Sarsaparilla.

Cleanse your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the most thoroughly reliable alternative ever compounded. For scrofula, boils, ulcers, sores, carbuncles, pimples, blotches, and all disorders originating in vitiated blood, this medicine is a specific. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is equally beneficial as a remedy for catarrh, rheumatism, and rheumatic gout. As a Tonic, it assists the process of digestion, stimulates the sluggish liver, strengthens the nerves, and builds up the body when debilitated by excessive fatigue or wasting illness. Physicians everywhere consider Ayer's Sarsaparilla the best. It is a skillfully-prepared combination of the most powerful alteratives and tonics. No other blood-purifier gives equal satisfaction or is so universally in demand.

THE WAI WA YEE YUEN

OPENING OF THE CHINESE HOSPITAL AT PALAMA.

Inspiring Addresses and Interesting Exercises—Inspection of the Buildings—Refreshments.

Within the past few months there has been reared a handsome two-story building in Robello lane, Palama, about 150 yards from the King street tramcar line. Some smaller buildings have also been erected on the ground, and an old cottage renovated to be part of the group. The site is a bed of coral elevated by some prehistoric convulsion of nature, which crops out in places through a thin layer of soil. This group of buildings has been provided by the United Chinese Society as a hospital for the Chinese, and fully equipped and without any debt this hospital—called in the Chinese language "Wai Wa Yee Yuen"—was yesterday afternoon formally dedicated to its beneficent purposes.

An invitation to the public to attend the opening was published in the English papers. At the appointed hour, 3 o'clock, a large number of the merchants and professional men of the Chinese colony, together with several of their ladies, were assembled in the main ward on the ground floor, while many of the working classes, interspersed with natives, looked in through doors and windows or wandered all over the building. Among those of other nationalities present were Chief Justice and Mrs. Judd, Rev. Dr. H. Bingham and wife, Rev. Dr. C. M. Hyde and wife, Rev. F. W. Damon and wife, Rev. Dr. S. E. Bishop, Rev. O. H. Gulick, Rev. Alex. Macintosh, Rev. D. P. Birnie, Rev. J. Leedingham, Rev. J. M. Lewis, Dr. Sloggett, Dr. Burgess and wife, N. F. Burgess, Mrs. J. M. Whitney, Senators Henry Waterhouse and Cecil Brown, John S. Walker, C. B. Reynolds, A. B. Wood, W. W. Hall, H. Berger, H. Lose, W. H. Pain, T. F. Lansing and representatives of the daily papers.

Mr. Goo Kim, Chinese Commercial Agent, presided as the president of the United Chinese Society. He was supported by his colleague, Mr. Wong Kwai. All who were to take part in the ceremonies were seated in a hollow square at the head of the hall. The table in front of the chairman had on it a basket of flowers and a richly decorated oriental vase filled with a splendid variety of blossoms on either side. Potted palms and shrubs rose in a row from the floor in front of the table. The guests of the event had comfortable chairs facing the master of ceremonies.

For a little while before the opening the Government band outside played selections. Rev. Mr. Lin delivered the opening prayer in Chinese. Then a Chinese choir of young men and women, with organ accompaniment, sang a hymn with charming effect. Rev. Mr. Wong read the third chapter of Ecclesiastes in beautiful cadence. Anybody would know, the book being given, that the chapter was that about "a time for all things under the sun," from its incomparable rhythm. Mr. Lin then delivered a brief discourse on a passage from Luke.

Mr. Damon, superintendent of the Chinese mission, then read an eloquent address. He voiced the welcome of Chinese friends to all who had gathered on the occasion. While the hospital was not in a technical sense a missionary institution, it was an expression, in tangible form, of the great onward movement in the life of the race, which received its supreme impulse from the divine Founder of Christianity, as formulated in the "Golden Rule." He quoted Confucius' definition of benevolence, "It is to love all men." The hospital was largely an outcome of the Christian civilization, as represented in the different charitable institutions of the city, which furnish valuable object teaching for the different races that have come to us from oriental lands. He could not but feel, also, that the magnificent achievements of the medical missionary work in China, during the past 60 or 70 years, had aided also in the initiation of this undertaking. One of the Chinese physicians who had been engaged for the hospital held a satisfactory diploma from the medical training school connected with the great Missionary Hospital of Canton, of which Dr. Kee, that Nestor of medical missionaries in China, is the head, one of the noblest names inscribed upon the medical records of the world. This young Chinese gentleman with his wife, also a graduate of the same school, recently passed a satisfactory examination before the committee of physicians of our Board of Health. The speaker paid a high tribute to the rule of the medical missionary in China. Its pioneer was Rev. Peter Parker, M. D., who arrived at Canton in 1834, and of whom it had been said, "He opened China to the gospel at the point of the lancet." The hospital at Canton had treated hundreds of thousands of patients, and scores of other hospitals had arisen from its foundation. Li Hung Chang, the distinguished Viceroy, was one of the notable converts to the value of western medical science. Mr. Damon in concluding warmly praised Messrs. Goo Kim and Wong Kwai, president and vice president of the United Chinese Society, and Messrs. Chu Jem and Wong Wa Foy, president and vice president of the Hospital Association, together with the other officers of these organizations, for their whole-hearted devotion that had been crowned with the successful inauguration of this benevolent enterprise. "It is on such occasions as this," he closed by saying, "when a common interest in the highest welfare of humanity unites us in sympathetic accord that we realize to some extent the glorious conception of a universal brotherhood. May the inspiring lesson of this afternoon's experience abide with us as a stimulus to labor for the more perfect realization of this ideal, for the more complete attainment of this most desirable possibility."

Mr. Wong Wa Foy, chairman of the building committee, now performed the ceremony of presenting the keys of the hospital to Mr. Goo Kim, delivering the following neat address in English and Chinese: "Four months ago I was appointed to superintend the building of this hospital. I went to work at once, and now have the pleasure of seeing a successful close, with everything paid for. The sum of $4000, which the building cost, I consider very cheap. I have now the pleasure of handing over to you, Mr. President of the United Chinese Society, the keys of the hospital, feeling that my work is finished, and hoping that all things in connection with it may be entirely satisfactory to all those interested in the welfare of the institution. I now request, Mr. President and officers of the society, that you will relieve me of all further responsibilities."

Mr. Goo Kim responded in happy terms, beginning with these few words in English: "All these buildings are paid for. I thank you all. Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for coming here. I don't talk much English, so I will talk a little in Chinese." He then proceeded with an address in Chinese, a translation of which was read by Mr. Tshin. The Wai Wa Yee Yuen signified "a hospital devoted expressly for the benefit of the Chinese." The Chinese had been with them in these fair islands for many years, and at this date formed a large part of their population. The Chinese mercantile class and those who had been engaged in developing the resources of the country had invariably been found honorable, honest and law-abiding residents. They had done their best to respect, maintain and support the Government by contributing largely to the state revenues, by accepting with sincerity the benefits offered them in the education of their children; by learning to a great degree our language, laws, civilization, customs and manner of thought and action; by providing for their own poor and sick, and by never being selfish in such charitable matters as might have been properly brought to their notice. They had endeavored to be good citizens with good people in a good country. For upward of 20 years the care and treatment of their sick and maimed had received their serious attention. They were grateful to the many of other races and to the Government for kindly assistance in the past. They desired now to express to the Hawaiian Government their gratitude and great indebtedness for the magnanimous and munificent gift of the land upon which that building now stood in its finished perfection. Without this substantial aid they might have been compelled to wait some years longer for their hospital. They would treasure in their hearts and families the kindly and considerate action of the Hawaiian Government, and remember it not in idle words alone but in fruitful deeds. Besides having the building ready for the first sufferer that comes and all paid for, there was a balance on hand to the credit of the maintenance fund. To make the hospital as efficient as it should be, they would require some assistance for the future from people of other nationalities. In conclusion, the chairman declared the hospital open.

Mr. Hee Chick Sin, editor of the Hawaiian Chinese News, read a poem in his own language, after which Mr. Wong Kwai delivered a short address without interpretation. Mr. Goo Kim then delivered the keys to Mr. Chu Kem, the president of the Hospital Association, saying in English: "I hope you will do good work. Do the best work you can do, so that all the sick people will come here."

Mr. Chu Kem accepted the keys in a short address, thanking the heads and members of the organizations concerned for their efforts in the noble work, and the representatives of other nationalities for their presence and sympathy. "Coronation" and the doxology were sung in Chinese and English simultaneously, and Dr. Hyde besought the heavenly benediction on the benevolent enterprise. Tea, lemonade and cake were passed round to the people in their seats, and the visitors scattered over the place on a tour of inspection. A salute of fire-crackers instantaneously followed the close of the opening exercises.

Following are the officers of the Wai Wa Yee Yuen: President—Chu Gem; Vice-President—Wong Wa Foy; Treasurer—Hong Quon; Secretary—L. T. Tshin; Chinese Secretary—Hee Chick Sin; Board of Trustees—Goo Kim, Wong Kwai, L. Ahlo, Ho Fon, On Jan, Li Cheong, Wong Leong, Y. Ahin, Yun Ki Ngan, Lum Kum Chin, Lee Cheong, Chang Ti, Chung Tai Sang, T. Kat Poo, L. Akau, Cheong Jack Quon, Lum Mun Tai, Wai Tuk Sun, Chung Wai Nam.

W. S. Akana is the superintendent and Chan Kok Sun and Li Kai Fui, a graduate of Dr. Kee's college in Canton, are the house physicians. There were no beds placed in the lower wards at the opening, as the room was needed to accommodate the public. The upper floor has one large ward with ten beds, and a number of smaller ones with four, two and single beds. The bedsteads are of iron and bronze, with a device for raising and lowering the heads, and they are fitted with both wire and stuffed mattresses. At present there are forty beds provided, but there is room for as many more when required.

There are few more wholesome locations in Honolulu for a hospital, as the site gets both sea and mountain breezes. A beautiful view seaward over the vast Palama rice plantation is had from the rear balcony. The grounds are tastefully laid out with drives and walks, and a lawn and a garden are being cultivated. The kitchen and dining room are in a detached building, connected with the main one by a roofed platform. Brick ovens and ranges, with other conveniences, are to be found in the kitchen.

Kan Wing Chew was the architect of the hospital, both drawing the plans and superintending the construction. He spared neither time nor trouble in seeing that everything was done right, but he gave his entire services free of charge. Otherwise, there would have been less cause of congratulation, at the opening, for the remarkable cheapness of the structure.

The origin of the hospital fund is an interesting story. In the old Volunteer Fire Department each company had a fund of its own, chiefly for sick and funeral benefits. China Engine Co. 5 owned its own steam fire engine, it having been bought by the Chinese merchants. When the Provisional Government had changed the fire department to a paid one, the volunteer companies adopted various methods of distributing their funds. The Chinese fire laddies had about $1500 in their treasury, and they voted to hand it over to the United Chinese Society, with a suggestion that it form the nucleus of a hospital fund. The engine was sold to the Government and the proceeds were added to the fund, which was lately brought up to the required amount by subscription.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Hanapepe School Gets a New Principal—Teachers Changed.

At the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon the resignation of Miss Edith Mist as a teacher in the public schools was accepted.

By order of the Board no change will be made in the methods of teaching music at Pohukaina school at present.

Residents of Kaipuhua, Kohala, petitioned for the establishment of a school at that place and offered the use of necessary buildings on condition they be allowed to name the teacher. Action deferred.

A letter from H. Z. Austin of Kapaa regarding a substitute teacher for his wife, led to the following changes being made: It was decided that Mr. Austin be transferred to Hanapepe, in place of Mr. Scribner; that the place of substitute for Mrs. Austin be offered to Mrs. Neal, and that Mr. Brodie be appointed to Kapaa in place of Mr. Austin.

Committed for Trial.

In the District Court this morning Judge de la Vergne held the preliminary investigation in the case of D. K. Brown, accused of embezzlement in converting to his own use a bicycle valued at $40, the property of N. F. Burgess which had been entrusted to his care. At its conclusion an order was entered committing the defendant for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court, with bail fixed at $200. Bail will probably be furnished during the day.

IN THE HIGHER COURTS

ORDER OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE IN HONOLULU.

Change of Trustee of the Cartwright Minors Settlement—Expenses of February Term.

The expenses of the February term of the First Circuit Court were as follows: Hawaiian jurors, $530; foreign jurors, $640; stenographers and interpreters, $100; total, $1270.

Judge Perry heard the matter of the resignation of Bruce Cartwright as trustee of his brother A. J. Cartwright's minor children's settlement. A. S. Humphreys appeared for the settlors; A. J. Cartwright, one of the settlors, present; J. A. Magoon, guardian ad litem appointed by the Court, for the minors. Certain objections to the procedure by Mr. Magoon were admitted sound by Mr. Humphreys, but by mutual consent this arrangement was made, viz.: the resignation to be accepted; the Court to appoint a new trustee, as in the absence of one the trustees could not appoint a substitute for either; J. M. Monsarrat, suggested by the settlors, to be such new trustee, and to file a bond with sufficient securities in the sum of $28,000. A. J. Cartwright stated that he would personally pay Mr. Magoon's fee of $50 and the costs of court.

Judge Perry granted the petition of Nannie R. Rice, guardian of Robert E. Brewer, to sell real estate of the ward under $350 bond. W. A. Henshall for petitioner. The property to be sold is situate at Judd and Liliha streets and contains one and 42-100ths acres.

Board of Agriculture.

Minister King presided over a meeting of the Board of Agriculture yesterday afternoon. The transfer of the forester and laborers from Makiki nursery to Nuuanu valley was ordered. Secretary Marsden was granted three months leave of absence from April 1 on account of poor health.

Wray Taylor was appointed to act in Commissioner Marsden's place during his absence. The balance of the meeting was taken up with a discussion on matters pertaining to the work being carried on under the supervision of the board.

"Where's the Fire?"

When Frank Vida had the misfortune to have a lamp upset last night, he kept cool until he rang in the alarm of fire. His brother Dan, who was in another part of the house, knew nothing about the mishap and, hearing the whistles, went to the telephone and asked Central, "Where's the fire?" He was astounded to hear the reply, "At Vida's house on King street," and would have contradicted Central only for his brother's cry of "Fire!" raised for the first time at that moment.

The New Pali Road.

Minister King stated to a reporter at noon today that work on the new Pali road, for which an appropriation was made by the last Legislature, would be commenced as soon as Surveyor Bruner had completed the setting of the necessary stakes. Mr. Bruner commenced his work on Wednesday.

THE WISE BACHELOR.

What He Thinks He Knows About Men and Women.

When a woman wants to brag to other women, she says it's such an awful bore to keep a bunkbook.

The most fatal kind of heart failure is the kind people don't die of.

Women have such queer ideas about literature because they think in dialect.

No man who likes to listen to his lit- tle child when she says her prayers can be wholly irreligious.

When a woman says, "That's just like her!" you may know she's tickled to hear it.

A girl never thinks that the man she marries is going to be the kind to wear his old coat around the house.

When a girl gets married, all the women who don't like her begin to watch for her bad traits to show in her children.

When a woman hears that a man she has met has done something bad, she will never admit that she didn't expect it all along.

Very few women can preserve their respect for their husbands when they see them get rattled making a speech in public.

A child carries its love found happiness to the one it loves best, a woman to the one she hates most.

As soon as a man gets his first gray hairs he begins to boast to his wife of the business worries he has.

The real reason why women like cats is probably because they don't often track mud all over the floor.

After a girl gets married she never gets off her old joke about cigar ashes keeping moths out of the carpet.

When a girl looks so happy when she gets her engagement ring, she is thinking how she will enjoy showing it to another girl.—New York Press.

An Old Rag.

So many oriental rugs are made in this country that representatives of the industry recently had a hearing before congress to call attention to the prevalent practice of undervaluing imported rugs at the custom houses and to ask for a higher duty. Several Chicago concerns are not only making oriental rugs right along, but they are also wiping out time as well as space.

"Do you make antique rugs here, too?" I inquired the other day of a genuine Armenian, who had risen from a half finished piece of work.

"Oh, yes," he said, showing his ivory; "dees rag, when he finished, is two hundred year old."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Hard One For the Old Man.

"Papa," said the thoughtful little son of the railroad president, "if husband and wife are really one?"
"As they are, my boy," put in the railroad president.
"—Why is it you make 'em pay two fares to ride on your road?"—Chicago Post.

Tit For Tat.

Mother—You don't know how you worry me, dear. Why, my hair is turning gray!
Florrie—My, how you must have worried grandma! Her hair is all white.

Its Definition.

Son—Papa, what is history?
Great Historian—History, my son, is an individual opinion on an aggregation of hearsay evidence highly colored by the prejudice of the witness.—New York Press.

Citizens Attention.

These are days of considerable anxiety and perplexity to all who have possessions or other interests in the Republic of Hawaii, and it is time that our citizens came to a mutual understanding on several important issues. The prospects for Annexation appear at present vague and indistinct, and our destiny cannot be foretold with certainty. There are those, also, who still fondly cling to the hope of a return to the old order of things, and who cannot be persuaded otherwise, yet this outlook appears far more hazy than that of Annexation even to the most hopeful disciples of the Monarchy. But, fortunately, in the midst of all this uncertainty there is solace in the fact that Buffalo Beer has come to stay and that patrons of all sorts, and opinions may equally share the benefits of its invigorating and sustaining properties. We are moreover assured that this favorite brew will continue to be dispensed as heretofore at the Royal, Pacific and Cosmopolitan Saloons.

A feature of aluminum ware is the ease with which it is cleaned. No matter how dark it may get over the fire, a pinch of soda in the water in which the utensil is washed will clean it as bright as polished silver. The impression has gone forth that aluminum will not stand hard knocks. This is a mistake, because when it sustains such injuries as usually happen tin pans, etc., just push it back in place and it is as good as new.

Manufacturers have so added to the list of articles that there are few things used in the kitchen that are not made of it. We have a large stock of this ware, and a large assortment, a partial list of which is here given:

- Saucepans, Fry Pans, Preserving Kettles, Tea Kettles, Coffee Pots, Tea Pots, Tea Steepers; Gallon, Quart and Pint Measures; Collapsible Cups, Cocktail and Lemonade Shakers, Funnels, Dippers, Cake Pans, Perfection Cake Pans, Lemonade Servers, Muffin Tins, Corn Cake Pans, Bread Tins, Rice Boilers, Drip Pans, Cake Plates, Dish Pans, Perfection Cake Plates, Bread Mixers, Chafing Dishes, Lemon Squeezers and Lipped Saucepans.

RUGS AND CARPETS.

Japanese Cottons and Jute-Fur Rugs. The Napoleonic Wreaths and Bees. Handsome parquet floors require few if any rugs, but in bedrooms with floors of hard wood or the commoner kind stained a rug will be found an actual necessity, especially in cold weather. Axminster, wilton and Brussels can all be purchased by the yard and made into rugs of any desired size, with deep borders to match. Japanese cotton are much cheaper than these and are exceedingly pretty, but the most artistic of all are the jute rugs, which masquerade under the titles saracen, byzantine, isphahan and saki. These come in the softest, most refined combinations of colors or else in brilliant blues, yellows and scarlets and are but little affected by sunlight. They wear very well indeed and are not at all expensive, a rug 6 feet long and 9 feet wide costing only $8. They are also reversible in many cases and come fringed or not, as desired. They are light enough to be taken out of doors and well shaken without much exertion and are now and then used for portieres as well as rugs. For the drawing room and library the Persian rug remains the favorite.

The old fashioned felt druggot has almost completely gone out of fashion, but in its place have come ingrain art squares of different thicknesses, which are far more attractive and do not cost so very much more. It is very poor policy to buy these in anything but pure wool, for the mixed cotton and wool ones soon lose color and do not wear well.

The fur rugs are always stylish in cold weather. Even the coarser kind show off to great advantage when spread before an open fire. The newest goatskins have white centers in the shape of an animal outspread, with a 16 inch border of deep red, black, brown or even lavender fur or rather goat's hair. Many of the fur rugs have the heads of the animals left on and mounted, but it is hardly necessary to say that when arranged in this manner bearskins, tiger skins and buffalo hides are not suitable for any but the largest rooms.

For those who do not care for bare floors and rugs there are most beautiful designs in carpets. Even the cheapest of ingrain is made with distinctly artistic effect in colors that harmonize with different wall papers and show off to advantage the other furnishings, if the selections are made with care.

It is a singular fact that the colors which are fashionable in dress fabrics or millinery are generally the favorites in carpets and furniture coverings. The Napoleonic craze has made green in all shades the leading hue in silks, velvets and ribbons. So green appears in the newest carpets and rugs, from brilliant emerald to the deep moss; also the Napoleonic wreaths and bees are used in many designs, says The Standard Designer, the source of the foregoing.

FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1897.

THE CHINESE HOSPITAL.

Yesterday brought forth a great event for the Chinese colony of Honolulu and the whole group. It was an event that reflected much honor on the wealthy Chinese of this city, and one in which all humane hearts cannot but rejoice. Practical regard for suffering humanity is a criterion of civilization, and the Chinese evince that noteworthy by providing a hospital for their own sick and injured folk. Their leaders on the occasion of the institution's formal opening fitly characterized the starting of the enterprise as a step onward and upward. Their clear admission that western ways are worthy of adoption by their conservative race, if it were only in this one respect of care for the sick and suffering, goes some way in proving that if the Chinese are slow to change they are far from being of stagnant mind. Those of other nationalities who were present at the ceremonies in question would have noticed other evidences in the same line. Most of the younger men of the Chinese there, in particular those brought up and educated here, were dressed in the European style. The Chinese mode is much the more artistic, prettier and more comfortable, and the change must be taken as a real sacrifice for the sake of coming so much nearer into harmony with those nationalities from whom they have obtained real benefits, compared with which the mere matter of clothes sinks into insignificance. What was most important of all, in connection with the event, was beautifully referred to by Mr. Damon. That is, the advance toward the grand ideal, to which all true civilization is tending, of human brotherhood.

The Stilted In Juvenile Literature.

There is no reason why people, because they are virtuous or unvirtuous, should converse in stilted and unnatural language. A concrete burglar in one of those edifying stories confesses poetically, "My sins are more numerous than the hairs of my head or the sands of the seashore," which was probably true, but not precisely the way in which the 1911 Sicosses of real life are wont to acknowledge the fact. In another tale, an English one this time, a little girl named Helen rashly asks her father for some trilling information. He gives it with the usual candor and then adds by way of commendation, "Many children are so foolish as to be ashamed to let those they converse with discover that they do not comprehend everything that is said to them, by which means they often imbibes erroneous ideas and perhaps remain in ignorance on many essential subjects, when by questioning their friends they might easily have obtained correct and useful knowledge." If Helen ever ventured on another query after that, she deserved her fate.—Agnes Repplier in Scribner's.

Royal Roads.

People will discover at last that royal roads to anything can no more be laid in iron than they can in dust; that there are, in fact, no royal roads to anywhere worth going to; that, if there were, it would that instant cease to be worth going to—I mean so far as the things to be obtained are in any way estimable in terms of price, for there are two classes of precious things in the world—those that God gives us for nothing—sun, air and life (both mortal and immortal), and the secondarily precious things which he gives us for a price. These secondarily precious things, worldly wine and milk, can only be bought for definite money. They never can be cheapened. No cheating nor bargaining will ever get a single thing out of nature's establishment at half price. Do we want to be strong? We must work. To be hungry? We must starve. To be happy? We must be kind. To be wise? We must look and think.—Ruskin.

Whitewash the Oven.

Good baking requires clean ovens, a caution much more necessary than would appear. There is a distinctly different flavor in bread and meats baked in tiled ovens from those cooked in the black, sooty ovens of the average range. A suggestion is to whitewash range ovens, after they have been scrupulously cleaned, to add to their light and wholesomeness.

Awfully Slow.

He—Darling, I have loved you ever since first we met.
She—Well, why didn't you say so long ago? Did you think I was a mind reader?
—Cleveland Leader.

That picture in King Bros' window which has attracted so much attention is not the portrait of anyone here.

HIS DEFENSE OUTLINED

WHY BUTLER TOOK CAPTAIN WELLER'S NAME.

The Murderer Was a Marine on H. M. S. Triumph When at Honolulu in 1887.

The last mail from the Coast brought little news of import concerning the Australian murderer Butler or Ashe, the extradition proceedings not yet having ended. There is little doubt that they would be finished in time to allow of his sailing on the Alameda which is due at this port next Thursday. His attorneys were having trouble with the United States Court, having endeavored in the state courts to levy an attachment for their fees on the jewelry and other property found in Butler's possession and needed as evidence in his trials. For this they have been cited for contempt before the United States Court on direct orders from the Attorney-General at Washington, and their chances for heavy punishment are good, as United States courts always punish contempt with all the severity the law allows.

From a recent issue of The Call it would appear that Butler was in Honolulu in 1887, being at that time on H. M. S. Triumph as a marine. He was known on board that vessel as "Darkie" Ashe. He was identified the other day in San Francisco by John Conway, now in the employ of Goodall, Perkins & Co., and Thomas Collins, in the office of the Superintendent of Streets, who were at one time sailors on board H. M. S. Triumph.

When the two old sailors saw the picture of Butler they recognized the face. Collins was positive the man was their old shipmate Ashe, and to make sure Conway went to see him a few days ago. The man Ashe was with Conway and Collins in 1886, when the Triumph, while on her way out here from England, put into Chile. While there a detachment of men were put on board from the ship Liffey, which was then doing duty as a prison ship for the confinement of minor offenders. Ashe was among these. He had been confined on board the Liffey for stealing a ring. At Victoria Conway and Collins, whose terms had expired, left the ship, and lost sight of Ashe.

At the City Prison Conway and Butler recognized each other immediately, and they talked for some time. To Conway it is understood Butler outlined his proposed defense when he is tried in Australia, and also his reasons for now being known as Weller.

Conway has told his friends that Ashe made this statement. He had a mining claim in the Blue Mountains, but had no capital to work it, consequently he advertised in the Sydney papers for a companion with some means. Captain Lee Weller responded, he said, and agreed to join him.

On the day of Weller's death Butler said he had left the place where the mine was located, and on his return he found the dead body of Weller in the hole which he had been digging.

He said he was "thunderstruck" at this discovery and for a time did not know what to do. To return to Sydney and report the death of his late companion would create suspicion of his being the murderer, and as he had no way of disproving this he decided to cover the body up and get out of the country the best and quickest way he could. Consequently he said he made his way to Newcastle and shipped on the Swanhilda under the name Lee Weller, thinking that should any inquiry be made for Weller the conclusion would be arrived at that he had shipped and left the colonies, thus averting any investigation as to what had become of him. The carrying away of the effects of Weller, he continued, was a part of the plan, so nothing could be found belonging to the victim that might in any way lead to an inquiry as to his whereabouts.

This, it is understood, will be Butler's defense when placed on trial in Sydney.

Consumption is more prevalent in Ireland than in either England or Wales.

EVERYBODY PLAY BALL

SUCCESSFUL MEETING OF THE BASEBALL LEAGUE TODAY.

Three Teams Will Play a Series of Twenty-one Games—Maui Team Not Admitted.

There was a meeting of delegates to the Hawaiian Baseball League this afternoon at which Colonel J. H. Fisher kindly officiated as chairman in the absence of H. M. Whitney Jr., who was unable to attend. The following were present: For the Stars—J. O. Carter Jr., Harry Wilder and Tom Pryce. For the First Regiments—A. H. Moore, J. F. O'Connor and Captain A. Coyne. For the St. Louis team—James A. Thompson and Pat Gleason.

J. O. Carter Jr. was elected secretary pro tem and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

James A. Thompson made a verbal application on behalf of the St. Louis team's admission to the League, and on motion of J. O. Carter the club was duly admitted.

J. O. Carter then read the following letter from the Maui boys: KAHULUI, MAUI, January 25, 1897. Mr. J. O. CARTER, Mgr., Star Baseball Club:

Dear sir:—In behalf of the Maui ball players, and as a representative of my team, we put before you, and the Honolulu Baseball League, a proposition for consideration as found below:

That after a most successful meeting, we finally came to the following conclusions:

That we should form an organization on Maui, consisting of Joe Ross and Akina as well as other Mauities, as, Chas. Chillingworth, Kanka, etc., and ask permission to enter in the league as a Maui team; to represent that Island in the great race for baseball honors.

Below will be found the following conclusions arrived at:

(1). That an organization of a Maui team take place to enter the H. B. League.

(2). That the players consist of the old players of the Wailuku baseball team, and several outsiders to complete the ten.

(3). That we will only join the league on one condition, and this is, reasonable terms, as:

We ask for one-half of the gate receipts to pay our expenses with.

(4). That we are willing to have the schedule arranged in this manner: That the teams of Honolulu play a game each among themselves, then we will go down and remain three Saturdays and play a game each with the three teams.

(5). That all the games be played in Honolulu, in the league grounds.

Respectfully yours,
HARRY C. MOSSMAN,
Acting for Maui.

The statement being made that the League had no power to make special terms with any club, that being a matter resting solely with the Association, on motion of J. A. Thompson the application was rejected.

The following officers were then elected for the present year by a unanimous vote:

President—H. M. Whitney Jr.
Vice-President—Arthur Coyne.
Secretary and Treasurer—W. C. Wilder Jr.

H. M. Whitney was elected official umpire for the season with power to appoint substitutes and assistants.

At this juncture Colonel Fisher was called away and Vice-president Coyne officiated in the chair for the balance of the meeting.

On motion H. M. Whitney Jr. was appointed a committee of one to confer with the officers of the Hawaiian Baseball Association and arrange terms, percentage of games, etc., for the season, the rates agreed on not to be less than those of last year.

It was unanimously agreed that a schedule of twenty-one games should be played this season.

After a good deal of discussion, a motion finally prevailed fixing the date of the first game on Saturday, April 24.

The captains of the three teams then proceeded to draw lots for the first two games with the result that the Stars and First Regiments will play on April 24, the First Regiments and St. Louis on May 1 and the Stars and St. Louis on May 8.

The captains of the three clubs were authorized to draw up the balance of the game schedule according to the drawing.

On motion the Baseball Rules of 1896 were adopted as a whole, which makes the pitcher's box just 60 feet 5 inches from the home plate.

Mr. O'Connor from the First Regiments brought up the subject of the approaching tour of the Australian baseball team, but it was decided to leave the matter of a game with them to the three captains, as the League could take no official action. The sentiment among the delegates was decidedly in favor of getting up a special team to take the conceit out of the men from the Antipodes.

The best of good feeling prevailed at the meeting and all present promised to do their best to make the season of 1897 the most successful in the baseball history of the Islands.

When "The Fever,"

the Bicycling fever, catches you (or you catch it) we would like a chance to prescribe for you, not that we expect to effect a cure, only to sell you a wonder in wheels.

This is what one of the Hawaiian College boys writes to his father regarding the best wheel to buy for his sister: "I hold the Rambler second to none in the country (the U. S.), and if anyone can show a wheel which has traveled as many miles as mine has with as little expense as mine I would very much like to see it. Besides changing the gear from 64 to 70 and the saddle to one of later pattern my entire expense for the wheel has been fifty cents. That I think is a pretty good record, don't you? I am very much afraid that my tires, the same ones I got on the machine, will not last me through the next season. They are almost worn through all over. It will cost me from $12 to $15 to get new tires put on, but it is legitimate wear. I never knew a pair of tires to wear as long and as well as these have, considering the amount of travel. When you consider that they have traveled as far as from Cleveland, O., to Honolulu, over all sorts of roads and paths, you will see that they must needs wear some."

The above opinion you will find to be the opinion of about every rider of a Rambler in this city, and there are a lot of Rambler riders here. Our trouble has been to get enough wheels, the makers not realizing that we want '97 stock before the snow has melted in their country. By the Australia this week we received 7 ladies' wheels, and six of them we have sold. By the Miowera mail we ordered 20 Ramblers and by this week's mail we are ordering 5 more, and we have orders in for 2 Racers, so by return Australia we will have 27 Ramblers, and in future we do not propose to lose the sale of any wheels by not having them on hand. Remember that the Rambler is fitted with the only tire that has proved entirely satisfactory in this country, the great "G. & J." There are imitations to this tire to be found here, but if you don't find it out when you buy them, you will after you have used them a while, to your sorrow. The genuine "G. & J." tire is to be had only at the Rambler Agency, and there you can get the right article, fully guaranteed.

could not understand our Shirt Waist order for mid-winter, so the filling was delayed a steamer. If it had been for furs we would have had the goods. Now they are here—a hundred different styles everyone prettier than its mate.

No telling how many dozen; enough for an ordinary store, but half of them may be gone by noon today. Twenty cases opened at noon today.

Other goods for ladies were marked this morning and are ready for your inspection; a better lot was never shown, nor better prices asked—for you. New goods there, the latest ideas of Parisian and English makers.

Organdie Alixe, Valencia, Cotton Jaconet, Parisian Organdie, Swiss Organdies, Cotton Novelties, Pineapple Grenadine, some people call them, that are beautiful effects. As firm as Silk Grenadines and pretty—cotton prettiness.

Read of the other goods, new today. Swiss Book Muslin, White Cotton Pique, (plain or figured); Fancy Figured Ribbon, Tafeta Ribbons, Yoking Embroidery, Striped Tucking, Awning Cloth, Figured Dimity 6-8-12 yards for a dollar; Tarleton all shades, Linen Torchon Lace, Valenciennes Lace, Puggarees, etc.

VIOLIN PLAYING.
Management of the Left Hand—Playing in Tune—In Regard to Strings.

After a reasonably good bowing has been acquired, says a writer in The Ladies' Home Journal, the study of the left hand should be taken up. The neck of the violin must be held between the thumb and the first finger where it joins the hand. The entire length of the finger must be held above the edge of the finger board, and the fingers must fall double jointed and like the hammers of a piano on the strings—the very ends of the fingers touching the strings. In order to produce a clear tone the fingers must be pressed very hard on the strings. "Strong with the fingers, light with the bow" is the constant refrain of one of the most celebrated teachers.

The first difficulty encountered is that of playing in tune. As the violin is not supplied with frets like the guitar or mandolin the ear is the only guide. Important as the practice of the scales is on other instruments, it is doubly important on the violin, as it is by scale study principally that the ability to play in tune is acquired. The playing of familiar melodies is also of very great advantage to the beginner, as he can tell when he is playing out of tune, where in the case of an exercise with which he is unacquainted he cannot so easily distinguish this fault. In playing scale passages the student must constantly ask himself whether the next note is a whole step or a half step distant before he plays it. If he will go through the exercise beforehand and mark the whole steps and half steps, he will execute it in much better tune when he comes to play it.

In regard to strings, the best are the cheapest, as they last longer and give a better tone. The G should be of gut wrapped with pure silver wire. The A and D should be of Italian gut, and the E can be of either gut or silk. Silk E strings give a poor, dull tone, very different from the singing brilliance of good Italian gut E's. They are good for warm weather playing or for persons whose fingers perspire very freely. The hair of the bow should be renewed every two months in the case of players who practice very much, as it wears smooth and will not take hold of the string. The violin should always be kept strung up in pitch. Do not let down the strings of the instrument with the mistaken idea that you will save some of them thereby. Never neglect an opportunity to hear good violinists. Something can be learned from each. A student learns as much from hearing others play as from private lessons with a teacher. If you can only take a few lessons, let it be from the best teacher you can find.

Mr. C. W. MACFARLANE:—It affords me pleasure to recommend, to any one whose hair is falling out, the use of DR. POTTIE'S HAIR OIL. My hair was coming out at such a rate as led me to believe that I would soon become bald. After using the oil for five weeks this ceased entirely; none whatever is now falling out. I consider it the best and only worthy remedy for this trouble and also recommend it as a stimulant to new growth.

HIS ONLY DUEL.
It Was a Newspaper Affair, and Both Editors Received a Charge.
The old editor had the inside track and was doing the talking.
"I never had more than one duel," he began.
"You speak as if one were not enough," interrupted a listener.
"It was an ample sufficiency," continued the editor with a smile. "I was at the time of its occurrence 29 years of age and the editor of the Stungville Vindicator. I was also a hot headed youth with a yearn for glory. In the county adjoining was a 'lonesome' contemporary of mine, built on about the same lines I was, and it wasn't more than a year after we had been contemporaries until we were in a fine row. He would write scathing editorials, and so would I, and finally we dropped our pens and took up pistols—that is, we agreed to fight a duel.
"Fortunately for us we had friends who were more sensible than we were, who took charge of all the arrangements for the bloody affray. It was decided by them that the duel should take place and that we should fire two shots at each other, the weapons being double barrel shotguns and the distance ten paces. That suited us exactly, for we were extremely bloodthirsty and wanted each other's gore in large quantities. The fight was to take place at 6 o'clock in the morning in a secluded spot, and we were there promptly with our seconds. Our instructions were to fire the first shot after counting three, and if one or both survived another shot might be fired as quickly as the principal could get his gun ready.
"That made it a regular rough and tumble for half the fight, and also made it more interesting. It isn't necessary for me to go into details of what I thought 'just before the battle, mother,' suffice it to say I thought writing scathing editorials was preferable to shotguns at 6 a. m. However, we kept our nerve and took our places ready for business. And I think we meant business, for we took aim right at each other. Then came the counting, and finally the deciding 'three,' and bang went both guns at once. I felt as if I had caught an entire carload of shot from my face down, and I tumbled over on the grass. What had become of my opponent did not greatly concern me at that supreme moment, for I was wondering why I was not dead.
"In a half minute the doctor was feeling me, and after a minute or two more he said I had been miraculously saved, and pulled me to my feet. Evidently my opponent had also been miraculously saved, for he was standing about ten feet away from me with his doctor, and the sight he presented made me forget all about the duel and break into roars of laughter. I appeared to have the same effect on him, for he began laughing at me. Then we both got mad, and in five minutes we had licked seconds, doctors and everybody else on hand and run them clean out of the woods.
"This being accomplished, we shook hands and took a look at ourselves in a glass, which had evidently been brought for our benefit. Permit me to omit an elaborate description of what we looked like. Those confounded seconds had loaded our guns to the muzzle with printer's ink, and the way it was splattered over us was enough to have made us laugh at first and then to lick the crowd that put the job up on us. However, we had showed we had sand, and the jokers kept in hiding until we announced in our respective papers that all was forgiven, and the hatchet was dead and buried. That was my only duel," concluded the editor, "and I am extremely glad that the guns were loaded with ink instead of buckshot."—Washington Star.

IN THE HANDS OF REGULARS.
NEWPORT, Idaho.—A band of masked regulars went to the house of C. W. Reddick, seized and dragged him outside, where they gave him a terrible beating with horsewhips. The alleged offense on the part of Reddick was that he absolutely refused to drink any but Rainier Beer, and gave as a reason that the others were inferior. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion saloon.

READY FOR WAR.

The sentiment in favor of the Cuban insurgents seems to be growing every day. In Washington the cause of the insurgents is warmly espoused. Yesterday the Cameron resolution, which the morning dispatches reported would probably be introduced into the Senate Monday, was the cause of much comment. According to Secretary of State Olney, this resolution practically means war with Spain. There is no danger or probability that war with Spain will in the least affect the quality of Rainier Beer. No matter what happens Rainier Beer will always be the best. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion Saloon.

of Interest to Shipping Men.

A press dispatch from Washington, February 12, says: Deputy Controller Bowers has rendered a decision on the claim of Grace & Co, of New York, against the Government for $840, due them on account of loss of time in the discharge of a cargo of coal in the harbor of Honolulu. The claim is allowed and the Deputy Controller, in the course of his decision, lays down a number of important principles.

First - That under a charter the lay days, or days within which the shipowner agrees to discharge his cargo, shall commence at the time the vessel is reported to the consignee as ready to unload, and that this notice imposes upon the consignee the duty of promptly designating the place of discharge.

Second - When, after the designation of the place of discharge by the consignee it becomes necessary to interrupt the discharging by reason of the arrival of steamers having a prior and superior right to the wharf designated, and the vessel is hauled away and loses time in discharge, the time so lost must be deducted from the lay days reserved in the charter for the consignee.

In this case the Government engaged Grace & Co to transport a cargo of coal to Honolulu, but for some reason the United States Consul-General at that port failed to designate a place for the discharge of the cargo until seven days had elapsed. - S F Com News.
