The Kaiser's Visit

Kaiser Wilhelm's visit to Great Britain may have been designed merely as a holiday visit to his wife the King and his friend Lord Lansdale, but of course European speculation will not permit it to pass as a friendly call only. The Kaiser is reputed to be an incessant worker, and no one in Europe will believe he has gone away for a rest in merry England any more than Wall street would believe that a London trip of Morgan's was undertaken merely for his health.

The trip of the Kaiser following so closely upon Carnegie's suggestion that he organize a great international syndicate for the purpose of heading off the American industrial invasion of Continental Europe may perhaps lead some unreflecting American to believe that the suggestion prompted the trip. That, however, would be an error. The trip was planned long before the speech was made, and if there be any relation between the two it is more likely that the Kaiser inspired Carnegie than that the plutocrat inspired the war lord.

Europe has decided convictions on the object of the journey. It is believed that the Kaiser goes to see his uncle for the purpose of arranging for a partition between Great Britain and Germany of the Portuguese territory in South Africa. It will be remembered that the Portuguese territory gave Great Britain a good deal of trouble during the war against the Boers, and that it was reported at the time that as soon as the war was over the British would endeavor to induce Portugal to sell it so that Great Britain might have a good support for the Transvaal. The story goes now that the Portuguese Ministry is willing to sell, but Germany insists upon having a voice in the matter, and the Kaiser has gone over to make the final arrangements.

The interest of the Kaiser in the deal is due to the fact that German East Africa juts in between Portuguese East Africa and the British territory. Britain would like to get Germany out of the way, and Germany is willing to get out of the way provided she gets an equivalent. Thus the story goes that Britain will buy the whole of the Portuguese territory and then trade a portion of it to Germany for the desired strip of German land.

When the larger interests of the world are considered the rumored partition of that remote section of Africa may appear comparatively small politics, and yet it is by no means an unimportant affair. The territory involved has an area of about 301,000 square miles and a population of something more than 3,000,000. It occupies a place of vantage between the Transvaal and the sea, and Lorenzo Marquez is the natural port of entry for the whole of the Transvaal region and Rhodesia. While the country is of little value to Portugal it would be of immense value to Great Britain. The German territory adjoining and partially intervening between the two is also of little value, except that which attaches to its position. The Kaiser therefore has a chance to make a good trade, and it may be he will have something to say on the subject when he talks confidentially with the British Ministers.

The main difficulty in the way of settlement will be experienced when the effort is made to get the Portu-

REPORT OF GRAND JURY.

The report of the late Grand Jury as presented to Judge De Bolt last Wednesday morning was, to the general public to say the least, astonishing, in view of the events of the recent weeks and it certainly does not bear even the marks of an attempt to impartially conserve the public interests and administer fearlessly even handed justice to all. After three weeks of supposed conscientious labors and investigations they have done absolutely nothing in the way of impartial investigation and condemnation of guilty parties, except those against whom the Dole regime have so openly, through their mouthpiece the Advertiser, and by every act in the power of the individual favorite of the head nepotist sought to condemn and brand as rascals and felons, but the others—the elect—they have shielded and passed over in silence.

What departments have they "investigated?" The Treasury, Public Works and the Auditor's Department, but how about the Attorney General's Department? Oh, no, uncle's nephew mustn't be criticized, and the Secretary of the Territory; was not his office one at least that should have received rigid scrutiny, especially in view of the known apathy of the Secretary, which rendered possible the successful escape of the Treasurer from this Territory. Would not that known connection of a high department chief lead a fair minded and unprejudiced man to harbor at least a suspicion that HIS office was worthy the time of a thorough overhauling—but it is not even referred to in this masterpiece of whitewashing.

They say in their report that "The Grand Jury, under the general instructions contained in your charge, has felt CONstrained to investigate the following matters, and to submit its report on the same." And then report on the three departments, but they do not say how or why they were restrained from reporting, even favorably, if such a thing were possible, on the others.

After showing their zeal and eagerness for the administration of justice by indicting Wright, the Treasurer, for embezzlement, and his attorney, Mr. Magoon, as an accessory after the fact, and totally ignoring Cooper, not even mentioning his name, they proceed to dig into alleged deficiencies of many years back and indict Boyd for alleged embezzlement in the "Interior Department." Why? asks any reasonable man. Does not this gross and overwhelming zeal for purity in public office look suspiciously like an endeavor to furnish a shield behind which the Governor could hide and defend his unjust action in suspending Mr. Boyd?

It is unnecessary to comment on the vapors of this august body on the Auditor's office. Austin has to go, but the Grand Jury could not find even the shadow of a moonbeam upon which to indict him. After their Herculean labors in not thoroughly investigating the public offices as charged to do by Judge De Bolt, they ease the pressure on their brains by switching off on to Rapid Transit, Electric Poles and Powder Magazines, subject of such overweening importance that they were too pressing to refer to the Senate or the Legislature as was done in the case of the Treasurer's escape where they sapiently say "This Grand Jury recommends that the Senate, now in session immediately make a thorough investigation as to the responsibility of any government official in allowing the escape of the Treasurer."

Does this expression alone brand the Grand Jury as being afraid to do their duty? Does it not, in view of their indictment of Mr. Magoon, carry with it a very firm conviction that by referring their work and duty to the Senate they, in shielding others, must have been influenced by some undue influence, whether fear or favor, none can tell. If they did not know that it was their duty to sift the matter to the bottom and not quit half way when the trail was too hot for favorite and that the Senate had no power to indict for crime, then their individual names should be forever blotted from all jury lists.

"This Grand Jury would respectfully reiterate the expressions of former grand juries relative to the trivial character of many of the offenses it is by law required to pass upon and suggests that the next legislature take action to the end of bringing the laws of this Territory more in consonance with those of other portions of the United States." Great Scott, if they were incompetent to handle the greater ones, what effrontery to object to being allowed to consider anything.

And all of this the First Judge daubs over with thick coats of judicial molasses, even going so far as to thank the most wealthy and prominent members personally and individually for their aid in this adulation of the nepotist and his nepotism. Surely, it is enough to give the fair minded citizen a severe attack of nephralgia.

ARE AT IT AGAIN.

And that disposition to curtail the use of the Hawaiian language in the Senate was again shown last Tuesday morning when Senator Kaine handed in his amendment to the new, much talked of Achi resolution, pertaining to the appointment of a committee to prepare County and Municipal Acts for presentation to the next regular session of the Legislature, which he did in writing in his own language, and was soon ruled out of order by the presiding officer. Other members as well called attention to the Organic Act where, in Section 44 thereof, it is provided that "all legislative proceedings shall be conducted in the English language." Perfectly right and proper, according to the provisions of the basic law.

Even then, we would call the attention of the gentlemen of the Senate, if the law must be followed to the letter, what need is there then for an interpreter and translator? It was not many days before that the first disposition was shown to prevent the Hawaiian members from having a knowledge of certain business laid before it by the Governor, and when the solid Republican majority saw the error made, a retraction was quickly introduced, not by a reconsideration, but by a motion whereby that majority gave way, at the same time disregarding the terms of the law that they are so eager to observe strictly, particularly when it is to their advantage and to the disadvantage of their opponents. But the matter cannot rest there, as it is far reaching in its scope.

During the last Legislature, both languages were used, the Hawaiian simply for the guidance of those members who had no knowledge whatever of the English, provisions being made by both branches for such an accommodation. But the journals of both houses, as well as all communications, carried on, were kept in the English language, and such we hold to be the "legislative proceedings." Had the Republicans been earnest in this disposition, why did they elect an interpreter and translator at the beginning of this extra session? They might as well have done it as not. But there, if they have evaded the law in that instance, they have been doing it ever since, and will keep on doing it, as it is something that they cannot help, although they have some control over it this time.

The amendment of Senator Kaine was orally made at first before the previous question was moved by Senator Isenberg, but before putting the question on the adoption of the resolution, he handed in his amendment written out in the Hawaiian language, and it was at this stage of the proceedings that the same was ruled out. Some went even so far as to say that the previous question had been moved, and therefore, it could not come in, but it was not insisted, since the chair had overruled it, and it might be said at the suggestion of Senator Baldwin. But the idea of smothering the amendment, because it was written in the Hawaiian language, is preposterous to say the least.

Here again crops up the question—why did the Senate see fit to elect an official interpreter? If we mistake not, the interpreter is also the official translator under the rules; and therefore, it is a part of his duties to make translations of all matters coming up, whether written or in debate, for the benefit of the house and of the clerk thereof. Should any such amendment pass, whether made verbally or in writing in the original language of the country, we hold that it is the duty of the official interpreter to make a

Do Your Joints Pain You?

A slight indefinite pain in the joints is the first sign of Rheumatism. Then come the aching pains and tenderness, the agonizing cramps, the fever and restlessness that characterize this disease.

When you feel the first slight pain, begin to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and the progress of the disease will be arrested. Neglect this and you will regret it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a Positive and Permanent Cure for Rheumatism.

This remedy expels impurities from the blood, and supplies the material for rapidly rebuilding wasted nerve tissues. It has performed hundreds of almost miraculous cures in severe cases of Rheumatism, many times after doctors had given up hope. Read this sworn statement:

"In 1890 I was taken with rheumatism, which began in my hips and gradually spread throughout my body. For two years and a half I was confined to my bed, employed none of the best physicians in Albany, and two specialists from New York city. They all declared my case hopeless, and finally told me that I had but six weeks to live. I told them to take their medicine away; that if I were to die I should take no more of the stuff. My niece, who through her friends knew of the good results attending the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, strongly recommended them. She procured the pills and by the time I had used the first box I felt hungry. Having had no appetite for a long time, I knew that the pills were doing me good. I continued their use, and after taking several boxes was able to leave my bed and go about with the use of crutches. I weighed but 130 pounds. As my normal weight is about 240 pounds, you can see how run down I had become during my sickness. After taking thirteen boxes of the pills I was weighed again, and although less than a year had passed I weighed 207 pounds. I continued the use of the pills and finally was able to abandon the crutches altogether, and am now as well as ever." MARY TAYLOR, 231 Hamilton St., Albany, N. Y.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 17th day of September, 1898. NELLE F. TOWNER, Notary Public, Albany Co., N. Y.

The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold only in packages, the wrapper always bearing the full name. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. 50c. per box.

translation thereof for embodiment by the clerk into the journal.

Under the terms of the Organic Act, no Hawaiian who does not understand the English language is prevented or debarred from being a member of the Legislature. Should the electorate see fit to elect one who lacks a knowledge of English to the law-making body, the responsibility for such a selection lay solely with the electorate, but he cannot be deprived of a knowledge to know what is being done in a tongue entirely foreign to his own. And since a precedent was established at the last session of the Legislature, whereby all matters of business were either interpreted or translated, we fail to see at this time how it is possible for the Senate, now in extraordinary session, to overcome such a fact.

Courtesy is due all members, whether Hawaiians or Americans (we mean brown or white Americans), to know what is going on and they have a perfect right to know it too, and no earthly power can deprive them of such a privilege, as it is due them as a matter of right. But in the case, to prevent the introduction of a written amendment being introduced in the language of the country, is to overstep the bounds of propriety and sidetrack the precedent already established as heretofore referred to. As the journals of both houses at the last session were kept in the English language as well as all laws passed and approved, we have yet to learn that they were unsatisfactory, but it is a known fact that Governor Dole admitted, when asked, that the legislators did very well, considering their limited knowledge of the legal language whereby the "legislative proceedings shall be conducted."

We again assert that the Republican Senatorial majority is at perfect liberty to do as it sees fit in these matters and we place the responsibility with them. If they feel that Hawaiians should be ignored, because of their lack of English knowledge, and that no recognition be given to a minority, it is their privilege to assert it, for "where there's a way, there's a will." Upon them will lay the burden for showing such a narrow disposition and they will some day give some account of their stewardship to the people that gave them their present victory. We demand fair-play and nothing more.

And the Republican majority showed it again this morning. Senator Kalaokalani, the minority on the committee on the Auditor's Department, moved that the majority report introduced by Senator Isenberg, which was signed by himself and Senator McCandless, be laid on the table till Monday morning, when the minority will bring in its report. After much discussion, the majority asserted its right, which it had the power to do, and refused to table the report, but insisted on immediate action, which was carried by a strict party vote, the ayes and nays being called on the adoption.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Even the Advertiser of yesterday, in mentioning in its account of the final report made by the Grand Jury, remarks upon what it mildly calls the peculiarity of that document in the following manner: "The report is rather peculiar, in that though it mentions a number of alleged offenses or irregularities, there is an entire omission of specific reference to the alleged guilty parties."

It is to the interest of the Rapid Transit Co. to see that its patrons are fairly treated. On Thursday afternoon, after alighting from the electric cars and into the carry-alls going out Waikiki, instead of the usual "nickel" charge, passengers were made to pay a twenty-five cent fare, whether going as far as the polo game or at any other stopping places on the way. Admitting that the bus line has a right to charge what it pleases, but the riding public has a right to know beforehand what the special fare should be instead of the usual regular fare. Many were the people disappointed at this undue advantage taken over them, and they have no reason whatever to take kindly to such an overcharge, even on a holiday, and thereby the bus line lost much, the people being too willing then to take to the old reliables, although drawn by mules.

ASSEMBLED AGAIN.

The Senate Met to Hear and Consider Reports on Appointments.

Pursuant to adjournment on Wednesday last, the Senate met again at 10 o'clock this morning, and after the usual routine business, it proceeded to business.

Senator Achi, chairman of the Committee on the Treasury Department, read a report on the appointments made on the Boards of Tax Appeals, wherein the committee did not approve of having two Kohala men appointed with one Kona man, and Kau none at all. Therefore, it recommended the confirmation of all the appointments made with the exception of R H Atkins. On motion of Senator Baldwin, duly seconded by Senator Dickey, the report was adopted.

Senator Achi then moved that the clerk notify the Governor of this action, so that he may place another name in nomination.

Senator Dickey, chairman of the Committee on the Attorney General's Department, read a report on the appointment of Prison Inspectors and recommending their confirmation. Senator Baldwin moved, duly seconded, to adopt, and was unanimously adopted.

Senator Wilcox, chairman of the Committee of the Department of Public Instruction, read a report on the appointments of the Commissioners of Education, recommending their confirmation, and was adopted on motion of Senator Baldwin, duly seconded.

Senator Isenberg, chairman of the Committee on the Auditor's Department, read a majority report severely censuring the conduct of Auditor Austin and recommends to advise the Governor to remove him. Senator D Kalaauokalani moved to lay it on the table till Monday morning to await a report from the minority.

Senator Isenberg arose and explained how they had waited two and a half days for the stenographic extensions of the evidence taken and how they did everything to accommodate the minority. He at the same moved for the adoption of the report, seconded by Senator Baldwin, who said that the motion was an amendment and made quite an explanation, saying that the majority report was the report of the committee, and that the minority need not concur with it by a mere expression of such a fact at the bottom and may give his reasons for doing so or what part in the report he did concur in.

Senator Kalaauokalani got on his feet and explained his position, but an attempt was made by Senator Achi to shut him off, but the first insisted that he had to speak on his behalf while the others had already given their side, and the chair gave way to him. A point of order was then raised, but was not acted upon. Senator McCandless then got up to explain, and Senator Achi then again raised the point of order that a motion to table, duly seconded, could not be debated upon nor amended and the only thing to do was to act upon it. The chair admitted that the point was well taken. The motion to table was then put and lost by a vote of 7 to 6.

Senator Isenberg then moved to adopt the majority report, which was duly seconded by Senator McCandless. Senator Kaiue moved that the ayes and nays be called, seconded by Senator Kalaauokalani, and carried. On the ayes and nays being called on the adoption of the report, it was carried by a strict party vote of 8 to 6, the presiding officer also voting, as follows:

Ayes—Senators Achi, Baldwin, Crabbe, Dickey, Isenberg, McCandless, Paris and Wilcox.

Noes—Senators J T Brown, Kalaauokalani, Kaohi, Kaiue, Naka-pahu and Woods.

Senator Achi then moved that the clerk be instructed to immediately notify the Governor of the action taken and to remove Mr Austin from the position of Auditor.

During the debate on this matter, it was said that the reason for insisting on the immediate action was on account of its being in Court.

As Austin is insisting being reinstated to office, the Court may imprison others for contempt, and therefore it was utterly necessary that it should be so acted upon now, and which was done.

Senator Dickey moved to have a committee of three appointed on the Boards of Registration and other officers in the Governor's message. Passed. The chair appointed Senators Dickey, Isenberg, and Woods.

Upon motion of Senator Baldwin, duly seconded, the Senate adjourned at 11:30 to 10 a. m. next Monday.

Made Good Result for a Starter.

The Woman's Sale and Loan Exhibit, we are given to understand, have realized over $700 as the result of the efforts of the ladies in charge during the sale held last Friday, Saturday and Monday. As soon as all the bills are in and expenses paid, the total net proceeds will then be made known. The door receipts were more than sufficient to defray all expenses. The committee expresses its thanks to the Elks for the generous use of their hall and to all those who assisted the ladies to make this first attempt such a success, which they hope to see continued in the future and not allowed to lag and drop out of sight altogether. Many of the contributors are real needy and the distribution among them will go towards rendering relief, being a just reward of their untiring labors.

guese to consent to the sale. The tenacity with which the smaller European powers cling to the vestiges of their colonial empires is remarkable. We have just had an illustration of it in the rejection by Denmark of the proposed sale of her barren islands in the West Indies. From pure pride and obstinacy a majority of the Danish Parliament rejected the treaty, notwithstanding the fact that Denmark has no use whatever for the islands and they are a source of expense to her people. The Portuguese public will doubtless act as the Danish public, and the Kaiser will have to do some clever diplomatic work in Lisbon to help his good uncle to get the scheme through.—S. F. Call.

Japan Becoming Exceedingly Prudish

In a recent communication to the Argonaut from Japan, C. E. Lorrimer says: "Chusenji is the fashionable summer resort of Japan, with its famous sulphur baths. The water is as white as milk, and quite soft, like molasses, curing every ill that human skin is heir to. The quaintest sight of the place is the big bath house, where the little brown men, women, and babies paddle about together, absolutely au naturel. The tiny babies have their dinner in the bath, their mammas eat theirs from the edge of the inclosure, or they come out perfectly nude and unembarrassed. It is all so simple and natural, and without evil notice, that one quite forgets to be shocked. But the Japanese authorities, the policemen, since they gave up their national summer costumes of no clothes, and attached their pompous little swords to their pompous little uniforms, have become exceedingly prudish, so that the old and innocent customs are fast being done away with. Even the pictures and statues are being covered up, and a multitude of ideas suggested to the lower class that, at least in that form, did not exist before."

The First Local Mint.

One of the institutions here which has the special attention of tourists as well as the local people is the Mint, which is established on Nuuanu street, opposite Queen Emma Hall. It is interesting to enter the large main working room where general manager McDonough and his corps of assistants are at work. The cool and large lauai is a proper resting place and the vaults, where the "bars" to be minted and beer are kept present a very tasty spectacle. The Mint is open from 5:30 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. and during those hours the work never ceases. Visitors after looking over the place will find first class refreshments and the purest of liquors.
