DOES GOLD GROW?

This Is the Most Fascinating
Problem of the Age.

Some of California's Famous Men of Science Demonstrate How it is Constantly Accumulating in the Earth, and Even Growing
Anew in Old Mines
That Have Long
Been Worked Out.

At the time when the world and civilization were young, but when gold had already taken its rightful place as sovereign of all the noble metals, strange tales were told of the steady accumulation of the glittering treasure in nature's storehouses. The alchemists went to work with childlike faith to reproduce the mysterious processes that they fancied were being carried on in the earth's secret crucibles. Science laughed at all the stories, as science has a way of doing at our most enebanting traditions, but faith still lived on in human hearts. Sometimes old miners, returned to worked-out diggings or abandoned shafts, became convinced that in some unknown way the precious metal, which had been exhausted, had been again restored, but they whispered these discoveries warily, unwilling to become laughing-stocks of the public. At length the matter became the subject of dignified scientific investigation, and to-day the old traditions, the alchemist's dreams, the romancer's yarns, are being strangely and unexpectedly confirmed by the highest scientific authority.

There is another still more interesting question that occurs in pursuing an inquiry of this kind. A few years ago sixty-seven simple elements were supposed to constitute all known substances. Earlier in the days of chemical experiments this number was much less. Nowadays by the decomposition of supposed simple, we have increased the list, and two possibilities are being seriously entertained by the world's leading chemists. The first is that many of these supposed simples will yet be decomposed into new or known elements. The other is that all of them, including gold and silver and platinum and other valuable minerals, may be determined to be identical, differing only in the arrangement of molecules. Strange doctrines are being unfolded nowadays, and no man dare to predict the outcome.

There are men in our midst who have given these subjects thought and study. Read their opinions:

Henry G. Hanks, eminent as a scientific authority, and who served as Mineral Commissioner for the whole United States during the Paris Exposition of 1878, to-day makes the following important and significant statement for The Examiner:

"It is possible, although I will not say it is probable, that gold may be at any time determined to be a compound of two or more elements, and that the process of reuniting such elements may be discovered in turn, realizing the dreams of ancient alchemists. Yet I must say that I should greatly deplore experiments along these lines. On the other hand, there can be no doubt but that gold is in the process of manufacture, or, to speak more correctly, in nature's laboratory it is all the while being put in place. Owing to the peculiar qualities which it possesses, nature seems to be continu-

THE NEW DEAL.

It is not a surprise to the public of course to learn that Mr. H. E. Cooper is now Attorney-General, that W. O. Smith is a private citizen, and that Dole is chasing around in his effort to find a Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Smith has one good quality, his good common sense, raised on the basis of gentlemanly instincts. Mr. Cooper is ruled simply by his thirst for lucre and his attempt to make hay when the sun shines. Mr. Cooper is still "in it" with "both feet." He cannot be suppressed, although he has lost his prestige in the circle of the masonic fraternity, the political gangs, the A. U. P., and the rest of the outfit who picked up and made themselves ridiculous by backing this political "Manoa Wonder."

Mr. Cooper is now Attorney-General and President of the Board of Health. He is also the owner of a Roman mansion and vast lands in Manoa, and he is a man who certainly has used his opportunities well since the day when he arrived here, unknown and not wanted, but in an earnest search of a field for his adventurous manipulation. He found the field—and the "suckers" and he is now Attorney-General of Mr. McKinley's bastard republic, which is neither flesh, fowl or fish, and which during the next year will furnish ample financial "cow-juice" to the San Diego adventurer.

Don't ask us why men like Damon and King can tolerate a man like the new attorney-general in their councils, a man whom they know is execrated and disavowed by their friends and even by the opposing political parties. Ask them to select a man to fill the vacancy in the Cabinet who will help them in carrying the ship of Hawaii through, during the next months until the day when we are told that Hawaii is a Territory of the United States or once more an independent country. The men who "hollered" for annexation because they feared the loss of the benefits of the Reciprocity treaty, are wishing to-day that the "old style" could be enforced again, and praying that they had left well enough alone.

They didn't, and now they are watching the new deal; that Mr. Neumann is at the present moment the only man who can fill the vacant seat in the Cabinet goes without saying. Whether he wants the position or not has nothing to do with the people at large, who believe that his tact, experience and popularity will be the vital points in carrying Hawaii through during this coming year of political difficulties, and in harmonizing the "splitting" factions, and pouring oil on the troubled waters. Whether Mr. Neumann will put his shoulder to the wheel is for Mr. Dole and his colleagues to find out. THE INDEPENDENT simply expresses the sentiments of the majority.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Opening of the March Term—Memorial Resolutions on the Deaths of the Late H. A. Widemann and W. L. Holokahiki—The Law Library to be Used for Reference Only.

The March term of the Supreme Court was opened this morning with the Chief Justice and Associate Justices Whiting and Frear on the Bench. Judges Perry and Stanley and the following members of the Bar were present: Attorney-General Cooper and Ex-Attorney-General W. O. Smith; E. P. Dole, Deputy Attorney-General; A. T. Atkinson, Assistant Deputy Attorney-General; A. S. Hartwell, Paul Neumann, Cecil Brown, F. M. Hatch, J. A. Magoon, A. G. M. Robertson, C. Creighton, A. M. Ballou, A. M. Brown, W. L. Wilcox, J. M. Davidson, W. Horace Wright, George Davis, W. C. Achi, Silliman, Chillingworth, DeBolt, Weaver, George Gear, Kaneakua, Hookano, Kane, E. Johnson, Kaulia, Henshall, Stewart, Dickey, Hous, Wilder, Cathcart, Brooks and McClanahan.

The Court having been called to order Mr. W. O. Smith arose and notified the Court of his resignation as Attorney-General and introduced Mr. H. E. Cooper as his successor. He returned thanks to the Bench and Bar for the courtesy and kindness extended to him during his six years of official life and spoke in the highest terms of praise of his deputy, Mr. Dole, and the Assistants in his office.

The Chief Justice having sworn in Attorney-General Cooper to faithfully discharge the duties of his office in accordance with the Constitution of the United States and of the Hawaiian Islands, paid a just tribute to the manner in which the late Attorney-General had fulfilled the duties of his important office and enjoyed the thorough confidence of the Court, and he then spoke pleasantly of Attorney-General Cooper and his public career on the Bench and as a member of the Government.

Messrs. Neumann, Hartwell and W. O. Smith then most eloquently and feelingly moved the adoption of the following RESOLUTION.

Whereas: It has pleased the Omnipotent in His wisdom to remove from this world, our Brother the Honorable HERMANN A. WIDEMANN, Second Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, from July 10th, 1869, until February 18th, 1874; be it

Resolved: That through the death of Judge WIDEMANN, the Bar mourns the loss of an honored Member, and the community a conscientious and upright Man, a faithful Public Servant and a loyal Friend.

Resolved: That our sincere condolence and sympathy be extended to the bereaved Family of the Deceased Justice.

Resolved: That this Resolution be spread upon the Records of the Supreme Court, and that a Copy be forwarded to the Widow of our late Brother.

Resolved: That this Honorable Court be moved that when it adjourns this day, it adjourns out of Respect to the Memory of its Ex-Member the late Honorable H. A. WIDEMANN.

Signed: PAUL NEUMANN, ALFRED S. HARTWELL, WM. HORACE WRIGHT, A Committee of the Bar.

The Chief Justice feelingly responded and accepted the motion that when the Court adjourned it would do so out of respect to the late Associate Judge.

On motion of W. O. Smith, seconded by J. K. Kaulia, and responded to in Hawaiian by the Chief Justice, resolutions were also adopted in memory of the late W. L. Holokahiki, one of the oldest members of the Hawaiian Bar.

The Chief Justice having called attention to the unsatisfactory condition of the law library a lengthy discussion, participated in by Messrs. Ballou, Davis, Weaver, Hatch, Stewart and others, resulted in the adoption, by 36 votes to 6, of a resolution prohibiting the removal of any books from the library except for use in Court, thus making the library a reference library only.

The calendar was then taken up.

The Patrol Wagon.

Marshal Brown deserves credit for his judicious purchase of a wagon which will be serviceable as a "Black Maria," as well as a "hurry-up" wagon. The new vehicle is exquisite in every way. It is furnished with every up-to-date accommodation and has all the implements needed for an ambulance wagon and a police patrol vehicle.

This morning the Marshal invited newspaper men to take a ride in the new carriage. The District Magistrate and the Deputy Marshal were in attendance on the chief of the police.

The driver was in his seat at 11 o'clock and handled the horses in a most satisfactory manner, and the occupants of the wagon were rushed through the main streets to the back yard of Oahu Jail, where officers and "trusties" showed the visitors how they can manipulate the ambulances attached to the wagon. The representative of Mr. Sewall's organ was furnished with a "wind-bag," but the accommodations were such that the other newspaper men did not envy him his privilege.

Marshal Brown has secured a fine addition to his bureau, and it will be a pleasure in the future to be reported dead, wounded or drunk. The "hurry-up wagon" will be there.

Kamehameha Girls Victorious

On Saturday afternoon the great contest between the girls of Punahou and Kamehameha took place on the play grounds of the latter school. Tennis and basket ball were the rival attractions. The blue and white of Kamehameha, after some stirring and beautiful contests, finally waved in complete victory over the buff and blue of Punahou, as the lassies carried off the basket ball trophy as well as the singles and doubles at tennis. The afternoon was a glorious one and the spectators delighted.

ally carrying the minute particles through the solid rock. In certain abandoned mines in Australia, in which operations have been resumed after a considerable term of years, not only have rock deposits been found to have become enriched during the period of inaction, but old beams and timbers were impregnated with gold.

Prof. George Davidson is skeptical on the subject.

"Does gold grow? It is just as unlikely as that diamonds are forming under the conditions at present existing. But there I am tripping myself up. It's a fact that not many years ago a piece of an aerolite fell, down in the Canada del Diablo, in Arizona, and in it there was a little cavity lined with microscopic blank diamonds. The way they came to find them was that the circular disk they were trying to slice off a cross section with, broke, and they were obliged to break open the aerolite, and when they cracked it open there was a little cavity lined with diamonds, and it was those little microscopic crystals which had broken the steel.

"Now, whether those stones existed in the aerolite when it left its mysterious starry home, or whether they were formed by the excessive friction and changed conditions it encountered after it entered our atmosphere, of course no man knows, but I incline to the opinion they were already there when the stone started on its long journey through space. Of course we have actually seen diamonds manufactured by science, but this was accomplished by such extraordinary processes that the minute crystals resulting cost altogether too much to be made an article of commerce. If gold should be determined to be composed of two or more elements, and a way of recombining those elements should be discovered, I predict that the cost of the process will be so prodigious that none of us will care to undertake it. It is possible that gold may be held in solution, and that under some peculiar conditions it might be deposited by nature, but as to the stories we sometimes hear concerning its unaccountable appearance in mines or ledges which were previously known to be barren, just put me down as a skeptic."

Mr. A. S. Cooper, State Mineralogist of California, says:

"We know that gold accumulates from solutions and is thereby left in rock veins. In other words, these solutions rise in fissures in the rocks, and the other elements disappear or are decomposed, leaving the gold behind, sometimes in actual crystals.

"Certainly I admit that gold may prove to be a combination of elements rather than the simple element it has hitherto been supposed to be. For that matter I am ready to admit that gold and all other elements may yet prove to be one and the same—different forms of hydrogen, perhaps, which possesses the lightest atomic weight of all known substances, and may therefore be logically supposed to be capable of being converted into the greatest variety of forms and substances through strictly mechanical metamorphoses, along lines in which men of science are now studying and experimenting."

From another man of note formerly occupying a high official position in the State's employ, Louis Falkenau, once State Assayer of California, comes the following opinion:

"Does gold grow? I admit not only the possibility, but the probability that gold may not be a simple element, but may be found to be composed of two or more elements. Indeed, I believe the time will come when our list of simple elements, now comprising seventy-three, including the recently discovered argon and helium, will be reduced to a very few. Should gold be eliminated from these and placed in the list of compounds, this would, of course, make it possible for it to now be in process of formation somewhere, say in the center of the earth beyond the reach or inspection of man. That it can now be formed under conditions at our command, however, I greatly doubt, and I am of the opinion that the noble metals such as gold, silver and platinum, which are not easily acted upon, will not be easily decomposed or recombined. In fact, were I to turn alchemist and experiment in search of some manner of accomplishing this end, I should confine my experiments to metals more easily acted upon, in the hope of learning through them something that might enable me to work successfully upon the noble metals.

Henry S. Darden, Secretary of the State Mining Bureau, furnishes the following evidence: "Gold not only grows, but it is being deposited in California to-day by the hot solfataras at Sulphur creek, in Colusa county, where any one who pleases may see it. It occurs with cinnabar, free sulphur and bitumen, a combination which probably has not a parallel elsewhere. I have seen cinnabar brought down from there with crystals of gold imbedded in it. The gold is deposited on the outside of silicious rocks, in the form of crystals, and is plainly formed by the evaporation of aqueous deposits. We have specimens in the State Museum.

"This all goes to confirm a theory I have long held that when gold is found in pockets in quartz ledges it has been carried there by tellurides which volatilize, leaving the gold behind. This is the way I account for a singular development up in Coos county, Or. They were doing some placer mining in a certain locality there, and some of the men conceived the idea that there must be a quartz ledge near by from which the gold came. So they turned on a stream of water and hydrauliced a ledge which carried an infinitesimal quantity of the metal, excepting in one hole, shaped like a stovepipe and going down no one knows how far; and the hole was like a chimney from some underground furnace, for it was lined as if with soot with telluride of gold, telluride of silver and free gold, and they took $1000 out of it.

"The Bonanza mine at Sonora, Tuolumne county, presents another instance that it seems to me can only be explained in this way. They were doing a little mining there, and the miners started to dig a cellar to keep their butter and eggs cool in summer, and ran across a pocket of gold so rich that in three days they had taken 986 pounds weight of gold out of it, valued at $209,000, and out of the rest of the ledge they took in all $21,000. There is always lots of telluride in these pockets, and it appears to me as if it somehow leaches out or decomposes, setting the gold free.

"Gold does grow; not in the sense of the growth of the flower, which germinating in the seed, assimilates unto itself varying elements from the soil and air and water, converting these into stem and leaf and blossom; but the deposits of the yellow metal in the earth's crust are being constantly fed by hidden processes going so far beneath the surface and out of human sight."
