APPOINTMENTS.

Scarcely anything is more liable to abuse than the power of patronage. When a person is elected to a seat in the Legislature, it is generally expected by a large circle of his friends and acquaintances that their way to public emoluments is thereupon wide open. Theoretically, it does not follow that the election of a candidate for legislative honors means the election of his own and his wife's relations to sundry fat offices under government; but practically such is too often the fact. In the United States, the abuses connected with appointments at the instance of senators and representatives have become so flagrant that the nation is becoming disgusted with the whole programme. To cure the evil, a bill has been introduced in Congress by Senator Hampton "prohibiting the interference of Senators and Representatives in appointments." The bill is pronounced by Harper's Weekly, a periodical which, by the way, is a model of independence and outspoken honesty in the discussion of all national questions, to be "very timely and necessary." The same paper proceeds to say: "It declares recommending or soliciting appointments by any Senator or Representative to be a misdemeanor punishable by fine, and that all information from a Senator or Representative desired by the Executive shall be asked in writing, and the answer in writing shall be filed in the proper department or bureau. The necessity of emancipating the executive officers of the government from the annoying importunity of the members of Congress needs no demonstration. Proper attention to the business of the whole people is prevented by the pertinacity of members of Congress in personally urging and re-urging at length the appointment of some individual constituent. The impertinent pressure of members of Congress upon executive officers is the great pest and nuisance of administration and it should be peremptorily prohibited."

If the great United States of America have found appointments through political and personal favoritism an incubus upon good government too heavy to be borne any longer, how much more should the little Kingdom of Hawaii adopt prompt measures to get rid of the self-same burden. Appointments to positions of public trust and responsibility are never made when the first symptoms of qualification for the position are notoriously wanting, except under pressure from either the candidate himself or his friends, or both. It is an abuse which grows strong with age, and the sooner it is attacked the more easily will it be abolished. Why should the public service be made a haven of rest for needy political hangers-on? However desirous the Ministers of the Crown may be of securing efficient persons in all departments of the public service, they are often handicapped by the importunity and even dictation of influential friends of unfit candidates.

The course proposed to be taken in the United States whereby the supporters of candidates for office shall be made responsible for their acts might be followed here with manifest advantage. The reasons for any appointment or removal together with all correspondence thereon might be kept on file, and be forthcoming in the Legislative Assembly at the call of any member who might see fit to demand them. If such were the practice, candidates and their backers would be careful in making representations that might, any day, be read out before the public. Hawaii has profited much by the experience of other countries, and this is a matter so essential to good government that she will prove herself wise beyond her years by taking a leaf out of Senator Hampton's bill and adding it to her present stock of political acquisitions.

FIRE ELECTIONS.

Honolulu firemen appear to take unusual interest in this year's election of engineers. During the past week or two tickets have been arranged and re-arranged, nominations made, canceled and revised, until they now stand thus: Wilson, Asch and Hustace; Wilson, Monarrat and Hustace; Nott, Monarrat and Hustace. The first-named in each ticket is for Chief, the second for First Assistant, and third for Second Assistant. As the time of election approaches, enthusiasm waxes warm, the adherents of each ticket seem to work with augmented vigor for the triumph of their respective nominations, and speak with equal confidence of assured success.

This is a matter in which every household is really more deeply concerned than householders generally realize. It is of no small consequence to them what description of men are placed at the head of the fire department, to command, direct, and control the noble army of volunteers who hold themselves in readiness, night and day, to battle with the fierce flames whenever they may commence their work of destruction. To every household, to every resident, even to transient visitors, it is of supreme importance that men of clear heads and sound judgment, backed with courage and vigilance, should be elected to the positions of Chief and Assistants of the fire force; for the life and property of all are largely in their keeping. The case of the poor sailor who lost his life in the conflagration which destroyed Wallace's lodging house on Fort street, fresh in the memory of many readers, might be cited to show the interest of even the mere casual visitor in this matter.

Householders and residents are not only interested in the sense just now briefly indicated, but in another and a more direct way, as taxpayers. The fire service, although voluntary, is properly maintained by public funds, to which every taxpayer contributes a share. An appropriation is regularly made by the Legislature for this purpose, and an unusually large amount is needed and asked for to meet the special demands of the ensuing biennial period. The officers of the fire department direct and control the expenditure of the appropriation, and the contributors, that is, the taxpayers, are interested in selecting men in whom they have confidence that the money will be expended honestly, economically, judiciously, and to the best advantage.

With regard to the names on the various tickets, little other than words of commendation can be uttered respecting them. The fact that each has so large a following and such warm support seems to indicate that there is not much to choose between them. They are all to some extent tried men, and their record is before the community. Of the two gentlemen nominated for Chief, Mr. John Nott has held the position for a series of years, and has given satisfactory proof of his fitness for the trust. In addition to his past experience and a good record, it should be remembered in his favor that he is a practical mechanic, whose calling gives him a thorough knowledge of the construction of buildings, which is very essential knowledge for the Chief of a fire department to have. Besides, he is a thoroughly representative citizen, and a gentleman whom the people respect, esteem, and trust. His election would undoubtedly give the greatest satisfaction to the largest interests involved.

The opposing candidate, Mr. C. B. Wilson, is a gentleman of energy and decision, with the capacity to command, and is with an excellent fireman. But from the people's standpoint there is one insurmountable objection to his election—he is Superintendent of the Water Works. It is the duty of the Superintendent to attend to the water supply at the time of a fire, and he cannot do that and direct the fire brigades at the same time. It is a little surprising that Mr. Wilson and his supporters have not given due weight to this important fact. The duties and bases of operations of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department and of the Superintendent of Water Works, when a fire is being fought, are distinct and separate, and no one man can possibly be in the two places at the same time, nor efficiently discharge the two sets of duties. Let those who possess the elective power calmly weigh this fact.

THE LEGISLATURE

THIRTIETH DAY.

FRIDAY, June 4th.

The Assembly met at one o'clock, p. m. Present: Ministers Gibson, Kapena, Gulick and Neumann; Nobles Walker, Cleghorn, Parker, Kanoa, Wilder and Bishop; Reps. Palohau, Nahinu, Amara, Castle, Pahia, Thurston, Dole, Pachaole, Kaula, Nahale, Kekoa, Dickey, Aholo, Kaukau, Hayselden, Kaulukou, Kauai, Kaal and Wight.

The Secretary and Interpreter read the minutes of previous sitting, which were confirmed.

PETITIONS.

Rep. Dole presented a petition from Chinese residents of Honolulu, with 165 signatures, against the bill to tax Chinese for the benefit of a hospital fund. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Rep. Aholo presented a report of the Finance Committee on two petitions from Wailuku, 1st, against a subsidy to the Oceanic Company's steamers, recommending to lay it on the table for consideration with subsidies in the Appropriation Bill; and, 2nd, that the Ministers be not allowed to create a bank for the Japanese fund, recommending that it be laid on the table to be considered with that matter when it comes before the house. On motion of Rep. Kaal, the report was adopted.

Rep. Kaulukou presented a report from the Judiciary Committee on a petition from Molokai, that chap. 27, laws of 1884, relating to the appointment of Road Supervisors-in-Chief, be repealed, recommending that it be laid on the table for consideration with a bill on that subject.

Rep. Dole moved the report be adopted. He said he noticed that reports of committees had in no case expressed any opinion on the petitions referred to them, and contended that there was not the slightest use in having such matters given to committees unless they aided the house with their advice on the subjects of petitions. He said he made the motion to get an opportunity for expressing the above sentiments. The motion passed.

Rep. Kaulukou presented another report from the same committee, which he thought was not open to the objection of the hon. member, as it had a recommendation. It was on a petition from Puna, that sea fisheries be made free to all. The committee understood that there was now a law allowing tenants to take all kinds of fish but one, but with regard to admitting other than tenants to the privilege, they considered it would be a hardship to the konoikis, and therefore recommended that this prayer of the petition be laid on the table. On motion of Rep. Keau the report was laid on the table to be considered with any bill on the subject.

Rep. Kaunamano presented a report of the Sanitary Committee on a petition from Puna, that a resident physician be appointed in that district, recommending the Assembly to refer it to the President of the Board of Health with a recommendation that the prayer be granted. Adopted. Also, on a petition from Wailuku, that the sale of opium be not licensed, recommending that it be laid on the table for consideration with any bill on the subject.

Rep. Dole thought that was a very bad report. On this very important matter the Sanitary Committee had no recommendation to make except to lay it on the table.

Rep. Aholo said the committee's idea probably was that the subject would come up when the bill was before the house, and in order to save two discussions it was recommended to lay the petition on the table.

Rep. Dole said the sole object of reference to a committee was to have the matter investigated and recommendations made. If the committee report that they have considered the petition and the same time have no recommendation to make, then he said they had not considered it. It was not necessary that they should have a discussion at that stage, but they should have the committee's advice when the subject came up. He moved that the report be referred back, with the request that the committee express an opinion on the subject.

Rep. Kaunamano said the committee had a meeting on this petition and discussed it, finally coming to the conclusion that, as a bill was to come up, to license opium, the petition should be laid on the table. The report was adopted.

repeal the law prohibiting Hawaiians from leaving the kingdom be read a third time on Tuesday. Carried.

Noble Bishop asked for further time for the Education Committee to report on the Sunday bill, which was granted.

Rep. Kaunamano presented a report of the Sanitary Committee on a petition from Makawao, that Dr. A. H. Bailey be appointed Government physician in that district, recommending that it be referred to the President of the Board of Health, with a recommendation to grant the prayer. Adopted.

MORE PETITIONS.

Rep. Kaal moved a suspension of the rules, which carried, to present a petition from Hana, that the mail bags be opened at Kenae; also, that an agent to take acknowledgments be appointed at that place. Referred to Public Lands Committee.

Rep. Keau, on suspension of the rules, presented a petition from Fire Engine Co. No. 4, Honolulu, that in any appropriation for the Fire Department, part of it may be set apart specially for that company. Referred to the Finance Committee. Also, from residents of Iwilei, that a road be opened to that place, past the Oahu Prison, and an appropriation be made for that purpose. Referred to Public Lands Committee. Also, from Honolulu, that the Board of Health put a stop to the accumulation of fertilizing material at Kukuluaeo (beyond Fisherman's Point). Referred to Sanitary Committee.

RESOLUTIONS.

Rep. Castle presented a resolution that all liquor law bills be referred, without further motion, to the special committee on that subject previously appointed. Adopted.

Rep. Dole read a first time an act to regulate pensions. It provides that any public official resigning or honorably discharged, after a continuous service of 25 years, shall receive a pension of one-half his salary at the time of such resignation or discharge, and that the widow of such an official shall receive a pension equal to one-quarter of her husband's salary, the pension to cease in case of her marriage.

Rep. Pachaole presented a resolution, reciting that it was reported the tug Eleu has been selected to take the committee of visitation to Molokai; that the vessel in question had been used to take the President of the Board of Health and party there on a former occasion, when they were in danger of being washed overboard; and therefore resolving that the President of the Board of Health be requested to place a larger vessel at the disposal of the committee. He did not think the tug boat was fit to send on that mission; she was too small. He believed that a storm was brewing, and that members of the committee would suffer.

Minister Gibson (Pres. B. of H.) admitted the justice of part of what the hon. member had said. He had himself had experience of the ocean as an old sailor, but perhaps his hardihood might not excuse his exposing the gentlemen of a more tender nature to the perils of the sea. He had made several hundred trips in the channel between the islands, and it was a hardship to get a ducking and to have one's clothes dry on him. The Minister of Interior had engaged to have the boat ready, extra hands had been employed, and creature comforts provided for the voyage—something to eat and drink, but nothing of an alcoholic nature—and, although the vessel was not calculated as a passenger boat and was not adapted for a night voyage, the committee would find comfortable arrangements for a daylight passage. Still, if the Assembly thought she was not good enough, or if the voyage was to be made at night, perhaps a larger vessel could be obtained. In every other respect the Eleu was a strong and serviceable boat, and he hoped she would convey the hon. members to Molokai and back in good time.

Rep. Kaulukou thought the hon. member for Molokai, accustomed to cross the channel in surf boats, would not be uncomfortable on the Eleu, and if he took the wheel the tug would make a very comfortable trip. He moved that the resolution be indefinitely postponed.

Rep. Likikalani moved to amend the resolution by requiring that a life line or netting be placed round the bulwarks, as some of the committee might require to look over the side of the boat. (Laughter).

Rep. Aholo thought the resolution should lie on the table till to-morrow. He would like to go to Molokai himself. Not having seen this boat, he would like to go down and take a look at her. If the member for Molokai, used to crossing the channel in open boats, was afraid of the Eleu, it looked significant. Gentlemen of the committee did not want to go like sailors in whaleboats with nothing but a malo on them (laughter). He did not like the idea of having the member for Molokai as captain.

Rep. Dole said it did not seem to occur to anyone that the steamer J. I. Dowsett was going up this evening and coming back to-morrow. That vessel had good cabin accommodation and fare, and it would be better for the committee to go by her than to incur the expense of sending the Eleu. The Eleu was not calculated to go out on a rough sea, and those accustomed to the sea considered her liable to go to the bottom in rough water. This committee contained one member of the Opposition and four of the Government party. They could much worse afford to lose one Opposition member than four of the Government party (laughter).

Minister Gibson agreed with the remarks of the hon. member for Lahaina, but with regard to the statement of the hon. member for Lihue, he would say that the trip of the Eleu when he went up cost $46, while it would cost perhaps about $150 to send the committee by the Jas. I. Dowsett. As for the remark about the possible loss of the vessel by getting a little way from land, that was somewhat amusing when they considered that she came all the way from San Francisco, doubtless encountering billows much greater than she would in the channel.

The motion to lay the resolution on the table carried.

Rep. Kaulukou gave notice of, and under suspension of the rules read an act to amend sec. 409, Civil Code, relating to dead letters.

Rep. Dole moved a resolution that the President be requested to fill the vacancy on the Sanitary Committee caused by the absence of Hon. Godfrey Rhodes, which being carried the President appointed the mover of the resolution, who claimed exemption under the rule that a member need not serve on more than two Standing Committees. He moved that Noble Wilder be appointed to the vacancy, which carried.

The President appointed as the special committee on permanent settlements, ordered by resolution yesterday: Noble Dominis, Reps. Dole, Aholo, Brown and Hayselden. He also, for good reasons given, and there being no objection, appointed Rep. Kaulukou in place of Rep. Castle on the Molokai visiting committee.

Rep. Keau read a first time an act to amend sec. 198, Civil Code, relating to the fish market.

Rep. Wight read a first time an act to amend secs. 40, 41, 42, 46, and 52, chap. 43, laws of 1882, to consolidate and amend the law relating to internal taxes.

At 3 o'clock, on motion of Rep. Nahale, the house adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow.

The steamer Kinau was loaded in twenty-two hours on her last trip. A house has been built over the engine of the steam scow. Mr. Tulles, lately mate of the Makah, has left the ship. The Makah will sail for San Francisco on about Tuesday next. The J. D. Spreckels sailed from Kahului yesterday for San Francisco with sugar. The Richard III. is loading sugar at the P. M. S. S. wharf. The Eureka sailed to sea this morning with a light E. N. E. breeze. The captain says he will beat the California to San Francisco. The Eureka sailed this morning for San Francisco with 7,087 bags of sugar and 800 bags of rice. Value, $39,500. The Jas. Makee arrived here this afternoon with a load of sugar and a broken roller from Wailuku.

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

Music at the rink to-night. The Custom House sign is sadly in need of repainting. Mrs. Kanoa, widow of the late Hon. Kanoa, is seriously ill. There was a grand opening of the new Bath House near the Marine Railway this afternoon. The Library and Reading Room Association have just received volumes 17, 18 and 19 of the Encyclopedia Britannica. MASTER Willie Lyons, while playing baseball at Makiki this afternoon, had his head severely cut in a collision with another boy. BESIDES the usual religious Sunday Services, a consecration of the Catholic Mission on the Hawaiian Islands will be solemnly made to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, by the Right Rev. the Bishop of Oahu, at the Roman Catholic Cathedral, to-morrow, June 6th, at 3 o'clock P. M., the most holy sacrament being exposed. LAST evening an empty express carriage followed a spirited horse along Palama road, in the direction of Ewa, at a rate that induced people to move lively in getting out of the way. Near the residence of Hon. J. I. Dowsett the horse shoved his nose against a fence, the shafts of the carriage broke, and both the horse and the carriage decided to stop. Mr. Geo. C. Williams, manager of Spreckelsville plantation, Maui, was arraigned before the Police Justice at Wailuku last Thursday, on a charge of bribery: to wit, influencing a voter in the recent election by the offer of money. He was prosecuted by Mr. W. A. Kinney and defended by Messrs. Whiting and J. W. Kalua. He was found guilty as charged, and fined $20. An appeal noted to Circuit Court. BAND CONCERT. The Royal Hawaiian Band will play this afternoon at Emma Square, beginning at 4:30. Following is the programme:— Overture—Processional..... Hamilton Waltz—Golden Shower..... Waldteufel Reminiscences of Auber..... Godfrey Duet—Frouhardour..... Verdi Gavotte—Welcome..... Kluss Polka—Military..... Waldteufel VISIT TO LUNALILO HOME. At the adjournment of the Legislature yesterday afternoon, two of Dodd's omnibuses—one drawn by four and the other by two horses—were waiting to convey the members to Lunaliilo Home. The following members availed themselves of the opportunity: Their Excellencies John M. Kapena and Paul Neumann; Hon. Nobles Cleghorn, Kanoa, Kaee, Martin, and Parker; Hon. Representatives Aholo, Kaulou, Thurston, Kaula, Kaui, Palohau, Dickey, Paehalo, Kaubane, Nalunu, Liikalaani, Kekoa, Baker, Keau, Kaulau, Kaula, Nahale, Kaunamano, Pahia, and Dole, the last-named being in charge of the party, as one of the Trustees of the Home. Mr. W. L. Wilcox, Interpreter, Mr. S. Nowlein, Sergeant-at-Arms, and the legislative reporters of the BULLETIN, Gazette and Paee Aina, also accompanied the excursion. Arrived at the beautiful Home in its fair dromedary, the party were received on the front porch by Mr. Deverill, the Superintendent, and wife, and Hon. W. C. Parke. They were taken all through the building, and up into the tower for the magnificent view of sea and mountain and valley. A visit was also paid to the artesian well, where a steam engine of six horse power has replaced the windmill blown down a few months ago. By this motive power the tank of 95,000 gallons is filled in three days of ten hours. An abundant supply of water for houses and grounds is thus secured. The visitors were treated to a toothsome lunch of bread and butter, cake, coffee and soda water, everything but the beverages being made in the Home. All agreed in admiring the order, neatness, cleanliness, and comfort, which make the institution a "home" indeed to the aged wards. Mr. and Mrs. Deverill are evidently well suited to their responsible and delicate duties, and the Trustees of this monument of Lunaliilo's royal beneficence are to be congratulated on having secured such an able and gentle administrative pair, to dispense the comforts and care of the Home to the aged Hawaiians for whom it was founded. The party returned to town before five o'clock, having very much appreciated the delightful drive.

KILAUEA ALIVE. CRATER OF KILAUEA, HAWAII, June 1st, 1886. Hon. S. G. Wilder. Sir,—At 7.30 o'clock this evening there was seen a very bright reflection shining up from the chasm of the crater. Upon seeing it I sent the two guides down to take observations. They returned in about three hours and reported the reflection as coming from molten lava. It lighted up the whole chasm and surroundings, thus enabling the guides to see the bottom of the pit. The place where the fire has broken through is to the right of Halemaumau proper, from one of the holes which has been emitting heavy columns of smoke for the last two months. The molten lava, being a little below the edge of the rent, could not be plainly seen. The opening, which was only four or five feet in diameter, has increased to about 30 feet. The reflection is plainly seen from the Volcano House, and it appears to be very steady. One of the guides, an authority on volcanic action, says the fire is too great to disappear again, and he is confident of an increase. Later—June 2nd, at 4 A. M.—The light from the crater continued through the night without a check, and it seems to be getting greater. The rent has increased to 50 feet in diameter. The progress of the fire and characteristic developments of the Volcano will be carefully watched and reports forwarded. I remain, respectfully yours, etc., J. H. MARY, Manager of Wilder Steamship Co.'s Volcano House.

CIRCUIT COURT. By courtesy of the presiding Justice, we are enabled to furnish our readers with a calendar of cases tried at the Circuit Court of the Second Judicial Circuit, June Term, 1886, held in Wailuku, Maui. Hon. A. F. Judd, Chief Justice, presiding. Hon. A. Fornander, Local Circuit Judge. A. Rosa, Esq., for the Crown. Hon. Geo. E. Richardson, Clerk. June 1, 1886. 1. Rex vs. Kuahiwi, Wahipe, Naeole and Makoala, charged with a riot on the Hana plantation. Verdict not guilty. J. W. Kalua for defendants. 2. Rex vs. Chas. Bolobola, charged with attempt at burglary at Paia. Prisoner defended himself. Verdict not guilty. The next day the prisoner was caught in the act of burglary at Spreckelsville and committed for trial at the next term. See No. 13. 3. Rex vs. Kashaani. Opium in possession. Appeal withdrawn. Fined $50 and costs, and twenty-four hours imprisonment. W. A. Kinney for prisoner. 4. Rex vs. Young Chin Hop, charged with resisting Customs officer. In accordance with decision of Supreme Court. Nol. pros. entered. 5. Robert Plunkett vs. Kapapuni Plunkett. Divorce granted on ground of adultery. June 2, 1886. 6. Rex vs. John D. Marlin, charged with selling spirituous liquor contrary to the terms of his license and the statute. On appeal from Police Court of Wailuku. There was evidence adduced that Marlin sold eight bottles of beer, two of whisky and one of bitters to J. Anderson and H. P. Anderson, in the evening of April 1, 1886, and which they put, wrapped up in a sack and took out of the saloon door and put in their brake in the road where the liquor was seized by Officer Treadway. The statute prescribes that the retail license shall not authorize the sale of liquor to be consumed off the premises. The counsel for defendant moved for a change of venue on account of prejudice of jurors against him, which was denied. The jury acquitted defendant, three dissenting. W. A. Whiting, John Richardson and J. W. Kalua for defendant. A. Rosa (W. A. Kinney with him), for prosecutors. Rex vs. W. C. Crook, a school teacher, for assault and battery on a Portuguese scholar by whipping him. The jury, deeming the punishment reasonable and necessary, acquitted defendant. The defendant conducted his own defense. Rex vs. Noa, charged with larceny of a horse and saddle. After the jury was sworn, the defendant pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months imprisonment and to pay a fine of $20 and costs. Henry vs. Mary, divorce, on ground of desertion. Partly heard and continued. Divorce granted the next day. (To be continued.) SUNDAY SERVICES. ROMAN CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL.—High mass at 10 A. M. Vespers at 4:30 P. M. KAWAIAHOA CHURCH.—Rev. H. H. A CHAPTER OF STORMS.

KANSAS CITY, May 11.—About 1:30 o'clock this forenoon ominous storm clouds began gathering over the city. The first appeared in the northeast, and surging westward across the city, turned suddenly about in their course, and descending rapidly broke upon the city in terrific bursts of wind and rain, that swept all lighter objects before them. The darkness was almost like night, and the people fled to the nearest shelter. The clouds seemed to graze the roofs of the highest buildings, and poured out their torrents in apparently solid masses for a time. The storm struck the city in full force about 11:20, and raged for half an hour. The streets were running rivers of water, carrying boxes and signs and other similar freight blown from buildings or swept by the flood. A number of vehicles were overturned, and in numerous instances the drivers abandoned their horses to their fate and sought refuge in the stores and houses.

All this, however, proved entirely insignificant when the full extent of the disaster became known. The Lathrop school building occupied a prominent site at the corner of Eighth and Main streets. The building was surmounted by a tower. The wind swept midway across Broadway from the west, and seemed to concentrate its force upon the tower, which yielded with a crash, and carrying down the heavy bell, plunged through the intervening floors to the basement.

The main building is a mass of ruins within the shattered walls, which still stand. The wing was comparatively uninjured and the scholars in it were not hurt. In the main building, however, the effect was awful. The falling floors precipitated the terrified children to the basement, where masses of brick and beams crushed through them to the ground and buried them from view. Persons near by, hearing the crash, made their way as best they could against the beating storm to the scene. The dead and wounded were taken out as quickly as possible and carried to the natorium adjoining, which was turned into a hospital. Among the first taken out several were dead and one or two mangled almost beyond recognition, their clothing torn and their bodies covered with dust and mortar. Many heroic scenes were enacted during the rescue of the wounded children, and some of them seemed to have greater self-control than their elders.

At 110 West Third street stood a three-story brick building in the middle of the block, the third floor of which was used as an overall factory, conducted by Hoar Brothers, and the first and second floor by the Graham Paper Company. In the factory there were about twenty-five employees, chiefly girls. When the storm broke out they started for the cellar. The building fell with a crash, being razed entirely to the earth, and most of the frightened girls were caught in the ruins. Four have been taken out dead. A number of others are wounded and some are still missing.

The storm struck the northwest corner of the County Court house, blowing in the roof and major portion of the walls of the third and fourth stories. The south wall at the east end was blown into the street and Deputy Sheriff Dougherty was caught and killed. All the others succeeded in getting out of the building alive.

Across the street stood a two-story brick building, erected in 1860 by the Santa Fe Stage Company. It was one of the oldest buildings in the city, from which the stages formerly were started across the plains. Adjoining that on the west was a three-story brick coffee and spice mill, owned by Smith & Moffatt. This building was demolished, falling over upon the adjoining one, and both were completely wrecked. Frank Smith, senior partner of the firm, was taken bleeding from the ruins and died in a short time. Mr. Moffatt was badly hurt and three employees were taken out.

The second span from the north end of the bridge across the Missouri, opposite the city, was blown into the river, pieces being left apparently uninjured.

The depot and flouring mill were wrecked at Parkville, on the Council Bluffs road.
A severe cyclone struck the town of Nortonville, Kan., doing an immense amount of damage. A brick block was completely wrecked. The bank building adjoining was demolished. Many dwelling-houses were unroofed and almost totally destroyed. Reports from the surrounding country state that the damage to property is very great.

A very severe storm, with violent wind, rain and lightning, visited Evansville, Ind., doing damage amounting to about $60,000. The African Baptist Church, a large brick building, was crushed in.

A fierce tornado struck the city of Leavenworth, Kan., and did an immense amount of damage to property. The Morse School building, in which were the Superintendent, twelve teachers and 600 scholars, was the first large building struck. Half of the roof was blown off, but not one person was hurt. The gale then struck the north end of the new market house, tearing about 40 feet of the roof loose, scattering it in every direction, killing three horses, dangerously wounding one man and damaging the stock of hardware to the extent of about $4,000.

Two railroad bridges were washed away, one at Easton, on the Kansas Central, and one at Fairmount, on the Union Pacific. Eight barns were blown down in Salt Creek Valley.

A most destructive cyclone is reported from Odell, Ill., a village 40 miles south of Joliet, on the Chicago and Alton Railroad on the 12th. The delegates of the State Sabbath School Convention, returning on the train state that as the train neared Odell they saw the cyclone approaching. First they saw the roof of an elevator raise and sail off in the air and the building collapsed. Then trees and houses were raised up, tumbled over and over like feathers, and then shattered to pieces, brick and frame, and all sizes, from shanties to two-story buildings.

One of the severest storms ever known in Joliet struck about 8:30 the same evening, when a deluge of rain and hail inundated the streets and thunder shook the earth. The thunder was deafening and the electric display unparalleled. A circus was giving a performance, and in the midst of the performance the storm struck the tent and turned the whole show upside down. The women screamed, the animals howled, and a general stampede ensued amid sheets of lightning, drenching rain and a resistless gale. Three persons were seriously injured by the falling poles, and a number were hurt slightly.

Williamsport, Ind., the same day, a cyclone struck destroying everything in its track. Several houses and barns in the north end of the town were carried away. Reports come from Attica, that it struck that place about the centre of the town, and destroyed several of the business buildings, including the new mill, the Revere House and the Chicago and Great Southern railway offices. The wagon bridge over the Wabash River was torn down. Several persons were on the bridge at the time it went down and are all supposed to have been killed.

At Xenia, O., a terrible wind and rain storm and electrical display. The water backed up at the east end of the town against the embankment of the Pan Handle Railroad. The bank gave away suddenly and the flood came dashing through the town along Shawnee creek in waves 15 or 20 feet high. It swept twenty or thirty houses away, and did $100,000 worth of damage. The gas works are flooded and the town is in darkness and terror.

At Lebanon the Methodist Episcopal church, the Lebanon House, a grist mill, a warehouse and several residences were unroofed.
A storm passed over Kempton, on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, unroofing houses, tearing down trees and carrying everything before it.

At Wilkinson, Ind., the storm blew down all the buildings in the town except three.
A cyclone passed over Danville, Ill., destroying a score of farm-houses and demolishing the United Brothers' church and school house.

The path of the cyclone was six miles in length and 150 yards wide. Madison county, O., suffered to an extent more than $200,000. In Fayette county the water spout was so pronounced that a flood 8 feet came tearing down Point Creek into Washington Court House, and increased until, in four hours, it had risen 18 feet, the highest ever known.

Forest, O., was visited by a tornado. The air was filled with balls of fire which exploded with a loud, snapping sound. Nine deaths are reported from the south of Dunkirk. Almost every window in a passing train was broken, and a number of passengers were slightly hurt from flying glass. Losses estimated at $350,000.

A cyclone formed one mile north of Lansing, Mich., and swept in a northeast direction, leveling fences and woods and tearing buildings into fragments. The whirlwind passed across the big Chandler marsh, nearly in the middle, striking a Michigan Central freight train, unroofing the cars and hurling the conductor into a ditch.
At Albion, Mich., a heavy wind and rain storm struck the city and five brick stores were unroofed.

A fearful thunder-storm visited the city of Dayton, O. The storm was accompanied by a heavy fall of hail, which lasted about ten minutes. The hailstones were very large and solid, causing great damage to windows, shrubbery, flowers and fruit.

A fearful storm passed over Winchester, Va., lasting fifteen minutes. Two clouds of a greenish cast, hanging low, one from the northeast and the other from the southwest, met and burst immediately over the city. The wind attained great velocity, and hailstones the size of walnuts fell to the depth of from two inches to three feet. Trees were stripped of foliage and the rain fell in torrents, filling the streets and cellars, and the Courthouse with a western exposure had all the window-glass on that side destroyed, and carriages were overturned in the roads, the occupants narrowly escaping with their lives.
At Blairsville, Penn., a thriving town between 2,000 and 3,000 inhabitants, a cyclone passed along when trees were uprooted and fences leveled and everything seemed to give way before it. The cloud suddenly veered in a westerly direction and struck Kiskiminetas river, sending the water up in a solid column to a height of nearly one hundred feet. Coketown bridge was lifted from the piers, twisted into a splintered mass and deposited in the stream below.

The great part of the town of Vichy Springs, Mo., was destroyed. A majority of the residences and many business blocks were unroofed and almost completely demolished.

At Green Ridge, Mo., houses were removed from their foundations, out-buildings destroyed, fences blown down and great damage done to fruit and shade trees. The glass in the windows of nearly every building in town exposed to the force of the storm was shattered by hail.

May 12.—A violent storm struck Osage City, Mo., lasting about one hour and a half, during which time the rain poured in torrents, so that within ten minutes from the time it began, the streets and fields were flooded and covered with water, fences torn down and trees uprooted and blown in every direction.
