THE CHINESE THEATER.

FORMALLY DEDICATED AMID IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.

The Goddess Koon Yum Taken From the Temple to the Theater and Back.

All Chinatown was agog yesterday morning and hacks crowded with visitors and musicians were busy for hours conveying loads to the new Chinese theater. The occasion of the ceremonies, as told to a BULLETIN representative who viewed the proceedings, was of a two-fold nature, being partly a dedication of the new theater and partly to celebrate the signing of a lease of the property to the present proprietors.

Probably the most interesting part of the ceremony was the conveyance of one of the principal idols from the King street temple to the theater and back again. This was an image of Koon Yum, who is the Chinese Goddess of Mercy, and held in high repute by all good Chinese. The image was accompanied by numerous hacks in which were Chinese dressed in their best together with musicians who made loud and discordant sounds with pipes, flutes, flageolets, fiddles, drums, cymbals and other instruments dear to the celestial ear. Yesterday was the goddess's birthday, which probably had something to do with parading her image in the streets.

After Koon Yum had been restored to her usual resting place in the temple the ceremonies closed with a grand display of fireworks and the rest of the day was spent by the participants in feasting and festivity.

The new Chinese theater has commenced its season most auspiciously and a number of white patrons have been noticed there of late. If the proprietors would fix up some better accommodations for ladies and their escorts, it might be to their advantage, as many Caucasians who would like to attend are kept from doing so by the poor accommodations.

The Chinese say the performance is first-class, as they view it, and it is well worth a visit to hear the band and see the great acrobat who draws all Chinatown to his performances.

THE WORLD'S OLDEST MAN.

He is a Salvadoran and One Hundred and Eighty-Six.

The oldest man in the world, it is said, is a citizen of Bogota, in the republic of Salvador. He declares that he is 186 years old, but, from the tales his neighbors and relatives tell, he is much older than he claims to be.

He is a half-breed Indian and Spaniard, and his name is Michael Solis. He lives with an old planter named Luis Hernandez, who is himself 89 years of age. Hernandez says that as long ago as he can remember old Michael was known as a man far past the century mark. It has also been ascertained direct from the records that "one Michael Solis, a man now 125 years of age," contributed ten days' work toward building the Franciscan Convent which was erected in San Sebastian in 1812. If it is really true that the old patriarch was 125 years old in 1812, he has now passed the second century mile post and is fast winding out the first decade of the third.

Doctors who have lately made a study of the case of this double centurian say that there is not an ounce of meat on his bones and that the skin, which resembles parchment, is drawn so tightly over his frame that it cannot be pinched up between thumb and finger. He is unable to walk, but has good hearing and sound eyesight and a large crop of perfectly snow-white hair and beard.—New Orleans Picayune.

CAUGHT BY A DETECTIVE.

The Woman Who Swindled Rev. Mackintosh is Found.

The account of the manner in which a native woman victimized Rev. Alex. Mackintosh last Saturday evening and obtained $5 from him upon the pretences that she needed the money to pay the balance on a coffin needed to bury her sister was published exclusively in Tuesday's BULLETIN. The arrest was made by detective Kaapa to whom the matter had been referred by the Marshal. He discovered that one of the McShane boys had visited this city from Ewa on Saturday and told several persons that his mother was ill.

Yesterday morning the detective visited Mr. Mackintosh and obtained from him as complete a description of the girl as he could give. He could only tell, however, that she was tall and of light complexion and spoke good English. The description was enough, however, for the detective and he soon afterwards called at the King's boothhouse and asked for Elizabeth Waikulani. She was taken to the station house and afterwards to Mr. Mackintosh's house, where she was at once identified by that gentleman and his wife. After he talked to the girl in private for some time she confessed the whole affair to Mr. Mackintosh but would not state who told her to commit the fraud. She will not be prosecuted.

Hottest Mines in the World.

The hottest mines in the world are the Constock. On the lower levels the heat is so great that the men cannot work over ten or fifteen minutes at a time. Every known means of mitigating the heat have been tried in vain. Ice melts before it reaches the bottom of the shafts.

Judiciary Jottings.

Tomorrow is the day for proof of claims and election of assignee in the matter of the bankruptcy of Kasamatsu, who did business on Fort street under the name of the Pacific Trading Company.

Hearings in the estates of Callot, Moriseau and Ono Iuko are due at Circuit Court chambers tomorrow.

The Woodward trial is on its third day, and the end yet distant at noon.

The Supreme Court was hearing Moorhead vs. Dayton this morning. Only the Chief Justice and the Second Associate Justice are on the bench.

Silly Sailors.

The sailors on the ship Lancing made a queer mistake when they reached San Francisco. They shipped with the understanding that they were to be paid off in San Francisco. Notwithstanding this a dozen of them dropped over the side within five hours after arrival there and so forfeited all claim for wages by desertion.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

MORE OF THE RESTRICTIONS ON FISHING REMOVED.

Dr. Russell Retires With a Vote of Thanks—Irrigation Ditch With a Deadly Record.

President J. T. Waterhouse, T. F. Lansing, David Kelipio, Drs. Emerson, Day and Wood, Minister Cooper, Executive officer C. B. Reynolds and Secretary Chas. Wilcox constituted a full attendance at the meeting of the Board of Health yesterday.

It was decided to take $25,000 from the cholera expenses to be used for the artesian water pumping plant.

A letter from Ernest Wodehouse, asking that fishing at Kukulua be permitted, resulted in the removal of restrictions from fishing east of the new retaining wall and on the west side of the entrance to Kalia.

Superintendent Brown of the Water Works informed the Board that vessels in port were using fresh water to wash their decks without paying for it. It was thereupon decided that vessels should use water from the harbor for that purpose.

Dr. Russell's resignation as district physician of Waianae was accepted, the Board returning him a vote of thanks for his valuable services.

Father Conradi remonstrated in a letter against his removal from the Leper Settlement.

On the report of a committee an application of a certain Chinese doctor for a license was refused.

Letters were received from W. W. Hall and P. C. Jones, both strongly advising that the irrigating ditch passing through their residence lots and those of others on Nuuanu avenue be not reopened.

It was closed by order of the Board while cholera was prevailing, and leave has lately been given to reopen it providing connections with cesspools and drains be severed. Mr. Hall attributes the malarial fever to which the locality has long been subject to that ditch, recalling thirteen cases of which five were fatal. He points out that there are diseases to be dreaded besides cholera.

"Are You An American?"

Captain John Ross was seen by a BULLETIN reporter and asked if there was any truth in the rumor published in the Advertiser about him. It was that Secretary of State Olney would not recognize his claim against the Hawaiian Government for his imprisonment in January, because he had lived thirty years out of the United States. He said he had just heard of the publication in the Advertiser, and all he had to say was that perhaps Secretary Olney had nothing to do with it. His claim would be heard in the United States Senate.

Nuuanu Irrigation Ditch.

A water right question is involved in the Nuuanu irrigation ditch matter. Should the right be declared in the event of litigation, it may be a question whether the expense of reopening the ditch, closed by order of the Board of Health at the time of the cholera, should be borne by the Government or by the owners through whose land it runs. Some of them went to much expense in closing it, and besides they regard the ditch as a menace to health.

OUR BICYCLE CONTEST.

RESULTS OF THE COUNT MADE AT NOON TODAY.

A Large Vote Divided Among the Three Principal Contestants—Ruby Dexter Improving.

By way of a variation in the reports of the BULLETIN's Bicycle Contest, a picture of Ruby Dexter is presented in this issue. This popular young wheelman is unfortunately unable to take any part in the Advertiser's race on Saturday, as it is doubtful if he will be able to be out of bed by that time. His many friends will be glad to know that at 2 o'clock this afternoon he was still improving and that the fever was decreasing. His early recovery is hoped for by everyone.

RUBY DEXTER.

Six hundred and seventy-one votes were counted by the committee at noon today, and if Miss Jennie Giffard had got one more of them she would have received an even 300 or nearly half of them. Her friends must have done some good work for her yesterday and this morning Even with this large vote she is still 142 votes behind Miss Phenie King for first place.

Miss Annie Clarke takes fourth place today with 50 votes and may yet prove a dangerous competitor to some of the others. Miss Mossman's vote is also increased. Mrs. Renner has surprised everyone today, even those who are interesting themselves in her cause, by adding 240 votes to her account, making her third with a total of 402.

In regard to the wheels the Cleveland is still ahead with 1754 votes, an increase of 170 since yesterday. The Rambler, however, gained 331 votes today, reducing the gap between first and second place considerably. The Tribune only gained 7 votes, but the Monarch made a spurt and gained 161 votes on the day.

The case against Mrs. M. Lokai for assault was dismissed in the Police Court this morning.

ON TRIAL FOR RIOTING.

JAPANESE OFFENDERS IN JUDGE PERRY'S COURT.

Sixteen Defendants Plead Not Guilty of Being Disturbers of the Peace.

When Judge Perry's court opened this morning, every chair in the courtroom was occupied, while upward of fifty Japanese stood in the corridor and upon the stairway. Every Japanese editor, most of the leading merchants, and the outgoing secretary of the Japanese legation were present.

The occasion of all this commotion was the case of the Republic of Hawaii vs. Hoshino and fifteen others, charged with riot.

Hoshino, Morita, Kuba, Ueda, Skamoto, Chunda, Noji, Shigen, Hunda, Kumaba, Yama, Gueca, Hanigawa, Ushio, Yamane, Yama, Moto and Kawai were the names of those whose arrest caused such a large crowd to attend the trial.

The proceedings opened by the prosecution dismissing the charge of rioting against the defendants and substituting that of disorderly conduct.

A. G. M. Robertson and G. M. Davis for the defense.

Monahi testified that he lives near Kaunakapili and with others was drinking with the Japanese. The row started by a strange quarrel with another man. He started to stop the row but other Japs interfered and a fight ensued, the Japs fighting each other. He received a severe blow but managed to get onto the way by crawling under a bed. When the native officer entered the Japanese turned and struck him and me too. The door was opened during the fight and we all got out into the street. There were lots of Japs fighting with clubs and sticks and the officer tried to stop them. There were ten Japs in the room, most of them drunk. I went to State House as soon as I got out.

On cross examination the witness gave a minute description of the room and the amount of drink. He had three glasses while he was there but was drunk.

Mrs. Nihon Panawea was the next witness. She lived near the church and saw the Japs fighting about the door. The policeman was trying to get them out of the room and the Japs were beating both of them. She could not tell who they were, however.

Pulehu testified that he was a police officer. Had been on the force about a month. Was on duty near the Empire saloon on Monday night when the row occurred. He got to the room as quick as he could and saw the Japs and the native fighting, but could not tell who commenced the who was to blame. He tried to arrest the native, however, on general principles, but said that he had very hard time of it in doing so. He told what he could remember about the fight but could not identify one of the defendants.

The case is still going on this afternoon and will be apt to consume much time, as the prosecution have about twenty witnesses if they are needed, while the defense may examine thirty or more.

"William," she said severely, "I am surprised that you should so far forget yourself as to balance a horse race."

"I haven't been betting on any horse race," was the reply. "What I bet on was the probability of the horse-owners' Washington Star."

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS.

A Fieldglass That Will Give Distant Objects as Clear View as Near Ones. The principle of the Zeiss opera glass or fieldglass is by no means new, having been discovered, according to some, by the late Professor von Helmholtz, or, according to others, by Purro, an Italian savant, but it is now presented for the first time in commercial form. The purpose is to give to distant objects the impression of relief which we get ordinarily with near ones only. This impression is due to the distance between our two eyes, and if that distance were only great enough the tree a mile away would stand out boldly to the view like the one only a few rods away. The new fieldglass practically gives us this increase of distance between the eyes. Fig. 1 shows the ordinary form and Fig. 2 the arrangement of lenses and reflecting prisms within it. As will be seen, the rays coming from aa are reflected within the prisms to the eyes at bb, the result being the same as if the distance between the eyes were that between a and a.

IMPROVED OPERA GLASS.

The second cut represents another form of the instrument, a description of which The Literary Digest translates from a French journal. The second instrument is constructed on the same principle as the first, though at first sight it seems quite different. It is here shown in its greatest size—that is to say, the objectives are separated by the greatest distance possible, allowing of the greatest sensation of the relief of distant objects. The lenses are not visible, for they are hidden behind the prism that serves to conduct the rays into the instrument. They are placed laterally to the extremities of the tube, where a movable cylinder furnished with an opening serves to disclose them when one wishes to observe and to keep the dust out when the apparatus is out of use. It is possible to move the two arms of the instrument in a direction parallel to that of the handle or to give them an oblique direction.

RELIEF TELESCOPE.

This second apparatus has received the name of "relief telescope," for it serves to accentuate stereoscopic vision, which is indispensable for the study of topography and the appreciation of distances, based on a more exact perception. Besides, it offers an enormous advantage in war in observing under cover in an earthwork, without exposing the body. By extending the branches of the telescope laterally observations can also be safely taken from behind a tree.

These two apparatus are based upon principles entirely new in the manufacture of glasses, and the sensation experienced when one uses them for the first time is one of great astonishment at seeing objects with accentuated relief of which the naked eye can give no idea.

Origin of Phosphate Beds.

Professor E. T. Cox, formerly state geologist of Indiana, and who for many years past has made a study of the phosphate beds of Florida, is credited in Meehan's Monthly with showing conclusively the fallacy of the prevailing belief that phosphate beds have resulted from shell deposits. He says that, with the evidence before us of causes now in action that produced the immense deposits of guano on the islands off the rainless coast of Chile and Peru, the islands of the Caribbean sea and elsewhere where the droppings of numberless birds are converted into guano, both pulverant and rock guano, it is not necessary to construct strange theories to account for the phosphate deposits in Florida. Unlike Peru, the climate here was humid and washed out of the guano the soluble salts, leaving the insoluble phosphate of lime.

The isolation of the deposits, their occurrence in detached pockets of greater or less extent, as well as the conformability of the phosphate rock to the very jagged surface of the limestone on which it rests, all point to the bird origin as guano.

AMERICAN SAILORS SCARCE.

Difficult to Man the New War Ships—Reasons for Scarcity.

Washington dispatches report the inability of the Navy Department to secure men to man the ships now in commission, and it is believed that it is on this account that the Maine and Texas will be unable to take part in the coming maneuvers off Newport. This crisis has threatened our Navy for a great many years, but until the present time the full force of its influence on this country as a naval power has never been realized.

Secretary James Williams of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union, when questioned as to the lack of "able American seamen," said:

"From a disinterested point of view I would say that sailors are not treated right, and there is no incentive held out, but, as I am interested, we will cast that behind us and discuss the situation on its merits. In the first place, the enlisted men are all dissatisfied by reason of the fact that the ships are all short-handed, and most of the men have to perform work foreign to the qualifications contained in the enlistment articles. In the second place, we will take the Amphitrite, which is now at Brunswick, Ga. I have in my possession a letter from one of her crew which intimates that every man Jack of them will take a quiet walk from the ship when it reaches this port. And it is so on all the other ships. Why, if it came to a question of war, fully 75 per cent of the crews would desert.

"There is another point that might throw some light on the question, and that is, that a large percentage of the crews merely represent men who have enlisted in order to keep off the streets, and after they have saved one or two months' pay they take French leave. Congress will be called upon at the next session to appropriate a sum sufficient to support 3000 more seamen for the new battle-ships and cruisers; but it will be practically useless, for there are no men left to select from, and right here I will ask the question: Of what earthly use is it to appropriate large sums of money to build ships when it is difficult enough to secure men to operate the present fleet?"

"The ships are so short-handed today that seamen are sent down into the bunkers to pass coal, and, while they receive 33 cents a day for this work, it must be remembered that firemen on coast steamers receive $40 per month. As a result everybody is dissatisfied.—New York Times.

WAS A WORKING GUEST.

Dickens' Aggravating Experience With Hans Christian Andersen.

When Dickens first met Hans Christian Andersen in a London drawing-room he asked his fellow novelist to pay him a visit at Gadshill. The invitation was accepted and the guest remained a long time.

In spite of Hans Christian's many merits and good qualities, his very marked peculiarities made him an exceedingly difficult person to entertain. He was extremely sentimental and emotional, and, for no apparent reason, would burst into a flood of womanish tears and rush away to his own room.

A few days after his arrival he rang the bell and asked to see the eldest son of the house. The eldest son was away, and when Dickens himself went to see what his guest desired, he found that Andersen wished the eldest son to shave him, that being the custom of his own country. Dickens explained that in the first place young Charles was absent, and that secondly, it would be an experiment fraught with danger for him to attempt the desired service, as, with the very best intentions, he would probably nearly decapitate his illustrious guest. Under these most untoward circumstances Hans Christian, weeping, betook himself to the nearest barber shop and had his beard attended to professionally.—Philadelphia Times.

NATIONAL FINANCE.

Unpaid bills and temporary loans of the Government at the end of October, unpaid bills for the month not included, amounting to $159,924.93. There was $207.66 in the treasury, of which only $327.36 belonged to the current account. The remainder of the treasury balance $49,880.30, is loan fund account balance, and cannot be employed except for a few specific purposes named in the loan acts. The Minister of Finance informs the public that the Hawaiian bonds are quoted in London at 102 and 103, and that $2,000 of them were subscribed at a price in San Francisco in October. It is not distant lending, but a loan to the view which was the bonds higher in London than in San Francisco, but the greater cheapness of money in the English market. If the bonds were regarded as gilt-edged in London, the six percent interest should give the bonds a rating of 150 to 200. This Government owes the Postal Savings Bank $715,500.27, and that institution has cash on hand of $93,000.41, of which $20,000 will be used to redeem Postmaster General notes bearing interest of 7 percent. There remains unpaid these notes $89,000, the original amount of them on January 1, 1893, having been $200,000. They were negotiated in 1892 to the enemies of the established Government, who tried to produce a panic by withdrawing deposits from the Postal Savings Bank, before the taxes came in or the Appropriation Bill was passed.

The foregoing figures are all from the October statement of the Minister of Finance. They do not require any embellishment to show the people how the treasury is gone and is continuing to go. Probably the Government can peg along some way or another until the regular session of the Legislature next year. At that time some radical change in national financing must be made. There is so much leeway to be made up that it is idle to argue on establishing a satisfactory condition by merely cutting down the appropriations. In the more important items of public expenditure the appropriations cannot be reduced without checking the general progress of the country. There are several things, however, in which the Government may well economize greatly. At the same time the revenues can be increased without adding much to the burdens of the people. Indeed, there should be a decrease of taxation upon the poorer classes, some of whom are now almost taxed out of their humble homes. With all the ordinary measures for economy and retrenchment, the situation demands extraordinary means for placing the finances of the country on a sound and economical basis, with increased resources also for reproductive internal improvements required to maintain general progress. The ordinary measures must be determined, however, to render the extraordinary ones feasible. The funding of the public debt in a cheap money market, at a greatly reduced rate of interest, may be wholly impracticable unless measures shall have been adopted for definitely improving the management of our ordinary resources and revenues.

It is time that the Government cuckoo organs give up trying to throw sand in the eyes of the public by representing everything in national finances as improved and improving. They ought to realize that the Minister of Finance, at the special session, plainly enough acknowledged that his most assiduous and patient efforts to keep the treasury from going behind had been a failure. When they do this they should cease their puerile retorts at every analysis of official figures presented by the independent press, and open up their columns to a dispassionate and rational discussion of means for effecting financial rehabilitation.

OBSERVATIONS.

Besides the annoyance of noisy youngsters often complained of, in connection with band concerts, there is another grievance with especial regard to those events at Emmet square. Reference is to fast riding and driving in the narrow lanes on three sides of the square, also to rapid turning at the corners. These are dangerous practices that should be stopped before they result in serious injury to somebody.

According to a rumor given wings by the Advertiser, the United States will not recognize as her citizens any who have lived many years abroad. This would seem to be a very bad principle for such a great country to establish. It is a hard blow and a great injustice to Americans who have promoted their country's welfare and good name in many quarters of the globe in their long residence abroad. If the principle were limited to shut out Americans who interfered in the politics of foreign countries giving them shelter it might be just enough.

Scarcity of sailors to man the new ships is a serious difficulty confronting the United States Navy Department. Only by the increase of her merchant marine, through removing the shackles from foreign trade, is the trouble likely to be diminished.

Something on the other side of the question of bloomers is given by a preacher in this issue. He maintains the right of women to improve their costume, and predicts a glorious position for woman in the next century.

That combined tent and coat described elsewhere will hardly take well with soldiers anywhere. It would make them akin to snails, only with a less efficient house on their backs.

More of the fishing restrictions were removed yesterday. Fishing in the harbor should not be permitted in a hurry.

New South Wales is slow to accept the option of sharing the revised treaty between the Mother Country and Japan. It has a strong Labor party that strenuously opposes the introduction of unlimited Japanese labor. Japan is known to have longings for increased trade with Australasia greater than for that with any other part of the world.

SONS OF VETERANS.

Meeting Tonight for the Purpose of Forming a Local Camp.

A meeting will take place at American League hall this evening for the purpose of forming a branch of the American society known as the Sons of Veterans in this city. The organization has a membership of about 35,000 in the United States.

The qualification of members are: "All male descendants, not less than eighteen years of age, of deceased or honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines who served in the Union army or navy during the civil war of 1861-1865, shall be eligible to membership, provided that no person shall be eligible who has ever been convicted of any infamous crime, or who has or whose father has ever borne arms against the Government of the United States of America."

The black pig was contemptuously munching the sawdust in his pen at Rigby. "Fine board," remarked the man with the black whiskers, and passed on.—Lewiston Journal.

Bulletin Bicycle Ballot.
No. 14.
Good for Two Days Only.
MOST POPULAR BICYCLIST.
BEST BICYCLE.
Fill in blanks with your choice of bicyclist and bicycle, and deposit this ballot at the BULLETIN business office by 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, November 9, 1895.

Timely Topics

The able address by Mrs. Sturtevant-Peet, president of the California Woman's Christian Temperance Union, on the occasion of the annual convention of that body in San Francisco, contained a passage which takes strong ground on the benefits of the bicycle. In speaking of physical culture and the relation of the clothes to the subject, she said:

"All know the value of a strong unhindered body. For this reason the banishment of the corset and restricting bands is a foregone conclusion."

Dress reform has pressed its claims for forty years, with little progress till the bicycle, that graceful, silent steed of motion, dashes through and bursts open the door of prejudice. This mystic wheel that we meet on every road and street is the mute but telling advocate of dress reform.

It has its virtues as well as its charms. It invites, yea, demands, simplicity in dress. It encourages physical exercise and utterly refuses to carry a drunken rider. Unlike the horse, it balks when touched by the hand of inebriety. It inconveniences and discourages the use of cigars and cigarettes to the number of 65,000,000 a year. In short, the wheel is a reformer, and, though, it came not through the virtue of moral conception, we should welcome its presence as we do the advent of every new invention and corporate edict bearing the balm of sobriety, with the promise of stronger and better men and women.

This is a straightforward expression from an able woman who led the California forces of one of the greatest National organizations ever instituted for the uplifting of the race. The dignity and earnestness which characterize her opinion cast into the shades the hallow objections which some physicians have made to the bicycle. Mrs. Peet gives us to understand that in the sole aspect of requiring women to dress sensibly this simple instrument of locomotion has accomplished more at a dash than the preachers on sensible dress for women have been able to bring about in nearly half a century. With so eminent an endorsement as this, even the most timid woman who is not held in what amounts to physical restraint by father, husband or brother from obeying an instinctive impulse to dress rationally and enjoy life and health on a bicycle, may at least console herself with the reflection that her impulse was right and lament that she was born a few years too soon.

In addition to the above Mrs. Peet might have mentioned the saving in labor attained by the patent sprocket attached to the Tribune wheel, which amounts to over 15 per cent, no small desideratum when ladies are concerned.

The Tribune is the wheel par excellence for ladies' use, it has the newest patents and improvements and can be run with 15 per cent less work than any other wheel in existence.

DRY GOODS

In Honolulu there is always something that demands the attention of the fair sex. More especially is this true when good bargains are offered. In catering to the wants of the Honolulu ladies, the merchants must buy judiciously and select only the most artistic designs. Especially is this true of white dress goods. I received by the AUSTRALIA a new line of these goods that are very pretty. They must be seen, however, to be appreciated. I also received a fine line of Ladies' Shirt Waists and Corsets. Now that the Cholera is over and life, socially, has resumed its normal condition, the dry goods business must increase materially in the next month. Anticipating this demand I have laid in this fine stock of goods and they are now ready for your inspection, and can be purchased at a reasonable figure.

THE NEW WOMAN AS A TEXT.

Rev. W. A. Gardner's Effective Sermons.

Rev. W. A. Gardner of the West Side Christian Church preached a sermon on that most popular of all topics, "The New Woman," Sunday evening. In the course of it he said:

"Much of our current literature is full of reference to the 'new woman.' She is discussed, exhorted, ridiculed, condemned and praised. All sorts of ideas are entertained and prophecies made concerning this latest product of the nineteenth century. Some good people are shocked and alarmed at her costume. To them the bloomer is an index of the moral degeneracy of the times. It is within my recollection that the woman who dared enter society without the unsightly, unhealthy and, indeed, dangerous hoop-skirt, was reproached and criticised. Yet the hoop-skirt was as unnecessary to the demands of nature as the barbarous shoe worn by the Chinese lady. Is the same not true of any skirt? Woman is a biped, and has as much right to dress for health, convenience and comfort as her man. I have little uneasiness concerning this phase of the new woman."

Mr. Gardner then suggested a few characteristics of the new woman according to the Christ idea. "She will be one or equal with man as instructor in all our schools," he said. "Had the theological schools felt more the influence of woman, it is probable we should have had much more of that love which is the essence of Christianity and less of that dogmatic theology that has cursed the church. The new woman will also occupy our pulpits and tell the story of the cross with such power and pathos that the stubborn problem of converting the men will be solved. In the new church of the twentieth century, with its doors open seven days in the week, with its Christ-like ministry to sorrowing humanity, I shall not be surprised to know that the best officers and pastors are women, while the majority of those in the pews are men. Christ's new woman will be an equal partner with her husband in the control of their children and of their community property."

"She will no longer be the slave of taxation without representation, but will have an equal voice with the criminals who are now marched to the ballot box, where they, together with ignorant foreigners and drunken whites, help to forge the chains that hold half our citizens in bondage. In account of her increased independence of character she will be as ready to free upon the uncleanliness and impurity of a man as she now does on that of a woman. She will compel the man upon whom she bestows her affection to have as clean a life and as pure a heart as he expects of her. It is my faith that in politics, in religion and in society the new woman will be a revolutionary influence; exciting, purifying and educating as it has been impossible for her to do with her past environment. May the Lord hasten her evolution."—S. F. Chronicle.

I Was Free from my old-time trouble and long sufferings. It has never returned until last winter while I was ill with the grip, a slight attack broke out on my face. TENT AND COAT IN ONE.

Ingenious Invention of an Austrian on Trial in the United States.

Every soldier in the United States Army will wear his tent upon his back if the new combination tent and overcoat which has been sent to the War Department to test by an Austrian manufacturer is adopted. This new tent is made of a light water-proof material, and is designed especially for use on forced marches, on picket duty and in other cases where the larger and more cumbersome tents in general use cannot be easily employed. Its advantages, as commended by the manufacturer, are that it is easy to put up or take down, that it is durable, that it is easy to carry, and that it forms a good protection against wind and rain, whether used as a tent or as an overcoat.

The tent overcoat is diamond-shaped in form when spread out, being pierced with two holes where the sleeves are attached, which come into use when the soldier wears it as an overcoat. Its edges are provided with rings, cords and buttons for fastening it when used either as a tent or an overcoat. To form a tent of the smallest size two of the pieces are required.

Two soldiers desiring to erect a shelter for themselves take off their overcoats, one of them places his bayonet with the sheath on through the rings which are provided at one corner of each piece, and the gun is then set up as a tent pole; one of the soldiers standing it inside of the tent while the other stretches the material away on each side and fastens it with tent pins.

When the two pieces join they are fastened together with an easily manipulated cord, one corner being left free to allow of entrance and exit. The two pieces make a quadrangular tent large enough for two men sitting or lying down. Four or more pieces can be used with one gun for each pair, and the tent can be prolonged indefinitely, with as many openings as may be convenient.

When the tent is to be taken down the cords on the outside are loosened, the guns are removed and each man picks up the piece belonging to him, slips his arms into the sleeves, fastens the collar around the neck, buttons the belt behind and walks off in a water-proof coat reaching from the neck to the knees, and having one corner free at the back in such a position as to be capable of being drawn up over the head to serve as a hood.

Twenty of these tent overcoats have been received by the War Department for test. They will be tried in actual service under the supervision of officers of the Quartermaster-General's Department, who will make a report as to their adaptability for use in the Army. Officials of the War Department who have examined them are not inclined to look upon them with great favor, as the tents which can be made of them are so small as to give the soldiers very little room, and they do not believe that they will be suitable for the United States Army, in which the men are accustomed to being much better sheltered.

They may be found useful to a limited extent, however, for duty where it would be impracticable to transport larger and more comfortable tents.—New York Herald.

THE BEST TREATMENT FOR CHOLERA—When promptly and properly treated a recovery is almost certain. This was fully demonstrated during the prevalence of Cholera in New York in 1866. Go to bed as soon as the first symptoms appear, remain as quiet as possible, and take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy in double doses until the pain ceases, and then after each operation of the bowels more than natural. Send for a physician, but take this remedy in this way until he arrives. The remedy should be kept at hand ready for instant use. It should be taken within five minutes after the first symptoms appear. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy is the most successful medicine that has yet been produced, not only for the milder forms of bowel complaint, but for the most virulent forms of Asiatic Cholera. TO ALL WHO USE PAINT:

The undersigned, L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton, purchased from Charles J. Wagner, the inventor of Peerless Preserving Paint, the exclusive right to manufacture, use and sell the PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT in the Hawaiian Islands.

On the 26th day of September, 1895, the Republic of Hawaii granted to L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton, a patent No. 110, granting them the exclusive right to make, use and vend PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT throughout the Hawaiian Islands.

The Republic of Hawaii has also granted to L. C. Ables and H. P. Walton the exclusive use of the words PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT as a trade mark throughout the Republic of Hawaii for the term of 20 years.

Certain parties in San Francisco have recently been sending to Honolulu under the name of PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT a spurious article not only inferior to the genuine paint, but one which is positively injurious to any metal to which it may be applied.

We hereby warn all persons against being defrauded into using any but the genuine PEERLESS PRESERVING PAINT, which can be obtained only of Ables and Walton.

We also hereby warn all persons against buying, selling or using any article under the name of Peerless Preserving Paint, except that sold by us, as such buying, selling or using will be a direct infringement of our patent and trade mark, and a violation of our rights, subjecting the persons buying, selling or using such paint to a claim for damages by us in accordance with the Hawaiian Law.

L. C. ABLES, H. P. WALTON. Honolulu, Oct. 19, 1895.
