SUNDAY STAR STORIES

FAIRY TALES SENT ABROAD ABOUT HAWAIIAN LAWS.

Big Legal Fight that Didn't Materialize - The Government Represented as Law Breakers.

In the "special correspondence" of the San Francisco Chronicle, under date of Honolulu, August 2, the following account of the first and, as it proved, final appearance of the Sunday Star is given:

"The biggest stir this Paritan place has had in many a year was caused by the appearance this morning of the first number of the Sunday edition of the Daily Star. All the up-to-date population heartily indorse the advance step, but the enterprise is bitterly denounced by a number of the church party. The Star people are serene. They find they have made a hit, and in answer to censure point to the publication of the old missionary paper on Monday mornings, necessitating all Sunday work, and to the Sunday band concerts and Sunday target shooting lately indorsed by the Government. An attempt will be made to stop the Sunday Star, but its managers announce that they intend to keep it up at any cost in the way of defense in the court. In the old days here under the blue laws it was taboo to drive a horse or light a fire for cooking on Sunday. These laws have never been repealed, but have been inoperative for many years. Lately there has been further relaxation. Encroachments upon the Sabbath have been condemned and resisted by the religious societies, but the authorities are inclined to be liberal.

"The first issue of the Sunday Star had as features a sermon, an article on women in the pulpit, a McKinley page and rattling accounts of the ball game and horse-race of Saturday afternoon, together with the score of a shooting match in which twenty men made $22 out of a possible 1000. These were the sharpshooters. The Sunday-morning paper, which surprised the community, also gave a list of events for the day, such as band concert, boating and bicycle parties and shooting matches and notable native feasts. The Star has machine composition, high speed press and folder. It is owned by a company including a number of leading business men, with Ed Towse as editor and Frank L. Hoogs as business manager. Both these men are from the States."

Commenting editorially on the foregoing, the Chronicle says: "Honolulu is reported to be greatly excited over the first issue of a Sunday morning newspaper. It seems that the old blue laws, copied from those of Connecticut and Rhode Island, have never been repealed, and that there is talk of reviving them in order to suppress the paper. President Dole has shown wisdom in his management of Hawaii, and it does not appear credible that he will tolerate so foolish a course as this. There is no sound argument against the issue of a Sunday paper, because most of the work on it is done on Saturday night. Those who argue on this ground should object to the Monday paper, as nearly all the work on this issue is done on Sunday. Honolulu, like many other places, will soon become accustomed to its Sunday paper, and will then marvel how it got along without the freshest news one day in seven."

It is generally believed in local press circles that the Honolulu special correspondence of the Chronicle is written in the Star office. Probably the succeeding batch to that from which the foregoing extracts are taken will have

GAINSBOROUGH WRECKED

PERILOUS PREDICAMENT OF A BRITISH BARK

Attempts to Make Honolulu for Supplies and Gets in the Breakers OFF Black Point.

At about half-past 4 o'clock this morning just as it was getting daylight, Charles Peterson, the lookout of the Diamond Head Signal Station, observed a bark inside the line of breakers around Black Point and notified the pilots' office. The vessel came slowly on, seemingly impelled by the current, and at 5:30 struck on a rocky point exactly opposite the signal station. At 6:30 the tug and pilot arrived and soon afterwards the steamers Keauhou and Mokoli'i came to the scene. At 7:15 a line was made fast to the wreck and the tug did her best to pull the ill fated vessel off the rocks, but after several attempts was compelled to give up without having moved the vessel at all. The Gainsborough went on the rocks just before high tide, and at a quarter to 10 all efforts to save the vessel were given up until high tide tomorrow morning. The Gainsborough lies about half a mile directly below the lookout station. She appears to be hard and fast on her rocky bed, and the breakers which occasionally dash against her sides appear to move her but little. She is an English wooden vessel, built in 1866, of 1039 gross and 974 net tonnage. She was on her way from Westport, New Zealand, to San Francisco with a full cargo of coal. She intended to put into Honolulu to replenish her stock of water and provisions which were getting low.

Captain King and Harbor Master Fuller committed with Captain McPhail as to his future course. He called for four volunteers among the ship's crew to remain with him on the vessel and sent his wife and children and the remainder of the crew to Honolulu on the tug with all their effects. He would make no terms with the captains of the other steamers for assistance, and even declined the offer of Captain King to have the Eleu stand by him. What Captain McPhail intends to do is a mystery, but he has probably given up all hope of saving the vessel and intends to stay with her to the last. Charles Peterson has been kept busy answering telephone calls this morning, but found time to tell a BULLETIN reporter some of his reminiscences. He says that the only other vessel which came near being wrecked at the same spot was the whaler Sea Ranger, which went ashore almost at the same spot some years ago. She grounded very lightly, however, and her captain ordered out his five boats and they succeeded in pulling her off without injury after a short time. The Waimanalo also had a close call at the same place some time ago. Peterson thinks the vessel can be got off by throwing her coal overboard if the weather remains fine. At noon she was standing straight up, there being about ten feet of water around her. Fifty yards further out from her present position there is deep water. She seems to be lying on a rocky shelf with a sandy covering. Harbor Master Fuller says the vessel is lying in a very precarious position, and in his opinion she cannot be saved. He said the only thing for Captain McPhail to do was to put out anchors from the stern so that the vessel could not be thrown further inshore, and then proceed to lighten the ship. He doubted, however, if any chain could be found which would hold the vessel against the tremendous

LATE ORIENTAL ADVICES

A FORMOSA TOWN SACKED BY INSURGENTS.

British Sailors and Gun-Boats Landed at Amoy - Japanese Floods - French Railway in Corea.

Mail advices brought from the Orient to San Francisco tell of a rebellion which has broken out in the center of the island of Formosa. Hoonim, the camphor center, was attacked on the 27th of June. It is supposed the few Japanese there, numbering about a dozen, including the gendarmes, were killed, and it is feared that D. D. Ollia, a European, has also fallen a victim. The town is supposed to have been sacked, and the loss to foreigners will be considerable. This state of affairs is due to the cruelties committed by the Japanese in the country and to the arrogance and general misconduct of officials. The French Minister has demanded of the Corean Government permission for French citizens to construct a railway between Seoul and Mokupo. The Minister of Foreign Affairs is much annoyed at this demand, as it cannot very well be refused, the Government having given other countries a franchise to build railways. Li Han Sing, new Corean Minister to the United States, left Chemulpo July 17th for America on the United States steamer Yorktown. The negotiations on the treaty of commerce between Japan and China were concluded on June 28th, and the treaty will be signed shortly. This speedy conclusion is due to the withdrawal of the clause relating to Japanese manufactures. Considerable excitement was caused at Amoy on July 8th owing to the landing of two machine guns and a party of blue jackets from the British gunboat Redpole at the request of the British Consul. It appears that Messrs Butterfield & Swire had seen fit to change their coolie contractor, the result of which was that the new coolies were menaced by the old hands to such an extent that the work of the firm was seriously retarded. A corporation with a large capital has been formed at Osaka for the construction of locomotives and cars. The company is entirely of Japanese. A company is to be incorporated to work certain coal mines in Ushibuka, Anakusa district, Kumamoto prefecture. It is claimed that the coal from these mines is usurping the place formerly held by the English commodity. From various parts of Japan come reports of floods in consequence of heavy rains. By the overflowing of the Joganji river on July 9th 1325 houses were submerged and considerable damage was done. Two persons were killed. The Japanese Government has decided to vote 500,000 yen for the relief of the victims of the recent tidal wave.

A Natural Deduction. "Now," said the earnest apostle, "if a man took a silver dollar and melted it he would only have 53 cents' worth of silver. What do you think of that?" "Well," said the man who had been chewing a straw and looking puzzled, "znenar's I can make it out he would be a durn fool." - Indianapolis Journal. Last Night's Fire. The second alarm of fire yesterday was turned in at 8:30 p. m. for a small blaze in the rear of No. 3 engine house in Japanese town. A child upset a lamp and set a room on fire in the house of Yee Wo, a Chinese butcher. The blaze was extinguished before the arrival of the department.

THE ENTRANCE HALL.

LONG NARROW HALLWAYS—SQUARE RECEPTION HALLS.

The Furniture Required and Its Proper Arrangement—One Way of Changing the Aspect of a Narrow Hall—Treatment of Reception Halls—Color Schemes.

The long narrow hallway is most difficult to treat with any degree of success. It is a mistake in selecting a rack or glass for such a place to choose a very small one simply because the place is contracted and narrow. One should in this case use a mirror of generous dimensions, as the reflective qualities of glass have a certain artistic value and operate to make the space seem larger—in fact, just twice as large as it really is. Immediately under the rack a narrow bench may be placed. As an alternative a small odd chair might be used, one with wood seat and quaintly shaped back preferred.

Do not forget to place a few pictures on the walls. Photographs of noted places are in order here—the Coliseum at Rome, the Appian way, a bit of armor or a cluster of crossed swords. Some sort of receptacle for canes and umbrellas should be provided. Those of drain pipe shape and of Japanese make take up small space and are as good as art.

An effective mode of changing the aspect of a narrow hallway is depicted by Decorator and Furnisher, from which these suggestions are a reprint. This alteration is effected by placing a settle with the back to the stairs. This need not be a permanent feature—it can be fastened in place so as to be easily removed when necessary. Should one prefer to shut off from public gaze the view of stairway, it can be done without sacrificing the light by filling the space directly over the bench back with Japanese lattice or interlaced fretwork. Another artistic idea is to hang a light tatted rice or bamboo curtain in this space.

As a rule the houses of modern build are arranged on a somewhat different plan, being now provided with what are sometimes called reception halls, which are generally nearly square. In these it is not so difficult to furnish, and if they be of generous size they are generally arranged as a sort of combined sitting and reception room. If the hall be small, one may have a hall stand or the small rack and settle beneath, one with a box seat preferred. If there is a spare corner a "cozy" may be fitted up, or, if not, and a window is available, a broad, low seat will be an attractive feature. A small, low table, a side table with a drawer in it and a number of odd chairs must not be omitted. One or more growing plants add much to the picturesque appearance of a hall, and as a background for these a pretty threefold screen may be utilized with good effect.

When the hall is situated so as to receive a plentiful supply of sunlight at all times of the day, a cool shade of coloring should be selected. With a north room be generous with the warm, rich tints, the dull reds, olives and golden russets and browns. When light is at a premium, gladden the sight with its nearest equivalent, yellow, in its variety. This would be a most distracting color in the glaring light of the noon-day sun, but when used upon the walls of a dark and dismal hall it is altogether different. Choice should be made of other colors that will prove harmonious, always the warm, rich colors, never the cold. With such a setting any shade of finish in oak or mahogany woodwork will be fitting.

Saved!
"Yes," said the head of the Idle Women's Independent League For Minding Other People's Business, "our noble organization has succeeded in having the child placed in an institution."
"She was terribly troubled at home, I understand," said the new member.
"Simply heart-rending," assented the president. "Why, would you believe it, the poor child was wearing a green skirt with a blue waist when the officers took her."—Detroit News.

MISREPRESENTATION.

Elsewhere is reprinted a remarkable notice of the appearance of the Sunday Star, which might in truth also have been a notice of its disappearance. It is almost incredible that such misstatements of the Sunday law of this country could have been made by a reputable writer for the press. There is only one Sunday law in Hawaii, which was submitted by the committee on education, headed by C. R. Bishop, as a substitute bill for another, to the Legislature of 1880, which passed it with amendments. Mr. Widemann, in discussing the bill, remarked in effect that the old laws were only oppressive when enforced in the spirit of the "blue laws." As the bill finally passed, it was as liberal as the Sunday laws of most States of the Union. The BULLETIN has always upheld it as a protection of the rights of labor. If it is ever used as an instrument of persecution of people who religiously observe another weekly day of rest, as are the Sunday laws of some of the States and Canadian provinces, then this paper would denounce it and strive for its amendment. The spirit of the Hawaiian Sunday law is that labor in general is prohibited, together with amusements that would disturb the rest of the public. Its most needed amendment is the addition of a provision that, in establishments where Sunday labor is conceded to be necessary for the public comfort and convenience, the work should be so divided that every workman would get off for one half of the day and have a half holiday besides on another day of the week. Reverting to the misstatements in the Chronicle correspondence, it is unnecessary to say that "blue laws" had nothing to do with the sudden eclipse of the Sunday Star. "A majority of the directors," who presumably are not "up to date" people, clapped an extinguisher on it before its "immediate conductors" could get it advertised, as they apparently figured on having done, through legal prosecution.

BLACKMAIL.

Some contemporaries have given one side of the case regarding the suit for malpractice brought against Dr. McLennan. Therefore, it is proper enough to discuss the case even while it is subjudice, in the interests of fair play. The alleged cause of action arose sixteen months before the aggrieved party took action, and the long interval in which he nursed his wrong gives a fishy aspect to the case. He only took proceedings when a professional collector sued him for the doctor's bill. Dr. McLennan had been treating the plaintiff, off and on, for a long time, generally for nervous prostration, and only charged him a nominal sum. The morning paper has said in effect that the patient had his foot burnt with a hot brick, recommended by the doctor for rheumatic pains. There is no specification of malpractice, however, in the declaration, and it is really outrageous that a reputable physician, a gentleman and a philanthropist—as Dr. McLennan is known to be—should have the machinery of justice prostituted for putting him to great trouble and expense simply to gratify the revenge of a man who is utterly irresponsible. Dr. McLennan is one of the ablest physicians who ever practiced in Honolulu. He was the first one to save life in the cholera epidemic last year, and would have saved more lives had he been called in time in certain cases. It is well-known also that he had not only treated poor folks without money and without price, but has relieved their necessities from his purse. As said before in other words, the circumstances of the prosecution are very suspicious, and the BULLETIN is not prejudging a case at law, but simply exposing a gross piece of blackmail. The very fact given in the one-sided report of a contemporary is sufficient proof of this assertion, as the man applied the recommended remedy himself and, if he had not sense enough to remove the hot brick when it hurt, then he does not know enough to be trusted with a mustard poultice.

Thirty-five manufacturers in the United States are preparing to put horseless carriages on the market the coming year. These are likely to rank among the greatest inventions for human comfort of this closing century, the most wonderful era of progress the world has ever known.

Although Queen Victoria was crowned on June 28, 1838, as stated elsewhere, she began her reign on June 20, 1837, consequently will have completed sixty years on the throne next spring if her life be spared, as the whole world hopes.

T. B. Murray, president of the American League, is against having other than Americans admitted to membership. He says the proposition has not been finally adopted as reported.

OMENS AND SUPERSTITIONS.

Half a Dozen That Have Developed Among Wheelmen.

Of course omens and superstitions have developed among wheelmen. The Indianapolis Journal thus classifies six of them:

One—The wheelman who allows a hearse to pass him will die before the year is out.

Two—To be chased by a yellow dog with one blue eye and one black eye indicates a bad fall.

Three—To see a small boy with a slingshot beside the road is a prophecy of a puncture.

Four—If you pass a white horse driven by a red-haired woman your rim will split unless you say "cajadrum" and hold up two fingers.

Five—If you take your machine to the repair shop it is a sign that you will not buy that new suit of clothes.

Six—Kicking the man who asks the make of your wheel is a sign of high honors and great riches within a year.

Yesterday's Fire.

Mr. Lyle's loss in the burning of his barn is about $500. It was well built on a very convenient plan. There is no definite knowledge as to the origin of the fire. Some youngsters from another neighborhood were playing on an adjacent lot, and it is supposed they set fire to some rubbish for fun. Mr. Lyle was attending to his business in town when the alarm was given. He was talking about having the barn insured, as well as his house, a few days before the fire, but overlooked the matter in a pressure of other business.

M. A. Pixoto, proprietor of the Urban barber shop, next to the Art Gallery, guarantees to give a shave that will make your hair curl with joy.

ON CREAM SEPARATORS.

A short time ago we introduced the De Laval Cream Separators to the notice of the public through this column but we were compelled to change our advertisement in a few days as the demand created by it soon exhausted the supply of Separators we had on hand.

We have just received a fresh supply and again call attention to their merits.

Have you one or more cows? If so, what is your purpose in keeping them? Is it your object to get the most money from them, with at same time some comfort and satisfaction? Are you doing it?

Have you kept pace with the improvements in dairy apparatus? Have you ever stopped to consider the benefits of the Cream Separator,—not to the world, not to your neighbor, but to you personally and individually?

If not, you cannot do anything better, and the sooner the better. Everybody now understands the principle of centrifugal creaming. Gravity causes the cream to rise in the old way. The separator simply adds centrifugal force to gravity. It merely uses two natural forces instead of one only. It effects the complete separation of cream from milk, which is not possible in any other way, and in the most all-around practical manner.

The De Laval Cream Separators are in almost universal use the world over. They have revolutionized dairying methods. The State Colleges and Experiment Stations all use and advocate them. More than 85,000 have been sold. All practical creameries have long used them. Progressive dairy farmers do so in all sections. There must be many users around you. No user of a De Laval machine ever did otherwise than endorse it.

The De Laval "Baby" or Dairy Cream Separators are now made in six different styles and sizes. They range in capacity from 150 lbs. per hour to 700 lbs. per hour. Capacity means separating capacity per hour. They are made for all requirements from the household buying its milk, to the dairy of from one cow to one hundred.

The De Laval machines are Hand machines. They are designed and constructed for hand use. Women and children run them. They are used almost wholly in such way. Still they may be attached to any sort of light power, from dog tread to engine.

We have also a smaller type of the same machine, which is designated as the "Humming Bird," especially intended for household use. It is very small, very compact, extremely simple, easily understood and cared for, safe and durable. It possesses every advantage to be found in any of the larger "Alpha" machines.

GAINSBOROUGH WRECKED.

combing from each successive breaker. The vessel lies on the lee side of Diamond Head and is exposed to the full swell of the ocean. If she were on this side something might be done for her. Captain Fuller said that when the Eleu was tugging at her this morning the swells would raise both vessels high up out of the water and the efforts of the tug were simply useless against the force of the waves.

Captain J. A. King, Minister of the Interior, gave a BULLETIN representative some further particulars. The Gainsborough was here about four years ago. Her cargo is a sample one. The New Zealand coal of which it is composed is claimed to be 30 per cent better in steam generating potency than any other coal of Australasia. There would seem to be some hoodoo about it, however, as an accident befel the first trial shipment of this coal, the second vessel with it was lost, and here is the third on the rocks.

Captain McPhail belongs to Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and is a personal acquaintance of Captain Campbell, superintendent of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, also of Captain King since the skipper's former visit to this port.

Captain King says the Gainsborough's draught is 18ft. 7in., and there is only 16 feet of water now under her bow. She is going farther inland all the time, and he thinks her case is hopeless.

The Gainsborough was 62 days out. It was the captain's watch when the vessel went aground. Captain McPhail had gone below for coffee, and when he came on deck the ship was grinding on the rocks. The second mate was forward at the time. Captain King says the bottom at the place is soft coral.

It is learned that there is no insurance on vessel or cargo, although this statement lacks confirmation. British Vice Consul Walker sent a note aboard to ask Captain McPhail if he desired assistance. The captain replied that he did not, but intended to make another effort to float the vessel at high tide tomorrow morning.

Football Meeting.

The meeting of the football players last night was well attended and considerable interest was shown in the prospects for a series of games. Mr. Berger, representing the H. A. A. C., was present and promised to bring up the question of the Club's taking charge of the two proposed teams, outfitting them and making all arrangements for games. If Punahou College decide to put a team in the field, the alumni of the college, who have agreed to play with the H. A. A. C., will join the College eleven, and the club will only put in one team. This will make a three-cornered contest and add to the general interest. Among those present were the following old players, who, scenting the battle from afar have signified their willingness to play: Mort Tuft, guard on the '94 Varsity of the University of California, and Dayton and Cockett of last year's champions. There will be a meeting of the teams the coming week to elect captains and name a date for commencing practice.

Elsie Adair's Benefit.

The benefit for Miss Elsie Adair will take place on Monday, instead of Tuesday evening as previously announced. Come one, come all, and give Elsie a bumper house.

Obituary.

It is with unfeigned grief that the death of Mr. A. M. Sproull, the able civil engineer, is recorded. Ten years ago the writer accompanied Mr. Sproull with Mr. Dillingham over the lands that were later acquired by the Oahu Railway & Land Company. Mr. Sproull was engaged on that occasion to make an expert report on irrigation. The acquaintance then formed with him by the writer has ever since been highly valued. Mr. Sproull was a perfect gentleman of the old school though young in years. Pulmonary trouble was what cut short his useful career. A few years ago he married Miss Wallace in Scotland, she being a sister of Mr. Robert Wallace, the well-known manager of Mr. Sneyd-Kynnersley's plantation at Kohala. Two children are left with the young wife to mourn their irreparable loss. Mr. Sproull was a partner of Mr. W. G. Irwin in sugar planting on Maui, and owned shares also in a planting enterprise on Hawaii. The BULLETIN extends its most heartfelt sympathy to Mrs. Sproull and her fatherless babes, also to Mr. W. C. Sproull the merchant, who is a brother of the lamented gentleman.

Burns Buried.

Wilfred Burns, "the strong man," went to bed at his lodgings on Fort street last night, leaving a lamp burning on a small table by his bedside. While sleeping the sleep of the just a passer-by aroused the suspicion of "von little dog Schneider" that was left on guard. The animal sprang for the open window and upset the table. The lamp being overturned set fire to the bedding. Burns was burned severely but not seriously in the hands, and about $30 in personal property was destroyed.

"Why is it?" "O, simply because Hood's Sarsaparilla has more real curative merit than any medicine I ever sold."
This is of daily occurrence in almost every drug store. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the standard remedy which has cured more sickness, relieved more distress and made more happiness by bringing people

Back to health than any other medicine. Its wonderful cures of the worst cases of scrofula, running sores, ulcers, salt rheum, etc.; of dyspepsia and other troubles where a first class tonic and aid to digestion was needed; of catarrh, rheumatism, malaria and other troubles arising from or promoted by impure blood, have made

MRS. L. A. BRENTNER.
Crazed with Pain.

Mrs. Brentner Completely Prostrated Every Month with Nervous Headache.
Heart-felt Praise for the Medicine That Cured Her.

Thousands of women are today blessing Paine's Celery Compound for the great good it has done them, and scores have written letters similar to that of Mrs. L. A. Brentner.
SAN JACINTO, CAL.
Dear Sirs:—I have suffered severely with nervous sick headaches, with which I was troubled every month. The pain was so severe that it completely prostrated me and it seemed to me that I should go crazy. I had tried all kinds of remedies without obtaining any permanent relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound which completely cured me.

J. M. BUCHNER.
The Medicine That Makes People Well!

Why suffer longer with liver and stomach trouble? Paine's Celery Compound will make you well. Read how it cured Mr. J. M. Buchner.

KETTLE FALLS, WASH., Dec. 9, 1894.
Gentlemen:—I have taken only two bottles of Paine's Celery Compound for rheumatism, and liver and stomach troubles, and will be frank in saying that I am well pleased with the results. I used one bottle and was so much better that I abandoned its use for a time, but my old stomach trouble made its appearance again. I procured another bottle in September and after using that I felt well.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Automatic

Distributors

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.
"We use Purifine and find it very good for disinfecting sinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection."
W. A. CAMPBELL,
Demonstrator of Anatomy.

PURIFINE is for sale by the HOLLISTER DRUG CO. in 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.50 bottles. The "AUTOMATIC DISTRIBUTORS" are for rental. Our Agents will call upon you and explain the merits of "Purifine" and the "Automatic Distributors."

A full account of the disaster to a foreign bark which went ashore at Diamond Head this morning, will be found elsewhere in this paper.

An eminent member of the British Parliament, Hon J. Chamberlain, visited last year in the North American Republic. As a consequence of refusing $5,000,000 a year in subsidies during thirty years to native ship-owners, or $150,000,000, the United States had to pay in the same period no less than $5,000,000,000 for freights, while their mercantile divided into insignificance. -S F Com News.

The iron sailing ship has for many years considered the Pacific Coast ports a happy hunting ground. Of late, however, our ocean tramps have been vain to take a turn even in this trade. They strike across from China and elsewhere to the detriment of sailing ships. If only a canal could be put through the narrow neck of land joining the two Americas, then, indeed, the sailing ship might soon be past praying for. -Liverpool Journal of Commerce.

SKETCHES BY M. QUAD

No Call For the Shotgun. Just as I reached the crest of the Cumberland mountains I came to a mountaineer's cabin, with the husband and wife sitting on a log at the door. The woman had her jaws tied up, and there was a wild look in her eyes, and after passing the time of day I naturally inquired what was wrong with her.

"Toothache, sah," replied the husband. "She's had it nigh upon a week, but she's bin desperit today. We was jest waitin fur somebody to cum along."

"Can't it be cured?" "Reckon not, sah. Best way is to pull it out. I've got the pincers here to do it with, and I want yo' to help me a bit."

"I'll help, of course, but I never pulled a tooth for any one in my life." "That's all right. She'll lay down yers on her back, and I'll hold her down while yo' pull. I've tried it twice over, but she gits away from me."

"Are you willing, ma'am?" I asked of the woman. "I'm willin, of co'se," she replied as she removed the bandage from her jaw. "This is the tooth - right yere."

"Yes, I see it." "D'ye reckon yo' kin pull it?" "I think I can." "Well, now, don't make no mistake. When yo' git hold, don't let go, no matter how much it holler. If she cums out, all right!"

"But, ma'am, you see" - "Git hold," she interrupted as she fell over the log and her husband sat down on her and got a firm hold of her ears to hold her head. "Got to do it, stranger," said the man as I hesitated. "She's got to that pass whar she'll shoot if yo' don't. Clap on the pincers and bust sunthin."

It was a solid double tooth, standing alone, and I got a firm hold, braced my feet, and with a twist and a pull I had it out. Not even a groan escaped the woman. She rose up, took the tooth from the nippers and looked at it for a moment, and then turned to me with: "Stranger, I don't know how loud yo' kin hoot nor how far yo' kin jump, but from the way yo' fetched this tooth out I'm willin to believe yo'r a purty good man. Jest sot down and talk with Jim, and I'll hev a smack ready in about five minits."

Her Jaw Was Set. On the hill beyond the creek was the cabin of a squatter, and as I drew near a man about 50 years old, who had been seated on a stump, rose up and saluted me and queried: "Stranger, how fur up the road hev yo' cum this mawnin?"

"From Harper's Corners," I replied. "And did yo' meet up with a woman on the way?" "Yes. About five miles back I met a little old woman going the other way."

"Was she weepin?" "No." "Was her jaw set?" "Yes, I think it was." "Was her jaw set like a mewl when he is determined not to pull?"

"Reckon I orter, as she's my wife." "Oh! Then she's gone to the store?" "No. We had a fuss this mawnin, and she's left me. Jest put on her bunnet and said she'd never cum back." "But she will, of course?" "I axed yo' if she was weepin, and yo' said she wasn't. If she'd been weepin, that would mean that she'd take a walk down to the Corners and back and make up with me. I axed yo' if her jaw was set, and yo' said it was. That means she'll keep right on to Brother Jim's, and that I'll hev to foller arter her and beg her parding and promise her a new walkin dress befo' she'll cum back."

"Then she's left you before?" "Bout 100 times, sah, and it allus works that way. If she weeps, she'll be back befo' night; if her jaw is set, I hev to go arter her and knock under. As this is a case of sotness I might as well git along and try to overtake her. Sorry I can't ax yo' to stop, but yo' see how it is. Sotness is sotness, and yo' can't unsot it and nust tharfo' make the best of it." M. QUAD.

Failure. "Marriage," exclaimed the fat woman, "is a failure." Upon the table before her were a Canadian cent and a plugged quarter, her share of the gate receipts of her four hundredth souvenir public wedding to the living skeleton. Over all the trembling gaslight cast its garish gleam. -Detroit Tribune.
