MARTHA DAVIS BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE CAUSE OF FIRE UNKNOWN. LOSS OF SHIP AND CARGO

Water, water everywhere but not a drop to put on the fire. That was the startling situation when Capt. Macloon of the Bark "Martha Davis" found when he awoke about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and discovered his ship afire.

The vessel was lying at anchor in the stream and the captain was awakened by the smoke which filled the cabins and alley ways of the ship. He had difficulty in arousing the first and second mates, who had turned in early and were sound asleep. A search was instituted for the cause of the smoke and when the forward hatch was opened a dense volume of smoke poured from below. Replacing the hatch, the alarm was sounded by ringing of the ship's bell, firing blue lights and sending up rockets, without attracting attention from shore.

Almost the entire crew were ashore and they had the ship's boat with them. Word was sent to the police by a passing launch, and it was an hour after the fire was discovered that the town was awakened by the sounding of the fire bell. Even then many householders after getting up to see where the fire might be, failing to locate it, returned to their slumbers.

The Matson tug "Charles Counselman" was sent to the rescue about midnight and an effort was made to locate the fire. Almost immediately after raising the hatches, the flames burst through the deck and were soon beyond control, despite the fact that the "Counselman" brought in all her pumps and kept three streams of water playing, holes being cut through the deck and sides of the vessel to give access to the seat of the fire.

By half past three the vessel was completely afire, fore and aft, and the spars and rigging soon became enveloped in flames, making a beautiful but gruesome picture to the crowds which now thronged the shores and lined the Hilo Railroad dock. It was thought that if the anchor chains could be cut and the vessel brought alongside of the dock, the fire could be quenched, but the danger to the wharves and shipping in the harbor by the possibility of the vessel getting adrift was too great and the doomed ship was abandoned. The burning hull and cargo remained afire throughout Sunday and part of Sunday night, when a heavy rain put out the flames, leaving an ugly hulk floating where the beautiful ship lay before.

No cause is given for the fire, but it is believed that the three hundred barrels of lime left in the hold became wet and ignited. None of the cargo was saved and few of the crew succeeded in getting their personal effects ashore. All Hilo cargo had been landed and the losses amounting to about $40,000 will be borne largely by the adjacent plantations, all of which is insured. The ship is valued at $20,000, making the total loss about $60,000. Neither the Captain nor Mr. C. Castendyke, of H. Hackfeld & Co. who are agents for the owners, do not know whether the vessel was insured.

The Bark Martha Davis was a wooden vessel, bark rigged, having been built in Boston in 1873. She measures 163 feet long, 33 feet beam and 21 feet deep. She has plied in the coastwise trade between the Islands and San Francisco for many years. Capt. Macloon had made his second voyage in her when the fire occurred.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES ARE QUIET.

The local primaries through the island were quietly held on Saturday between the hours of three and eight o'clock in the evening. There was no great excitement anywhere at the various polling places and the election passed off very smoothly. In Kau a ripple of dissension was perceptible between the rival factions and two election booths were doing business with separate ballots. The so-called Wolters element elected three delegates at Naalehu and the Thompson faction voted for three names at Waiohinu. The two delegations will both come to the County Convention on Thursday and claim the right to vote and take part in the proceedings.

Speaking of the Kau troubles, R. A. Lyman, Jr. secretary of the District Committee said: "It is a very unfortunate state of affairs for the republicans in Kau to get into, but it is more of a personal fight it appears than any expressed party disloyalty. I have kept in close touch with the situation both at Waiohinu and at Naalehu and personally favor the Waiohinu delegation, who were regularly nominated at the meeting of the precinct club held at Waiohinu. The second delegation of which Mr. White is at the head represents the Naalehu crowd who arrived at the meeting too late to make any nominations and subsequently held a meeting of their own when a new ticket was put into the field. I am convinced from a careful perusal of the rules that the latter delegation has no claim for recognition, although that is a matter to be decided upon by the Committee on Credentials of County Convention.

In Hilo and Waiakea, where the largest number of candidates were in the field for honors, the largest votes were polled, although it is stated the full party strength did not turn out to the primaries. In the Fourth Precinct (Hilo) the vote stood as follows, the first ten being elected delegates: L. A. Andrews, 161; Chas. Akau, 155; N. K. Lyman, 142; W. H. Beers, 141; I. E. Ray, 129; R. A. Lyman, Jr., 128; J. H. Hale, 117; J. K. Paahu, 117; Mahaiula, 113; M. Pacheco, 108; E. R. Richards, 70; W. H. C. Campbell, 65; Wm. McKay, 50; W. C. Cook, 46; J. Vierra, 32; B. F. Schoen, 33; W. K. Ragsdale, 23.

In the Third Precinct of Waiakea, the vote stood as follows: W. Geo. Kailhenui, 85; G. F. Alfonso, 79; J. McGuire, 75; Sam Kailikane, 62; J. M. Herring, 28; D. Spaulding, 16; Keakolo, 15; D. S. Bowman, 14; T. A. Dranga, 8; Nalimu, 8; Fvan de Silver, 7.

CARTER'S GOLD BRICK.

Governor Carter is quoted as referring to the county law as a "gold brick". If correctly reported, such a statement shows the Territorial executive in the very light in which his enemies have sought to place him.

Either the public must conclude that the Governor has been guilty of base political deception or in the heat of childish resentment gave expression to his feelings over the passage of a county bill over his veto.

The County law was drafted by a commission of competent lawyers and received careful consideration by the lawmakers before being enacted into law.

His incarceration is furthermore defined to be illegal, because he was deprived of his liberty without due process of law and without trial by jury.

Solicitor General Hoyt, in his reply brief, will raise the point that as Nifou has not yet been tried on the merits of the case, his application cannot be seriously considered.

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

Supreme Court Hears Petition of Judge Little.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus and for certiorari says the Washington D. C. Star in the case of Ohi Nifou, submitted by Attorney Gilbert F. Little, of Panama, in the Supreme Court of the United States, opens up important questions in connection with the government of the isthmian canal zone.

Solicitor General Hoyt informed the court that he did not realize the importance of the case at the time, and asked for opportunity to file a brief reply, which was granted.

Ohi Nifou, a Chinese resident of the canal zone, was arrested for selling Panama Lottery Company tickets. He was committed to prison by the municipal court in default of bail, and applied to the circuit court of the zone for a writ of habeas corpus.

The petition avers that he committed no offense, since the Panama Lottery Company is sustained by the constitution of the republic of Panama, which chartered it.

Reward of Virtue.

Only four hundred thousand to our good mother city And that princely gift to our own Will surely enlist our great nation's pity.

Though four hundred thousand is a good deal of gold And may be some old miser's choice,

But to one who loves music, and to money is cold Will prefer that heavenly voice.

For years we have clamored, petitioned and kicked For something to soothe our breast, We even threatened to see Berger licked

GREAT COFFEE DRINKERS.

More than a billion pounds of coffee came into the United States last year. This great amount of coffee was valued at $88,000,000.

The actual figures were 1,112,703,546 pounds, valued at exactly $87,427,099, coming from foreign countries, while Porto Rico sent us 2,391,425 pounds and Hawaii 1,827,491 pounds.

The United States consumes one-half the coffee production of the world. During the past few years the consumption has rapidly increased.

An impost duty of one cent per pound on all coffee other than Hawaiian imported into the United States means over $10,000,000 in revenue. It is hardly likely that coffee growers would be satisfied with so small an import duty, and will insist upon a five-cent tax, which would increase the revenue proportionately.

The ill-disguised threat to make a "gold brick" of the county law will not deter the county convention, made up of representative Republicans of the Island of Hawaii, from selecting a county ticket worthy of the party.

Brughelli's Mule Again.

So, Terdy, he has killed a bear! What do you think of that? Say, George, you'll have to get back there into the hills, I do declare,

He killed his bear at the first shot; And doesn't he shoot true? But Carter, too, is rather hot

STUDYING LABOR CONDITIONS.

Federal Officials Investigate the Conditions of Island Labor.

United States Labor Commissioner Charles P. Niell, accompanied by special agent Victor S. Clark, have been making a tour of the Islands investigating labor conditions, and spent a portion of last week visiting the plantations adjacent to Hilo.

Commissioner Niell to a TRIBUNE representative, speaking of his mission to Hawaii, said, "My visit to the Islands is simply to familiarize myself with the local conditions affecting labor. Mr. Clark, who is a special agent of the Bureau of Labor, is making his quinquennial visit to the Islands, as required by the Organic Act. His last visit to the Islands was in 1900.

"There is no special purpose in my visit, except to become better acquainted with labor conditions in the Islands. I am making a general tour of the United States and include Hawaii in my itinerary."

Among other things which the Labor Commissioner is making inquiry, is the number of Japanese laborers who have departed for the mainland. Commenting on this unfortunate state of affairs, so far as the plantations are concerned, Mr. Niell said: "In order to insure a stable and permanent labor supply in the Islands, the plantations should offer better inducements not only in wages but improved conditions in the matter of housing.

THE COUNTRIES ARE AS FOLLOWS:

1. THE ISLAND OF OAHU and all other Islands in the Territory not included in any other County, and the waters adjacent thereto, shall be the County of Oahu, with its County Seat at Honolulu.

2. THE ISLAND OF HAWAII and all other Islands lying within three nautical miles of the shores thereof, and the waters adjacent thereto, shall be the County of Hawaii, with its County Seat at Hilo.

3. THE ISLANDS OF MAUI, MOLOKAI, LANAI AND KAHOOLOA and all other Islands lying within three nautical miles of the shores thereof, and the waters adjacent thereto, shall be the County of Maui, with its County Seat at Wailuku.

4. THE ISLANDS OF KAUAI AND NIIHAU and all other Islands lying within three nautical miles of the shores thereof, and the waters adjacent thereto, shall be the County of Kauai, with its County Seat at Lihue.

Asked regarding the destination or use to which this exodus of Japanese from Hawaii is being put on the mainland, Mr. Niell replied: "There is a growing demand for field labor all over the United States. Every year when there is a large crop of cereals or other farm products, the farmers complain of the scarcity of labor. In California, large numbers of Japanese are being employed in the fruit orchards, where they find conditions better and wages more satisfactory. Railroad construction and industrial activity of the West attracts a large portion of the Japanese leaving the Islands."

"Do you think that Congress will enact any special legislation permitting the importation of Chinese laborers into Hawaii under restrictions?"

"No, I very much doubt whether Congress would enact exclusive legislation for the Hawaiian Islands, not applicable to the rest of the United States. There will probably be much legislation concerning labor, but the passage of a law, as desired, I fear will not be met with approval by Congress. Permitting Chinese immigration exclusively into the Territory of Hawaii, and restricting the labor lines or occupations, savors of class legislation. This is opposed to the fundamental principal underlying a republican form of government and equality between men. The United States government stands as the sponsor of freedom of speech and freedom of action, regardless of race, color or previous condition and Congress will be slow to make any radical changes in the established conditions of the country."

"I have told some plantation managers that they may as well expect Congress to pass a law permitting each of them to have five wives as to hope for the enactment of such legislation."

Commissioner Niell and special agent Clark left Thursday morning for the Volcano House and from thence will proceed through Kau, returning to Honolulu on the Mauna Loa.

ABSORBS INFORMATION.

President Roosevelt is a "Photographic" Reader.

Commenting upon President Roosevelt's avidity for reading books, a writer in the Century Magazine has the following to say: In the thick of the campaign of 1904 I happen to know that he read all of Macaulay's "History of England," all of Rhodes' "History of the United States" and Dickens' "Martin Chuzzlewit."

The other afternoon he was handed a new book—a not very long dissertation on a matter of current interest. That evening he entertained a number of guests at dinner, and later there was a musical party at the White House, at which he was present. At the luncheon, the next day, the giver said to him: "Mr. President, of course you have not had time to look at that book." Oh, yes," said the President, "I have read it." Whereupon he proved that he had done so by his criticism of the work. One day, lately, a book of short stories was sent to him; almost by return mail came a letter thanking the sender and saying he had already enjoyed the stories greatly in serial publication.

"How does he manage to do it?" All I know about this is that, in the first place, he has by nature or practice the faculty of extremely rapid reading. There are some men of letters and "general readers" who never have been able to acquire this art. Others can take in paragraphs or pages well-nigh at a glance. The President must be one of these photographic readers, who take almost instantly the impression of a whole paragraph or nearly a whole page, the eye running along the line with lightning-like rapidity, and leaping to the more important phrases as by instinct. I have known the following to occur. A congressman makes a statement to him and hands him a typewritten paper. Almost immediately the President hands it back to him; whereupon the congressman says deprecatingly: "Mr. Roosevelt, may I not leave this paper with you? I am anxious to have you read it." "But," says the President, "I have read it; you can examine me in it if you wish."

Probable Origin of "Yankee Doodle."

The following is a translation of an article from the Frankfurter Zeitung:

In the publication of Hessenland (No. 2, 1905), Johann Lewalter gives expression to his opinion that "Yankee Doodle" was originally a country dance of a district of the former province of Kur-Hesse, called the "Schwalm."

It is well known that the tune of "Yankee Doodle" was derived from a military march played by the Hessian troops during the Revolution in America. In studying the dances of the Schwalm, Lewalter was struck by the similarity in form and rhythm of "Yankee Doodle" to the music of these dances. Last year, at the "kirmess" of the village of Wasenberg, when "Yankee Doodle" was played, the young men and girls swung into a true "Schwalm" dance, as though the music had been composed for it. During the war of 1776 the chief recruiting office for the enlistment of the Hessian hired soldiers was Ziegenbain, in Kur-Hesse. It therefore seems probable that the Hessian recruits from the "Schwalm," who served in the pay of Great Britain in America during the Revolutionary war, and whose military band instruments consisted of bugles, drums and fifes only, carried over with them the tune, known to them from childhood, and played it as a march.—Walter Schumann, Consul, Mainz, Germany.

Tallest Man.

A Russian giant has made his appearance in London who is said to be the tallest man in the world. The giant was measured by a tailor for a dress suit. It was found that he is 9 feet 8 1/2 inches in height, 463 pounds in weight and a four-shilling piece can be passed through the ring that he wears on the small finger of his left hand. The circumference of his head is three-quarters of a yard and he wears a collar of twenty-three inches. The monster wears the largest boots in the world. His feet are two feet and one-half inches in size, and, in consequence, his boots measure two feet three inches. Among the giants whose records may be regarded as authentic, the Russian's claim to be the tallest, seems to be justified. Some of the famous big men of the past were John Middleton, 9 feet 3 inches, born in Laca-shire in 1575; Patric O'Brien, 8 ft. 7 inches, born in Kinsale, Ireland, in 1761; and John Frederick, Duke of Brunswick, 8 feet 6 inches.

Only Moaned "My Child."

When the night attendants at Bellevue Hospital went to work the other night they saw, standing in front of the morgue, a fat young man who held a yellow-haired doll clasped tightly to his breast and whose left trouser leg was rolled up to the knee, exposing a generous calf and six inches of a striped sock. The young man rocked backward and forward as he stood, crooning to the doll, bursting out every now and then with "My child, my child!" Dr. Armstrong thought the man crazy. Not a word could they get out of him. Armstrong attempted to roll down his trouser and the young man kicked at him and mouthed unintelligibly. Armstrong called Dr. Bandler from the hospital, and several assistants came with Bandler. They were about to overpower the man and take him to the psychopathic ward when half a dozen young fellows rushed across the street and said: "Here, let that boy alone. He's not daffy. He is simply going through his initiation into Nu Sigma Nu." Then they doused the young fellow with a bucket of cold water and led him away, howling like Indians.

SOME STRANGE ACCIDENTS.

People Have Been Injured in the Queerest Kind of Manner.

While carrying a keg of beer intended for a picnic in Reading, Pa., one day, Elmer Kerchoff stumbled over a wire. The keg slipped so suddenly that the jar dislocated his neck.

Only a short time ago Miss Carrie Hughlin of Janesville, Wis., was so tightly hugged by her lover that two of her ribs became interlocked. After suffering severe pain the young woman confessed that strenuous love-making was the cause of her distress.

Emanuel Beveler of Sterling, Ill., cut his throat on his high collar. He was riding on a bicycle, and in trying to avoid a passing horse was thrown. In his fall his collar cut his throat.

Margaret Kirchkaum died of eating hot potatoes. She was in a hurry to go out and gulped down several hot potatoes. She died in great agony. The autopsy showed that her throat and lining of her stomach had been so badly burned that the swelling had caused her to choke to death.

James Gomers, while waiting for a car at midnight in St. Louis, sat down on a barrel of tar and fell asleep. When he awoke he found the tar had softened and he had slowly sunk down into the sticky stuff until his feet, arms and head only were out-side. He had to be chopped out with an axe.

William P. Steel of Princeton, Md., died a few months ago while setting up a monument over his wife's grave. The stone fell, crushing his head and chest.

Francis J. Birdwell, a Boston ornithologist, climbed high up in a tree at Rio Pecos, N. M., after a bird's nest. The rope he was using caught on a limb and, when he slipped and fell, a loop caught him around the neck and he was slowly strangled to death. His bride of a month stood at the foot of the tree, but was unable to help him.

A Jersey mosquito caused the death of a barber named Rosho Dorso at Harrison, N. J. The barber was shaving and a mosquito lit on his nose. The razor was directly under the barber's chin, and in making a slap to drive away the mosquito he cut a deep gash in his throat. A physician arrived too late to save him.

A swordfish caused the death of Auguste Sylvia, about thirty-five miles out at sea. Sylvia was one of the crew on the fishing sloop Klondike, from Gloucester. A 2,000 pound swordfish had been harpooned, and Sylvia entered a dory to make another line fast to the fish, which was only about two lengths away from the sloop. In its flurry the fish made a break for the dory and broke its sword by running it through the planking. The shock when the fish struck the dory threw Sylvia overboard, and as he was in oilskins and rubber boots he was unable to swim and sank before assistance could reach him.

Paul Bowles, a ten-year-old son of a Bolivar (N. Y.) merchant, lost his hair by fright. A runaway horse threw the boy into convulsions, which caused all the hair on his head to fall out.

Population of Japanese.

According to a report made by United States Vice Consul General Sharp at Kobe, Japan has a total population of 46,732,841, showing a rate of increase from 0.73 per 100 of the population in 1893 to 1.54 in 1903. The average yearly increase since 1893 has been 480,000. Including Formosa, the population of Japan was nearly 50,000,000 at the end of 1903. During the past ten years the average number of births was 1,340,000, and the deaths 900,000, showing a yearly increase of 440,000 in the population. The average number of marriages each year was 8.71 per 1,000, and the number of divorces 2.13 per 1,000. Tables show in an unmistakable manner the gradual concentration of the suburban population in the cities.

In the southern part of California roof gardens are becoming features of all the new buildings.

A More Civilized Diet.

There has been an enormous increase in the demand for fruits and nuts, for fish and eggs, for milk and butter and cheese, for poultry, and for proprietary cereal foods. Fifty years ago the only cereal food known, besides the products of wheat and rye, flour and cornmeal, was oatmeal, and that was imported and was rare and costly. Now no breakfast table is without some form of mush or grits.

A thorough investigation of the subject shows that Americans eat 36 per cent less meat per capita than fifty years ago. But we eat more wheat, poultry, eggs and cheese. In 1880 our consumption of eggs was 920 dozen for each 100 persons. Now it is 1,700 dozen for each 100. We eat seventeen dozen apiece, and the hen has assumed an important place in economics. In 1850 we consumed 430 bushels of wheat for each 100 persons. Now the consumption is 623 bushels for the same number. Corn and potatoes show a similar increase, while in forty years the consumption of oats as human food has increased fourfold.

One of the most notable changes of diet is that in favor of fruits. They are used the year round. They are fine either fresh from the trees or cooked, and are kept dried, evaporated, canned or preserved the year round. There is no more wholesome or palatable dish for the supper table than a properly selected and prepared dish of stewed peaches or apples. The banana has gained continually for the last twenty years. Our bananas now cost us $8,000,000 a year.

Until recently it was almost universally believed that petroleum, like coal, was derived from fossil vegetation or possibly from animals or fishes of some long-past age. Now it is asserted by many scientific men that it may not be of any organic origin, but may be due to subterranean chemical action.

A Safe Speculation.

If you have an attack of rheumatism and Chamberlain's Pain Balm gets you back to work in a few days, will it not pay for itself several times over? There is no need of suffering from rheumatism for a month or six weeks incurring the expenses of a large doctor's bill, when a few applications of this liniment, costing but a small amount will cure you. SAVING THE FISH.

Rigid Enforcement of the New Fish-ing Law.

Fish Inspector J. M. Herring is diligently enforcing the new law passed by the legislature, designed to prevent the wanton destruction of food fishes living in the waters of the Territory.

Last week a number of arrests were made, principally among Japanese for violating the law with reference to fishing with nets, the mesh which measures less than two inches stretched or one inch square. Heretofore no restriction has been placed on the size of the mesh or opening in nets, and the fishermen have been found using as small as a one-quarter inch mesh and in some instances mosquito netting. In this manner thousands upon thousands of the young fish were caught, and when too small to be eaten were dumped on the beach. Several thousand were destroyed at every haul, until the passage of the Kalama law, which prohibits the use of nets or other contrivances having a smaller mesh than as prescribed.

By the adoption of a one inch opening, the smaller fish are permitted to escape and only marketable fish are caught. Inspector Herring says that the best Hawaiian food fishes are rapidly disappearing, because of the indiscriminate catching of young fish. Years ago, the waters of Hilo Bay swarmed with fish and the natives often waded along the beach with pole and line and caught quantities of fish which are now quite rare. He confidently expects that under the new law the food fishes will become plentiful and he has served notice on all net fishermen that no small mesh nets will be allowed. There are six crews or companies of Japanese net fishermen along the Hilo beach, who have been required to make new nets to conform with the law and all cast nets will be similarly modified.

The new law provides a penalty for infraction of the law of not less than $20 and not more than $200, or by imprisonment not less than ten nor more than 90 days, or by both imprisonment and fine. It is provided, however, that young fish may be caught for the purpose of restocking ponds or for scientific or aquarium purposes.

It was a surprise to the United States Fish Commission, when they arrived here to find that greater restrictions of this nature had not already been imposed on fishing, considering that the principal source of the Hawaiian's food supply was derived from fish. Under the old konohiki fishing law, enacted in 1869, all fishing grounds belonging to government land were granted to the people but the Minister of the Interior might taboo the taking of fish thereon at certain seasons of the year. The fishing grounds were supposed to extend one geographical mile seaward from the beach and were considered under the law as the private property of the konohiki, to whose land by ancient regulations it belonged. Like the government, the konohikis were empowered to indicate at what time or times the fish might be caught on their fishing grounds. They might even set apart for themselves one given species or variety of fish, giving public notice oral or written to their tenants and others, to the effect. The specific fish so set apart was reserved for the exclusive use of the konohiki and when caught by others was the konohiki's property and could be appropriated to his own use. He also could exact, during the fishing season, from each fisherman among the tenants, one-third part of all the fish taken upon his private fishing grounds. It was provided, however, that the konohiki might taboo only one kind of fish for his personal use.

SOCIETY EN MASQUE.

A Reception Dance Tendered to Miss Peck and Dr. Wall.

Society danced in masque and wig Friday evening at the reception given by Mrs. C. Castendyk and Miss Shipman in Riverside Park, in honor of Miss Emilie Peck and Dr. Ormond Wall of Honolulu.

The beautiful Shipman home was the scene of an animated throng of dancers in costume and disguise most bewildering. The spacious parlors were thrown open to the revelers and the broad lanais formed cool retreats to those wearied by an excess of merriment. An Hawaiian quintette club furnished rhythmic and lively music for the occasion, and the guests danced until midnight, when the party adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Castendyk, where a delightful collation was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Castendyk and Miss Shipman received the guests as they arrived, and at 9 o'clock a grand march was formed in which the maskers were reviewed by the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Mr. and Mrs. C. Furneaux, Mr. and Mrs. Stobie, Mr. and Mrs. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Patten, Mrs. Jules Richardson and Miss Harriet Hitchcock. Lovely gowns were seen upon the floor, and a variety of elaborate and ridiculous costumes showed the skill exercised in their preparation.

Among the characters represented by the masqueraders were Mrs. Katzenjammer (Mrs. E. D. Baldwin) and her two fractious twins, who proved a mirth-provoking trio in makeup and antics. Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Elliot acted the part of these lively pair of youngsters. Sis Hopkins' twins, portrayed by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Metcalfe, were equally as funny. The Sunday Examiner, by G. H. Gere, with Mrs. Gere as the Supplement, were original and unique in design. Miss Ruth Guard as a Daisy and Miss Sumner as a Sunflower were dainty in costumes representing those flowers. Miss Emilie Peck, as a Spring Violet, was an artistic creation of loveliness. Mrs. Henry Hayes as a Bumble Bee in black draperies was a buzzing reality. Miss Genevieve Venable made a diaphanous mermaid of the sea, while Miss Florence Scott was a pretty traveling Gipsy maid. Little Miss Marguerite Shipman made a picturesque Lady Gainsborough, while other characters presented were: Dresden lady, Mrs. W. T. Balding; Quaker maid, Miss Esther Lyman; Turkish girl, Miss Sarah Lyman; the Carmine Quartette, Misses Eaton, Schmidt and Weight and William Weight; Puritan maids, Miss Minna Ahrens and Miss Ruth Richardson; Colonial Dames, Misses Shipman, Lishman, Richardson, Hapai, Harriet Hapai and Louisa Hapai; Geisha Girls, Messrs. Other guests not masked were, Miss Harriet Hitchcock, Miss Aiken, Messrs. E. D. Baldwin, Stobie, J. J. Grace, Chalmers and Holland.

SPRING FEVER

Spring Fever is considered a joke—when someone else has it—but the condition is in reality no joke. Spring Fever is one of the terms applied to that general relaxed condition of the system which is so common at this season. It indicates, as a rule, a loss of vitality and a disordered condition of the blood. An effective remedy should be promptly used, because this condition readily becomes chronic. Our

THE CAUSE OF RUSSIA'S INTERNAL TRIBULATIONS

Oppression, Bad Crops and Low Wages Responsible for Russia's Domestic Difficulties—Business of the Country Ruined by Strikes and Ravages of War—Riots and Disorder Prevalent in the Country Districts.

Affairs in Poland are in a desperate state of unrest and uncertainty, says Josef Zinovieff in the Washington (D. C.) Star, and just how bad they are or may become later nobody knows. In Warsaw anything may happen. The recent attempt to dynamite Baron Nolken, the Warsaw chief of police, struck terror to the hearts of the authorities, who regard it only as a first step in the direction of riots compared with which the sanguinary outbreaks of last January were harmless demonstrations.

Their fears are well grounded, for the leaders of the Polish socialistic revolutionary party, who organized the recent strikes, have decided on drastic methods. A special committee sitting in Warsaw has marked the names of officials who are to be assassinated. Dynamite bombs and pistols will be the chief weapons to be used. In the last few months 120,000 revolvers of English manufacture have been smuggled into Poland.

There now have been strikes in all the large centers and towns of Russian Poland, and some of these strikes are still going on. In the country the peasants are everywhere agitating for improved conditions of life, and as they number nearly four-fifths of the whole population of Russian Poland, their movements are exciting the liveliest apprehension of the authorities. Disorder prevails throughout Poland in every branch of trade and industry, and the business life of the country is almost at a standstill.

This unfortunate state of affairs is due to various causes. Among them are bad harvests, low wages, long hours of labor, oppression from petty officials, the war in the far east, and last, but not least, the fears of further mobilization. But the bloody riots and conflicts between the military and the people which disgraced Warsaw at the end of last January were precipitated by the similar happenings at St. Petersburg. The Warsaw disturbances which marked the beginning of the troubles in Poland constitute a lasting and burning disgrace to the Russian authorities, civil and military alike. They were begun by irresponsible schoolboys and continued by the "Hooligan" element of the city. The police could have nipped them in the bud had they wished to do so, but purposely desisted and the consequence was a three days' insurrection such as Warsaw had not experienced since the revolution of 1863.

A general strike had broken out in Warsaw, but the utmost quiet and order prevailed. The strikers maintained a perfectly correct attitude, seeking only by peaceable persuasion to get the shopkeepers to close their business houses in sympathy with the strike. There was no breach of the peace until one morning a crowd of schoolboys started to break the street lamps in a thoroughly systematic fashion. The police only looked on with amused indifference, and the boys had a beautiful time. Later, however, the "Hooligans" and criminals of the city, some 5,000 in number, began to emerge from their haunts and started to pillage and plunder shops and store and dwellings. Even then the police refrained from interference until the affair assumed alarming dimensions.

Then the military were summoned in hot haste, and infantry, artillery and brutal Cossacks started in with fierce eagerness to clear the streets and put down the rioting. They spared neither man, woman nor child. The crowds, which included many quiet and inoffensive citizens attracted there only by curiosity, were ruthlessly shot or sabered by the cavalry. Many hundreds of men and women were arrested. In two days order was restored, when the authorities committed a crime which it will be long before the citizens of Warsaw forget or forgive. They let loose upon the city a regiment of hussars, picked men, belonging to a body guard of the Czar.

Uncontrolled by officers or sub-officers, these mounted ruffians swept through the streets of the city, shooting, slashing, cutting, riding down every body they met. Nobody was safe from their violence. Innocent passersby and little children who sought refuge in shops and doorways fell before their swords. Revolting tales are current of their bloody deeds. A credible witness, who visited two hospitals, declared that it was pitiable to see the number of young children brought into the wards, mutilated by the sabers of these hussars. When at last these uniformed butchers had been withdrawn the authorities were able to take stock of the situation.

The official list of dead contained 400 names. As for the wounded, their number could not be ascertained, and indeed will never be known. The wounded were cruelly beaten in the prisons by the infuriated police and soldiers. Dark tales are told of men and women being flogged to death and their bodies buried within the precincts of the jails.

A great general strike followed this reign of terror. Trade after trade and industry after industry was drawn into the movement. One day the shoemakers struck, and on the next the bank clerks, domestic servants and policemen, railway men and tramway drivers and conductors, gas men and iron molders, bookkeepers and street sweepers, all joined the army of strikers. Some strikes lasted only a few minutes, others continued for weeks. Now nearly all are over, but they have been settled upon a false basis and peace cannot last long. The employers gave in all along the line and granted the strikers higher wages, shorter hours and almost every other concession they demanded. The railway employees got a nine-hour day and the bank clerks are to have a month's holiday every year. No demand seemed too unreasonable to be granted. But, with the business of the country almost ruined by the war, how is it possible for merchants and manufacturers to continue such extraordinary concessions for any length of time? It is evident that they only yielded to obtain peace, but it is certain that new and more serious troubles are not far off. Already there are ominous signs of new strikes. In some instances the employers have found that the new labor basis is impossible, while in other cases the dread of mobilization is causing the workers to come out of the factories.

But, although from the labor standpoint the cities and towns are quieter, the country districts are seething with troubles. In every direction the peasants are striking. Higher wages, shorter hours, pasture and forest rights, and the use of Polish language instead of the Russian in village affairs—these are among the varied demands of the 7,000,000 peasants in Poland. Hitherto they have kept quiet, much to the relief of the authorities. But socialistic agitators have been busy and their efforts have met with success. The peasant is slow to move, but once started it is difficult to hold him back. The Russian authorities realize this, and are much more concerned over the present agitation than over all the ordinary labor strikes which have yet taken place.

Of all the peasants' demands, the most important relates to the language question. The peasants have discovered that there is nothing in the law against the use of Polish in local government affairs, and they bitterly resent the action of the petty Russian officials in forcing their language upon them to the exclusion of the peasants' mother tongue. Only the other day a peasant was waiting his turn in a village post office, and hearing that the official at the window was unable to give a customer change, volunteered to lend him some small coins. The official whom he was trying to oblige promptly fined him three roubles ($1.50) for speaking Polish in a government office. The peasant felt none the less aggrieved when he remembered that the aforesaid fine would go into the pocket of the official. Such an incident is by no means uncommon and does not tend to promote pleasant relations between the peasants and the Russian local official world.

Appropriations for School Houses.

Honolulu, May 8.—On second reading of the loan appropriation bill, the Senate moved to raise the Hilo government building item from $42,000 to $50,000. Lost. North Kona got $8,000 for a courthouse and jail, and Maui and Kauai $25,000 each for public buildings. The item of $300,000 for extension of the Honolulu wharf system passed as in the bill.

The item of educational buildings in Oahu caused a very long discussion and was finally passed at $28,000 and later increased to $30,000.

Brown moved to insert an item of $20,000 for the Hilo high school. Carried.

Educational buildings on Hawaii were another source of trouble and after much wrangling passed at $22,000.

The Maui educational buildings passed at $13,000 without a murmur, but on motion to reconsider by Dickey was raised to $20,000.

The Kauai buildings found a warm defender in Gandall, who succeeded after much opposition in getting the item raised from $9,000 to $28,350.

Debility

Perhaps you eat enough, yet you do not get much benefit from your food. You keep thin and weak; are tired all the time, and your nerves are in a bad way. Why not strengthen your digestion and get rid of your debility?

Read these words from Mrs. E. G. Munro, of Colberg, Victoria. Mrs. Munro also sends her photograph. "I suffered greatly with indigestion and debility for a long time. Sleep did not refresh me, and I was in a very bad state. One of my friends strongly recommended Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after a good deal of hesitation I made up my mind to try it. To my great surprise, I had not taken out half a bottle before I felt greatly improved in every way. I only took three bottles, and I can now honestly say that I am entirely free from all my old troubles, and consider myself perfectly cured. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is certainly a wonderful blood medicine."
