VENTURE.

THIS fast trotting stallion has been withdrawn from training and will now be kept for stock purposes exclusively. He has shown as much speed as ever and had it not been for an accident which befell him a few days before the race, he being dead lame on the 11th, we think that he would have given the gang a hard tussle for the money.
He is now all right again, and is being regularly jogged at the track, and can show close to a 2:30 clip at any time that he is called upon. This kind of treatment has been found by long experience to be the right plan to adopt with a stallion, as by it he is not only a surer foal-getter, but also he will transmit a greater amount of speed, energy and vigor to his offspring. This plan is now the rule in all of the large breeding establishments everywhere.
To parties owning good mares this is an opportunity that should not be neglected, for Venture, with his fine breeding and great speed, I consider the most desirable stock horse in the country.
Mr. Campbell tells me that of all of the horses that he has imported to this country, which is probably a dozen or more, he likes his colts by Venture better than any of them, which is surely proof enough of his qualities as a stock-getter.
Mares will be taken to the Park and returned free of charge. For any additional particulars apply to corner of Punchbowl and Queen Streets.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Although the question of civil service reform was not a direct issue between the parties in the recent Presidential election, yet whatever influence the word carried was largely with the Democrats, on account of the favorable recognition it received in Mr. Cleveland's letter of acceptance. That this was no empty profession on the part of the Democratic candidate events are proving. For a time subsequent to President Cleveland's inauguration, it appeared as if the traditional doctrine, "To the victors belong the spoils," was going to prove too strong for his good intentions. The tremendous tide of partisanship was dragging the anchor of principle thrown out by the head of the administration. Departmental chiefs were causing official heads to roll into the basket in all directions. Not the least conspicuous instance of the President's ideas being overborne, was the policy pursued toward the Consular service. Notwithstanding that it was authentically announced from Washington that the national agents abroad, who had served the country faithfully and were acceptable to the respective communities in which they held office, would be retained in their positions, ministers and consuls of the previous administration, in every quarter of the globe, were summoned to deliver up their commissions. By the last mail, however, intelligence has come that the President had ordered a halt in the indiscriminate decapitation performances. He had given orders that all dismissals and appointments to places not vacant must stop at once. His determination was to stand by his declarations of civil service reform in his letter of acceptance and in his inaugural address. Previous to this some of the chief appointments of the administration had been made much in consonance with the principles of an unpartisan civil service. Notably the appointment of Collector of Customs at New York. This official has always been regarded as the chief of the dominant party organization in the commercial metropolis. So completely has this been recognized, that the late Republican incumbent said he would not serve under the Democratic Government if he could, and could not if he would. President Cleveland appointed to the position Mr. Hedden, a gentleman altogether unknown to the political machine, but a Democrat of thorough commercial attainments well-fitting him for the important duties. The responsibility of the incumbent toward the reform principles to which he owed his appointment, may be appreciated to some extent by those who can weigh the fact that he has in his patronage some thirteen hundred positions. A mere politician occupying the place would make sad wreck of the cause of civil service reform in filling all those places. Other appointments in New York of similar nature, and the retention of the Republican postmaster for his marked efficiency, otherwise attest the sincerity of the President's professions. It is to be hoped Mr. Cleveland will pursue his policy with firmness to the end of his term, and that his appointments will be characterized throughout by wisdom. Then the succeeding administration could hardly dare to overturn the new and better order of things, and revert to the spoils system that has been a reproach to the nation.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Prospects of the early completion of the Panama Canal do not appear bright in the light of recent visitors' reports. There is, besides, an increasing opinion that the work will never pay when completed. One of the latest to give the results of his observations is Wolfred Nelson, who contributes an article to Harper's Weekly, which is accompanied with illustrations and dated May 8th, 1885. His concluding paragraph sums up prospects of the Canal in this not sanguine strain: "With time, with men, with money in fabulous sums, M. DeLesseps can complete the canal; and if it is done in 1898 he will have executed wonders. After four years work and the expenditure of ninety millions in gold, but a twentieth is done, admitting the accuracy and fulness of the Company's figures. That such a waterway if ever built will be valuable as a possession for mankind all will admit. That it will ever pay even one percent on outlay is very doubtful in the minds of those who have watched and studied the problem, and who are as familiar with the statistics of the world's tonnage as even the sanguine projector of the Panama Canal himself."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Flushed by the exhibition of their power in the overthrow of Mr. Gladstone's administration, the Irish Nationalists have made the condition of their support of any Government to be the granting of equal independence to Ireland with that enjoyed by Australia and Canada.

The insane stock-gambling centering in Wall street will doubtless sustain a slight check by the spectacle of James D. Fish, President of the collapsed Marine Bank, going to State Prison at Auburn for ten years, and his partner Ward also coming in for almost certain punishment for his share in the colossal rascality of that institution.

An error appears in H. B. M. Queen Victoria's letter, as it has been printed in this paper and the Advertiser. Instead of, "And so we recommend you to the protection of the Almighty Giver. At Our Court," etc., the original reads, "And so we recommend you to the protection of the Almighty. Given at Our Court," etc. The mistake occurred in transcription.

The people of Maine probably know more about the results of prohibition there than the Advertiser of Honolulu. After a quarter of a century's experience of statutory prohibition, the people of Maine last year put the matter beyond the power of any hostile legislature to disturb, by making prohibition part of the State constitution. Of course this was done because the people had been taught by experience that "prohibition does not prohibit," and it was easier to get drunk where liquor was tabooed than where it was licensed or as free as other goods.

REPLY TO A JAPPOBIST.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Mr. Z. Y. Squires' views of the Japanese, as expressed in his letter of yesterday, will, I venture to predict, find a very faint response from this community. Mr. Squires has an undoubted right to his own convictions, and the additional right to proclaim them. Other people possess the right to dissent, and I doubt not a very large majority of your readers will exercise this right. To talk of the Japs as "uncivilized" is perfectly absurd, and indicates ignorance, malice, or derangement of intellect. Which, I do not pretend to say. Japanese civilization is much older than that under which Mr. Squires has been nurtured, and, in some respects, better. I speak the sentiment of a large majority, natives and foreigners, when I say that we welcome the civilized, polite, good-natured, clean, industrious, honest Japanese to our shores.

KAMAHAINA.

The spectacle of a well-meaning but not ornamental old lady hurrying by special train from Balmoral to Windsor to take her make-believe part in a change of Ministry is one of the most interesting of the fictions by which government in England connects the present with the Middle Ages.—Boston Herald.

THE POPULATIONS OF THE WORLD.

The most densely populated independent country in the world appears to be Belgium, and the next England and Wales—the former containing over 490, and the latter over 440, persons to the square mile. Holland comes next, with 327; next, Italy with 249; Japan with 234; and then China, which contains about a fourth of the total population of the world, with 225 persons to the square mile; followed in close succession by Germany, Luxemburg, France, and Switzerland. Ireland is less densely populated than any of these, and Scotland—half wasted by deer forests, kept up for the enjoyment of the rich—is not only less so than Ireland, but than Austria-Hungary and Denmark. The following is the most recent estimate of the area and population of the world and its various continents. The scanty population of Australasia and Polynesia will be at once noticed. It will also be observed that by far the greater proportion, or about four-sevenths of the total population of the earth is distributed throughout Asia, but that the density of population there is little more than half that of Europe:—

Area in Sq. Miles.	Population.	Persons to the Sq. M.
Europe.....	3,756,002	327,743,400 87.3
Asia.....	17,208,208	795,591,000 46.2
Africa.....	11,511,776	205,823,200 17.9
America.....	14,850,631	100,415,400 6.8

A MILLIONAIRE'S IDEAS ON EATING.

"Since my boyhood," said Mr. William H. Vanderbilt, "I have been accustomed to plain, wholesome living. To my style of living and regular habits I attribute my uniformly good health. I have my ills and aches like other men, but I am free from spells of sickness. I was brought up on a farm, you know, and I must confess an honest liking for good roast beef and roast mutton. I want them brown, rich and juicy, and with them I like to have served potatoes, white and floury. Above all I desire my food prepared and served plainly. Grease, spices and rich-flavored condiments are not suited to me, and I do not believe they are to any person. I have observed the absence of clear complexion and bright, sparkling eyes in persons accustomed to high living. The rosy color and clear eyes and buoyant spirits of persons who live plainly, but well withal, convince me that the simple, bountiful way of living is best."

A MAD MATHEMATICIAN.

Among the patients at an insane asylum in New Jersey, is a boy who is a lightning calculator, and concerning whom some remarkable stories are told. The most intricate problems are solved by him in fractions of a minute. The boy believes that his head is filled with little blocks, with figures upon them, and that they instantly fall into different positions and work out the problem. He thinks his brain, in fact, is a calculating machine. His insanity seems pardonable, for only a few sane men can compete with him as a mathematician. Every day he soaks his head in water to prevent the blocks from rattling, and occasionally he begs for oil to pour into his ears so that the imaginary squares will slip upon each other more easily.

DIDN'T ORDER THE JUG.

The following is from an Eastern watering place:—
One of the waiters in the Manhattan had a set-back yesterday. Two prosperous-looking farmers, with their wives, sat down at a table. The waiter served them with almost everything, and they were willing to pay liberally. For some hidden purpose of his own the waiter brought a finger-bowl to the table at the conclusion of the repast. One of the farmers looked up at him and said, calmly: "Mister, we are willing to pay for everything we order, but I don't recollect ordering that there jug." The waiter begged his pardon and retired.

After all the talk Maxwell may not be the murderer of Preller, and the terrible St. Louis trunk tragedy sensation may turn out to be a simple swindle—an attempt to impose a purchased "stiff" as a substitute for the body of Preller, who is known to have been heavily insured in England, and who is believed to be still alive. At all events, this is the theory now entertained in St. Louis. And there are said to be several corroborating circumstances, such as the absence of anxiety or fear on the part of Maxwell when arrested and the eagerness of Preller's relatives, who, with Maxwell, may be his accomplices, to secure the insurance money, set down at some $20,000. Life Insurance Companies, as a rule, are never impulsive in making such payments, and sometimes manifest an unwillingness to pay in cases in which there can be no question. It is safe to say that under the present suspicious circumstances the matter will be thoroughly investigated, and no doubt it will soon be found out if Preller was murdered and Maxwell is a murderer.

HIS FORTUNE MADE.

"My dear," said a father to his daughter, "how long ago was it that George Jackson went West to seek his fortune?"
"Just a year," the girl replied with a blush.
"Was there anything between you and George? I sometimes thought that he was fond of you."
"He was, papa," and the girl hid her face on the old man's shoulder.
"I promised George when he went away that I would wait for him for years if necessary."
"I have a letter from him."
"Oh, papa!" she exclaimed.
"Does he—or—has he—oh, tell me, what does he say?"
"He wants $20 to get home with."

After the threatened publication of the unpleasant parts of Gordon's Diary, now comes the positive assurance that the late Admiral Courbet's family have in possession and will shortly publish a series of his letters severely reflecting upon the French mismanagement in the Chinese affair. The Revising Committee seems to have wholly overlooked the passage about men's dying and the statement that "their works do follow them." In frequent and uncomfortable instances they don't.

"Will you carve the roast beef, Mr. Jorlap?" asked the landlady, slinging a sweet smile at the head boarder. "Certainly; with pleasure, madam," responded Jorlap, "where's the saw?"

YACHT COMING.

The Springfield Republican of July 3rd says the new schooner yacht "Brunhilde," 119 tons, owned by John J. Phelps, of Englewood, N. J., son of Wm. Walter Phelps, sailed that week from New London, Conn., for a trip around the world. She will be gone two years and call at the Hawaiian Islands during the voyage. She has five classmates, of Yale '83, of Mr. Phelps as companions. Eleven men compose the crew, including Capt. Larriere and Fred. Evans, sailing master.

A SPLENDID RECEPTION.

A general response was made to the numerous invitations to attend the reception given last night by His Excellency W. M. Gibson, Minister of Foreign Affairs, at his residence, in honor of Mr. Inouye, Special Commissioner of the Emperor of Japan. At the hour announced, eight o'clock, a regular stream of ladies and gentlemen began to pour in and continued for a considerable time after, until the reception rooms, verandahs, and surrounding grounds became one mass of animation. All classes and sections of the community were represented, from the head of the nation, His Majesty the King, down—a harmonious blending of officials and people with the representatives of many nationalities. The ornate decorations and decorations within and without the buildings, combined with the surrounding beauty of tropical luxuriance, made an indescribably charming picture. The arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the large company left nothing wanting. Best of all, there was an entire absence of stiffness, which on similar occasions frequently mars the pleasure of many people, and everybody felt easy, happy, and joyous. Everything conspired to render the whole affair a most complete success, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs has every reason to feel entire satisfaction with the result.

Y. M. C. A.

The free entertainment by the members and friends of the Y. M. C. A. last evening was one of very high merit. Solos were given by Mrs. Judd and Mrs. Cruzan, duets by Messrs. May and Walker, and Messrs. Davies and Yarnley, a trio by Mr. and Misses Von Holt, a quartette by Messrs. May, Davies, Walker and Yarnley, and a violin solo by Mr. Yarnley. Excellent selections were read by Mrs. Dole, Mr. J. F. Brown, and Mr. A. P. Peterson. Mr. Myrom Jones was piano accompanist. The audience, though not so large perhaps as free ice cream might command, was by no means "slim." These entertainments, as Secretary Fuller stated, at the close, are gotten up by the best talent of all the churches in the city; and are intended to furnish counter attractions to resorts of demoralizing influences, for the young men of Honolulu. To all who appreciate first-class music, vocal or instrumental, and literary matter of the best quality in wit, wisdom and sentiment, the Y. M. C. A. has, with these entertainments, so far succeeded in affording complete satisfaction.

ROYAL SCHOOL EXHIBITION.

Below is a continuation from yesterday's issue of the report of the above event. Prizes were awarded the boys who had won them by general proficiency in the studies of the year, and by high marks on the written examinations of the past week. The King's medal was won by Jas. N. K. Keola and S. L. Kekumano. His Majesty the King took the platform and invested Kekumano with this year's medal, Keola being already the wearer of the King's medal of last year.

His Majesty delivered the other prizes to the winners, who were: T. B. Lyons, J. H. Bolster, Wm. Kino, V. Fernandez and G. Rosa.

Prizes, for maps of the Hawaiian Islands, and Europe, were awarded S. L. Kekumano; and for the best drawings, W. F. Kain and T. B. Lyons.

The prizes for recitations were adjudged by the audience to Vincent Fernandez, S. Kalakielia, and Kelekomana Haui. Specimens of maps and drawings by the pupils were shown on the walls of the room, and elicited expression of unqualified admiration, from persons competent to pronounce upon that branch of education.

FORT STREET SCHOOL.

A crowded audience attended the exhibition of Fort Street School this morning. An assembly, more select and cosmopolitan in its make up, could not, probably, be attracted to a school exhibition in any other city of similar extent, in the world. Europeans, Americans and Polyynesians occupied the seats, and faces of every shade of complexion filled the open doors and windows. Among the spectators there were His Majesty the King, attended by his Vice-Chamberlain; the Honorable Chief Justice; Their Excellencies the Minister of Foreign Affairs and President of the Board of Education, and the Attorney General; the Auditor General, also a member of the Board of Education; the Inspector General of Schools; His Imperial Japanese Majesty's Commissioner; the Hawaiian Consul to Japan; Rev. C. M. Hyde, Mr. Atkinson, etc., etc. The pupils' performances were all excellent, and were evidently received with perfect satisfaction by the spectators, as was manifested in the frequent outbursts of rapturous applause with which they were greeted. The walls of the room were tastefully decorated with palm leaves, and also with the products of the artistic skill of the drawing classes. Portraits and profiles of the human face divine, with drawings of elephants and lesser specimens of the animal kingdom, were hung round in considerable numbers. Songs, dialogues and recitations were given in fine style. The exercises, in detail, were according to the following PROGRAMME.

- Song—The Roses School Recitation—The Little Hero. R. Dexter Song—I'll Paddle my own Canoe. School Recitation—Destiny. Maggie Mossman Song—Fading Song. School Recitation—The School Boy's Composition. R. Moore Piano Duet (2)—The Chateleine Waltz. H. Brown and O. Sitaro Song (2)—Come with me. M. Lishman and H. Ward Pieces (2)—A Dear Little Goose. M. Dower How It Began. G. Scott Song—Ahi Wela. School Recitation—The Brier Rose. J. Dower, J. McGowan & B. Weight Song—Widow Dunn. W. Berger Composition—Land Shells. W. Baldwin Music on the Waves. Girls The Mermaid's Song. Boys The Magician. Boys Song—Hail to the New Year. School Recitation—The Farmer who became Drum Major. M. King & E. Dexter Recitation—The Walrus and the Carpenter. A. Neumann Song—The Light House. School Recitation—Hamlet, Act 3, Scene 3. W. Coney, L. Nott & J. M. Camara

His Excellency W. M. Gibson and the Inspector-General of Schools addressed the school in a few remarks congratulating the pupils on the success of their work during the year, after which the pupils to whom prizes had been awarded, came forward and received their prizes from the hands of His Majesty the King, and returned severally to their places, through storms of applause from the assembly. The principal prizes were given by the President of the Board of Education and the Inspector-General of schools, and were for proficiency in scholarship. To these were added prizes by several teachers to pupils of their respective departments for various points of merit. After the prizes were disposed of, the proceedings closed with Hawaii Hono.

The list of Prizes will appear in full to-morrow.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, July 24th.

Ah Lee, remanded from yesterday, pleaded guilty to embezzlement, and was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for four months and to pay $3 costs. The same culprit pleaded not guilty to having opium in possession. Four witnesses, however, established his guilt, and he was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 and suffer hard duration on the reef for two months. Costs $1.40. This is the man reported yesterday as having appropriated the money given him by his employer to buy meat. The opium was discovered in, or just out of his possession, at the moment of his arrest for embezzlement. James Richardson forfeited bail of $6 for not taking enough prohibition in his beverage.

"Why, Mr. Fogg," urged the landlady, "you are not eating anything. Come, now, try one of my nice biscuits." "Thank you, ma'am," replied Mr. Fogg, "but when I was a child I was told never to ask for anything I didn't see on the table." The landlady remarked to the servant, after tea, that she wondered what Mr. Fogg meant; something hateful, she'd be bound.

Teacher—So you can't do a simple sum in arithmetic. Now, let me explain it to you. Suppose eight of you have together 48 apples, 32 peaches and 16 melons, what will each one of you get? "Cholerer morgus!" replied Johnny Fizzletop, who is addicted to that malady.

"Pa, who was Shylock?" "Great goodness, boy! You attend church and Sunday school every week, and don't know who Shylock was? Go and read your bible, sir."

Our Cream will be only of superior quality, made of genuine cream. As we have made arrangements with the Woodlawn Dairy to supply us only with a first-class article from samples we have had of the same, we are able to guarantee satisfaction. The following assortments of Ice Creams and Sherbets we will keep at our opening, and many more kinds if trade will justify it:—
ICE CREAMS:
VANILLA, LEMON, CHOCOLATE, COFFEE, STRAWBERRY, PINEAPPLE and COFFEE GLACE.
SHERBETS:
ORANGE and STRAWBERRY.

Parties supplied any day except Sundays. Those wishing Ice Cream for Sunday must leave their orders on Saturday before 9 p. m., which will be delivered before 10 a. m. Sunday. The cream will be packed so that they will keep eight hours in a first-class condition. Hoping to get a share of public patronage, and thanking the public for their liberal past favors, we remain, respectfully,

THE EFFECTS OF TOBACCO.

The following extracts from "A Resume of the Tobacco Question," in the Medical and Surgical Reporter, are worthy of attention.
After one of the protracted discussions in England on the tobacco question, Dr. Richardson published, in 1862, a series of papers, which were summarized by the Lancet, 1863, p. 676, as follows:—
1. The more common effects are due to carbonic acid and ammonia.
2. The effects are but transitory.
3. All of the resulting evils are functional.
4. Produces disturbances in stomach, blood, heart, organs of sense, in brain, sympathetic system, and mucous membrane of mouth and bronchi.
5. As a cause of insanity, chorea, epilepsy, apoplexy, organic disease of heart, cancer and consumption there is not sufficient evidence.
6. It is deleterious to the young.
7. In the main it is a luxury that any nation is better without, and to the mind conveys the idea of physical detriment.
8. As a luxury tending to this condition, it is one of the least harmful; is innocuous compared with alcohol, is not more harmful than tea, less so than sugar, and is antidotal to gluttony.
9. It is a remedy in certain cases for evils that lie deeper than its own. Smoking, when done at proper time, facilitates digestion. The sense of relief obtained by a cigar after a heavy meal, is well known to smokers. Dyspepsia sometimes follows the discontinuance of tobacco, and is removed when the habit is resumed.

While the abuse of tobacco weakens the system and leads to emaciation, used intelligently it exerts a favorable influence upon nutrition. Hammond, by observation upon himself, found a gain in weight with the use of tobacco. "Tobacco, when the food is sufficient to preserve the weight, increases it; when insufficient, and the body is losing, tobacco restrains the loss."—Hammond.
Borbaave, of Holland, over 200 years ago referred to tobacco as being an antidote to hunger. It seems that the power to undergo severe exertion and fatigue, either mental or physical, is aided by tobacco.

Situations of loneliness are always rendered more tolerable by tobacco, and it is the constant companion of those who lead lives of solitude such as that of the herdsman or ranchman. A feeling of unrest or discontent, made up of ill-defined longings, of imaginary disappointments and unpleasant anticipations, commonly known as ennui, is responsible for much unhappiness. This unfortunate condition of mind is removed by the soothing influence of a cigar, and the moroseness and gloom are quickly dispelled. As much of every day is filled up with care, our degree of comfort in this life will depend largely upon our ability to bear it uncomplainingly. That tobacco assists us to do this, that it enables us to look upon life more placidly; must be the conclusion of every one who has experienced its influence. That it enables us to toil with less fatigue is equally true. The readiest writers generally use tobacco, and cannot accomplish the same amount of work in the same time without it, and those connected with newspaper and other literary work who have often to write against time find it of inestimable value.

A SMART WOMAN.
An insurance agent applied to a woman in Austin to induce her to get her husband's life insured.
"Will I be sure to get the money if he will die right off?"
"Certainly, madame."
"But will you give me any assurance that he will die right off?"
"No, madame; we can't do that."
"Well, then, what good will it be to me to get his life insured, if he doesn't die? I knew there was some catch about this insurance business."—Texas Siftings.

SAUCE FOR THE ADULT CANDER.
Senior—"My boy, I'm ashamed of you. Why didn't you pass your school examination?"
Junior—"Hush, pop. If I had made such a poor show as you have in your civil examination, I shouldn't say a word."—Puck.

Deacon—"Boys! boys! you should not play marbles to-day. Sunday's a day of rest, you know. Spokesman—Yes, sir, we know it, but we ain't tired, sir.
Freddy went to Sunday school. He was in the infant class. One day his father said to him: "How is this, Freddy? You have been going to Sunday school for some time, and have never yet brought home a good ticket. I am really ashamed of you." "Papa," said the little culprit, swelling up like a toad, "I—I'll bring home a good ticket next Sunday, if—I have to hook it!"

Said Bobby to the minister at dinner: "Can a church whistle?" "Why do you ask?" "Cos pa owes $12 back pew rent, and he says he's going to let the church whistle for it."

It is announced that an English inventor has lately devised a method of coating tin with a material resembling glass, which removes all danger of poison in canned goods and the adoption of his process is likely soon to become general.
"Johnny, what were you saying to that dog?" asked a mother of her little son. "I was just talking to him. I told him, 'You have a good time of it. You don't have to wash your face or comb your hair, and you don't even have to go to school.'"
"How often do you get letters from your husband?" was asked of a lady who is spending the summer in the country. "Never," she replied. "He never writes me." "Isn't that rather curious?" "Oh, no. My husband is a journalist."—New York Sun.

He had an idea, but it was too heavy for him to carry around, so he entered the sanctum of the funny man and inquired: "By the way, did you ever notice how polite a tree is?" "No," answered the funny man, "I don't remember ever having had the experience." "Well, I'm surprised. Didn't you ever see a tree bough?" "Yes," responded the funny man, "and I have also seen a tree leave." Then he unchained the dog.
