FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1900.

The opening of King street marks an advance in plague conditions. The opening of Nuuanu, will, it is hoped, soon follow. We have a clean town in that part of the city and traffic which has been so much congested will be able to roll along its usual channels relieving many other parts of the town.

The case of the half starved Chinese calls attention to a serious matter. Some means must be found for giving people shelter. It is suggested that there is a large tent in the city and that at small expense it might be erected on some vacant space and used as a night shelter. The Salvation Army officers would be very proper people to undertake this phase of relief work.

PUBLIC FUNDS.

Attorney-General Cooper has given an elaborate opinion upon the national expenditures which will have to be made in default of a new appropriation by the Legislature. The appropriation for salaries and pay rolls, the Attorney-General considers runs on unchanged. The people who will suffer are those where money was voted by the last Legislature in excess of the current needs, and an increase of staff has been warranted by the surplus saved. The School department will probably feel it most, though it has already had its effect on the Custom House.

Under current expenses there is really more difficulty. There is provision for carrying on in default of legislative action, but the Attorney-General does not consider items for specific purposes are re-enacted. He does not think that the "pro rata" clause to monthly expenditures applies to the first three months of the current year, but that if any department spends more than its pro rata during the months of January, February and March, it will be limited to a one twenty-first part of the balance monthly, during the remaining twenty-one months of the period.

Warrants which have been issued for payments before December 31, but not presented till later are considered payable, the act of drawing the warrant being practically the payment of the Government debt.

The Attorney-General's opinion is very clear and will be coincided in by all who give the matter a thought. It is a very serious position to be placed in not to have a money voting power, and it is well that we have machinery that will pass us through.

A GOOD IDEA.

A practical suggestion growing out of the work done for the plague, may take root and flourish and alleviate a great deal of suffering. The proposal is made to utilize the building, which has been used as a hospital for the Kerosene detention camp, for a permanent home for incurables, principally for incurable consumptives. The idea is not to establish a sanitarium or anything of that kind, the location would be unsuitable for such a purpose, but it would be perfectly suitable as a place in which the unfortunate might await death, and be properly taken care of during his few remaining days or weeks upon earth.

The Star has again and again urged that some step would be taken in this direction, and now there seems to be a practicable way of meeting the position. The necessity of such a home is no theoretical idea. It has been made evident to the city by many distressing cases, where people, almost at the point of death, have had no place to die in, even though they had means enough to pay for accommodation.

If the government will supply the building, private benevolence may be depended upon to keep the institution running. It ought not to be a very expensive affair, and in many cases, patients would be amply able to pay. The next legislature might also give a grant in aid. If the institution is taken in hand by a few vigorous and determined people, it will succeed beyond a doubt, and one more step in advance will have been made.

But along with such an institution we should be careful how consumptives are allowed to enter our Islands. Our business is to take care of our own cases, not to take care of cases from the outside world, if it is possible to avoid it. We guard carefully against a person with plague, with small-pox or cholera being brought from abroad and thrown upon the community, but we do not guard against consumptives coming in shoals should they be so inclined, and yet more people are carried off by consumption than there are by any of the above diseases. The world needs to meet the question of consumption, for it takes its baleful toll from every race and in every clime.

Medical journals have preached the contagiousness of consumption for years, and there is one special thing to be noted, viz: that consumption is much more contagious in warm countries than it is in cold. That is a matter that should be a warning to us. But laymen don't, as a rule read medical journals, and it is hard to make the public realize how contagious tuberculosis is. It may be stated as an incontrovertible fact that thousands of deaths occur annually from consumption unnecessarily and are the results of ignorance and carelessness. In the three countries Russia, France and Germany over half a million of people die annually from consumption. In the United States over 100,000 are carried off annually and the number is ever on the increase.

We have, therefore, before us, two problems. One to keep consumption out, by not allowing consumptive patients to land and the other, to combat the disease by segregating it as much as possible. These are totally apart from the proposal made about the hospital at the Kerosene warehouse. The latter only requires a little cash and energy, with the permission of the executive to use the building. The former will require legislative action in all probability. But legislatures throughout the world will soon be taking such matters into consideration, for the question of tuberculosis gains ground daily as a practical thing to combat.

NOT REPRESENTATIVE.

When Messrs. Little and Cayless say they represent the American element of the Islands, they are certainly stating what is not a fact, yet they have been vamping in this way before the congressional committee. However the men who make up congressional committees have large experience and quickly size up such characters as Messrs. Little and Cayless, so that their diatribes do not go for much, and their claims as representatives of Americans on the islands are very freely discounted.

To take Colonel Little, he is a new comer, who has built himself up a practice in Hilo. If he represents anything outside of Colonel Little, he represents a rabid section of that little town, which certainly is not the American element of the Islands, it does not even represent the American element of the Island of Hawaii alone, for the other districts of the Island distinctly denounce Hilo and all its works. That Colonel Little is looking for administrative leaves and fishes is much more to the point. In that he represents himself solely.

Cayless is still more of a new comer than Little. He certainly represents no American feeling. If he presented himself for any elective office, it is doubtful if he would poll a single American vote. His love for the Hawaiian is confined to what he hopes to get out of the Hawaiian. He does not speak Hawaiian, has not been here long enough to understand the Hawaiian character, and if the name of this lover of the race were mentioned to any half dozen Hawaiians taken haphazard, their reply would be a stare and "aole ike." It is odd how men will arrogate to themselves claims to fill a position that they have not a tittle of right to. However, they have been heard and have succeeded in showing the committee that Hawaii has its share of adventurers like any other city.

NOT TO THE RICH.

There must be a depressing influence in New England air, or things are not going comfortably in New Bedford, and yet that city is getting well to the fore with its manufacturing industries, and this after its main support, the whaling industry had gone by the board. As a fact New Bedford is more prosperous now than ever it was in the whaling days of fifty years ago.

The New Bedford Republican Standard says: "You can go today into any public school in this city and see boys who have not as good a chance as other boys who sit beside them simply because they have not as good a start and as good conditions under which to work for advancement. No doubt some of these boys with poor chances will come out fifty years from today far better than some other boys who have good chances, but even then ambition and energy will have to be reckoned along with changing conditions. Say what we may about the chance for everybody, hundreds of boys are born into circumstances which materially modify that chance."

This reads oddly from the source, from which it comes. It might come from a radical paper in England, from a Nihilistic paper in Russia, or a socialist paper in the Fatherland, but a confession of this kind from New England is surprising.

With far more aristocratic prejudices one must challenge this bit of pessimism. It may be true that he who is born to a moderate share of this world's means has a chance, but he has no particularly extra chance against the man who is determined to get on. In nine cases out of ten the fact of having family influence and wealth dwarfs the efforts of the rising man. The men of "family," as we are pleased to call them, become bureaucrats. The men who are self made become leaders. It may be true that hundreds of men get a good chance simply by force of circumstances, but it is equally true that other hundreds break down those barriers and rise to the highest positions, and of this the Senate and House of Representatives, the army and the navy all show cases very strongly in point.

MORE MORMON MISSIONS

MISSIONARY ACTIVITY HERE IS RENEWED.

Three Disciples of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young Arrived by the Moana—Faith and the Works.

The church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints whose missionary work in these islands began nearly fifty years ago and which claims a membership here of about 6,000 souls, has lately renewed activity in its propaganda.

By the Moana three missionaries arrived to preach the faith, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Pendleton, and Ira L. Wilson. Just what part of the islands they will be sent to labor in has not yet been determined and will not be until the quarantine is raised, so that consultation can be had with the headquarters at Laie. It is probable however, that for a time they will labor at Laie. For the present they are residing on Punchbowl street near the Mormon church.

Mr. Wilson came here from Dublin, in the Mexican state of Chihuahua, where he has been for several years among the Mormon colonists of that region. This fact brings out an interesting feature of the spread of Mormonism which Brigham Young began a system of colonization in 1876, planting his first colonies in Arizona and New Mexico, and he predicted at that time that Mormon colonists would spread into Mexico and Canada. Though there were many among his people whose faith could hardly rise to this view, the prophecy has already been verified.

There are already extensive colonies in the states of Sonora and Chihuahua according to Mr. Wilson these colonies are not so much the result of the organized effort of the church to secure colonies as the direct effect of the church's doctrine of the latter day gathering of Israel acting on the individual mind and conscience, prompting converts made in different parts of the world to separate themselves from the unbelievers and gather in communities where their faith is held. The result of this colonization is to create new centers of missionary zeal and interest.

The missionary methods of the Mormons are somewhat different from those of many other religious denominations. The church authorities ask these individuals or if they are willing to undertake missionary work in this place or that. If they are, they are sent like the disciples of old, "without purse or scrip". They provide their own means both for getting to their field of labor and of supporting themselves while in the field. In places where the missionary does not have to learn a new language two or three years is considered a term of missionary labor, and having served it the missionary is at liberty to return to his ordinary avocation in life, though there is no compulsion to go as a missionary at all, except the dictate of the individual conscience. Where a new language is to be learned, the ordinary term of missionary labor is four or five years.

The Mormon missionaries come to the native Hawaiians, among whom most of their converts in these islands have been made, with a doctrine peculiarly attractive to some minds. It is that the Hawaiians in common with the aborigines of America are descendants of ancient Israel to whom the promises given to Abraham and Isaac and Jacob are still vital and efficacious. Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton are from Coalville, Utah, and this is their first foreign missionary venture. Mrs. Pendleton will probably become a teacher among the Hawaiian children at Laie. As to the doctrine of polygamy, these missionaries say it is now neither preached nor practiced among the Mormons.

MCKINLEY'S RUNNING MATE.

The suggestion of Gov. Scofield of Wisconsin for second place on the McKinley ticket will never do. The Governor has no liking for the imperialist policy.—Springfield Republican.

If Mr. Platt doesn't like the Bliss entry, what will Jockey Hanna do? Fall back on Teddy in spite of his protestations.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Secretary Root declines to be a candidate for Vice President on the plea that he is needed in the office of Secretary of War. Mr. Root evidently had a tip that Hanna and Platt were "agin" him.—St. Joseph Gazette.

Mr. McKinley is quoted as saying that he had no choice for vice president but that the nominee is a big enough man to be president if need be. How big a man does Mr. McKinley think is needed for the job?—Telluride Journal.

Cornelius Bliss declares he is offended by the persistent use of his name as candidate for second place on the ticket with McKinley. This is not flattering to the latter, to say the least.—Helena Independent.

After a little while the public man will feel that he is dropping out of public notice whose name has not been mentioned as candidate for the vice presidency.—Baltimore American.

Now Mr. Bliss says he has no vice presidential aspirations whatsoever. It is up to Teddy again.—Boston Herald.

Perhaps Root declines a nomination for vice president because he fears if elected, he might be deputed, like Hobart was, to coax some scandal breeding member of the cabinet into private life.—Kansas City Times.

EVER MEET JIMSON?

BUILDINGS IN BLOCK 19

LOVE BLOCK TO BE SET OFF BY RAT FENCE.

Occupants Moved Out for the Present. Club Stables' Arrangements—Plans of Other People.

Fencing in of the block behind the old Pantheon has brought about no end of inconvenience to business people in it. The club stables and Ed. A. Williams have been forced to move out hastily. Gonsalves, the photographer, has moved most of his pictures home. Lam Sing, the grocer, will go out of business for the present.

On the upper floor of the Love block are the Bank Studio, Scottish Thistle club, Wall Bros., Hawaiian Trading Company, Prof. Cook, Dr. Seapone, Dr. Lucas and John Egan, nearly all of whom have moved and are seeking temporary offices elsewhere. The Wall brothers, dentists, have moved to the Day block in Beretania street.

Down stairs in the same building are Thomas Lindsay, Jeweler; Dairymen's Association, Mrs. Naphthaly, milliner; H. H. Williams, undertaker; Lindsay and Mrs. Naphthaly have moved to their respective homes. The Dairymen's Association has bought out Turner & Hawkins and moved to the old Van Dorn premises on lower Fort street. Williams will let his furniture remain where it is to be fumigated.

His horses and teams have been taken to the American stables near the corner of Merchant and Richards where they are temporarily quartered. Contractor Russell will build the fence around the rear of the Love block. After the stores have been fumigated and it is shown that there is no danger of rats getting into them from the rear the block will undoubtedly be permitted to open its front. It is one of the most sanitary buildings in the country and is so constructed that it can easily be made absolutely rat proof.

The Club Stables Company is erecting a temporary structure on the Bowler lot at the corner of Richards and Merchant streets for its horses. The animals will be moved there this afternoon. All the rigs will be left on the upper floor of the stables for fumigation.

PREPARED FOR THE WORST. "I had a cheerful experience the other day," remarked a gentleman who had spent several days at one of the springs for rheumatism.

"What was it?" asked an observer. "I was carried into a depot near the springs and deposited on a seat near an old lady, who looked at me with a complacent smile and inquired: 'Been hurt?'"

"No," I replied. "Rhumattiz?" "Yes." "Water do you any good?" "Not much."

"Well, lots of people come here for the water. The patient returns home and the papers announce that Mr. So-and-So has returned from the springs much improved by the use of the water, but if you read the papers in a few days you will see that Mr. So-and-So has died and been buried." The conversation was too cheerful to be continued.—Columbus Dispatch.

The finance statement for December 1899 appears in this issue.

Plans are making this afternoon to open the public schools on Monday.

"Headache" is quick and efficient, adds comfort to life. Hobron Drug Co. see it.

Dr. A. C. & E. Wall have found new offices in the Day building on Beretania street.

Surgeon General Wyman has forwarded 1500 more vials of plague specific to Honolulu.

Only two Commissioners of Education showed up yesterday afternoon so there was no meeting.

W. Johnson, formerly of the custom house, has taken a position as ship pilot clerk for Hyman Bros.

The Holt house in Punchbowl street in which Hartman was ill with the plague was burned yesterday.

Joseph Marsden will organize on the coast a company to grow Sumatra wrapper tobacco on the island of Hawaii.

Choice of three best makes of typewriters can be purchased at Wall Nichols Company. Monthly payments if desired.

The office of the Honolulu Steam Laundry during quarantine will be located at the new J. X. L. store in the Day block on Beretania street.

Judge Stanley this morning heard argument in the case of George Paris vs. N. W. Griswold and J. M. McChesney, specific performance. Decision reserved.

Colonel Ruhlen has no orders today. He did not even receive news of transports. Previous letters said that horse transports would probably all go to Hilo.

The Minister of the Interior asks for tenders for the construction of a Pump House at Kalihi. Bids will be received until noon Monday February 12, 1906.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Woodlawn Fruit Co., Ltd., is called for Thursday, February 15th, at the office of M. W. McChesney & Son at 11 a. m.

Charles F. Herrick, for so long head clerk in the office of the Superintendent of Public Works, has left government employ to accept a position with Gus Schuman.

A man who reported at the police station last night that he had seen the plague sitting in his veranda says this morning that he merely reported the matter on behalf of a client.

The reading room of the Y. M. C. A. opened this morning. Next Monday afternoon the Board of Health will consider the matter of opening the gymnasium and educational classes.

One of J. T. Taylor's new maps of Oahu has been placed in the Interior office. It is up to date, showing the land recently acquired by the central government for army and navy purposes.

The Inter-Island Steamship company is putting in a pair of scales near its office on the water front. Many scales will be needed on the water front when it becomes necessary to weigh all the coal that is imported.

The Board of Health has approved of the movement of the Citizens' Sanitary Committee fixing Thursday and Friday next as days set apart for general rat killing. Regulations regarding the same will appear in tomorrow's issue.

More Japanese are being released from the drill shed camp today. Yesterday afternoon a fence was built around the pile of personal effects on the grounds near the enclosure. Each Japanese is provided with a certificate of release from quarantine.

The Board of Health this morning looked over Iwilei district, specially examining the Honolulu steam laundry and the flame from dumping dirty water into the swamp back of the prison. The matter will be discussed and acted upon at the meeting this afternoon.

At this morning's session of the Cabinet it was decided that the matter of destroying the goods in the Aala warehouses be deferred until the next mail from the coast, as instructions from Washington in regard to extraordinary appropriations by the Council of State are expected.

QUALIFIED APPRAISER. "I am afraid you don't appreciate popularity at its full value." "I ought to be able to," rejoined Senator Sorghum. "I have paid enough for it."—Washington Star.

NEW RAT KILLER.

Mr. Thurston has a new rat poisoning scheme. It was presented by him and Mr. Ballou to the Board of Health this morning and adopted. It differs from the former project in that the poison will be secreted in paste in a small bowl on a piece of wood, in place of in meat, as at first suggested. Benson, Smith & Company agree to make the paste attractive to the terrible rodent and the poison powerful enough to kill him.

Small blocks of wood will be used. The bowl in the tops of these blocks will be quite small and the quantity of paste enough for a few rats only. It will take 20,000 of these blocks to fill the bill. This will be six cords of wood. As before it is proposed to set apart a certain day upon which the inspectors will distribute the little blocks beneath every house in the city. Next day will be given to burying dead rats. At the meeting of the Board of Health this morning it was decided to prohibit in a positive way trespassing upon infected premises or premises that have been burned on account of plague. This action was necessitated by the frequent trespassing of persons with passes upon the ashes of burned Chinatown. A fine of $100 goes with the order and arrests may begin from today.

FOR THE DESTITUTE. The destitute and homeless are provided for at Relief Camp No. 1, on Punchbowl near Queen street. Theodore Richards asks that citizens finding Japanese or Chinese wanderers about at night, homeless, will send them there, where they can be taken care of.
