thames, at the lower end of the City—the Church of Holy Trinity. It may be noted here, not irrelevantly, that an interview with His Grace costs from two shillings to three and six pence per head—your own head, I mean.

It appears that shortly after the execution of the Duke—on the night following, it is said—this fragment of him was secured by some faithful servant and taken to a neighboring religious house in the Minories, where it was carefully packed in tannin, and where it lay hidden for many and many a year. The secret of its existence was not forgotten by the few who held it, and the authenticity of the relic is generally accepted, though there are iconoclasts who believe it to be the head of Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk, who also passed by the way of Tower Hill in 1513. But the Dantesque line of the nose and the arch of the eyebrow and the skull are duplicated in the Duke's portrait in the National Portrait Gallery, and would seem to settle the question.

Mr. Aldrich gives this description of the relic:

"A few spears of brittle hair—now more than five or six at most—now turned to a redish brown, like the dried fibres of the cocoanut, still adhered to the cranium. At the base of the severed vertebra I notice a deep indentation, showing that the executioner had faltered at first and had been obliged to strike a second blow in order to complete his work. A thin integument, yellowed in the process of embalming, like that of a mummy, completely covered the skull, which was in no manner repulsive. It might have been a piece of medidiphval carving in dark wood, found in some chantry choir, or an amiable gurgyle from a cathedral roof. Skulls have an unpleasant habit of looking sardonic. This retained a serene human expression such as I never saw in any other."—Vancouver News-Advertiser.
