DEATH SENTENCE ON TWO MEN

Geo. Ferris and Kimura
Given Last Penalty
For Murder.

UNAVAILING EFFORTS TO DEFER SENTENCES

ATTORNEY REYNOLDS CONTENTS
LONG FOR COURT TO AWAIT
MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OF FERRIS.

"The judgment and sentence of this court is that you, George Ferris, be hanged by the neck until you be dead, and may God have mercy on your soul. And it is the further order of the court that you be committed to the custody of the High Sheriff for the execution of this sentence."

This was the last penalty of the law passed upon George Ferris for killing John Watson on the 16th of April last, by Judge Gear this morning.

Sentence came after a strenuous effort by C. F. Reynolds, the prisoner's attorney, for deferring it until after the hearing of the motion for a new trial. The court's reason for refusing delay was the fact that the August term as extended closes tomorrow, consequently there was liability of justice being defeated through the prolongation proceedings.

The death sentence was also passed on Kimura, Japanese, for the murder of a woman of the same nationality at Waiialua. In this case also there was an unavailing effort for delay.

After some civil matters had been disposed of, at the opening of court, Judge Gear called George Ferris to appear for sentence. Mr. Reynolds arose to say that as the motion for a new trial went over until tomorrow, he would ask that sentence be deferred until then. Deputy Attorney General Cathcart, being asked if he had anything to say regarding the request, could not see that sentence affected the motion for a new trial.

Judge Gear proceeded to address the prisoner, telling he had been given his constitutional right of a trial that, so far as the court knew, had been a fair trial. He then asked the usual question, "Have you anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon you?"

Mr. Reynolds intervened and asked for a hearing of the motion for a new trial before sentence. "If your Honor should hear the motion and see fit to grant a new trial, the duty of passing sentence on this defendant would not devolve upon you. Out of justice to the defendant I beg of you first to hear the motion," said Mr. Reynolds, and to the court's reminder that the term closed tomorrow, he said he would be ready to go on with the motion tomorrow as early as he could bring his witnesses. There might be reasons presented of sufficient potency to induce His Honor to grant a new trial. In answer to a further remark about the possible consequence of delay, Mr. Reynolds said the motion would not take long and if the points raised should require deliberation by the court, then sentence might be passed before the motion was decided. He thought he could guarantee that the motion would not take the whole morning session.

Mr. Cathcart, being asked for his opinion, had nothing to say.

Judge Gear, replying to a remark by defendant's counsel about haste, said he certainly was not disposed to hurry him and had not hurried him at any time.

Mr. Reynolds next tried to have the motion set for 2 o'clock this afternoon, promising he would try to be ready, and begged the court to defer sentence till that hour. He was reminded that the motion had already been continued from Thursday morning, the time originally set. In reply he asked if there was any danger of justice being defeated.

Judge Gear stated that the prosecution had the right to present counter affidavits. Counsel could keep the motion going till the very last moment of the term.

ROSEHILL WAS WATCHED

JAPANESE GUARDED
MARCUS WITH CARE

KEPT TRACE OF EVERY MOVE-MENT OF ROSEHILL AND WHALEN'S PASSENGERS.
FOLLOWED CLOSELY.

Captain Rosehill is much surprised at the amount of newspaper notoriety which his Marcus Island expedition has given him. It is especially the wild yarns about his having instructions to land on that island by force of arms, which seem very entertaining to the captain.

An item in the Japan Weekly Gazette, Aug. 30, which paper was brought here by the Doric yesterday, was shown the captain this morning. The item ran in part as follows: "If objections were offered to Captain Rosehill's landing, he was to explain his purpose in visiting the island and to land unless forcibly prevented. In that case he was to sail out of sight, and, under cover of night, return to the other side of the island, leave three men in charge of the schooner and with the rest of the crew armed with Mauser rifles, make a landing, establish a camp, raise the American flag and maintain it until it was torn down by superior force."

"I would have been a great fool if I had done that," said Captain Rosehill this morning after reading that item. "First of all the Japanese had a superior force of trained soldiers and secondly, even if I had been able to overpower them and been able to establish a camp by main force it would have done a great deal of harm as it would only have led to serious complications. Besides that it would have been impossible for us to land on the island at any time, day or night, without being noticed by the Japanese. They kept a very close watch on the schooner. In the mornings when I ran up to the island there would always be some Japanese around on the beach. Whenever I would lie in the daytime there would always be a Japanese sitting on the beach. He would always have a fishing pole and be ostensibly engaged in fishing but it was clear that he was there to keep watch on the vessel. I also heard from the scientists who were staying ashore that the Japanese watched day and night. There are only a few places on the island where a landing can be effected and these places were strictly guarded by pickets day and night. If I should have attempted to land with force of arms in the face of this the soldiers could have picked off every man in the boat before we got near the shore."

VOLCANO HAS AGAIN STARTED UP FIRES

The steamer Helene, which arrived in port from Hilo yesterday, brings the news that the Volcano on Wednesday night broke out again after a period of inactivity of about two days.

On Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock, just before the steamer left Hilo, one of the passengers on the Helene got a telephone message from a friend who was staying at the Volcano, stating that the Volcano had just burst forth and showed more activity than ever before. Large blocks of rock were being hurled high in the air and the display was very grand. All the members of the Helene's excursion were enthusiastic over the sight.

DR. JENNER ON FASHION

From its title, this lecture should be very interesting, especially to the ladies. It will be both entertaining and full of fun, at the same time, the serious side of the question will not be neglected. The lecture will not only be a good humored criticism of the fashions prevailing, but it will also include a resume of some of the most extraordinary freaks of fashion in the days that are past. Altogether, the lecture should be full of sound sense and science, and should draw a crowded house; especially when it is remembered that the Doctor's world-wide experience of men and manners, and his lucid style of dealing with things in general, makes him just the very man to treat such a subject in an entertaining and humorous manner.

Chamber of Commerce, Merchants and Planters' Associations Present Their Memorials to the Commission--Bankers on Financial Conditions.

The Senatorial Commission met this morning at 9:30 o'clock for the purpose of hearing memorials from the Planters' Association, the bankers of the city and the Merchants' Association. Among those present in the room were the following: W. G. Irwin, F. M. Swamy, Cecil Brown, J. G. Spencer, J. H. Catton, W. W. Dimond, Geo. W. Smith, F. W. Macfarlane, W. W. Hall, F. A. Schaefer, C. M. Cooke, Alex. Isenbergs, James Wakefield, J. F. Humburg, Delegate Robert Wilcox, W. O. Smith, J. F. McCrossen, Senator Thurston, F. M. Hatch, Judge Silliman, Bruce Cartwright, R. W. Breckons, R. Purman, E. S. Boyd and D. G. Camarinos.

Mr. Irwin, representing the Chamber of Commerce, stated that that body knowing that several of the large business associations were intending to present memorials and not a few of the members of these bodies belonged also to the Chamber of Commerce, it had been decided by this body to present a paper afterwards, touching on matters already brought out and some not dealt with yet.

PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION PRESENTS LABOR PROBLEM.

Statement concerning the Hawaiian Labor Supply, presented to the honorable members of the Commission of the United States Senate, on behalf of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, September 12, 1902.

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association is made up of the sugar planting corporations and sugar plantation owners of the Territory, and its object is to make improvements in the manufacture of sugar and to attend to all matters relating to the interest of the sugar industry in these Islands. A board of nine trustees attends to the business of the Association, and it is by this board that the following representations are made:

The number of plantations on the Islands is fifty-two, of which number forty-six are fitted out with their own independent facilities.

Capital and Labor.
The total amount of capital invested in these plantations is about $56,000,000, and the amount of taxes paid annually by these plantations to the Territorial government is about $690,000.

The number of persons at present employed in cane cultivation and manufacture is about 38,500.

Last season's sugar crop was 360,038 tons, and the number of tons which have been shipped this season so far is about 300,000.

Our sugar is shipped either by direct steamer or sailing vessel to New York, by steamer or sailing vessel to San Francisco and thence by the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. to New York, or it is shipped to San Francisco for use in the California refineries.

The carrying of sugar to New York by long sea voyages is largely conducted by the American-Hawaiian S. S. Co. This company, which is the pioneer company of American built cargo boats, owes its origin to the sugar industry of these Islands. The company's fleet consists of seven steamers of an aggregate tonnage of 65,000 tons.

There is engaged in the carriage of our sugar to California a large fleet of American steamers and sailing vessels. These few statistics serve to show the magnitude of the sugar business, the success or failure of which depends so largely an extent on a sufficient supply of labor. For field labor in Hawaii a large proportion of Japanese and Chinese are an absolute necessity, in so far as no other class of labor is procurable to any great extent.

Immigration Necessary.
Here reference is made to the indigenous laboring population of other countries and reference is made to the tendency of the native population here which is not towards field work. This made immigration necessary. So far as Europeans and Americans are concerned they have, with one exception, been found unfitted for tropical field work. Continuing, the report says:

Chinese Labor.
The impossibility of securing a sufficient supply of Hawaiian or other laborers able to endure the work in cane fields forced the planters of these Islands into a reliance on China or Japan for necessary supply. The Chinese have always proved themselves to be a law-abiding, docile and industrious people, but the United States exclusion laws shut out this nationality from Hawaii as soon as annexation became an accomplished fact, and our sole dependence is now placed in Japan for such intermittent supply of labor as is attracted hither by the certainty of improved conditions.

Since annexation, the difficulty of securing an adequate supply of field labor for sugar plantations has been enormous. Chinese are absolutely prohibited, and but few Japanese come, while at the same time numbers of Chinese and Japanese leave the Islands monthly.

To show just what the conditions are in this respect it may be stated that from August 1, 1901, to June 3, 1902, 5352 Japanese men arrived in the country and 2880 left the country, making the total increase in that period only 2472, and that of Chinese 188 men arrived and 1418 left, making a net increase of 1238, so there was a total increase in the Japanese and Chinese population of only 1242, not including women, which number are not necessarily field laborers alone.

Here the report refers to unsuccessful attempts at securing labor from other countries. Ewa plantation is mentioned as having experimented unsuccessfully with American farmers. At present, Japan is the only source of labor supply.

Coffee and Rice.
Coffee is touched upon and rice is put down as another industry affected by the stoppage of Chinese from entering the country. The report concludes as follows:

Hawaii and Mainland.
The arguments commonly used against Chinese immigration are so well known that it is unnecessary to repeat them, or even to refer to them further than to say that while they may be good when applied to the Mainland, they cannot with justice be applied to Hawaii. Laws and regulations which cover all the conditions existing on the Mainland do not of necessity fit our conditions, and we urgently and with all deference would ask that the excellent laws and regulations of the United States be so modified for Hawaii, not only in respect to labor matters, but in many other respects, that this country may not suffer by their application.

We fully appreciate the immense amount of work with which Congress has had to deal since these Islands became an integral part of the great Republic of the United States, and we know how difficult it has been for members of the Senate and House of Representatives to find time to study the conditions prevailing here in Hawaii, but now that you gentlemen have favored us with this most welcome visit, we feel that the conditions and needs of this outlying Territory will be more perfectly understood, and that we may reasonably expect to have accorded to us permission to avail ourselves of an assured labor supply.

Bear in Mind.
We would respectfully ask that in considering this question, and in laying it before others, you bear the following few facts in mind:

1. The industries on which these Islands depend for their commercial existence are sugar and rice, but mainly sugar.
2. The shipping, the extent and value of our purchases on the Mainland, the well-being of our merchants, professional men and mechanics depends either directly or indirectly on these industries.
3. The success of these industries depends on an adequate and reliable supply of laborers.
4. There is practically no indigenous population to draw field labor from.
5. Apart from the impossibility of procuring American laborers in sufficient numbers, they cannot and will not work in tropical cane fields.
6. If by reason of these Islands not having a sufficient labor supply, or if the full protection of the tariff is curtailed, our industries will naturally suffer as will the trade of the Mainland with us; a trade by the way which is the largest enjoyed by Mainland manufacturers and traders with any country of the size of the Territory of Hawaii.

So far as the labor situation is concerned, we respectfully submit these six points, or facts, cover the ground, and we believe that when you have studied the conditions prevailing here you will thoroughly agree in their accuracy.

Respectfully submitted,
Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association
by its President,
W. G. IRWIN.
by its Secretary,
WILLIAM O. SMITH,
Honolulu, Sept. 12, 1902.

Coffee information wanted.
When Mr. Swamy had completed the reading of the memorial, Senator Burton began asking about the coffee industry in the country. In answer to a question, Mr. Swamy stated that the coffee growers and he himself were in favor of a tariff on coffee.

Senator Burton said he wanted to secure definite information. He wanted to know the extent to which the industry could be developed. Could the country in ten or fifteen years produce enough coffee to supply the whole of the United States of there could be a tariff here. Continuing, Senator Burton said: "If enough coffee were raised here and we introduced a tariff, we would be protecting a home industry. One of our party's principles is protection when it is shown that by protection an industry can be built up."

Mr. Swamy answered that it was very hard to get up any statistics as to the possible output is concerned. The whole thing depended on labor. If there was sufficient labor, enough coffee might be raised. Until such conditions are brought about it was not likely that people would engage in the raising of coffee.

Senator Burton asked if there was any organized labor in the country and if there was such would this organized labor object to the importation of Chinese labor under restrictions.

Swamy—Not only would skilled labor not be injured but it will be greatly assisted. Work Chinese laborers do gives work to the white men.

Laobers Well Treated.
Burton—Is it true that laborers who come here are mistreated?
Swamy—Any statement that laborers are treated badly here is absolutely and unqualifiedly false. There is no differ-

FEDERAL JURY CALLED

APPEALS GO FORWARD TO SAN FRANCISCO

1,000-PAGE TRANSCRIPT IN HONO-
LULU PLANTATION CO. CASE.
TWO MORE VOTERS ARE MADE.

The following is the panel of trial jurors for the October term of the United States District Court, ordered to appear on Tuesday, the 14th day of October:

J. S. Andrade, M. Phillips, Joseph F. Clyne, M. G. Silva, Albion F. Clarke, A. W. Pearson, H. M. Mott-Smith, Wentworth H. Buchanan, John R. Gilliland, S. Peck, Henry A. Giles, Herbert E. Gares, H. Cannon, Andrew T. Bannister, Walter F. Dillingham, Herbert P. Eakin, J. M. Camara, Arthur Berg, H. W. Green, C. H. Stace, F. W. Beardslee, James Steiner, Honolulu; Andrew Chalmers, W. von Graevenmeier, Hilo.

Gus Pearson, Sweden, and M. C. Pacheco, Portugal, were naturalized by Judge Estee this morning.

The Federal Court then adjourned until Wednesday next at 2 p. m.

Clerk Maling dispatched by the Doric the appeals in United States vs. Honolulu Plantation Co. and the Income Tax Act case, the former covering 1000 pages. He worked until 3 o'clock this morning on the transcripts and mailed the matter on board the steamer a few minutes before the gangway was drawn. The court is allowed to frank mail to the weight of four pounds in a package. The Honolulu Plantation Co. case was forwarded in two volumes.

SATURDAY YACHT RACE

Tomorrow will probably see one of the greatest events in local yachting that has been seen for many a day, namely, the race around Rabbit Island on the Koolau side and back to this port. The sailing distance is calculated to be about fifty miles, which will have to be made in nine hours. The yachts will run under the same conditions except that if the Dewey and the Hawaii go in they will get a time allowance of half an hour. While the wind which prevails at present is not favorable to the yachts, it is to be hoped that it will change, in which case there is every prospect of uncommonly good sport.

In the Police Court this morning the case of E. Mori, the Japanese cook who is charged with committing an assault and battery on Mrs. E. E. Hartman, had to be continued as Mrs. Hartman was not able to appear in court owing to the fact that she is as yet far from recovery from her injuries. It will probably take three weeks before she will be able to appear in court to testify against her murderous assailant.

Col. J. H. Fisher, secretary of the Rapid Transit Company, was the first officer of that concern to be asked regarding the rumors. He said there had been no purchase consummated, but admitted that the matter had been discussed. Further, he was strictly uncommunicative.

It is an established fact that negotiations have been pending for the purchase by the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company of the property of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, but the directors of the former in town today have decided that they are not in a position as yet to make public the particulars.

A commissioner of the Hawaiian Tramways Company is now in Honolulu. This gentleman forwarded a cablegram by the steamer Ventura this week to the directors of the company, recommending the sale of the company's property to the Rapid Transit Company.

Manager W. H. Pain of the Hawaiian Tramways Company is known to be opposed to selling out that corporation's interests.

STREET RAILWAY MERGER SCHEME

Rapid Transit Company
Buying Out Hawaiian
Tramways Co.

AGENT FROM LONDON
RECOMMENDS THE DEAL

RUMORED BASIS A QUARTER MIL-LION DOLLARS AS PRICE OF TRAMWAYS PLANT AND PRIVILEGES.

An end of the hitherto irrepressible street railway war within approaching distance was the soothing burden of discourse about town this forenoon.

The leading rumor was that the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Company had concluded a purchase of the interests of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, including plant and franchise, the consideration being a quarter million dollars ($250,000).

Another way of putting it was that the deal was of the nature of a merger, probably on the basis of a quarter million dollars valuation of the Hawaiian Tramways Company's property.

The capital stock in the combination would be merged on the basis of one share of Rapid Transit to four shares of Tramways, which is the same as par for par, the stock of the former being issued in shares of $100 each and that of the latter in shares of $25 each.

Col. J. H. Fisher, secretary of the Rapid Transit Company, was the first officer of that concern to be asked regarding the rumors. He said there had been no purchase consummated, but admitted that the matter had been discussed. Further, he was strictly uncommunicative.

It is an established fact that negotiations have been pending for the purchase by the Honolulu Rapid Transit Company of the property of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, but the directors of the former in town today have decided that they are not in a position as yet to make public the particulars.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

AGITATION COMMITTEE PRESENTS ITS CONCLUSIONS

DRAWN FROM QUESTIONS SENT OUT SOME TIME AGO REGARDING THE LIQUOR PROBLEM.

At the monthly meeting of the Anti-Saloon League held Thursday afternoon the following report of the Agitation Committee was presented:

Your Agitation Committee would present the following report as a result of the questions sent out during the past month:

Of about 300 letters, 200 to whites and 100 to Hawaiians, the answers to the total number were in the ratio of 25 per cent and 63 per cent respectively.

As to the character of the persons addressed, it may be said that they are of the conservative class of people, of the non-partisan, non-sectarian element.

To support this statement of ours by giving names or illustrations would be to betray the confidence reposed in us, and to break the promise which we made. No refusal to accept the value of these returns, based on uncertainty as to the character of the persons voting, can be valid as long as any importance is placed upon the value of reports of juries and grand juries on this or any other question, this jury of ours being four or five times as numerous and certainly as fairly drawn.

The comparatively small number of replies from white men seems to us to be significant either of apathy on the subject, or fear that an expression of opinion would commit or involve the writer; or, again, there might have been a wish to keep the question in the background for political reasons. These inferences seem to be fair and more likely to have been operative than positive antipathy to the Anti-Saloon League.

Deductions Made. The report of the answers previously published in The Friend will give rise to various conclusions. We would make the following deductions from it:

First—That the natives and the whites differ diametrically as to the influence of the saloon on drunkenness, illicit selling, and increased immorality in other directions resulting therefrom. We give it as our opinion that the natives are in a better position to judge of all of these things. Independent evidence corroborative of their view comes from other sources, that is, the report of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association and an item in the September Friend from Kona.

Second—We note that most of the argument and agitation on the liquor question has centered around interest in the natives. We would urge the reasonableness of the view that their opinion is worthy of consideration.

Contrary to Officials. Third—We would again call attention to the answers on a subject now receiving most of the popular attention, viz: the influence of the light wine and Primo saloons on the use of stronger drinks. Here the Hawaiians are overwhelmingly of the opinion that the use of strong drink has been promoted rather than decreased by the increase of these saloons. This is in the face of opinion to the contrary by prominent public officials in the town. It must be remembered that this native view represents a country vote as well, and would seem to be explainable on the grounds of the educating influence of the saloon in a community. For example, a licensed saloon suggests profit in that line of business; others in that neighborhood see no reason why they should not derive some profit from the same source. But more important still is the fact that drinking begets drinking, and the tendency of the licensed saloon is to create sentiment in favor of drinking. This we append as an explanation of the native vote. We feel at liberty to say, from our knowledge of the individuals, that prominent white men in the districts, who are, by the character of their position, best able to arrive at correct judgment on this subject, coincide with the native view.

Illicit Sales. Fourth—We note a quite general statement as to the amount of illicit sales of liquor. Both whites and natives unite in the almost unanimous opinion (where they express any at all) that liquor is sold and publicly. In many instances we are informed that the police make no effort to prevent it. This being the case, your committee wonders as to the support of the argument generally presented that the enormous increase of these saloons during the last few years has decreased illicit sales.

Republican Platform. Fifth—Among other interesting facts we note that the policy suggested most frequently as best suited to our conditions is a government control, in some such way as by the Gothenburg or South Carolina systems. In this connection there seems to be the consensus of opinion that it would be unwise to make the liquor question a political issue. In sympathy with this latter opinion we are all the more surprised and disappointed in the attitude of the Republican party in their late issuance of a platform. First, they have prejudged with but very little consideration a large issue which was prominently before the public during the last Legislature. It will be remembered that a bill modeled on the lines of the South Carolina dispensary bill, nearly passed the Senate, and a clause in the Republican platform declares the party against any Territorial control, which commits the party to no further consideration of any of the great systems in vogue in Russia, Sweden and South Carolina. The circumstances under which this was done leave room for but one conclusion, viz., that this action was instigated by liquor men in the interest of liquor houses. It appears to your committee that the desire for harmony and success at any price, which had led to fusion with the first thing that offered, has already effected the inevitable confusion.

Your committee believes that the canvass has been of advantage in drawing men's attention to the extreme importance of this issue, and we believe that the future policy of the League should be to encourage a similar form of referendum, for it is the underlying principle of our form of government that the people must determine such questions. To get the "voice of the people,"—and what is that but local opinion?

Respectfully submitted,
THEODORE RICHARDS,
J. LEADINGHAM.

Kohala Water Promoters Have Some Hot Words Before Commission

When the Commission came together after luncheon, A. C. Gehr was placed on the stand for cross-examination by McClanahan. Witness was asked about his connection with the Hilo-Kohala railroad and he denied any connection whatever. He had brought a party of engineers from Chicago, cut 150 miles of trails and surveyed the mountains. As to Col. Jones' connection with the scheme he said he had associated the colonel with the plan because of his influence. When he was making surveys he did not know of anyone interested in the water scheme other than himself. He had learned of Parker's plan about the time of the filing of the first application for the license.

Witness stated that the delay in signing the agreement was because of the desire of the Jones party to not be held by the Booth option. McClanahan stated he wanted to show that there never was any agreement but only an abortive attempt to reach such an understanding. Gehr would not positively identify any of the contract drafts as such, confining himself to statements that they were similar. He said that some of the drafts were drawn by Col. Jones, assisted by persons interested. Witness here stated that upon the return of McClanahan from Kauai he had assented to the agreement although he said he could have drawn it differently. After the receipt of the Ryan letter both McClanahan and Wundenberg had refused to sign.

Mr. Gehr stated that he and his associates knew from McClanahan that Parker had an option on the Laupahoehoe strip. Ballou showed the option. The Booth option, he said, was the only thing in the way of Parker's signature to the agreement. The Booth option was not considered of great value. The ditch could have been built without the Laupahoehoe property. The witness stated that it was said by the Parker company that they controlled all the waters and the other parties could not do without them. Booth himself had a talk with Jones about giving him and his associates an option. "I did say," said the witness, "that we probably could have got the same option because Booth over a year ago saw Jones with the idea of our acquiring it in case Parker and his associates did not build the ditch.

Three-Cornered.
Just here McClanahan asked if Senator Thurston did not prepare the statement made by Boyd in Washington. The Senator himself answered the question, stating that he had had absolutely nothing to do with it. McClanahan said he had thought the Senator had done the work on account of its picturesqueness and Mr. Thurston replied that it would do credit to whomsoever did write it. McClanahan agreed to this and Boyd, who was seated in the corner, made a statement to the effect that he had sufficient knowledge of the English language to prepare the statement himself.

Would Not Produce.
Next came a request on the part of McClanahan for Gehr to present before the Commission the maps which he had prepared of the lands over which it was proposed to run the ditch. This was met with a flat refusal, the witness stating that the maps had cost money and besides that, he did not propose to give any more information to the opposition. Witness went on to talk about the actual work which he and his engineers had done in the mountains. He then referred to a statement by Parker in which the latter proposed the combination of the two factions and during which he said: "If there is nothing in this scheme of ours why then there will be no harm done. If, on the other hand it is valuable, then there is enough in it for us all. If we fight, there will be nothing in it for either of us." Witness went on to tell McClanahan that he did not know what rights he and his associates had but that he himself did because he had been up into the mountains and had investigated.

Just here, Senator Mitchell interposed, stating that too much time was being taken up in cross-examination, requesting McClanahan to be as brief as possible. A few more questions were asked and then E. S. Boyd, Commissioner of Public Lands, was called.

Boyd and Correspondence.
The Commissioner of Public Lands took the witness chair loaded down with maps, letters and other documents galore which he proceeded to hand out to McClanahan as they were called for. The original application of Parker was asked for but Boyd could not produce. The document had been mislaid but he felt reasonably sure he could find it. However, he would make the statement that the application was filed February 11, 1901. He was not Commissioner at that time. There were letters called for which Mr. Boyd stated were in the possession of the Governor. Those he did have were read and placed in the rapidly increasing pile of evidence.

Government Control.
Mr. Boyd was asked why he had objected to the granting of the license and he gave as one reason that it provided for two ditches. He had no objection whatever to the form of the license. Asked if the government opposed the passage of a bill in Congress granting a franchise to build the ditch, the witness answered in the affirmative. The same answer came when Mr. Boyd was asked if the government claimed the right to issue such licenses. He went further and stated that the Territorial government was anxious to grant a license that would be favorable to the people along the line. The government did not care to ask for any general legislation. However, there was decided objection to special legislation.

No Consolidation.
The witness next stated that Governor Dole had stated in Washington that if the two concerns consolidated, he would grant a license. Reflections had been cast on Territorial officials by McCrossen and the meeting at the Albany hotel was arranged by the Governor to bring the two parties together but it was soon seen that there was absolutely no possibility of a consolidation. As he recollected, the Governor did not know of the reversal of the Ryan decision until after he had arrived in Washington.

General Laws Wanted.
Mr. Boyd denied to Senator Thurston that he was in any way interested in any of the water schemes except in his official character which was to look out for the interests of the people and to secure them the best that he could. He stated that he believed general laws covering the matter in hand would be beneficial. The government was of the belief that, under the present laws, the Territory has the right to issue licenses of the kind referred to. There had been no agreement to grant a license to parties represented by Col. Jones after the decision of Judge Vandervent, since the government took the position that it had no right to act until the matter had been decided one way or the other by Congress. Witness stated that he believed it best to have public competition with respect to the granting of a license in the premises.

No Favoritism.
Asked by Senator Thurston as to the possibility of favoritism being shown should be matter be left to be passed on again by the Territorial government, the witness answered that there was no danger whatever of such a state of affairs. All the government, from the Governor down to the lowest official in his council, wanted was the conservation of the best interests of the people.

Mr. McClanahan asked: If Congress should heed the argument that the conflict of opinion in the office of the Secretary of the Interior should make it doubtful that capital would be invested in any scheme deriving its authority from the local government would you then approve of the bill being passed by Congress? The answer was in the affirmative.

Booth and His Option.
C. W. Booth, being sworn, stated that he was the owner in fee of Laupahoehoe which, he claimed, runs from the Parker land. This goes through the region it is calculated upon as the line of the ditch. The flow of water in the gulch amounted to something like 100,000,000 gallons a day. An agreement had been made to convey the land to Parker. This agreement was valid and still in force. It gives Parker the right to build ditches. The option for one year had expired last May but had been renewed.

Col. Parker a Witness.
Col. Parker on being called to testify, stated that the reason he had been led to talk of a union or consolidation with the other company was that he believed they had the inside track with the government. He had gone to the other side to see what he could get out of them. On a trip down from Hawaii previous to any negotiations, witness said he had had a talk with the other side who had been given permission by A. W. Carter to go on the Parker Estate lands for the purpose of making investigations. "I approached them at that time," said Parker, "because I believed their chances were better than mine. There was a meeting in the bungalow and there was some talk about consolidation. I was the only one of my side present so I had the matter postponed until the next night, when my attorneys could be present. At this second meeting, Jones said he was sure he could get the license without having it put up at auction. It was in this connection that I made a statement about an official of the Territory. I have never signed any paper. I left before any agreement had been arrived at and I delegated my power of attorney to Fred Wundenberg, telling him to do what he thought best in the premises. Wundenberg wrote me later on that he hadn't signed the agreement."

Gehr Cross-Examines Parker.
Just here A. C. Gehr took a hand and asked Col. Parker if he did not tell him or some of his associates that Wundenberg had refused to sign, this previous to the departure of the witness. The colonel answered that he might or might not have done so. He was certain, however, that Wundenberg had told him not to sign. He further stated in response to another question that he did not say he would sign the paper if the terms of the agreement as put to him were correctly given. His final conclusion in the whole matter had been to leave it to Wundenberg. He would not go back on the fact that he had attempted to pull together with the other people because he believed a half a loaf was better than none. However, the other side had not abided by its agreement to secure the license so he declared everything off. He had no further confidence in Mr. Gehr or his associates. No, he did not call everything off to the Governor. He did not see him at all.

Tore Up Letter.
Gehr asked if it was not so that after the departure of the witness for the Mainland Wundenberg, McClanahan and Ballou had almost daily asked the Governor and his council to grant a license to Jones. The witness answered that he heard this upon his return home. Several other questions of minor importance were asked and then came a question about a letter which Mr. Gehr had written to Parker. Witness answered: "I tore it up. I didn't mean to have anything to do with you. I didn't even take the trouble to read the letter." The witness went on to state, in response to questions, that the tentative agreement between the two companies was in writing. He did not have a copy of it but he believed McClanahan had it.

At this juncture, McCrossen chimed in, saying: "No one had any authority to sign any agreement for me." Mr. Gehr on the other side of the room arose and, addressing the Commission, said: "Gentlemen of the Commission, I would request that all statements here be made under oath." Senator Mitchell said that that was the proper course.

It being close to 5 o'clock, the Commission adjourned until 8:15 for the purpose of completing the Kohala ditch matter.

Gehr Recalled.
The evening session of the Commission was held on the Waikiki front lanai of the Hawaiian hotel. Outside of the members of the Commission the following were among those present: Prince David Kawannakoa, Senator Thurston, Col. Samuel Parker, W. O. Smith, A. C. Gehr, H. B. Gehr, E. S. Boyd, High Sheriff Brown and Mr. Purman of Collier's Weekly.

A. C. Gehr was recalled by McClanahan and asked if he was an American citizen. Yes was the answer. The next question asked was whether he was an American born or was such by naturalization and the answer came: "By birth and struggle."
On request of Senator Thurston, witness presented the letter which he sent to Col. Parker and which the latter in his testimony during the afternoon stated he had torn up.
Jones Tells His Story.
Col. Jones stated that he had lived thirteen years in the country, that he was stenographer for the First Circuit Court and Colonel of the First Regiment of the National Guard. The only position he was being paid for was that

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1902.

Prince Cupid starts in his campaign with a freedom from personalities that should attract to his cause the voters who believe in a fair-minded view of all public questions.

"A Republican from the top of my head to the bottom of my feet" is become the popular method of declaring party fealty. It is suggestive of the form of oath that might be required at the party primaries.

Somehow or other our Territorial Delegate is rather backward in making himself heard before the Senatorial Commission. Is the Delegate so busy looking after his political fences that he has no time to devote to Territorial affairs.

The Anti-Saloon League has agreed to withhold the names of those sending replies to questions sent out bearing on the liquor problem. Any man who considers his opinion worth anything ought not to have any fear of having his views published to the world. The opinion on a public question given in confidence naturally causes the public to consider whether the statement does not come from a source that is on all sides of the fence, according to the man he is talking with.

Tom Johnson, the millionaire socialist of Ohio, has come to the front as the leader of the Democratic forces who bow before the throne of William Jennings Bryan. Johnson has complete sway in his State, having routed the conservative Democrats who would throw Bryan and his platform overboard and comes into line as a leading factor in the race for the Presidential nomination. Johnson in his financial relations represents most everything Bryan is supposed to oppose and politically endorses all Bryan has to say of the great money-power.

BASEBALL GROUNDS.

The preliminary financial report of the Baseball League shows conclusively that a properly conducted amateur league is a paying proposition in Honolulu. The close of one of the best series of games the city has ever had promises to pay all expenses and leave $1,000 for the McKinley Memorial Fund and a bonus of about $200 for each club. The sport is popular, the young men of the city gladly give their time to practice, and there is every promise that with good grounds at its disposal the Baseball League may become a very acceptable established institution.

Experience of this and former years has been such as to prove to the satisfaction of all those interested in the sport that enclosed grounds are necessary to give baseball assured permanence. Honolulu business men are not prepared to subscribe sufficient funds to make free games practical. The public, however, is ready to pay a reasonable price for amusement. The Punahou grounds have served the purposes of this year's series, but it is very doubtful whether the trustees of the college will allow the grounds to be used again, as the saving clause this year was the agreement to give a portion of the income to the McKinley Memorial Park.

The McKinley Park has been looked forward to as a solution of the grounds problem, but the prevailing idea that this park shall be free to all sports and sportsmen immediately raises a question as to the advisability of charging admission to any of the games that may be played there. To enclose the baseball grounds and charge admission is considered by many as quite contrary to the intent of the park promoters.

The last report of the Boys' Brigade called attention to the grounds for sports obtained some months ago, but remain incomplete because of a lack of funds. These grounds are easily accessible and the promoters of the Boys' Brigade take kindly to the proposal of laying out an enclosed field for the Baseball League. About $2,500 is the amount of money required to place the Brigade's field in condition for its own use and the baseball players as well. The choice of a field rests with the League, but preparations for next year should begin as early as possible in order to prevent the boys finding themselves without a location when the next season opens.

BUSINESS MEN ARE HEARD

ence between a laborer on a plantation here and on a farm in the States. The men get so much pay for so much work. That is all there is to it.

The speaker here referred to the plantation managers as a body of clever business men who must needs be organizers, accountants, chemists, etc., all rolled into one. These were not the kind of men that brutes are made of.

In answer to a question by Senator Burton, Mr. Swanzy went into a detailed account of the old contract system which he stated no longer existed here.

Refutes Charges. The speaker then went into a refutation of some of the charges that had been made before the Commission. He would first refer to the charge that the laborers' houses were unfit for habitation. This could arise only out of ignorance or malice.

Senator Burton here referred to the quarters at Ewa as being good enough for anyone and Mr. Swanzy answered that he believed these were a very good sample of quarters at all the plantations.

It had also been stated that the food received by the plantation laborers was not fit for human beings. The speaker wished to state that the Chinese and Japanese fed themselves. That was something the plantations had nothing to do with.

A question was brought up about negro labor and W. O. Smith gave the answer, stating that the men had proven themselves a bad lot. The whole crowd went to Spreckelsville. Now, nearly all had gone back to the Mainland. Some of the few remaining were in jail.

Japanese and Annexation. Mr. Swanzy also took occasion to deny the allegation that hundreds of Japanese had been brought into the country in anticipation of annexation. As a matter of fact, when annexation was coming, the Japanese were coming also and the speaker stated that he did not believe they came in any greater numbers than at any other time.

In place of encouraging the Japanese, they had really been discouraged as witness the sending back to Japan of 2000 Japanese at a cost to the country in damages of $75,000.

Some information as to the Honolulu Iron Works was asked for, when Mr. Swanzy had arrived at the subject of skilled mechanics leaving the country. The Iron Works was capable of using five hundred men. At the present time work was scarce and a large number of men had been dispensed with. This was so anywhere else. It was by no means the Asiatic labor that was driving these men out of the country. Here Mr. Swanzy referred to the Young building and the men who had been working there. They had all come from the Coast and upon the completion of their work they had returned home. The Asiatics had not forced them out.

Cecil Brown was next called to take the stand and, after the usual preliminaries, he presented the following memorial from the bankers of the city.

BANKERS' MEMORIAL ON FINANCIAL CONDITIONS.

Honolulu, H. T., Sept. 11, 1902. To the Honorable Commission of the United States Senate.

Gentlemen:—Under Act of the Hawaiian Government in the year 1883, $1,000 in silver coin, $500 in dollars, $350,000 in halves, $125,000 in quarters and $25,000 in dimes of the same weight and fineness as United States coin were minted in San Francisco and put into circulation in these Islands, from 1884 to 1886, replacing a silver coinage consisting of Mexican, 5-franc pieces, pesos, sola, etc.

The Hawaiian silver had a legal tender value of $10. United States gold being required under the Hawaiian laws for larger amounts. At no time has there been any difference in the value of Hawaiian as compared with United States silver, although, when the Hawaiian was first put in circulation, all silver was at a small discount, say 1 per cent, in purchase of foreign exchange. For years past silver has circulated freely in these Islands at par with United States gold, and has been accepted for large amounts in payments in excess of its legal tender value, without discount. Upon annexation of these Islands no special Act was passed by Congress to legalize the Hawaiian silver, nor was any provision made for its redemption or recoinage into United States money, but the full face value of Hawaiian silver as a coin, at par with United States gold, has been maintained by the banks and business houses, by reason of their so accepting it on deposit and for exchange and all business purposes. This the banks have been enabled to do by finding an outlet for the silver in the large demands of plantations and the outlying districts. The only exception being that of a local bank which had a temporary excess of silver and offered 1-8 of 1 per cent premium for gold.

Not Satisfactory. This situation, however, is neither safe nor satisfactory. As a Territory of the United States our circulating medium should be uniform with the currency of the Mainland and should be a United States legal tender, particularly as no monetary disturbance would result from the change; our coins being of the same denomination, weight and fineness as the United States coins, and, as above stated, circulating together with them at par.

On the other hand, without United States legal value behind them, conditions are apt to arise at any time to interfere with the circulation of our Hawaiian coins and cause serious financial disturbance, which would specially affect the laboring classes of the Territory, who could ill afford it.

Postoffice Silver.

We beg to refer you to the letter of our postmaster general to his department at Washington on this subject. As stated by him, Hawaiian silver is taken in large amounts by the Island postoffices in payment of money orders, the coin is shipped to Honolulu and deposited with the Government depository—the First National Bank. This Hawaiian silver the bank cannot count as reserve; neither can it be shipped by anyone to the Mainland and used for credit in account, for these reasons it might accumulate to such an extent as to cause serious inconvenience; in fact, if from any cause a general demand should be made for United States legal tender and the Hawaiian silver refused, it would be impossible for the banks to find an outlet and continue to maintain its parity with gold, not that it is not required in circulation, but simply from not being a legal tender. We would also call attention to the fact that the Custom House of this city will not receive the Hawaiian silver in payment of duties, thus causing inconvenience to the business community.

The Remedy.

As a remedy for this dangerous and unsatisfactory situation we would urge the prompt passage by Congress of the Act introduced at the last session, relating to Hawaiian silver coinage and silver certificates: S. 2210, which is satisfactory and meets the requirements of this Territory. Our coins are in good order and have suffered but little abrasion, and the cost of transportation and recoinage into United States silver would be small to the Federal Government.

We estimate that there is now left in circulation of the original coinage of $1,000,000 say $900,000 in Hawaiian coin, the dimes having entirely disappeared. There is at present a considerable amount of United States silver in this Territory, which alone is not sufficient for our requirements, and the recoinage of the Hawaiian into United States coin and return of the same for circulation in the Territory is necessary, and would, in our opinion, result in an increased demand for silver coin.

Very respectfully, CLAU SPRECKELS & CO. THE BANK OF HAWAII, LTD., C. M. COOKE, Cashier.

BISHOP & CO. FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF HAWAII AT HONOLULU, By its President, CECIL BROWN, YOKOHAMA SPECIE BANK, LTD., K. IMANISHI, Manager.

Reference to Fire Claims.

F. W. Macfarlane made reference to the fire claims and requested that the Commission glance over the work it had taken the Fire Claims Commissioners a year to complete. In referring to the fire claims matter, Senator Mitchell stated that he voted for the appropriation in Congress on account of the country having been deprived of some of its most important sources of revenue and for no other reason. He should have hesitated a long time had the matter been otherwise since, in his belief, it was a bad precedent.

Burton on Coffee. Senator Burton asked another question about coffee. He stated that he had never tasted such delicious coffee in all his life as the Hawaiian product. Since his visit to Mana, Col. Parker's home on Hawaii, where he had tasted some of the coffee, he had been thinking of a bounty on the Hawaiian article.

Geo. W. Smith for the Merchants' Association presented the following report for that body:

MERCHANTS' MEMORIAL.

Honolulu, H. T., Sept. 2, 1902. To the Hon. J. H. Mitchell, Hon. J. R. Burton and Hon. A. G. Foster, Subcommittee of the United States Senate on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico.

Sirs:—The undersigned, a committee duly appointed by the Merchants' Association of Honolulu, beg to submit, for your consideration, the following memorial on the economic and other conditions of this Territory.

We will assume that you are conversant with the fact that annexation to the United States has resulted in a serious pecuniary loss to the Government of Hawaii through the transfer of the Custom House and Internal Revenue receipts to the Federal Government, and proceed to state how, in our opinion, this loss may be neutralized to the advantage of both the Federal and Territorial governments. Sugar. To the growth of the cane and its manufacture into sugar is due the commercial, if not the political, position of these Islands today. This industry fostered by the reciprocity treaty before annexation, has been seriously injured, since then, by the application of the United States labor laws and Chinese Exclusion Act. While yielding to none in our desire to see this become "a white man's country" to the fullest extent possible, it has been demonstrated on several occasions that it is impossible for the white man to labor in the cane fields, even at a high rate of wages. We would therefore suggest a relaxation of the laws just referred to, such as would enable our planters to draw labor from Asia and get enough of it, under such restrictions as it might seem right to Congress to indicate. This class of labor, if brought here under proper conditions, would not come into competition with American labor. As merchants, we leave the further discussion of this matter to the Planters' Association, but the sugar industry is so very much the most important of all Hawaiian enterprises, that it ought, we think, to occupy the first place in such a memorial as this. Fire Claims. Or provision for payment of losses incurred in the stamping out of the bubonic plague in Honolulu, 1899-1900. We respectfully submit the following facts: 1. That the property destroyed and for which compensation is claimed was only condemned to destruction after a careful examination by the Board of Health and that said Board of Health was satisfied that the premises to be destroyed were plague infected. A careful record was kept of each building or block of buildings destroyed. 2. That the disaster of January 20, 1900, where property covering approximately thirty-five acres of land was swept away by fire, was caused by the sanitary fire (started by order of the Board of Health) getting, with the aid of a strong trade wind, entirely beyond the control of the Fire Department. 3. That the sole object and purpose of those sanitary fires was to confine the epidemic to the closest limits possible, in order to prevent the dread disease reaching the shipping in port and the Western coast of the Mainland, and to hold it within the contaminated sections of the city. 4. That the losses incurred by the destruction of buildings, household property and merchandise, was largely in excess of the amount ($1,473,173) which has been awarded by the Fire Claims Commission to the various claimants, and that the said claimants

Auto Party Is Hurlled to Death

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 26.—By the flying leap of an automobile from the Park avenue bridge in Elberon to the road bed of the New York and Long Branch Railroad, thirty-five feet below, two persons were killed and three injured today. The dead are: Frank J. Matthews, millionaire president of the National Realty Company of Jersey City and Mrs. J. H. Cobb of Richmond, Va. Mrs. W. C. Pizzini, sister-in-law of Mrs. Cobb, also from Richmond, suffered severe internal injuries and has only a fighting chance for life. Rev. Patrick J. Grant of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, New York city, was badly bruised and shocked. The chauffeur, Rudolph Meyers, received slight injuries by jumping from the automobile just before it took the dive. When trying to avoid running down a man in the street, Mr. Matthews turned the automobile to one side just as he was starting up the slope to the bridge. The automobile was going at great speed, and he was unable to turn it back into the middle of the road. It went over the embankment at a sharp angle, turning a complete somersault, it fell between the railroad tracks. Matthews was caught beneath the machine and instantly killed. Mrs. Cobb was lifted from under the wreckage unconscious. She was taken to Long Branch, and died in the Monmouth Memorial Hospital.

of stenographer. The colonely carried no pay with it. The only time he had been paid in that capacity was during the recent unpleasantness and during Jones' Not Surprised.

Referring to the consolidation proposition, Col. Jones said that he and his associates had nothing to offer as inducements but the expenditure of a lot of money in doing survey work and the like and the belief that their scheme was a feasible one. Some $7000 had been expended in making surveys. The question of the inadvisability of putting up at auction was discussed. In response to a question regarding a Territorial official, witness answered: "It is not Mr. Boyd interested in this matter? I do not know what occasioned you to ask the question. Perhaps you can give the answer better than I." The next question was: "You were not surprised at my question." The answer was: "Mr. McClanahan, I was not surprised at anything you might ask. I have known you for a long time and I am not at all surprised at the question. This applies to any other member of your profession."

McClanahan—Did you not say that, in case we united our schemes, you would see that the franchise was not put up at auction? Jones—I never said anything of the kind. That, however, was my belief, and it was based on the fact that I had asked the Secretary of the Territory about the matter and he told me he was opposed to the first license you applied for.

No Suggestions to Offer. Witness further stated that he had nothing to offer in the way of suggestions as to what should be done. This would be presumption on his part. Next followed a long string of questions as to Jones' connection with the Gehrs. Witness answered, in substance that he was under a verbal agreement and that he and the others were working together on an equality.

Witness stated that McCrossen or Ballou had mentioned to him that the scheme of consolidation had fallen through because they did not believe the position of either company would be strengthened by the consolidation. The combined forces could not prevent the auction. Parker had brought the matter up later on and the Gehr company refused to consolidate, stating that the whole thing would come to naught. A meeting was then requested and held and at that time the first draft of the agreement was made. The understanding was complete with perhaps the exception of one detail. Ballou withdrew the application of Parker and stated that it would not be renewed, consolidation negotiations having proceeded so far. There was nothing further for the Governor and his council to do but to get down to the terms of the license. Various meetings were held until the terms were perfected. Next came the incident of the departure of Parker for the Mainland and the action of Wundenberg in refusing to sign the agreement.

Parker Asks Questions. Col. Parker asked the witness if he did not go to the office of W. G. Irwin with the information that he had something good to offer if he would consent to put up the money. Witness answered that he did go to see Mr. Irwin but that the question he discussed there was entirely foreign to the matter in hand. His visit hinged on a question of law which he asked Mr. Irwin to submit to Mr. Hatch.

Mr. McCrossen here asked a lot of questions about the connection of the witness with the Gehrs and what work he did to further the scheme. Senator Burton then asked if it was the belief of the witness that the local authorities should have the power to grant franchises. The answer was that this should certainly be so with, however, the imposition of certain restrictions. Wise provision would be to have all such matters referred to the proper offices in Washington.

Wundenberg Explains. Field Wundenberg told of his having received Parker's power of attorney and of his having advised him not to sign the agreement because it seemed unjust and unfair. Witness said he had never met that body in any way, shape or manner. More details that have already been given were dwelt upon and then came J. T. McCrossen.

McCrossen Tells Whole Story. McCrossen—On July 8, 1901, there was a meeting of the executive council for the purpose as Col. Parker's associates believe, of an issue to Parker of a license for two ditches. On arriving there, we found another application from J. W. Jones as trustee. This was precisely the same franchise as had been asked for six months before by Parker. We did not pay much attention to it because we believed the rights Parker held were sufficient to justify a franchise to him and his associates irrespective of who might apply. Change of Attitude.

"After the consideration began, I could notice that certain of the officials had a different idea in regard to Parker's license than they had had previously. They wanted to look into the matter, notwithstanding the fact that there had been a full consideration and there had been a practical consent to the whole thing. While the matter was under consideration, acting Governor Cooper was handed his mail and one of the letters was from the Interior Department stating that in the absence of authority for the granting of such license, the matter had better be deferred and Congress asked to make legislation. Negotiations ceased. Planters' Endorsement.

"I went to San Francisco and endeavored to have the Interior Department reverse its decision but instead of that, they reaffirmed the former decision and stated that Congress alone had the authority to grant the license. I returned to Kohala and saw the managers of the plantations in Kohala who called a mass meeting and passed resolutions endorsing the Hawaii Ditch Co. All five managers signed the resolutions and these were taken to all the landowners who would be affected by the ditch. This was done by Mr. Bryant, a sugar planter, and all parties signed.

On to Washington. "I then returned to Washington and in January a bill was introduced in the House granting the right of way to the Kohala Ditch Co. That bill was not considered at but one meeting of the House committee.

Called Gehr Blackmailer. "Another bill was introduced by Powers. Senator Thurston and Gehr appeared in opposition to the bill and it was considered on a number of occasions. This morning Gehr pointed his finger at me very dramatically and stated that he had told me that he would call me to account both in Washington and in Hilo for statements I had made. He has not done so up to date and I now wish to reaffirm those statements. Knowing Senator Thurston by reputation as I did, I told him I was surprised that he would take up the case of a man who was nothing but a blackmailer—a man who got what little influence he had from Territorial officials here. The bill passed the House unanimously and went to the Senate. Gehr appeared again opposing. He was not then seeking anything for himself but was simply present as an obstructionist."

Map Examined. At this point, all hands gathered around a map of the Territory under discussion and the witness pointed out the various pieces of land, the water-sheds, etc., endeavoring to show how it would be impossible for anyone except Parker or those associated with him to get water for the ditch proposed and to carry the thing to a successful ending. All the leases, lands in fee, options, etc., under the contract of Parker, were enumerated and the witness endeavored to show that anyone building the ditch would first have to secure Parker's consent.

Objections Were Met. The witness went on to tell of the arrival of the Governor in Washington and of talks he had had with him. Mr. Dole had informed him positively that if certain provisions were inserted in the bill, he would withdraw his objections. Some of these provisions were the fixing of water rates for settlers, rental, preservation of the forests and the like. A letter embodying these provisions was written to Governor Dole and it was found that his ideas were fully coincided with. When the bill came up in the Senate, an amendment was offered by Mitchell, embodying the provisions, Mr. Dole himself was not able to appear before the Senate committee as he had made a previous engagement with the Secretary of the Interior. He, however, sent his Commissioner of Public Lands, Mr. Boyd. Witness saw Mr. Dole the next morning and the latter stated that, although he was very sorry, he would have to continue his opposition to the bill, the Secretary of the Interior having advised him to do so. McClanahan's Answer.

Mr. McClanahan asked the witness if he had received a letter from him while he was in Washington. He replied in the affirmative and then producing the letter, read it. The communication was very full of admonitions to the Parker scheme people to act quickly, of warnings that the Gehr people would undoubtedly seek to undermine the former in Washington and of references to various parties who might institute various suits in various directions. "Hastily Yours."

In one place the letter referred to Senator Culom as being without the influence he had had during the last administration. However, Ballou, who knew him well, would see Culom and try to fix things with him. Col. Parker was referred to as being a good man to "corral" support for the McCrossen side of the controversy in Washington. After four or five pages of closely written typewritten matter, the letter ends up with "Hastily yours."

Senator Mitchell stated that he did not believe it would be proper for the letter to be made a part of the record since it spoke unpleasantly of one of the colleagues of the members of the Commission. Senator Thurston remarked that McClanahan was certainly a model letter writer and that the more of those kind of communications he had, the better he would like it. Gehr made a request that, if the letter was to be kept out of the records, he be furnished with a copy of it. The reading of it had been done in public. McClanahan—See me tomorrow, Mr. Gehr. McCrossen—Oh, no. This is my letter (putting it in his pocket) and if Mr. Gehr wants a letter he will have to see me. Senator Thurston—The letter should have contained the usual "Burn after reading."

not believe it would be proper for the letter to be made a part of the record since it spoke unpleasantly of one of the colleagues of the members of the Commission. Senator Thurston remarked that McClanahan was certainly a model letter writer and that the more of those kind of communications he had, the better he would like it. Gehr made a request that, if the letter was to be kept out of the records, he be furnished with a copy of it. The reading of it had been done in public. McClanahan—See me tomorrow, Mr. Gehr. McCrossen—Oh, no. This is my letter (putting it in his pocket) and if Mr. Gehr wants a letter he will have to see me. Senator Thurston—The letter should have contained the usual "Burn after reading."

Wants Dole to Appear. Senator Thurston preferred a request that Governor Dole and other members of the council concerned in the matter be asked to appear before the Commission. He had a very few questions he wished to ask them. McClanahan stated that he had made a request that the Governor be present before the Commission and he had sent his secretary, Secretary Cooper had also been asked to appear.

Burton—If they want to defend themselves, let them come before the Commission themselves. Senator Mitchell stated that the request of Senator Thurston would be considered. Thurston Cross-Examines. It was at this point that Senator Thurston began his cross-examination of McCrossen. He found that the Hawaii Ditch Co. was a corporation and that, although $10,000 worth of stock had been subscribed for, only $100 had been paid in. He further found out that there had been no amendment to the articles since they were first filed. Witness' share was one-third of the interest. He had put in time and money. He had employed himself, was his own assistant and had paid himself for services rendered. He had expended personally something like $6000, most of which had been spent in the Islands. He had made a number of visits to the mountains. Questions as to how much McClanahan and Ballou were to get were referred to the men themselves. Witness did not consider this matter any of his business.

Gehr here took the witness in hand, asking him if he did not know that he (Gehr) had permission from A. W. Carter to go on the Parker Estate lands and, further, if he did not know that he had received permission from Frank Woods to camp on Kawahae. Witness said he did not know anything of the kind. Senator Burton asked both McCrossen and Gehr if their companies wanted a franchise to sell water only and the reply was in the affirmative. He then asked if they were willing to allow the choice as to who should have the franchise to rest with the probable buyers of the water. McCrossen answered yes and Gehr stated that he was not prepared to answer the question at that time.

Enough Time Already. Mr. Gehr stated that he wanted to produce other witnesses since some of his statements had been contradicted. Senator Mitchell stated that a whole day had been given to the matter and he felt the Commission knew the points very well and could decide what to do from the evidence. However, if he would send in a letter with the names of the witnesses, etc., it would receive consideration and the matter might be taken up later. The Commission thereupon adjourned to 9:30 o'clock this morning.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

With respect to the card published by Bishop & Company, bankers, in the Hawaiian Star and Evening Bulletin, issue of date September 5th, 1902, and a similar notice which appeared in the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of date the 6th instant, this Company desires to make the following statement to the public: 1. We deny absolutely the truth of the alleged information received by Messrs. Bishop & Company, charging the use by us of the name of said banking institution for the purpose of promoting the interests of this Company, or for any other purpose. In this connection we will state that the financial condition and standing of the Hawaiian Realty and Maturity Company, Limited, is such that no reference to any banking institution is necessary to ensure the permanency, stability and reliable business methods of this concern, and we invite the closest scrutiny of, and examination by, the public of our affairs.

2. We deny that we have published, or that we have circulated, since the relation of depositor in said banking institution was terminated by us, any literature upon the back of which, or in any portion of which, appears the name of Messrs. Bishop & Company. With respect to this unfounded allegation, we wish to say that it is more than probable that this Company has been confounded with a similar concern doing business in these islands, the literature of which concern does bear the name of Bishop & Company. This, although it is expressly disavowed in the card of Bishop & Company above referred to, that said institution has any connection with or responsibility for any other company unless published by authority.

This notice is published in justice to members and stockholders of this Company, and for the additional purpose of relieving any further anxiety or apprehension on the part of Messrs. Bishop & Company.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH BANNER RAISING OF REPUBLICAN CLUB

PRINCE CUPID AND OTHERS DELIVER TELLING ADDRESSES. BAND MUSIC AND RED LIGHTS.

Innovation as it was, the banner raising of the Young Men's Republican Club last night proved a neatly conducted ceremony. The banner is a pretty one containing the club's name in scroll work and the United States shield artistically painted. As it was drawn slowly across Fort Fort street, between the club headquarters and the building opposite, the band played "Star Spangled Banner" and red fire blazed in the windows.

Lorrin Andrews, president of the club, had his seat in an express wagon and as he introduced the invited speakers they took the floor of the vehicle for their platform. The remarks of the president were apt and well delivered every time, being particularly happy in the introduction of the "youngest member of the club, now our standard bearer," Prince Cupid. Walter G. Smith was the first speaker, his remarks being largely to show the credit due the Republican party for equal rights in general and the fulness of franchise granted the Hawaiians without probation in particular. He reviewed the names of all the Presidents of the Union from Lincoln to Roosevelt inclusive, to show that the Republican party admitting it might be that of the rich invariably chose for head of the nation a man from the masses who had fought his way to distinction.

S. K. Nawaa, a young member of the club, delivered a telling speech in Hawaiian, eliciting frequent applause. Campaigners at once marked him for effective work on the platform between now and election day. Mr. Nawaa is a carpenter. His father was Halemanua Nawaa, who went to Michigan as a gospel teacher and laid his life down in the mission.

Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle (Cupid), candidate for Delegate to Congress, read the following address in English amidst frequent applause and cheers; then made a rousing extempore speech in Hawaiian which visibly caught the sympathies of his countrymen. Every period seemed to make a distinct hit with them:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—It is evident from the character of this ceremony, that Hawaii is becoming Americanized not alone from the fact that the beautiful banner which you have tonight hoisted to the breeze is that of the American Republic—but also because the very fact of function of a "flag-raising" as a feature of a political campaign, is of purely American origin—an American practice—and a very beautiful and suggestive one.

It must not be supposed that the Republican party with which I have so lately cast in my political fortunes, has any exclusive right or interest in the flag of any nation. The people of this great Republic are divided—and very wisely so—into two great political parties—and several smaller ones. I do not believe that any party has a monopoly upon either the political virtues or the patriotism of the nation, and certainly the flag of our country is alike the property and the boast of all who love their country, with whatever political party they may be allied. It is well to remember these facts when entering upon a campaign in which mutual passions may be aroused—and not to permit ourselves to forget that our opponents are inspired by motives as pure and a patriotism as lofty as our own. (Applause.)

In this belief, therefore, and in the confidence that the starry flag of Washington is equally dear to all true Americans, I respect and salute it, as the emblem of our political hope, whatever issues may divide us into parties, and I commend the policy of freedom and equality for which that flag stands as the symbol to all parties, Republican, Democrat and Home Rule, or by whatever other name or names they may be known. (Applause.)

Especially to my Hawaiian friends do I commend the protection and the promise of this glorious banner; under its folds they cannot be slaves, beneath its shelter they cannot be otherwise than equal, before the law, with all persons, whatever their color, rank or wealth.

But I am too true a Hawaiian to forget or lay aside my passionate aloha for the flag of my fathers, the beautiful banner of Hawaii, as she stood before the world during the years of her independence. No man can claim kin to the Hawaiian race, nor to the confidence of the Hawaiian people, who is capable of ignoring or forgetting the profound love and reverence of us Hawaiians for our former flag, who fails to sympathize with us in our lament that the march of human events has made it necessary to lower our own bright banner and hoist a substitute to the masthead. (Applause.)

I feel, the duty of all, at the present time, is to promote respect and love amongst the Hawaiians for the flag which you have raised this evening. It is the common property, the common heritage of all. There are many of us, no doubt, in whose hearts our Hawaiian banner was so sacredly enshrined that no other flag can quite fill the void left by its removal from the air of our tropical isles. But let us, whatever our race or place of birth, now make a virtue of necessity, and resolve to be Americans in spirit, as we are in law, in sentiment, as well as in obligation. (Applause and cheers for the Prince.)

Robert W. Shingle in English and Jonah Kumulua and William Olepau in Hawaiian delivered effective speeches.

Robert Rycroft, who was a member of the Legislature near the close of the monarchy, referred to his experience as a resident of the islands for nearly forty years. He came here in the vessel that brought the news of the second election of Lincoln, whom he declared was his patron saint. Last time he visited the Mainland he had the privilege of bringing the news of the second election of William McKinley. He had been a spectator at the convention that nominated McKinley and Roosevelt, and told about seeing thousands springing to their feet and cheering at every mention of Hawaii. If the Hawaiians were handled properly and instructed as to what the Republican party meant in name and in intention, a majority of them he was confident would vote the Republican ticket. Get right in amongst them, was his advice, and show them that you will treat them squarely. He ran against the late Hawaiian leader, Nawahi, and came within 63 votes of beating him right in his own district of Puna. His success in winning such good support was due to his having been fair and square with the Hawaiians. They were the finest race of people God ever made. Forty years ago you never saw a finer race.

Chairman Andrews, at a few minutes of 10 o'clock, called for three cheers for the Republican party and its ticket, which the audience gave as it dispersed. There were from 300 to 400 people assembled in and about the vacant lot opposite the club headquarters, in the center of which was the platform on wheels. A goodly number of ladies were present, some of them comfortably ensconced in the windows of overlooking buildings.

Mr. Reynolds protested that there was no intention of procuring delay to defeat justice. His Honor could sentence defendant just before the last moment. There was no idea of interfering with the course of the law.

Judge Gear said the defendant had obtained his rights so far as the Court was concerned. God knew the Court was in no haste to sentence the defendant. He again turned to Ferris and asked him anew the final question.

"Then the request of the defendant is denied?" interjected Mr. Reynolds. "The Court has asked the defendant if he has anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced," answered Judge Gear, adding that his reason for denying the request was the time counsel had shown would be required for presentation of the motion.

Mr. Reynolds noted an exception to the ruling.

Ferris shook his head without making an audible reply to the question. He was pale but composed as he received the awful sentence, and when he sat down gazed away from the spectators out of the window.

When Kimura was asked the usual question his counsel, H. W. Robinson, intervened with a motion for a new trial which he proceeded to argue. His main ground was that premeditated malice had not been supported by any evidence.

Judge Gear informed him that he was making an argument that should have been made to the jury and in a dialogue that followed recalled some of the damaging facts against the prisoner, while reminding counsel that under our law malice was presumed until disproved by the accused.

Mr. Robinson had a further alleged error to assign in the receiving of the evidence of Deputy Sheriff Cox to prove an admission by the defendant, when the officer had not given the defendant warning—at any statement might be used against him.

Judge Gear did not recollect that counsel had noted this exception at the trial, but said he could refer to the records for a showing on that score. The motion would be continued until tomorrow morning, but the Court refused a request to defer sentence.

Kimura, who was stolid as he had been throughout, had nothing to say and was sentenced in the same formula as the white man before him had been.

Mr. Reynolds again came up, this time with a motion for stay of execution in the case of Ferris until the motion for a new trial was decided.

Judge Gear asked him to file his motion and bring it up tomorrow morning. In the meantime promising him that it would be taken into consideration.

In the Police Court this morning practically all the cases called were continued. The cases of N. R. Spencer, charged with selling liquor without a license, Kahana, charged with assault and battery on Hoouli (w.), H. Chilton, charged with fornication, and Malinalua, charged with embezzlement, were thus continued. In the last case mentioned the defendant is alleged to have taken a couple of leis from a Mrs. Johnson. The case of David Keau, charged with malicious injury, was nolle prosequi. Hack driver Akau was fined $5 for leaving his horse untied.

Captain Nicholson of the steamer Helene reports that the steamer Enterprise arrived at Hilo from San Francisco last Saturday afternoon. She had a good trip and brought a large cargo. The St. Katherine had finished discharging her cargo when the Helene left Hilo, and was starting to take on board a load of sugar. She was to take 12,000 bags of Papaiko and Honolulu sugar.

Woodruff, Miss Woodruff, Paymaster H. Zuchtig, L. G. A.

GERMAN OFFICERS ARRIVE IN DORIC

The steamship Doric arrived off port from the Orient yesterday afternoon and was docked at the quarantine wharf at about 7 p. m. She had a pleasant and uneventful trip, leaving Yokohama September 2.

Only one of the Doric's passengers will make a stay in Honolulu. This is Surgeon Major Martin Felmy of the German army. He returns from China, where he has been on duty for a couple of years. He is on his way to Germany, but will make a short stay in this city with Rev. W. Felmy of the local Lutheran Church, who is his brother.

Among the through passengers were Baron and Baroness Carnap, wealthy German tourists, who are on their way around the world; Paymaster H. Zuchtig of the German army; Captain R. D. Lane of the U. S. Marine Corps, and Col. C. A. Woodruff, U. S. A., who is returning to the States from Manila, where he has acted as chief of the Commissary Department.

KAUAI SHIPPING.

The steamer Ke Au Hou arrived in port from Kaula this morning at 4 o'clock with 350 bags paddy, 722 bags rice, 10 bundles hides, 1 bundle sheep skins and 21 packages sundries.

Purser Deverill reports the following sugar left at Kaula ports ready for shipment: K. S. M., 2,100; V. K., 300; W., 500; Mak., 1,500; G. & R., 4,200 bags; making a total of 8,600 bags.

The Antiope was at Makaweli discharging. She was expected to finish yesterday. The steamer Mikahala was at Eleele discharging freight. Was to leave for Ahukini at 4 p. m. Smooth weather on both inward and outward trip.

High Sheriff Brown is out with a $50 reward for the discovery of persons who are supposed to be committing arson in the city.
