A Table of the Past Championship Events—It is the Lailanis' Initial Race—Who the Judges Are.

As the championship of 1897 is to be rowed for on next Saturday afternoon it may be of interest to the public to know of the past championship races rowed between the old Healanis and Myrtle crews, and between the latter and the Healanis Yacht Boat club.

Table with columns: Date, Winner, Time, Loser, Time. Rows include Healanis vs Myrtle races from 1892 to 1896.

This year the race will be a three cornered fight, and the Lailanis' make their first attempt for the championship cup and pennant.

It was impossible to get up races during the season of 1894 because of the lack of interest among boating men. The cholera prevented all racing in 1895.

The oarsmen who will compete for honors on Saturday afternoon are in as good a condition now as they will be on the day of the race.

But four days are left for the various committees to complete all arrangements. The greatest interest among boating men is centered in the Senior race.

The judges and officers of the course have all been selected. For judges, H. M. Whitney, Jr., will represent the Healanis club; W. H. McFegney, the Lailani club, and C. B. Wilson, the Myrtles. A steam launch will convey the judges, officers and newspaper men over the course during the race.

The captains of the different boat clubs have selected their crews. Following is a complete personnel of the oarsmen and their positions:

TO RATIFY THE TREATY ON THE MORROW.

The Kinau Brings the Hawaii and the Maul Delegations Today—A Brief Sketch of the Senators.

The Senators representing the Islands of Hawaii and Maui came by the Kinau today to attend the special session of the upper branch of the Legislature called by President Dole to convene tomorrow in the big legislative hall. Unless something unforeseen happens, there will be but one absentee when President W. C. Wilder raps the Senate to order at noon tomorrow.

Senator A. Hocking, of the District of Maui, who is now in Europe. Prominent among the delegation from Hawaii, was Rev. J. A. Kaubane, who is the pastor of a large Native church. Senator Kaubane has been associated with the Reform movement since the early eighties. He is a true representative Hawaiian and one of the framers of the constitution of the Republic. Before the establishment of the Republic, he sat in the lower house under the monarchy.

F. S. Lyman is another Senator from the big island. He comes from Hilo, where he is held in high esteem by the people of the district. Senator Lyman is a Hawaiian born American, being a son of Rev. Mr. Lyman, and sat in the constitutional convention. Senator H. L. Holstein is a prominent lawyer in Kohala. He is a part Hawaiian and sincerely believes the best interests of his country to be in the annexation of the Islands by the Greater Republic. This is Mr. Holstein's first term in the Senate.

A strong supporter of the Republic cause is Senator F. Northrup, a carpenter and builder in the Kohala district. He is an American and an ardent annexationist. Senator Baldwin, the millionaire sugar planter, comes at the head of the Maui Senatorial delegation. Mr. Baldwin resides at Haiku, and is probably the most prominent man in Maui. He has large interests in all parts of the islands. He was one of the men who promulgated the constitution in 1894. Senator W. Y. Horner is a Maui man, his home being at Lahaina. He is a western man and is strong for a Republican form of government. He and his brother, J. M. Horner, of Hawaii, came to the Islands together many years ago. They are both engaged in sugar cultivation and are true representative farmers.

H. P. BALDWIN, Senator from Maui.

Senator George N. Wilcox, from the Island of Kauai, is the senior of the Wilcox brothers of that island. He is enterprising and public spirited, held a cabinet portfolio during the reign of Liliuokalani, and represented his island in the constitutional convention.

No one is more thoroughly identified with the Island of Kauai than is Senator W. H. Rice, Sr. He is the owner of a large ranch well stocked with cattle and horses. Senator Rice was at one time governor of Kauai, and was a member of the constitutional convention.

There are six Senators from the district of Oahu. William C. Wilder, the president of the Senate is a brother of the late S. G. Wilder, the founder of the Wilder Steamship Company, and one of the most enterprising men Hawaii has ever seen. He is largely interested in the lumber business. Senator John A. McCandless is one of the strongest supporters of the present government. He is at the head of McCandless Brothers, the well known firm. Senator McCandless is popular from Hawaii to Kauai, and is considered an able legislator.

Senator Henry Waterhouse is largely identified with many enterprises, not only on Oahu, but on the other Islands as well, and is an annexationist to the backbone. Senator Brown is a leading member of the bar, and was active as a representative under the monarchy. He was a son of the late Thomas Brown, who held the office of register of conveyances for over a quarter of a century.

Senator John N. Wright is a supporter of the civil war. He came to these shores a few years after the close of the rebellion. He was at one time interested in a Koloa plantation and later in Ookala.

Senator H. W. Schmidt was for a long time with the firm of Haekfeld & Company, till he started in business for himself. He is a German. Senator Schmidt was formerly consul for Sweden and Norway.

Senators Wilder, Waterhouse, McCandless and Brown were members of the constitutional convention.

HARD ROCK IN THE WAY.

Delay in the Completion of the New King's Wharf.

Work is progressing rather slowly on the new King's wharf, on the Waikiki end of the Pacific Mail dock. The dredger could not scoop out the slip as far as expected, on account of a ledge of hard rock that was encountered about thirty feet from the shore line. This rock must be blasted out, and a force of men is now at work on it.

A platform has been built out over the rock and near the outer edge the workmen are now engaged in drilling a series of holes in which the charges of explosive are to be placed. When the mine is completed, it will be fired by an electric spark from the shore. The broken rock will be dredged out, and the operation repeated until the ledge is cut away to a proper depth. It is slow work, as the rock is very hard.

The piling and lumber for the new wharf have been on the ground for some time. The piling is lying in the water near the fish market, and, in the opinion of a sea captain, who has examined it, will become worthless before it is ready for use if not taken better care of. The heavy planking for the flooring is piled mauka the Pacific Mail wharf.

WILL SEE HAWAII.

A party of four ladies and three gentlemen are on the Coptic en route around the world, under the auspices of the Whitecomb-Raymond Excursion Company. They will remain in Hawaii two or three weeks doing the islands. William Jones is the conductor of the party.

DOCTORS DINE TOGETHER.

President William O. Smith of the health department gave a luncheon at the Pacific club today complimentary to Dr. S. D. Brooks, of the United States marine hospital service. Among the guests present were the medical members of the board of health, the city physicians under the employ of the department and Surgeon W. S. Wise of the flagship Philadelphia.

MANY AFFLICTED WITH IT.

While Dr. Day and Dr. Brooks were in Japan in the interests of quarantine matters, they learned that the total number of dysentery cases in the empire some summers reaches 100,000 cases. Up to August 1st of this year, some 16,000 cases had been recorded. The dysentery is a summer complaint which lasts from the beginning of warm weather until the frosts in the autumn.

THE NANIWA'S CLOSE CALL SAYS WE ARE PROTECTED

STRIKES BOTTOM TWICE IN THE CHANNEL.

Goes Out Without a Pilot and Almost Gets Aground—Strange Rumors in Circulation.

The Japanese cruiser Naniwa sailed for Yokohama at 6 o'clock this morning, and came near getting on the reef before she got clear of the channel. When she arrived here from the Orient four months ago the services of Pilot Saunders were secured to bring her in, but Captain Kurooko believed his own navigator capable of taking her out. The channel looks broad and straight, but appearances proved deceptive.

Captain Macauley, the pilot, with several others, was at the Mail dock when the cruiser hauled up her anchor, and swung into the stream, and he said his heart was in his mouth as he watched her stagger through the channel. First she hugged the Waikiki shore, got foul of the sand spit that runs out between the first two red buoys. Fortunately the spit slopes and the steamer slid off into deep water without particular damage. Then she creased over to the Ewa shore, and hit on the mud bank between the two pilings that stick furthest out into the channel, listing to port about two streaks. She was started ahead hard and managed to clear the bank, after which she got fairly into the channel, but ran dangerously close to the reef. When last seen the Naniwa was steaming slowly into the southwest.

As the Naniwa left her moorings the Philadelphia's band struck up the Japanese national anthem. The Naniwa ran up signals thanking Captain Dyer for the compliment.

All sorts of ridiculous rumors were flying along the water front this forenoon concerning the probable destination of the Naniwa. People seemed slow to believe that she was home-bound, but preferred to think she was going up to Hawaii "to land 9,000 stands of arms for plantation hands." The credulous ones have been keeping an eye on the Bennington all morning, expecting to see her follow the cruiser, as she did on one previous occasion.

Another story that was readily believed was that the American Minister would take advantage of the Japanese departure to hoist the American flag over Hawaii, and September 12th has been fixed for the date of the flag raising.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

Horse and Rider Trampled Under Foot in Palama.

Kaubane, a young native who was at one time on the police force, was quite seriously injured about 5 o'clock last evening by being run down by one of Smith's busses. The accident occurred on the Palama road at the turn near the new rice plantation and was witnessed by the wife of Lieutenant of Police Kakai.

The bus, drawn by four horses and loaded with natives, swung around the bend in the road at a full gallop. Kaubane was coming from the opposite direction on horseback. The lead horses of the bus fouled his horse, knocking him out of the saddle and when the bus stopped both horse and rider were under the leaders' feet. Kaubane appeared to be severely injured. The passengers picked him up, and took him home in the bus. The horse was badly cut. The driver of the bus, a Portuguese, is blamed for the accident.

KAUAI CANDIDATES.

The petition of Robert Waialeale, as independent candidate for the Legislature from the district of Kauai, was received at the Interior department today. It was denied by the Minister because it was received seven days after the expiration of the time set by law. Waialeale is a lawyer, living at Wai-mea.

Paul Isenberg, Jr., and S. K. Kaeo are the only candidates registered from Kauai. They will be elected because there is no opposition.

TONIGHT'S BAND CONCERT.

Hiki no me A'u. Mr. D. Moe. Cornet Solo—First Love. Neuman Mr. Charles Kreiter. Fantasia—War Recollection. Thiele Kentucky Babe and All Coons Look Alike (by request). HOW IT WILL BE DONE.

C. Brewer & Co., agents for the Pa-paikou and Honoumou plantations will ship the sugar output direct from Hilo hereafter. The Welch vessels will do the carrying. The steamer that will load the vessels has not been decided upon as yet.

This sugar will be shipped direct to San Francisco, and the vessels docked at the Oakland mole, thus permitting the transferring direct from the vessels' hold into the cars. It is understood that the railway people have given a very low rate to secure these sugar freights over their lines in order to wrest it from the sailing vessels going around the horn.

DR. BROOKS' ORIENTAL TRIP FOR PUBLIC HEALTH.

Admires the Way in Which Hawaii's Health Department is Acting—The Modern Quarantine System.

Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Brooks, of Boston, are staying at the Hawaiian Hotel. They arrived from Japan and China last week, where Dr. Brooks has been on a mission for the United States government. They are booked to sail for San Francisco next week. Dr. Brooks is identified with the marine hospital corps and was delegated by the chief of his department to visit Japan and China for the purpose of examining into the quarantine system.

He spent four months in this work, a good part of which time he was accompanied by Dr. F. R. Day, who was in the Orient looking after the interests of Hawaii in quarantine matters.

"The feeling has been among us in the marine hospital service for some time past," said Dr. Brooks this forenoon, "that the Pacific coast ports of the United States were not sufficiently protected from the diseases that accompany Oriental immigration. My experience during my recent tour of these countries are in accord with this policy. Upon my return I will recommend to the department that some changes in the present method in vogue be made.

"They will be somewhat in the line of the recommendations made by Dr. Day to his government. The interests of the United States and Hawaii, as far as Japanese and Chinese immigration is concerned, are identical. I admire the health department of Hawaii for the serious manner, extreme care and intelligent deliberations which it is giving this vastly important proposition of public health. From what I can learn the Island Republic need be far more cautious than the United States because of the mild tropical climate and the susceptibility of the Hawaiians to disease."

"What about modern quarantine, doctor?" "In 1893 the United States established a system of quarantining European immigration which probably is the most modern system today. It was attempted by Uncle Sam first of all other countries, and has proved to be a great success. Immigrants, before they are allowed to leave any European port are held in quarantine for a period sufficient for any disease to incubate. Those who are healthy at the expiration of the quarantine are permitted to embark, while those who are not must remain behind.

"Dr. Eldredge, who is sanitary inspector for the United States and Hawaii, with his deputies, carefully examine every immigrant coming from Japan or China. The majority of immigrants are inspected at Yokohama, while some are expected at Koloa and Nagasaki. During ordinary times the inspection is made on shipboard, and when there is an epidemic raging, the examination is invariably made on land."

Dr. Brooks has been giving considerable attention to the commercial and shipping interests of the Pacific. He finds that within the past few years trade has practically doubled on this ocean. The doctor does not think that the commerce of the Pacific will equal that of the Atlantic for many years to come. He states that the Pacific ocean trade is exciting attention in the States.

REV. J. M. MONROE GOES. Rev. James M. Monroe of the Christian church will return to the States to remain permanently after a successful year's work in this city. Dr. Garvin of California, the founder of the Christian church in this city, will supply his place. Dr. Garvin is expected on the Australia next Tuesday.

DISCUSSED THE MESSAGE.

The President and Ministers were closeted for a couple of hours this morning discussing the message that the Executive will deliver at the special session of the Senate tomorrow.

FOR THIRTY-FOUR YEARS

JUSTICE FIELD'S LONG TERM OF OFFICE.

Appointment Dates From President Lincoln's Administration—Sketch of a Notable Family.

Justice Field of the United States Supreme Court has passed the milestone which marks his service as the longest of any man on the Supreme bench.

He has served thirty-four years and some months, which is longer than former Chief Justice John Marshall, whose record of service has hitherto been the longest of all the justices since the establishment of the national tribunal of last resort.

It has generally been understood that he would retire after completing this record. He is physically unable, but mentally there is no indication of deterioration of his vitality.

He may retire at any time without saying anything about it in advance.
 He desires that his successor should be a man of recognized ability. The belief is that Attorney General Mc-Kenna will be appointed whenever Mr.
 Field retires.

THE FIELD FAMILY.

Justice Field is one of a remarkable family, and himself the most distinguished. He is a brother of Cyrus W.
 Field who moored the old and new hemispheres side by side, so that time and distance are annihilated by means of the Atlantic cable.

Another brother was David Dudley Field, one of America's greatest lawyers, and still another brother, Henry Martine Field, who, as a preacher and editor of religious journals, added luster to the name. Mrs. Josiah Brewer, wife of a missionary, was a Field, and the mother of Associate Justice Brewer.

The remarkable family has presented an uncle and nephew illustrious enough to sit on the bench of the most celebrated tribunal at the same time.

Such a thing has never occurred in the history of the country before, nor is it likely to occur again. Justice Brewer was born in Asia Minor, while his parents were at their missionary post. Mr. Justice Field also lived at Smyrna with his aunt. He lived long enough in the Levant to become familiar with the modern Greek, the French, the Italian and Turkish languages.

On account of his early familiarity with those languages, particularly the Turkish, he is one of the small group of statesmen and jurists which last winter devoted itself to the study of Oriental languages. Senator Hoar, who will be 71 years old on the 29th inst., was a member of the group.
 Although these men are above the three score and ten span allotted to man, they are still pursuing knowledge both useful and ornamental.

His career on the Supreme bench has been distinguished. He was appointed by Lincoln to a seat in the Supreme Court bench of the United States in 1863. Williams College has conferred upon him the degree of LL. D., and he is an honorary professor of law of the University of California.

A BICYCLE TRUST.
 Negotiations on Foot to Consolidate Several Big Companies.

A dispatch from New York says: If the statements made by men prominent in the trade are correct, all the doubts as to there being a reorganization of the various bicycle manufacturers under one board of directors in a few weeks have been revived. Some of the largest makers of wheels are now in England, where they went on business several weeks ago. Word has come by cable that as a result of the visit, two of the richest bicycle magnates of England are on their way here to look over the field and report to others.

At the board of trade cycle manufacturers it was admitted that the consolidation was on foot, and James Sullivan of the Spalding company admitted that the reports were correct and that the negotiations had been under way for several weeks. Everything has gone smoothly, he said, and unless something unforeseen should occur, the consolidation would be effected. The men who are arranging the reorganization, according to statements of Mr. Sullivan and others, are Col. Albert Pope of the Pope Manufacturing Company, A. G. Spalding of Spalding Brothers, the American Welled Tube Company, Edward Warwick, H. A. Lozier of Cleveland and several others, principally Englishmen, who

THE MEETING.

According to the Census of 1896 Honolulu contained 29,920 inhabitants, which at the present moment we shall be perfectly justified in calling 30,000. Of these 7918 were Hawaiians and 3468 were part Hawaiians. Of these, however, there are respectively 4158 and 1735 or altogether 5893, and deducting children from these we have between 4500 or 5000 males who take an interest in political affairs and who are claimed to be represented by the noisy clique of Royalists as feeling down trodden by this Government and being thoroughly opposed to it.

On the side of the Government it has been repeatedly shown that every consideration has been given to the Hawaiians, that the lot of the Hawaiian is better under the Republic than ever it was under the monarchy, that work is more plentiful, that land is easier to obtain, and that when annexation comes, as come it will, the Hawaiian with his education and intelligence will take his proper and due place as an American citizen, on perfect equality with any others who may enter at the same time.

The long talked of meeting, which the noisy clique, who arrogate to themselves the sole right to represent the Hawaiians, have been shaking in the face of the Government, has met peaceably and amounts to just nothing. In point of fact it has been a hard matter to get a meeting together at all. There has not been that keen desire to protest which the clique has been forever dinning into the ears of any who would listen. Instead of a mass meeting of four or five thousand Hawaiians, there was a bare three hundred people, who were by no means all Hawaiians, but a mixed mass brought largely together by curiosity to see what all this fuss was about.

A couple of months ago the birthday of the Republic of Hawaii was celebrated. If the Hawaiians hated the Republic as much as the clique would have us believe it should have been a day of mourning with Hawaiians. But it was not. Bands of them went around the night before, serenading the citizens, as is their custom on a national holiday. The sidewalks were crowded with Hawaiians in gala costumes, who took part in the festival. It certainly did not look as if they mourned over the defunct monarchy.

But all along the noisy clique has kept up the clamor that the Hawaiian was discontented, and it has resulted in the fiasco of yesterday. Nothing shews the utter hopelessness of the clique's cause than this utter collapse of all their hopes. To endorse their protest they could not get together many more people than will go any Saturday afternoon to see a game of base ball.

In point of fact the meeting of last night shewed clearly that the anti-annexationists have no support amongst the Hawaiians. The names of those on the platform were those of unimportant men. There were no leading Hawaiians like Kaulukou, Poepoe, Robert Wilcox, or Ka-na. Under ordinary circumstances it could hardly have been worth notice, but at this time it is significant that on the eve of the ratification of the Annexation Treaty by the Senate, no prominent Hawaiian comes forward to object and that not ten per cent. of the people in the whole city could be got together to even listen to what the set of unknown speakers had to say against it, much less to approve of their sentiments. The meeting of last night is really a triumph for the annexation cause.

SUCCESS.

The anti-annexation sentiments of the morning paper have been so successful that they are becoming the watch word of those opposed to the annexation cause. Since annexation was first advocated in these later years, there have, perhaps, been no harder blows dealt it than those which the editor of the morning paper has given.

The defense of the position that has been taken is that truth must be told. But the truth is not told.

It is a story told with all the weight of words laid to make it appear in its worst light. It is a picture painted by a hand that naturally goes to the lamp black for its shadows and which plentifully plasters its canvas with the most somber hues.

To tell the story of the Hawaiian Islands and deliberately ignore what has been done, to insinuate that everything that has been done has been merely for gain, that practically nothing has been done to enhance Anglo-Saxon civilization, to belittle every man of the past, and finally to say that the United States in assuming these Islands will break faith as it has done before, is to state the case in terms which a lawyer is accustomed to use when he has a bad case.

It only requires one to look at the schools to see what the Anglo-Saxons have done towards spreading Anglo-Saxon institutions and ways of thought; to remember the self-denying lives of many noble men and women, who for no greed of gain have brought the nation up to such a condition that the ways of life and much of the thought is from the Anglo-Saxon stand point. The grass house has been replaced by the substantial wooden structure. The naked have been clothed, ignorance has given place to culture; industry has taken the place of laziness. These are honorable and worthy victories, and to these the Anglo-Saxon can point with pride, in spite of the sneers and insinuations of one who has never put his shoulder to the wheel for the cause of Hawaiian progress, and who, at the closing decades of his life can only return to rail at what others have done, and try to belittle the work of men whose names are blazoned with honor on Hawaii's small historic scroll.

The old age pension scheme will eventually be carried in most countries, and it is, at the present time, interesting to see the various methods proposed to raise money for it. It is one of those schemes that seem utopian, but when they are carried out the people will wonder how it was that they got along without some plan of this sort. All large States pension their officers and soldiers. Many States pension the members of the civil service. The pension system of British India keeps a large class faithful to the government, for the overthrow of the government would mean the loss of all chance of pension. The Victorian Government has begun to wrestle with a universal old age pension scheme. The Australian colonies and New Zealand are ever trying to solve social questions. The Victorian plan is to tax amusements, and it raised quite a storm. The theatrical managers are up in arms and say it will ruin them. The sporting men object to any tax upon matches or races and the clubs are kicking. But the law makers of the South will wrestle with the subject till they find a solution.

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer.

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer is a drop forge tool, made of black diamond tool steel, and embraces six tools in one; weight, about a pound, and can be carried in the hip pocket with ease.

The six tools are as follows:
1. Double staple puller, nails, etc.

2. Double wire cutter.

3. Double hammer, non-breakable.

4. Good wire splicer, for any kind of wire, barbed wire included.

5. Good pair pincers, with long leverage.

Good monkey wrench, for plows, machines, etc.

The leading fence companies throughout the middle and western States have adopted this tool for use in putting up their fences, and recommend it as the best tool of its kind in use.

It is one of those tools that while used in wire fence work, yet might be called a "household article," as everyone that has used it claim they cannot afford to be without it around the house, barn and farm.

If other dealers tell you that they have something that will do as well and is cheaper, don't have it. Why? Because no one or two tools are as cheap as six.

Remarkable Rainfall—Accident to Rufus Lyman—Coffee Picking Doing Well—Portuguese Celebration.

A most remarkable rainfall occurred in the Honoumuli district last week. There was a precipitation of six inches inside of an incredibly short space of time.

The telephone company will soon make changes in its system of wiring having in view the avoidance of that buzzing noise over its wires caused by the electric power wires. These new changes will involve considerable expense, but something must be done by one or the other companies.

Mr. Canney is temporarily in charge of the Hilo Electric Light Company plant.

Rev. S. L. Desha gave a pleasant party at his home last week.

Our underground statesman, A. B. Loebenstein, on his return from Honolulu, where he was negotiating for the Portuguese vote of Hilo, was somewhat surprised at the cold, glassy stare that is worn by the Portuguese eye in Hilo whenever he approaches.

Mr. Pratt will go to the Klondike in the Spring.

Captain Elbert reports coffee picking in Puna progressing vigorously. Road building is going on day and night.

The Portuguese colony of this city and district will celebrate the coming 1st of December in appropriate style. It will be the 25th anniversary of the restoration of the Portuguese kingdom.

There will be royal salutes, religious services, literary and athletic exercises and horse racing and a grand gala day is promised to all residents of Hilo.

Henry Strathman of the Volcano stables, is dead.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rose celebrated their birth and wedding day anniversary on Saturday.

NOT A SUCCESS.

Editor Vivian's Effort to Get Portuguese to Attend the Mass Meeting Fails.

The "Luso" of September 4 published the following: in view of the small attendance at the meeting last night the "Luso's" advice has not been conspicuously followed by either the Portuguese colony or other citizens. The "Luso" said:
"Next Monday there will be held in Palace Square a mass meeting of Hawaiian citizens and of other nationalities who are not obedient servants of the capitalists of the Republic, to discuss the question of annexation, and to present a memorial to the President praying him that the people be primarily consulted upon the subject by means of a plebiscite.

We consider reasonable the step taken by the Hawaiians, and we do not doubt that their number will be augmented, not only by our colony but also by other citizens who are interested in the future of their families.

The annexation of Hawaii without the necessary conditions menaces our future, not only as individuals but also on the political side, and accordingly we consider it our imperative duty to warn in time our countrymen of the danger which may come upon them.

We maintain also that unless by some precipitate act, the United States will not annex Hawaii except in the form of a protectorate, which would be a thousand times worse than the actual situation.

We want a government which does not require the laborer to carry arms in order to kill his hunger."

TIMOR.

We are informed, says the Luso, that a certain number of our countrymen are considering a scheme of immigrating from this country to Timor, a Portuguese colony of banished convicts (degradados). We thought that our countrymen had more sense. Let them send there first to investigate, and they will learn that Timor is worse than the worst place in Africa.

LAST NIGHT'S MASS MEETING PROVES A FIZZLE.

About Three Hundred People Assembled to Hear Kaunamano's Oratory. Good Humored Crowd, Plenty of Joking.

About 300 natives, most of them on their way home from work, gathered in Palace Square yesterday afternoon, in response to a call for a mass meeting to protest against annexation. There were few, if any Portuguese in the crowd, and a few other foreigners, evidently drawn there by curiosity only, were scattered on the outer edge. The crowd gathered slowly. The time for the meeting had been fixed at 5 o'clock, but at that hour there were scarcely two score people in the vicinity, and they were scattered along the streets leading off from the square.

The general tendency of the meeting was good humored apathy. It was good fun to hear the speeches and it was better fun to poke little pleasantries at the speakers, and interrupt them with cries of "Wela ka hou" as at the tug of war, but as a political demonstration it was a perfect fizzle. When J. K. Kaunamano of Hamakua mounted the summer house on the old Gibson premises, adjoining the Opera House property, about 5:15 o'clock, and waved his hand the stragglers along the lanes and byways straggled into the vicinity. Mr. Kaunamano was accompanied into the summer house by the following aspirants for political honors: J. K. Kaulia, president of the Aloha Aina Society; Kalaokalani, president of the Kala Aina Society; E. K. Lilikalani, an ex-courtier; Al a grower of taro and politician, and Polikapu, editor of one of the native papers. All of the gentlemen on the platform removed their hats and each in turn drank copiously from a pitcher of water introduced into the circle.

Chairman Kaunamano informed the crowd that it was yet to young to hear what the speakers had to say; that additions to its numbers were momentarily expected, and when the proper time had arrived, the meeting would be duly opened. But the crowd was impatient. Many of them started to go home. It was a good natured crowd, however, and when the chairman cracked some jokes everybody laughed. A kind of a damper was thrown over the crowd, however, when a funeral procession slowly passed up King street toward the cemetery. It appeared like an ill omen, and cast a black shadow over the crowd for a time.

Chairman Kaunamano finally opened the meeting, about 5:30 o'clock, by stating that the natives had been called together to protest against the proposed annexation treaty between the United States and the present Hawaiian Government. He then introduced J. K. Kaulia, who, he said, would fully explain the situation. He said in part:

"We have come together this afternoon to consider the question of annexation. It is not new to you, for it has been constantly agitated by a certain class of people during the past four years. But the time has come when you must decide for yourselves—do you, or do you not, want these islands of ours annexed to the United States? Some smart people tell us that if we are annexed we natives will become rich, but I do not see how it will be brought about. We respect the American nation, because it has always treated us with justice, but these people who overthrow our own government for their own private ends we cannot trust.

"If these islands are annexed to the United States, we shall be like a nation buried alive. In the past our kings united us under one form of government, and we were prosperous and happy. Shall we stand by listlessly and see their labors trampled under foot? (Cries of "No No!" and some voices answered "Yes!") Only the rich people want annexation, for it will make them richer, but what have we to gain? In all times it has been the same—when a white-skinned race invades the territory of a dark-skinned race, the latter is driven out and loses its identity entirely. And shall we stand by with our hands folded and see our heritage thus snatched from us?"

I tell you, my brothers, annexation is in our hands. If we stand firmly together, shoulder to shoulder, these islands will never be annexed to the United States. The stones of yonder edifice (pointing to the Government building) may fall and crumble into dust, but we shall still be an independent nation so long as our people stick together.

"The supporters of the Government do not want us to gather here today, but the laws of the Republic, made by themselves, permit us to do so, and they cannot close our mouths. This is a battle to be fought with brains, and not with arms. These men have been educated in the great universities and I in the district school, but I dare raise my voice in argument against them, because justice is on our side. (Cries of "Wela ka hou," and general laughter.) We are a peaceably inclined and law abiding people, gathered together in a just cause, and if this Government should attempt to disperse us, right would surely prevail.

"I do not think that the United States would attempt to annex the islands without our consent. The people of that great land are just. If annexation ever comes, it will come through the efforts of us, the rightful owners of the land. This government is trembling today lest the United States refuse its proffer of annexation. So, let us stand firmly together, and right and justice will prevail. Let us give three cheers against annexation."

The next and last speaker was Kalaokalani, president of the Kala Aina Society, who expressed the same ideas as his predecessor, but in a flowery style. His address did not seem to interest the crowd particularly, although some were inclined to poke fun at him on account of his florid style. Kaulia then read a set of resolutions protesting against the action of President Dole in calling the Senate together to ratify the annexation treaty now pending before the United States Congress, and asserting that the majority of the people in the islands are against annexation. The petition was signed by fifteen Hawaiians, among them the leaders of the meeting.

The meeting lasted but half an hour. In dismissing the crowd, Chairman Kaunamano called upon every native to seek out his fellows who had not been present, and persuade them to join in the general protest against annexation, so that the next meeting might be large and enthusiastic.

The resolutions were passed and the crowd dispersed.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Company of St. Louis, Mo. I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consult with druggists and dealers should read the name of a household remedy." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Our friend placed Columbias and Ramblers in the second class list of wheels since we reduced the prices, but we sell more than ever, and notice that several of the other dealers have come down in price as we predicted. This has been a good wheel week, for we have sold nearly all of the thirteen wheels received per Australia, and ordered twenty nine more by said vessel. ANNEXATION.

What a London Paper Thinks of the Situation.
The London Saturday Review has come to the conclusion that the annexation of Hawaii is settled. It says:
The Hawaiian incident may now be taken as practically closed. The annexation of the Sandwich Islands by the United States is an accomplished fact, and the only questions that remain are the form of annexation and the concessions Japan can secure for Japanese emigrants to the Islands. Japan is not likely to interfere further than to secure the best terms she can with regard to the second point, and she attempted to annex Hawaii the onus of declaring war would have lain upon the United States. As it is, it lies with Japan, and she has acted wisely in accepting the accomplished fact. In the alternative what could she have done? Since the Chinese war she has very foolishly been increasing her army to the neglect of her navy, though it is evident from the result of the war that all conquest in China is forbidden her by the European powers. As an insular nation her main-fast policy is to develop and rely on her navy. Her chance would have been a war between the United States and Spain over the Cuban question.
Then she could have seized the Philippines without interference.

SOLDIERS PENSIONS.
Reached High Water Mark and will Decrease From Now.

Commissioner of Pensions Evans believes that the pension roll of the U.
S. Government has reached its maximum volume. From now on he thinks there will be a decrease in the number of pensioners.
"I think there will now be a gradual falling off in the number of pensioners," said Commissioner Evans.
"Last year 31,960 pensioners died, in addition to which 1,947 widows lost their pensions by remarriage, 1,845 minors receiving pensions lost them by arriving at their age limitation, 2,583 by failure to claim them, and 3,560 from other causes, making a grand total in the reduction of pensioners of 41,122.
"I think Congress should take very prompt action in preventing a multiplication of pensions through the marriage of old soldiers. We have on the rolls the widows of seven revolutionary soldiers. A case was discovered in which an aged soldier was propped up in bed to be married to a young girl and after the ceremony had been performed he dropped back and died. In that case the pension was not paid. But a good many people think that the prospective pension as a widow of a soldier is enough to cause many young girls to marry aged men for whom they care nothing except to have a pension for the balance of their lives. It seems to me the practice is a bad one, and I hope Congress will take this matter in hand and pass legislation to prevent a pension being given widows of soldiers of the last war who marry the soldiers in the future."

MUST MARRY EARLY.
Italian Girls if Not Married When 18 are Considered Old Maids.

Marriage at 15 or 16 for girls is positively obligatory if they expect to hold up their heads at all in the very best Italian society. Plenty of instances are to be found where these little, oldish, dark-eyed, shrill voiced, women have married at 12. A rather ludicrous and curious example came under the notice of a factory inspector two or three years ago.
If an Italian girl is not married before she is 18 the neighbors begin to talk and say to each other what a big pity it is that Angelica is an old maid.
They usually marry one of their own countrymen, or sometimes an Irishman. The Irish and Italians mix better than the Italians and any other class. The men marry older than the women. There seems to be no period of happy girlhood for Italian women.
They are children until they are 12, and then they marry in two or three years and begin the cares of life.
Besides the urging of parents and the tattle of friends, Italian children are induced to marry often by the advice of their priests. Their condition of life is wretched at home. One single room, or at most two, suffices for a family of a dozen. The little girls go out on the streets unprotected at night, selling gum, or making music.
In the crowded factories they are subjected to all kinds of temptations.
For this reason the priests usually maintain that an early marriage is the best for the girls. It is a notable fact attributable to this, that Italian women and girls nearly always lead virtuous lives.
Setting up housekeeping is the very simplest thing in the world. A settlement worker who has made an especial study of the Italian neighborhood maintains that they expend $6 on the housekeeping outfit. This does not include a bed. The parents of the girl if possible send to the old country for a bed as a wedding present.

HUNTING IN GERMANY
KEPT UNDER SUPERVISION AND POACHING IS IMPOSSIBLE.

The Right to Take Game Goes Only With Land Holding, but the Small Proprietors Are Not at the Mercy of the Great Landlords—The Plant Discovered by Wagner.

Germany produces more game than any other country in proportion to its area.
There is a profitable trade in it, and the markets of France are largely supplied from this source. This abundance is not caused by any unusually favorable conditions of soil or of climate, but by wise legislation, which does not sacrifice the general interests to the pleasure of a few.
The German law regards game as one of the useful products of the soil, as property which cannot be appropriated without the commission of theft, at least if the right to hunt has not been obtained through the proper channels. This right can be exercised only as a result of holding a certain amount of land either by lease or through ownership, about 150 hectares for each tenant. Below that amount all the holdings are joined together and rented by the community for its own profit, the proceeds being divided among the several proprietors in proportion to their holdings. If the land altogether is not enough to make one parcel of 150 hectares, adjoining communities can make a pool.
That is the foundation of the system. It is absolutely equitable. Nobody can hunt for his own pleasure or profit exclusively, but nobody's property rights are infringed.
Each person gets a profit from that which belongs to him. The small farmer is not, as in France, at the mercy of the great landed proprietor or of the poacher, and the farmer does not have to see his fields trampled by the hunters, as in France, where the land holdings are too small for the establishment of preserves.
The legal consequences of this state of things are that the taking of game without the right to do so duly obtained is regarded as theft. The owner of the land cannot take back with his hand what he has disposed of with the other. He cannot hunt on his own land, having sold the right to do so.
Game is placed under legal protection.
There is a period in which hunting is forbidden entirely, another in which only certain kinds of game may be taken or only the males. These periods are generally fixed by law, with modifications in various provinces. From March 1 to the end of June it is illegal to kill stags and the young male fawns; from Feb. 1 to Oct. 15, to kill the does. Partridges may not be shot between Dec. 1 and the end of August. This protection is extended to all kinds of game—to hares, pheasants, and even to birds of passage, which it is against the law to kill in the breeding season. All huntsmen at all times are for-bidden to use nets, traps or snares. This prohibition also exists in France. But if the terms of the law are severe its execution is not. Years ago a law was introduced into the French senate founded on the German legislation, but there has been no discussion of it lately.
The Germans have stopped the nocturnal exploits of the poachers without the aid of the law in this way: There grows in that country a certain kind of forage shrub with which they have planted all their hunting grounds. This plant, precious on many accounts, is unfortunately little known in France. Its botanical name is Lathyrus silvestris wagneri. It flour-ishes where the soil is very meager and where in summer drought spreads desolation and death among other plants. This shrub, of very high and thick growth, forms a mass impenetrable by birds of prey. Beneath it the game birds enjoy the additional advantage of finding its seeds, which they are very fond of and which keep them fat. Their flesh also acquires a succulence and flavor therefrom altogether unique and adjudged absolutely perfect by epicures. No other plant combines these valuable qualities in such a measure for the protection of game. It is impossible for poachers to spread nets in a plantation of lathyrus.
In his botanical field work in 1862 the famous agricultural writer, Wagner, observed the lathyrus growing in a soil of soft limestone and silicious formations predominated. The vegetation of the neighborhood was dry, the trees and shrubs bore only scant foliage, but the lathyrus was growing luxuriantly. This phenomenon at once attracted the attention of a keen observer like Wagner, and he devoted himself to studying this wonderful shrub, which was so completely indifferent to the severest conditions of drought. He planted its seed on his grounds, improved and perfected it, and since that time the lathyrus has become almost a national plant in Germany. It flourishes without fertilizers in this arid soil. Its roots strike down several yards into the lower strata, where they seize the chlorine and potassium compounds and phosphate acid they find there. The foliage is shown by analysis to contain 30 per cent of proteid matter, while the best Lucern grass shows only 16 per cent. The plant is eaten with avidity by horses, pigs, sheep and all domestic animals.
The German law has taken great precautions to exterminate poaching by striking at its root—that is, at the poacher's profit in selling his booty. Game is not allowed to be shipped by railroad, by the express department of the postal service, or by any public conveyance, or to be sold either from door to door at private houses, or in shops, unless it is accompanied by a certificate as to where it came from, which must be signed by the landowner or lessee of the hunting district. It is easy to see how difficult the business of poaching is in Germany. It is humiliating. It is dangerous and, thanks to the numerous plantations of lathyrus, it is unprofitable.
So it is that this nursery of smugglers, idlers, thieves, and assassins does not exist among our neighbors. Furthermore, everybody is satisfied, especially the farmers, who do not have to stand by, as they do in France, and see the hunters, known and unknown alike, tramping over their fields, over their oats and buckwheat, and crushing their beets under foot.—Paris Figaro.

Historic Pharsalia.
It was on his way to the battlefield of Pharsalia that Caesar uttered the famous saying to the fishermen. He had come down to Brundisi to cross to Dyrrachium and finding no galley, commanded the owner of a small sailing boat to put him across the Adriatic. On the voyage a violent storm occurred, and even the experienced mariners were terrified. But the great captain said: "Have no fear! You carry Caesar and his fortunes!"

A portrait, supposedly Charles Carroll, was discovered lately in Baltimore and in a cellar of the old Carroll house. Its authenticity is left to the decision of the Maryland Historical society.
