A California-based company has won an $85,000 contract from the government to prepare an economic workbook, a "roadmap" of government agencies and a computer, among others.

The contract signed Dec. 19 was awarded to Energy Resources International of Sausalito, California, represented by Guy D. Phillips, president.

Under the agreement the company was to be paid 40 percent of the total amount on Dec. 17 and the balance in four installments of 15 percent each up to March this year.

ERI agreed to prepare and deliver to the government the following:

— An economic impact assessment workbook, which can be used to determine how projects will affect local utility systems, education, police and other services, as well as local employment;

— A computer that will be used mainly by the Commonwealth Development Authority in analyzing the implications of future development projects on tax rates, infrastructure costs and on the economy;

— Roadmap of agencies, which will inform government agencies and private entities about the functions, jurisdictions and programs of each agency;

— A workbook containing a list and description of small business assistance programs and how to avail of them; and — Assistance in putting up commercial joint venture with two US companies, one for a garment factory and the other on agricultural production.

CDA will pay ERI $12,000 for the economic impact assessment workbook, $43,500 for the computer, $4,000 for the "roadmap," $2,500 for the small business assistance programs guidebook and $14,000 for the representation and negotiation with US companies.

In addition, the government will also pay ERI $9,000 for travel expenses of ERI executive between the CNMI and California, New York and Washington.

CUC plans utilities takeover in February

The Commonwealth Utilities Corp. (CUC) is planning to take over the power, water and sewer systems in February. The three systems are currently under the Department of Public Works.

Information on the proposed plan was first learned last month. Dr. O.V. Natarajan, CUC's special advisor, confirmed it Monday.

He said in an interview that the CUC board had submitted to the Legislature a proposed budget for fiscal year 1987. He said the proposed budget includes the operation of the utilities. CUC had not had any budget since the board started functioning in 1986.

According to Natarajan, the proposed transfer of the utilities to the CUC will include DPW employees assigned to the three systems. This is provided under Public Law 4-47, which created the CUC.

Under the same law, the CUC is required to make the operation of the utilities self-sufficient in three years by installing meters and implementing utility fees to cover the costs of operation.

DPW Director John Pangelinan told a Senate committee earlier that consumers were being charged five to eight cents per kilowatt-hour of electricity. A 1979 study by the Guam Power Authority determined the cost of producing power in the CNMI at 11.2

New US alien law won't apply here

WASHINGTON, D.C. Jan. 9 — Resident Representative Froilan C. Tenorio has released a study done by the Library of Congress which says that the federal government will not impose the provisions of recent amendment to the U.S.

immigration law governing the hiring of alien workers on employers in the Northern Marianas.

According to the study completed on Dec. 20 by the legal division of the Congressional Research Service (CRS), the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) will not force compliance with the new law in either the Commonwealth or American Samoa, but will be able to levy fines against employers in Guam and other U.S. territories who hire alien workers without INS permission.

Tenorio said he welcomed the CRS study's findings because it assured that the NMI would continue to retain control over essential alien hiring policy questions.

"While there was no question in my mind that the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (P.L. 99-603) excluded the NMI, as we had requested of Congress, the CRS study reinforces the important level of control over alien hiring from federal intervention. This

The Department of the Interior has lifted the suspension of funds for technical assistance to the Northern Marianas, this was learned in a press conference Tuesday.

Assistant Interior Secretary Richard T. Garment exports keep local prices down

Dear Editor:

I am surprised that some people continue to criticize Saipan's garment industry for not contributing to the economy. The companies buy from many other businesses and have a "ripple effect" far greater than the obvious benefits of employing 400 local workers and paying user's fees to the government.

In our own case, employees have been added because of increased volume due to raw materials coming in and finished products leaving.

One of the problems of small markets, especially islands, is the one-way nature of trade. Ships are full when they arrive, but depart with nearly empty holds. Rates must be high enough to cover expenses going both ways. By providing out-bound cargo, the garment factories are paying for space that was wasted before they set up. The result is lower rates for imported goods, savings that can be passed on to consumers.

Very truly yours,

/s/John Castro

Keatly speaks on immigration

Dear Editor:

I believe that the people of the Commonwealth should recognize the improvement in service of the Office of Immigration and Naturalization since August of 1984. The processing time for entry permits, about 10,500 per year, has been speed up from 60-90 days to only 3-5 days. In the past 30 months there have been 567 court filings for deportation compared to only 13 court filings in the 30 months before that.

Alien registration has been streamlined to minimize disruption to employers. And, in everyday service the immigration inspectors display courtesy, efficiency, and a sense of pride.

The responsibility for these improvements lies with the staff of the Office of Immigration and Naturalization. The average staff member has worked in the office for 5 years and change would have been impossible without their desire to see the change occur. Their remarkable accomplishments should be applauded by the Commonwealth.

This office has often had to call on others for assistance and they should be recognized for their support. Unfortunately, there is not space enough to mention each of them. But, the public should be aware of those leaders who fought for the improvement in immigration service over other interests.

Governor Pedro P. Tenorio and Lt. Governor Pedro A. Tenorio, although constituents often requested special assistance of them, listened to immigration position and allowed us to carryout our responsibilities to the community.

The House of Representatives has always recognized the special problems of immigration. House Speaker Jose R. Lifofoi has continuously supported the office and Congressmen J.S. Torres, G.B. Sablan, V.B. Hocog, H.I. Macaranas, L.A. Benavente, W.C. Ada, P.C. Arriola, F. Dlg. Camacho, M.T. Attao.

By John DeRosario Jr.

While many may be on their way to recovery, I am doubtful that anyone will ever heal from the destruction that the winds of fury left behind just two short weeks before Christmas. Indeed, we will remember Christmas 1986 as the darkest Holiday Season in Marianas History.

Yes, over two-hundred families were left homeless. They either were at the neighborhood when merciless Kim pulped their permanent homes, or were somewhere hiding only to find upon returning that the entire house has gone into the boonies. It must be a sad and terrifying experience coming back home to find that Kim robbed you of all your treasured personal belongings, including the very house where you and your children sleep.

We ought to be grateful that a number of programs (emergency) came in just days after the storm to provide immediate assistance to families who really needed it. Our salute to the American Red Cross and the many donors from neighboring islands and the mainland U.S. We also owe our sense of gratitude to the Federal Emergency Management Agency and its local counterpart for trying to implement a massive program of assistance to the many applicants albeit all the confusion at the outset. Perhaps the one aspect of this entire effort which prevailed after several days of trying to clearup all the confusion was the subsequent enthusiasm by all concerns to be cooperative and equilibristic about the task that needs to be done.

All that had to be done was pure hard work. I was not about to play the role of a prima donna. My first day at work on Tinian I started out as a receptionist. Later in the day I got promoted as a registrar. When I got here, I served as a State Verifier where I worked with two good people who are really professionals in their jobs: Chris Tetsuwari and George Navarro.

The only monumental destruction (none of which was the doing of Ms. Kim) was the House of Representatives which became a relic after our legislative scavengers to please complete the job by knocking out the four walls so the area can secure the aesthetic value that it deserves? As it is, it looks like a real ghost town. And while you're at it, will you please take the sign with you, too? Thanks. New Year's Resolution, anybody?

I sense a form of metamorphosis taking its permanent seat in terms of what ought to be my game plan in what we call life. I am going to discontinue perpetuating living the tale life of a fisherman. Remember his story? Here goes...

A man was walking around the dock area one evening enjoying the cool breeze that blows toward the Philippine Seas. He noticed a fisherman sitting quietly in one corner casting his rod and reel into the water. It wasn't the familiar profile silhouetted against the sunset that caught his attention. Rather, it was the exercise of throwing the big catch right back into the water while keeping the smaller ones in his bucket. Puzzled, he worked up the nerves to find out why. He politely asked the fisherman: "Sir, why keep the tiny ones over larger fish?" Said the fisherman: "Son, I only have a ten inch frying pan." I was that fisherman and that very attitude has gone past the transition period. I am ready for anything and everything that comes my way.

Who'll try suspects in court case?

Here's where they entered: Chief Judge Robert Hefner points to broken window, now covered with board.

Here's where the safe used to be: Court clerk Margaret Palacios points to empty corner of her office.

representing various cases pending with the court. These are not encashable, according to Hefner.

The money that the thieves took with the safe totaled $113, representing the court's collection on Dec. 24, a slow day.

Hefner said in an interview that the court's main concern were court documents, exhibits, bar examinations and files on disciplinary proceedings against attorneys, which were also inside the stolen safe.

Assistant clerk Myrna Santos said persons who submitted documents for safekeeping and those whose passports were surrendered to the court should get in touch with the clerk's office.

Lt. Frank Camacho, police spokesman, said the case was listed as a top priority. The court building is in front of the police station in Susupe.

He asked that people who may have information that could help in solving the case to get in touch with the Department of Public Safety.

Hefner said the DPS found some fingerprints. Asked whether the three judges in the lower court would be able to try the suspects in the break-in, Hefner said "We have to wait and see."

"I might be a witness," he added.

The Commonwealth Trial Court may ask Trust Territory or District Court judges to try a case that may be filed against suspects in the break-in and theft at the courthouse.

"We might ask a Trust Territory judge or Judge Laureta (of the District Court) to try," Associate Trial Court Judge Ramon G. Villagomez said in an interview last week.

The break-in was discovered and reported to the police on Dec. 26 by probation officer Jack Omar. The thieves broke the window in the office of Chief Judge Robert Hefner's secretary, took the thousand-pound safe from the court clerk's room and went out through another door.

They also pried open the court's cash register, which was empty, and opened several tables.

Inside the safe were $5-million worth of time certificates of deposit,

Police probe CK rape complaint

A 27-year-old woman who works as a live-in-maid in Chalan Kanoa complained Monday that she was raped by a relative of her employer. The victim said the incident happened in the house where she was staying at about 11 a.m.

Capt. Jose M. Castro, investigation chief, said both the woman and the suspect had been interviewed by the police. He said some questions crop up during the investigation on the nature of the case.

Castro said the report had been referred to the Attorney General's office for review.

During the same interview, Castro said investigation on the break-in at the Commonwealth Trial Court was still going on. The safe which thieves took out of courtroom during the holiday has not been recovered.

In another case, Castro said he had asked Speaker Joe R. Lifofoi for an inventory of items missing from the House of Representatives building in Susupe, including the items returned and the names of persons who returned those items.

MPSC opinion on citizenship sought

WASHINGTON, D.C. Jan. 6 — Resident Representative Froilan C. Tenorio said today he is asking the former members of the Marianas Political Status Commission whom they intended to make eligible for U.S. citizenship when they approved the language of Section 301 of the Covenant to make the NMI an American commonwealth.

F. C. Tenorio

Tenorio said he is asking for the views of the MPSC members because U.S. officials here have been insisting that they are not to blame over the refusal of the state department to issue passports to NMI-born citizens with one "foreign" parent.

Members of the commission who signed the Covenant on Feb. 15, 1975 were: Edward DLG. Pangelinan, chairman; Vicente N. Santos, vice chairman; and Juan LG. Cabrera, Vicente T. Camacho, Jose R. Cruz, Bernard V. Hofschneider, Benjamin T. Manglona, Daniel T. Muna, Dr. Francisco T. Palacios, Jaquin I. Pangelinan, Manuel Sablan, Joannes Taimanao and Pedro A. Tenorio, members.

In a related development, the Washington representative announced that the U.S. justice department has written him saying that while it is "deeply concerned about the citizenship problems in the Commonwealth," it is refusing to issue a ruling clarifying exactly who the U.S. will recognize in the NMI as American citizens.

Tenorio had earlier requested the ruling saying that it was vital for the U.S. to act now to prevent NMI citizens from being stricken from voting records or encountering problems when they sought federal jobs or benefits.

In his response, Douglas W. Kmiec, deputy assistant attorney general, thanked the representative for informing U.S. officials about the renunciation clauses contained in the old Trust Territory passports, and added that the "executive branch is working diligently on the problem and we are confident that before long a satisfactory solution will be found in the vast majority, if not all, of the cases."

In his letter to the former MPSC members, Tenorio said that he has "repeatedly been told that the fault for this crisis rests not with the U.S. Government's interpretation of Section 301," but, rather with a decision by former status commission members to use language which led to the current problem.

"I disagree with the U.S. position," Tenorio said and added that he is prepared to take "this issue to the federal courts to assure that our people are not denied their rights under the Covenant."

The representative added that "for this effort to succeed, it is essential that the negative comments of some federal officials (MPSC) members be effectively disputed."

Water output back to pre-Kim level

water production in Saipan is expected to reach its normal rate this weekend at about six million gallons a day, according to Public Works Director John Pangelinan.

The water system, which depends on the public power system, stopped working when supertyphoon Kim knocked off the power system on Dec. 3.

In a press conference Dec. 30, Pangelinan said water production had been restored and daily output from the wells were about 3.7 to four million gallons a day, or about 80 percent of normal output.

He said that on that day all the 56 wells were back to operation but normal production would not be reached until seven to 10 days later. Peak production is 5.5 million gallons daily during the dry season and six million gallons during the current wet season.

Even if it reaches its normal top level, the water output in Saipan will still fall short of total demand. Pangelinan estimates total daily demand in Saipan at 10 million gallons a day. "With a population of 20,000 we can't seem to satisfy demand," he said.

In the power sector, restoration of electricity to all households and commercial consumers will take a longer time. This is due to the large number of transformers and transmission lines to be replaced.

J. Pangelinan

Pangelinan said the Department of Public Works had replaced 200 transformers. The original assessment after the typhoon showed that over 800 transformers needed to be replaced. "Now we're finding more and more to be replaced," he said.

He said that some transformers which appeared undamaged exploded when connected to the power line.

There are about 2,000 to 2,300 transformers in the island's power system.

During the conference, Pangelinan said about 28 to 30 transformers came aboard a ship from Guam on that day. He added that the governor's special assistant was also negotiating with a government agency in Hawaii for the other transformers needed.

He noted that because of the volume of transformers required for power restoration "we may even have to go to the mainland."

Pangelinan said replacement of transmission lines was also a problem. He said DPW was trying to salvage some lines. In some cases, however, there might be problems like that short circuit at Town House, he said.

The department still must buy new lines to replace the ones damaged by the typhoon. Pangelinan said the department had received 20 to 22 rolls of 1,000-foot lines from Guam.

As of Dec. 30, peak power demand was at 18 megawatts or 75 percent of the pre-typhoon level. Problems still prevent restoration of power in parts of the villages of Chalan Kanoa, Susupe, San Vicente, San Antonio and Koblerville.

Pangelinan said the department had requested the services of a technician from Meidensha because of trouble in one of the four generators in the main power plant. The three other generators are all running, he said.

He also said the engines supplying mechanical power to the generators were all due for overhaul this year. The engines were last overhauled in January to April, 1985.

Efrain Flores Camacho, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Camacho of Saipan, has been chosen one of the Outstanding Young Men of America for 1986.

"Your son, in receiving this distinctive honor, joins an elite group of young men from the entire United States who have demonstrated their excellence in professional endeavors and civic activities," Doug Blankenship, chairman of the OYMA Board of Advisors, said in a letter to Efrain's parents.

He said recipients of the annual award are men who "work diligently to make their communities, as well as their country, better places in which to live, and deserve recognition for their outstanding achievements."

Speaking of Efrain, Blankenship said "He has proven through the virtues of hard work, determination, and the willingness to give of himself that he is truly an outstanding young man."

AIKC helps missionaries

The American International Knitters Corp. has provided 50 pieces of tin roofing to help the Mercedarian Missionaries of Berriz rebuild a multipurpose "pala-pala."

"We want to express our deepest appreciation for the 50 pieces of tin roofing we received from you today," Sister M. Pilar Latasa said in a letter to AIKC General Manager Willie Tan. "You may be assured that your generous gift has met a real need, an urgent need for us."

The missionary sisters, who run the Maturana House of Prayer on Navy Hill, lost two roofs during typhoon Kim. According to Sis. Latasa, the AIKC donation was used in the pala-pala which serves as a meeting place, a place to eat, a garage and other purposes.

AIKC also donated electrical wires to the Department of Public Works to provide power to the school kitchen. The kitchen has to operate Monday in time for the resumption of classes in Saipan.

Montoya: NMI products in jeopardy

Producers of garments and other products in the Northern Marianas, Guam and other territories may see a more restrictive market in the mainland as the Democrat-dominated 100th Congress assumed office.

Assistant Interior Secretary Richard T. Montoya said in a press conference Tuesday. "Products in the territories, not only the NMI, are in jeopardy," he said. He said these products include textiles and other goods which are of the import-type or made from foreign parts and materials. He said he had told newly elected Governor Joseph F. Ada to address this issue as a priority. Among other industries, the garment industry in the Northern Marianas and Guam has been the target of protectionist policies and legislation in the United States. The industry in the two areas used to operate free from quota and duty restrictions under General Headnote 3(a). This was removed in 1984 and sweater manufacturing in the two areas is now under a special quota arrangement with the US Trade Representative (USTR).

Asked whether he supports a reduction in the number of factories in the Northern Marianas, Montoya said that "from the start, when there is an investment in garment factories, we wanted to protect those people who made the investment." He said, however, that the question is whether the factories are providing jobs to local labor. "There is a place for factories but there is also a place to provide jobs for local labor as Congress intended," he said. "If jobs are being provided, that is defensible," he noted. "If the objective is providing jobs to aliens it's doomed to failure." Montoya said the issue was not a new one. He said he cautioned the NMI years ago about that. In other subjects, Montoya said: — He was meeting with officials of the Departments of State and Justice to help the "rightful citizens" of the NMI get US passports. — Any move to privatize government services must see to it that affected employees do not lose their jobs and that there is full and open competition so everybody knows this is done in the light of day.

Former INO chief now with police

Richard Keatley, whose term as chief of the Immigration and Naturalization Office (INO) expired Dec. 31, now works with the Department of Public Safety (DPS). Keatley was hired by the department as a consultant on law enforcement under a one-year contract. Asked if his new job means he was out of competition for the INO's top post, Keatley said: "I don't know." Keatley and four others submitted applications to the Attorney General's office for the top INO position. The deadline for submission of applications was extended from Dec. 15 to Dec. 31 because of the Dec. 3 typhoon. Other sources said Attorney General Alexandro Castro had not made any choice for immigration chief. INO is under the AG office. Castro could not be reached for comment. In the meantime, assistant immigration chief Charles Reyes has been appointed as acting INO chief.

Housing project up

Plans are underway for the construction of homes for the families whose dwellings were completely destroyed by Typhoon Kim. That information comes in a joint announcement from Governor Pedro P. Tenorio and the federal coordinating officer for the disaster recovery effort. Joint Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and Commonwealth verification and inspection teams have identified more than 200 residences that were totally destroyed and are eligible for temporary housing. The Navy Officer in Charge of Construction (OICC) expects to have the building proposals ready for prospective bidders on or about Jan. 15.

Red Cross honors 410 for typhoon service

The Dec. 3 disaster proved that the native tradition of helping people in need still prevails in the Northern Marianas, according to Governor Pedro P. Tenorio.

"The important thing is that many of us, specially people who have suffered, managed to go out and volunteer to help other people," Tenorio said during a Red Cross appreciation ceremony last week.

The Northern Marianas Red Cross headed by Senator Juan T. Guerrero presented certificates of appreciation to 410 volunteers who helped during the supertyphoon Kim disaster.

During that ceremony Tenorio also thanked the American Red Cross for its quick response to the disaster. A total of 26 volunteers from the national chapter stayed in Saipan and Tinian to provide food, clothing and other help to typhoon victims.

Dave Vargo, assistant director for the 13 Western Pacific states, said over 1,800 families in Saipan and 100 families in Tinian received Red Cross assistance. A total of 66,000 meals were served to the typhoon victims, of whom 92 families are still in temporary shelters.

Vargo said the Red Cross spent a total of $600,000 in disaster assistance.

Red Cross is the "good neighbor in time of need," according to Vargo, whose Saipan stint was the 31st disaster in his career.

Guerrero said the local Red Cross chapter, which operates through donations and volunteers, is still trying to put up a permanent office in one of the bunkers near the airport.

Governor Pedro P. Tenorio presents certificate of appreciation to Gonzalo Santos, one of the Red Cross volunteers during typhoon Kim, while Senator Juan T. Guerrero calls other names.

FEMA closes Feb. 9

The Disaster Application Center located in the old Dr. Torres Hospital on Saipan will close Feb. 9 according to Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) officials.

Persons who suffered uninsured losses in typhoon Kim have until that date to apply for Housing Assistance, Small Business Administration Disaster Loans, or the Individual and Family Grant Program.

More than 2,700 people have already visited the center which opened Dec. 15.

Bunn leaves Commonwealth

Robert Bunn, Department of the Interior's field representative in the Northern Marianas, has been re-assigned to the Virgin Islands, Assistant Interior Secretary Richard T. Montoya said Tuesday.

In a press conference, Montoya said Bunn knew "rather well" the newly elected governor and lieutenant governor in the Virgin Islands. "And I made the decision that I needed Mr. Bunn back in the Virgin Islands," he said.

Bunn, 37, has served as field representative in the Virgin Islands for two and a half years until his transfer to the Northern Marianas in August last year.

"They were very pleased to have Mr. Bunn back," Montoya said of the Virgin Islands' reception of Bunn.

Some CNMI leaders were not so pleased with the posting of a DOI field representative here, which was interpreted as interference in and "monitoring" of local affairs. Bunn quickly earned such labels as "spy" or "James Bond."

A resolution seeking to delcare Bunn as persona non grata was prepared by a member of the House of Representatives but was withdrawn before it reached the floor.

In November, Montoya informed the CNMI that he was stopping the release of funds for technical assistance after local officials excluded Bunn from a meeting on privatization.

"In a letter to Governor Pedro P. Tenorio, Montoya said he was "dismayed" that Bunn was "denied the opportunity to participate in the recent NMI privatization task force meetings in Saipan." (See Variety, Nov. 21).

During the press conference, Montoya said his decision to re-assign Bunn to the Virgin Islands had nothing to do with the proposed legislative resolution.

He also said that the field representative's office in the Northern Marianas would stay. He said there are several candidates for the position vacated by Bunn, including some from the Northern Marianas and one from Guam. He said he would select the new field representative in about two weeks.

"There would be a field representative here," Montoya said. "The leadership has been advised and they support it."

"I come from a field

environment and the best way to serve our mutual interests is a field representative that can speak for me," he said.

Scocozza rejects CPA plea for Rota air service help

SAIPAN (CNS) — The U.S. Department of

Transportation has denied a petition by the Commonwealth Ports Authority for reconsideration of an earlier decision to end essential air service subsidies to Continental Air Micronesia for service to Rota.

The authority also asked that the department place a back-up obligation for service on Continental as an alternative to the subsidies.

The decision by Assistant Secretary of Transportation Matthew Scocozza states that Rota "currently receives service far in excess of its guaranteed essential air service level and we are thus precluded from subsidizing additional air service."

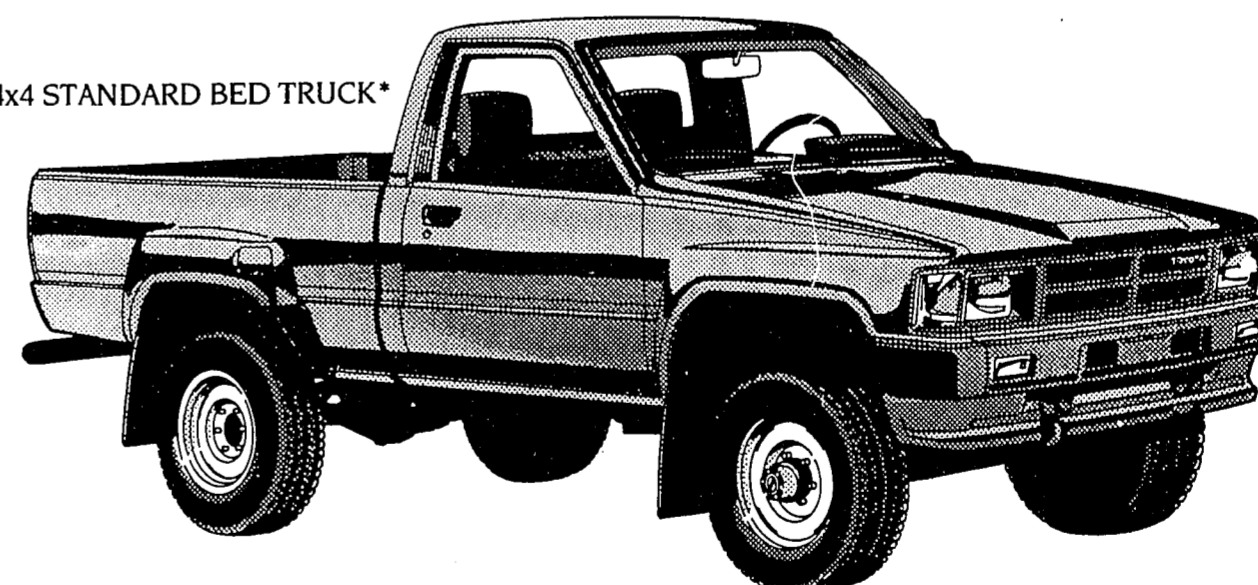

The ports authority petition pointed out that Island Aviation, Air Guam and Royal Hawaiian Airlines all began and then terminated service to Rota in the past four years and that South Pacific Island Airways Rota service was stopped for several months in 1984-85. The authority argued that Rota's geographic isolation makes it critically dependent on air service for medical care and tourism, the island's main industry.

Las Marianas del Norte, un nuevo Estado asociado a los Estados Unidos

El pasado 4 de noviembre, el Presidente Reagan firmó una declaración por la cual las Marianas del Norte se convertirán próximamente en Estado asociado a Estados Unidos, como Puerto Rico. Estados Unidos gana así la soberanía sobre una amplia zona del Pacífico norte en un

The Northern Marianas have been featured in a six-page article in the "Ya Dominical," a Spanish-language magazine published in Madrid.

The article, containing

The two came to the Northern Marianas in November last year while conducting a research on the extent of Spanish influence on the language and culture in Micronesia.

 ton, for a total of $85,000.

The contract was in accordance with a memorandum of understanding signed on Nov. 20 by Lt. Governor Pedro A. Tenorio, CDA Chairman Jesus D. Sablan and Guy Phillips.

According to the MOU, ERI has been working under contract with the Governor's Office and wrote a report which recommended a targeted investment program (TIP) administered by the CDA and an officer for project assistance (OPA) in the Governor's Office.

According to the MOU, implementation of the ERI recommendations necessitates continued development of the TIP and OPA and development of analytic tools on the economic impacts of investment proposals.

CDA agreed in the MOU to provide the money for the contract. The Governor's Office, for its part, will try to get any technical assistance funds from the Office of Territorial and Insular Affairs and to use such funds to reimburse CDA.

Congress faces power fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-stakes politics will be at center stage in the new session of the U.S. Congress, with opposition Democrats in control, the Iran scandal bubbling and the fight intensifying for power in the post-Reagan era.

Congress convened this week with the Iran-Contra investigation at the top of the agenda. The controversy is an opportunity for Democrats to keep Republicans on the defensive for the last two years of Ronald Reagan's term in the White House.

Democrats, who had controlled the House, gained a majority in the Senate in last November's elections. That set the stage for confrontation with the Republican President, and political jousting already has begun as potential candidates in the 1988 presidential election for advantages.

If the Democrats have their way, the Iran-Contra investigation will continue until next autumn and the Senate select committees' mandate will be as broad as possible.

The legislation creating the 11-member committee would have the panel issue its report Aug. 1, but left open the prospect of extending the date. That could keep it fresh in the public mind as the 1988 presidential campaign heats up.

Senate Republican leader Bob Dole made obvious his discomfort over the Senate investigation might last until autumn.

"We ought to be able to wrap it up sooner than that," said the Kansas senator who hopes to be the Republican candidate to succeed Reagan.

As the new Congress convened, the Republicans found themselves unsure how much political mileage was left in their former pledge to carry on the Reagan agenda.

For six years, Republican presidential aspirants measured themselves by how faithfully they would carry on the conservative agenda put in place by the popular President.

The Iran-Contra affair has dented Reagan's popularity and emboldened the Democrats.

"Our first duty in this new Congress is the restoration of public trust in the formulation of American foreign policy," Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, a Democrat, said after the Senate convened with his party in control for the first time in the Reagan presidency.

"The Iran misadventure has hurt the presidency, made a shambles of American foreign policy," Byrd said.

"There are too many other problems, domestic and foreign problems that are not going to go away," Dole responded. "They cannot, and should not, be swept aside because of an obsession with the Iranian affair."

On Monday, the President sent Congress a $1-trillion budget. In line with the pattern of past years, both Republicans and Democrats said the President's plan wouldn't pass and set to work setting their own spending priorities.

New

 is not to suggest that the new law is unwise for the states and other U.S. areas, but we in the Commonwealth do not need the burden of yet another level of federal control over what we do in our own islands or the problems which enforcement of this law will bring for federal, state, and territorial immigration and labor officials."

Tenorio urged, however, that the Commonwealth Legislature review the various provisions of P.L. 99-603 to determine if it would be appropriate to adopt sections of the new law into local codes.

Businessman accused of deception

Judge Jose S. Dela Cruz last week issued a warrant for the arrest of businessman Charles Bell Jr. who was charged for theft by deception and for helping a foreigner enter the Commonwealth illegally. Dela Cruz set a $1,000-bail for Bell. In an information filed with the Trial Court on Dec. 31, Assistant Attorney General S. Jane Haggerty accused Bell of taking by deception $290 from Virginia and Francisco Kintz between March and July last year. Between June and August of the same year, Bell also allegedly took by deception a total of $390 from Ruth Kiso. The third count alleged that Bell "did aid, abet, encourage or solicit Lucia A. Mabini to enter the Commonwealth unlawfully." According to Ms. Haggerty, Bell took money from the Kintzes and Kiso and indicated he was filing their employment papers with the Department of Commerce and Labor but never did. On the third count, Bell allegedly helped Ms. Mabini to enter the Commonwealth last year as a tourist and led her to believe she could work here.

DOI

From page 1 assistance will not be impeded." Montoya informed Governor Pedro P. Tenorio about the move following the exclusion of DOI field representative Robert Bunn from a meeting of the Task Force on Privatization. Lt. Governor Pedro A. Tenorio subsequently asked Montoya to reconsider his decision. In a press conference Tuesday, Montoya said he wrote Gov. Tenorio on Dec. 29 saying "I was making available technical assistance funds necessary to draft and complete a seven-year capital development plan which is required and anxiously awaited by Congress."

said that by providing assistance for the development of the seven-year plan it "is clear that technical assistance is available." Other forms of technical assistance which he said were still on line were on actuarial activity and hospital administration. Asked on the status of the $30,000 funding for the operation of a business expeditor's office which he promised in 1985, Montoya said the memorandum of understanding covering the proposed grant had been signed by him and now pending with the governor's office. He denied that extraordinary restrictions or conditions were included in the MOU. He said the memorandum, which provides for participation of the Saipan Chamber of Commerce, was patterned after the MOU in effect in American Samoa. The proposed office has been occupied since last year by former Attorney General Rex Kosack, who also functions as chief textile negotiator for the CNMI as well as an investments promotions man.

"I will foot the whole bill to put up the plan," he added. He also said that "this morning I mentioned that as a result of typhoon Kim I would entertain a listing of CIP projects that could be provided immediately..." Asked whether the suspension of technical assistance funding for the Northern Marianas was already lifted, Montoya

Mrs. CNMI cheers up CHC patients

Mrs. CNMI/Mrs. Congeniality of the World, Annie Little spent Christmas Day showering hospital patients and staff members with yule tidings, perfumed flowers, colorful hand towels embroidered with "Saipan" and her official calling card with photo.

Mrs. Little, as NMI goodwill ambassador, enjoyed chatting with all the patients as she presented them with her get-well gifts and holiday greetings. She posed for photos with patients, and returned on New Year's Day to re-visit, pass out the photos, and extend her special new year wishes to each for a blessed, prosperous, and happy new year.

Mrs. Little said that as NMI goodwill ambassador and Mrs. Northern Marianas World, she must spread happiness and goodwill to the wonderful people of the Northern Marianas as well as promoting the islands abroad. She added, "our people are the greatest natural resource we have, and we must always take great pride in our cultures and heritage."

During international competition in Hawaii, when Annie won the title "Mrs. Congeniality of the World," she described the Northern Marianas as "beautiful islands of friendship, warm hospitality, and a summer that never ends."

Next year, Mrs. Little will accompany her successor to Australia for the "Mrs. Woman of the World" pageant. Her "Mrs. Congeniality of the World" title is the first international title brought home from an international beauty pageant for the Northern Marianas.

Marianas tree shines in D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. Dec. 24 — While Typhoon Kim may have put out many of the lights in the Northern Marianas, a Christmas tree dedicated to the Commonwealth shines brightly next to the national Christmas tree behind the White House, said Resident Representative Froilan C. Tenorio.

Standing among other small trees dedicated to each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia and U.S. territories, the Northern Marianas tree proudly bears a number of beautiful ornaments donated by the Garapan Elementary School, Rota Elementary School, Saipan local artists, and the Commonwealth Arts Council especially for this year's tree. Each of the ornaments reflects this year's theme of "liberty" and is enclosed in a transparent plastic bubble.

"We in the Northern Marianas can be proud of the tree and the excellent work done on the special ornaments. "Quite a few people gather by the tree to take a close look at our ornaments and in the process learn a little more about our islands."

The Representative added that the White House had responded to the urging of his office to replace last year's sign marking the tree with one saying the "Northern Mariana Islands," as opposed to previous signs which incorrectly said the "Northern Marianas Islands." While the error was not a major one, the Representative said, "We wanted to make certain our fellow Americans knew the correct name of our newest Commonwealth."

NNMC offers tips on removing typhoon mildew

Right after a typhoon, there is work to be done both in and outside the house. Cleaning up of debris outdoors can be backbreaking, but it takes more than muscle-power to get rid of mildew that has established itself indoors.

Mildew ("inapulahan") is a thin, usually black, sometimes white, growth produced on many kinds of surfaces by molds. Molds are simple plants belonging to the group known as fungi. Although molds are always present in the air, those that cause mildew need moisture and certain temperature in order to grow. In homes they develop most often on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood and paper. (Many synthetic clothing materials are resistant to mildew.) They may be found in clothes closets, draperies, rugs, mattresses, shower curtains, shoes, books, and damp clothes, after a period of rainy weather.

Clothing and Household Fabrics

Remove mildew spots as soon as you discover them. Do not give the mold growth a chance to weaken or rot the material. Brush off any surface growth outdoors to prevent scattering the mildew spores in the house. Sun and air fabrics thoroughly. If any mildew spots remain, treat washable articles as described below. Dry-clean nonwashable articles.

Wash mildew-stained articles at once with soap or detergent and water. Rinse well and dry in the sun. If any stain remains, use lemon juice and salt or another bleach. If you use a bleach, be sure to test colored fabrics for colorfastness.

Lemon juice and salt. — Moisten stain with a mixture of lemon juice and salt. Spread in the sun to bleach. Rinse thoroughly.

Chlorine bleach. — Mix 2 tablespoons of liquid chlorine bleach with 1 quart (4 cups) of warm water. Sponge the stain or soak the stained area in the solution. Allow the bleach to remain on the fabric from 5 to 15 minutes, then rinse. An additional soaking in weak vinegar (2 table-spoons to a cup of water) will stop further bleach action. Never use a chlorine bleach on silk, wool, or Spandex fabrics.

Keatly

E.M. Deleon Guerrero, V.M. Sablan, P.R. Guerrero, and B.M. Savlan have placed service to the Commonwealth above all else.

Senate President Julian Calvo and Senators Herman R. Guerrero and Juan T. Guerrero have strongly supported the concept of good government and service to the public and have contributed to the success of the immigration office.

Local control over immigration is essential to the Commonwealth economic prosperity. I trust that the people recognize that this privilege will be revoked if it appears that this authority is abused now that the Trusteeship has been terminated. Everyone should expect and demand that the current level of professionalism, efficiency and fairness be maintained by the office for the benefit of the Commonwealth.

Very truly yours,

/s/Richard Keatley

MESSAGE OF APPRECIATION

How we wish we could find words larger than those we use in everyday life to express our heartfelt "Si Yuus Maase" to our many friends and relatives who gave us their words of encouragement, thoughts and prayers when our dear and beloved mother was called to her eternal rest last December 27, 1986.

We extend our special thanks to his excellency Bishop Tomas A. Camacho, members of the clergy and the choir from the various parishes who assisted in the hourly holy masses, all of which made our mother's day in church a most solemn day to remember. You have given us hope and we will remember you in our prayers in the future. May God Bless You All!

FINAL CUMULATIVE PUBLIC NOTICE PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Notification is hereby given to the public of the decision of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to provide assistance to the Islands of Saipan and Tinian, Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI), to restore facilities located in the wetland or base floodplain (also known as the 100-year floodplain) or critical actions within the 500-year floodplain. These facilities were damaged in the recent major disaster declared as a result of Typhoon Kim, which occurred on December 3, 1986. This assistance is granted under the authority of Public Law 93-288 as amended, the President's Disaster Relief Act of 1974.

Public comment on the restoration of these facilities and the application of Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management, and Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, was previously invited by notice in this publication. There were no comments received.

FEMA evaluated alternative sites outside the floodplain and wetlands, alternative actions which serve essentially the same purpose as the proposed action but which have less potential to affect or be affected by the floodplain or wetland and not providing reimbursement to CNMI (taking no action) for the repair of the facilities. An evaluation of social, economic, historical, environmental, legal and safety considerations was also made.

Based on these evaluations and that there was an overriding public need for the facility, FEMA determined that avoidance of the floodplain or wetland was not practical; therefore, the only alternative is to restore the facilities in the floodplain or wetland.

FEMA will provide assistance for the restoration of the facilities described below to their pre-disaster condition, except that certain measures to mitigate the effects of future flooding may be incorporated into the restoration work. FEMA also consulted with CNMI officials to insure that restoration is in compliance with applicable codes, including flood protection standards.

These facilities may include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Non-emergency debris clearance.
2. Non-emergency repair to protective flood control and protective coastal facilities, including drainage systems, reservoirs and channels.
3. Damage to roads, including streets, culverts and bridges.
4. Damage to water control facilities, pipes and distribution systems.
5. Damage to public buildings and related equipment.
6. Damage to public utilities, including sewage treatment plants and sewers, and electrical power distribution systems.
7. Damage to private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc.).
8. Damage to parks and other recreational facilities.

Mr. Tommie C. Hamner is the responsible FEMA official for implementing and monitoring the compliance of the actions with the Executive Orders. A map is available for public inspection and information regarding the implementation of the Executive Orders by calling 234-9315.

Saipan's windsurfers in Thai meet

Last month two of Saipan's top windsurfers flew to Thailand to compete in the 11th Mitsubishi Windsurfing Siam Worldcup.

The Annual event, held in Pattaya, Thailand, with steady winds of 20-25 miles per hour and three-four-foot had swells, Joji Taguchi taking 16th place among 56 sailboarders in the Heavy Weight Division (70 kilo and up), and Shigeru Tomita (Tomi), 28th in the Light Weights amongst 61 sailors.

This was the first major tournament for both competing against National Champions from 24 other countries from the US, Europe and Asia. They competed in four Olympic Triangle Courses, a Marathon Race, and a Giant Slalom and combined their place points.

In another series of triangle races, Tomita and Taguchi teamed up and sailed to a third place in the Tandem Category.

Both windsurfers felt it was a good experience in preparing an NMI team to compete in Decembers South Pacific Games in New Caledonia. Windsurfing Saipan would like to sponsor next years entry to the Siam Worldcup.

DOE softball league starts Sunday

The Department of Education's slow-pitch softball league will get underway at San Vicente Elementary School's field at 10 a.m. Sunday, according to DOE officials.

Playing in the league, which will be culminated in the championing game on April 24, are the DOE Central Honchos, Food Services, Hopwood's Hilitai, Marianas High Dolphins, WSR Blue Jays/San Antonio Octopus, Oleai Turtles/Headstart, the Birds from Garapan and San Vicente elementary schools, and G.T. Camacho/Tanapag/Media teams.

The play-off games will be held on April 19, also at the San Vicente field, said W.S. Reyes Elementary acting vice principal Antonio Kaipat, who chairs the sports committee for the upcoming Education Day.

"Come and see the exciting games," said Bob Coldeen, DOE Federal Program Coordinator and captain of the DOE Central's "Honchos". "Many dignitaries will be there, including the Honchos' star catcher, who is none other than Superintendent of Education Henry I. Sablan himself."

Coldeen said he is excited, and predicted that the pre-season favorites are Hopwood, Marianas High, and of course Central Honchos. This assessment may be disputed by the defending champion, Food Services, who garnered the coveted title during the Education Day last year.

The runner-up champion is the Hopwood team, and the Dolphins and Honchos were in the play-offs, Coldeen remarked.

"My friend, Tom Pangelinan, moved from Garapan to Hopwood Junior High so he can be on a better team," joked Coldeen. The handsome and strong Tom Tebuteb, who is on the Honchos team, nodded in agreement with the joke saying, "We will have many handsome guys and gals in the games. So come one come all and enjoy what may turn out to be one of the most exciting leagues in the Education Department's history." (DOE).
