CHAIRMAN GRAY'S COMMITTEE MEETS TONIGHT.

Racing of All Descriptions—Will be Kept Up all Day—Myrtles and Heanani Boys will Keep Open House.

Chairman Charles Gray has issued a call for a meeting of the Regatta committee at the Hawaiian Hotel tonight. The details for next Saturday's program will be arranged and various other matters pertaining to the Regatta day celebration attended to.

Regatta day is a legal holiday and all kinds of business will be suspended for the day, giving all an opportunity to witness the sports. The races will begin at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, and will continue throughout the day until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Chairman Gray stated today that the program will be much larger than that of last year. One of the features will be a yacht race for first and second class yachts. The course will be to Diamond Head and back.

Another event will be a boat race between the Chinese and Japanese fishermen.

An exciting swimming match has been arranged for. Dan Ranier, who defeated all comers at the international swimming contest in Chicago this year; Ginger Mayne, of the barracks; John Marshall, the Honolulu champion, and a number of crack Hawaiian swimmers have entered.

The sailor lads from the Philadelphia, Bennington and British ship Comus will try conclusions in the big whale boats.

The native boat boys at Brewer's landing will try conclusions for short distances.

The police will row against men-of-war, and boat club boys in four-oared barges.

The Heanani, Leilani and Myrtle oarsmen will compete in four-oared shells and six oared barges.

In the four-oared shell race, the Myrtles have kindly loaned the shell "J. H. Rogers" to the Leilani boys. They will enter this race in a six oared sliding seat barge, removing the two extra seats. The Myrtle enthusiasts fear that they will lose them the race but they do not mind the handicap.

There will be canoe races, sailing races, diving matches, and all kinds of sports sandwiched in during the day.

The Myrtles and Heanani's will keep open house on Regatta day, probably giving dances in the evening.

The Bennington and Comus officers will entertain on board their respective ships. The Philadelphia officers will do likewise if the flagship is in port.

INVITED THEM TO PLAY.

The secretary of the Honolulu Cricket club has sent an invitation to the Captain of H. B. M. S. Comus, to play a series of cricket games. In view of the short stay of the warship in this port, he named Wednesday next for the first match. There will be a general practice tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the ground opposite the Drill Shed. A full turn out is expected.

BY SPECIAL TRAIN.

Dr. Herbert Goes to Waianae to Attend James Holt's Child.

Dr. Herbert was summoned to Waianae on a special train on Saturday afternoon to attend the infant son of James Holt, the Makaha Valley rancher. The child was taken ill several days ago, and developed a case of bronchitis. Dr. French of Waianae was in attendance, but seemed unable to cope with the disease. On Saturday the child grew worse, and Mr. Holt telephoned post haste to Dr. Herbert to go down. The special engine went just ahead of the excursion train that carried the gay crowd to Pearl City, and arrived in Waianae about the same time. Dr. Herbert was driven to Mr. Holt's residence behind a fast team, and spent several hours with the child. This morning the little fellow was reported much better and on the road to health.

CLASS TO BE FORMED WITH J. Q. WOOD AT THE HEAD.

Will Meet Once a Week at the Y. M. C. A. Hall—Young Men Will Discuss Civil and Municipal Government.

One week from tonight the various educational classes of the Young Men's Christian Association will be organized for the fall term. The enrollment lists have been open for the past few days. Secretary Coleman says that judging from the present indications there will be a large enrollment in all classes.

There are several new features in this year's work. Chief among these is the class which will be organized to take up the study of civil and municipal government.

J. Q. Wood, the well known attorney, will be the leader of the class. He will have one or two assistants, including Secretary Coleman. The class meeting will be once a week.

It will be Mr. Wood's aim to impress upon the young men who will make up his class the benefit of good citizenship. Our own government as well as the types of modern governments, together with the history and relations will be taken up. The course will probably include discussions upon the citizen, the voter, political parties, administration, organization of the federal government, constitution of the United States, the unwritten constitution, public laws, the state government, problem of the unemployed, the citizen in business, the law of nations and many other interesting topics.

THE DOCKET IS CLEAR.

The Kauai Circuit Court is expected to clear up the September docket today or tomorrow. The last case of Knudson against Paloa is the last case on the docket and it was scheduled for trial today.

MAY COME TOMORROW.

Alfred Brock of Oakland may be among the passengers to arrive on the Australia tomorrow. Mr. Brock has been offered the position of assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association.

THE COMUS IN PORT.

British Cruiser Arrives as Expected From Esquimaux.

The old British cruiser Comus, 2360 tons, arrived yesterday morning from Esquimaux, after a run of 17 days, under canvas. After getting into the harbor she anchored in the berth recently vacated by the Penguin.

The Comus is on her first visit to Honolulu. She was sent out from England two years ago on what will probably be her last cruise, and has been employed on Pacific stations ever since that time, and carries only ten guns. She will remain here for perhaps three or four weeks and then proceed home to England to go out of commission.

Following is a list of officers of the Comus: H. M. Dyke, captain; J. S. Luard, H. L. Watts Jones, G. T. E. Pike, C. D. Ralke, C. S. Willis, D. A. Stainforth, lieutenants; Rev. T. Kane, B. A., chaplain and naval instructor; E. Corcoran, staff surgeon; F. W. Mortimore, staff paymaster; J. Lane, staff engineer; G. R. Cooper, gunner; R. Hoskins, boatswain; J. C. Matheson, carpenter; A. C. Fellows, B. Backhouse, J. W. Carrington, M. B. Baillie Hamilton, J. G. Hartley and H. Seymour, midshipmen.

WILL SEE THE COFFEE LANDS.

American Minister Sewall and Consul General Haywood will be shown over the coffee plantations in the Waianae district next Saturday, by W. H. Hoogs and Collector General McStocker. The party will go to Waianae on a special train.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

Chowder Party Given Complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Hatch.

Minister and Mrs. S. M. Damon entertained at their Moanua place, on Saturday afternoon in honor of Minister and Mrs. F. M. Hatch. A dinner was served on the lanai. The Quintette club provided native songs and music. Among those present were President and Mrs. Dole, American Minister and Mrs. Sewall, Attorney General and Mrs. W. O. Smith, Consul General and Mrs. Haywood, Admiral Miller and staff, Mr. and Mrs. Swanzy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Castle, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. Benjes, Dr. and Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Widdfield, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. Moses, Mrs. Nauman, Miss Nellie White and Miss Adele Widdfield.

FISHING PARTY.

The fishing party on the J. A. Cummins had no difficulty in finding the shoal discovered by the survey vessel Penguin. It was located about seventeen miles southeast of the Molokai light, and the Cummins found anchorage in thirty fathoms of water. The sharks are numerous, but game fish scarce. The party returned in the evening.

PAID HIS RESPECTS.

Captain Dyke of H. B. M. S. Comus made a call on the Foreign Office and later upon Colonel Fisher at Military headquarters this morning. The Guard turned out.

THE MYRTLE SENIORS BEAT THE HEALANI CREW.

Was a Close and Exciting Finish—The Myrtle Juniors Win with Apparent Ease—A Great Day of Sport.

After the races on Saturday the Myrtle boys instead of raising their flag, hoisted a new broom over their quarters at Pearl Harbor, indicating a clean sweep.

In the presence of twelve hundred people, the senior and junior crews of the Myrtle club defeated their adversaries over the mile and a half course in Pearl Harbor. The finish in the senior race was intensely exciting and many who stood along the banks and on the pier at the finish, pronounce it to be the finest race it has ever been their pleasure to witness.

The Myrtles were not the favorites in the junior race and their excellent work on Saturday was a pleasant surprise to many who wore the red and white.

The first train to Pearl Harbor in the afternoon carried about four hundred people who selected the choicest seats along the mauka bank of the course. The 3:15 train was delayed for a considerable time. This was occasioned by a special preceding excursion train carrying on board Dr. Herbert, who had been summoned to Waianae to attend a serious case. Nearly all the yachts found their way to Pearl Harbor. H. M. Dow, C. S. Rose, Oscar E. White, B. F. Dillingham, W. E. Frear and A. Dowsett, entertained their friends in various fashions.

Immediately upon the arrival of the delayed excursion train at Pearl City, the judges hurried to the Allen place where C. B. Wilson instructed the oarsmen who were grouped about him in the rules they must observe in the race. This done, the judges, time keepers, newspaper representatives and Chairman Charles Gray of the Regatta committee, embarked on the Bennington steam launch and made direct for the starting point.

The junior crews were the first to compete for honors. A big delay was occasioned by the tardiness of the Leilani oarsmen in putting in an appearance. A good start was made at 5:30 o'clock.

The Myrtles took the lead by a 5/16 of a half dozen quick strokes. The crew then settled down to a 31 or 32 stroke and held the lead to the finish, about four boat lengths. The time of the Myrtles was 10 minutes 29 1/2 seconds; the Heanani's, 10 minutes, 45 1/2 seconds; and Leilani's, 11 minutes and 45 seconds.

Last year the Myrtles went over the same course in 10 minutes and 21 seconds.

At the start the Heanani boys pulled a 34 stroke, but finally settled down after a quarter of a mile pull to a 22 stroke. They made a noble effort to overhaul the Myrtles, but it was of no avail.

The Leilani's kept up a 25 or 26 stroke for some little time, but despite their fast pulling they were obliged to finish last.

W. Lyke pulled stroke for the Myrtles. His work is favorably commented upon by Coxswain Arthur Wilder, W. Damon, Charles S. Crane and Sam Johnson were the other members of the victorious crew.

C. H. Tracey, a powerful young athlete, was stroke in the Heanani crew. C. C. Rhodes pulled No. 3 oar, John Waterhouse No. 2 and R. W. Atkinson bow.

Prince David Kawananakoa was the stroke in the Leilani crew. William Kealoha, Joe Conradt, and Samuel Woods comprised the remainder of the crew.

The sun was rapidly sinking when preparations were made for the senior race. Everyone had waited patiently for this race as it was considered the event of the day.

The launch carrying the judges steamed hurriedly to the Waipio end of the course to hasten a start. The Myrtle crew was the first to arrive. The Heanani's and Leilani's came out shortly afterward.

An excellent start was made by all the crews save the Myrtles, who lost a boat length or so as the bow man was not ready at the start. They quickly settled down to business and before fifty yards had been covered were pulling a steady 32 stroke.

To the mauka side of the Myrtles were the Leilani's, pulling a rapid and short stroke. At one time their stroke was timed and it was found then they were taking 45 and 46 strokes a minute.

The Heanani oarsmen were skimming over the water at a lively rate of speed. Before the mile flag had been reached they had gained such a distance on the Leilani's that Coxswain Nelson deemed it safe to cut into their course. From the start until the finish young Lansing steered his boat beautifully.

At the Bennington headquarters, which is between 150 and 200 yards from the finish of the pier at the Oahu railway, J. G. Spencer and Geo. E. Boardman had their glasses directed over the course. Mr. Spencer says that the Heanani's were the first to come across the field of his glass. Then he saw clear water, and it was several seconds, though it seemed like minutes to him, before the Myrtles were in sight. Both Mr. Spencer and Mr. Boardman estimated the headway of the Heanani crew at two boat-lengths at the Bennington place.

THE MARSHAL'S EYE ON THE BOXING EXHIBITION.

Says He will Not Interfere so Long as the Affair is Decently Conducted.

The "sports" who were refused a license for a "boxing exhibition" at the Pavilion last Saturday night, and who now propose to give a free show, will have Marshal Brown among their guests when the affair comes off. From the preparations that have been made there grows a strong suspicion that the promoters of the affair would like to create in Honolulu a desire for exhibitions of the manly art that they may later turn to profit.

There is a law on the statute books which prohibits "prize fighting," under heavy penalties, but it does not prohibit boxing or even staggard matches. The statutes however do not define the term "prize fight" and the Marshal would like to have the courts define it as a rule for future guidance. He may be given an opportunity at this time, although the managers of the exhibition declare that the men who are to participate would not think of accepting coin.

"I don't know that I shall take any action at all in the matter," said the Marshal this morning. "There is nothing in the law that prevents men from meeting in the ring and pounding each other, so long as they do it in a friendly spirit, without expecting to gain wealth. Of course it is a nice point to determine just what is meant by a prize fight, which is prohibited under the law. I shall attend the exhibition myself, and don't know that I shall interfere, so long as the affair is conducted in an orderly manner."

A CURIOUS THING.

An Incident Occurs Which is Exciting a Great Deal of Attention.

This morning while a young lady artist in the Davey photograph gallery was employed on some iridium pictures she was startled by the loud report.

Upon investigation she found that an ordinary cast glass, containing some water and coloring had burst. The peculiar thing is that eleven regular pieces of the broken glass, resembling the shape of a tomahawk had been broken from the bottom of the tumbler and were laid about in a circle. The tumbler was left suspended to the bottom by one-quarter of an inch of glass.

Mr. Davey has exhibited the tumbler in his display window.

THIS WEEK'S STEAMERS.

The Australia from the Coast and the City of Peking from the Orient are looked for tomorrow. The Moana will probably arrive from the Colonies on Wednesday, and sail for San Francisco on Thursday.

The Mariposa and Dorie will be in port in all likelihood on next Thursday.

WILL LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

Rioters on Kauai Acknowledge Their Guilt and Take Punishment.

The Fourth Circuit court at Lihue, Kauai, was occupied for the greater part of the past week with cases arising out of the riot that took place on the Lihue plantation in April last.

A very large panel was summoned, the reason being that there was a likelihood that many would be disqualified. As it happened a jury on the case of Walters, charged with manslaughter, was secured in two hours and a half. The other jurors were excused and instructed to absent themselves from the precincts of the court during this trial, as they were liable to be called on the kindred riot cases.

After a trial lasting from Monday morning until Wednesday afternoon, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

In the riot case a jury was waived, the rioters pleaded guilty and agreed to leave the country. Several cases were before the court in which Chinese and Japanese were tried for selling liquor without a license.

Major Mulhauser of Cleveland, Ohio, will leave for the States on the Australia of next week. It is quite likely that he will return on the same boat in October. ### GRAND POLO TOURNAMENT AT MAKAWAO.

Entertainment at Makawao Foreign Church—Nahiku Lands Appraised—Deputy Sheriffs Change Places.

Maui, Sept. 11, 1897. There will be a grand polo tournament at Makawao this afternoon. The participants were divided into three sides, as follows: Reds, L. von Tempisky, W. H. King and S. E. Kelaina; Whites, G. H. Bailey, W. F. Pogue and B. D. Baldwin; Blues, A. D. Baldwin, W. A. Baldwin and J. L. Fleming. A great many spectators will be present.

Last night a delightful literary and musical program was given in the Makawao foreign church. A large number of people attended. It was a beautiful moonlight night and refreshments were served after the program. A zither solo by Mr. Schuemeister and a piano solo by Mrs. Higby were very warmly applauded. Miss Kate Watson rendered "The Convent Bells" on the piano. Miss Turner gave a reading, Miss Simpson and Miss Fleming sang, Miss Agnes Fleming recited "The Bell of Auld," and Messrs Lindsey, Baldwin and Nicoll gave a vocal trio. A bell dirge and readings by different ones in the audience were also features of the evening.

Nahiku lands were appraised this week. The appraisal will go down today. The land will be thrown open shortly.

A package of letters for business houses in Lahaina was somehow or other put in a wrong bag in Honolulu, and sent to Paia. As soon as the postmaster here heard of it, he telephoned to Paia to have the package forwarded to Waikoua and sent there for it. It reached Lahaina on Friday morning.

E. Omstead, deputy sheriff of Waimea, Kauai, and W. J. Sheldon, deputy sheriff of Lahaina, are to change places for a while. Omstead arrived at Lahaina on Thursday with Sheriff Baldwin, and Sheldon leaves tonight by the Claudine.

The Kinatua made a good run from Honolulu last Friday and anchored off Lahaina at 5 o'clock p. m. The merry-go-round at Lahaina broke down last Tuesday, but is ready to take in the dimes and half dimes tonight.

LAUNCH AND BARGE WRECKED.

The Star launch, owned by C. S. Desky, and the Myrtle barge Aloha, are a total wreck. C. Bellman and Bert McNeill started out for Pearl Harbor Friday morning in the launch to tow the barge, which was to be used on Saturday by the club boys. In a storm the boat and launch were dashed onto the reef, breaking them into splinters. Bellman and Nicoll abandoned the launch and swam ashore.

TONIGHT'S BAND CONCERT.

This evening the Government band will render the following program at Emma Square:

- Overture—Masaniello . . . . . Auber
- Finale—Carmen . . . . . Bizet
- Selection—Martha . . . . . Flotow
- Hooheoo. Pua Alani, Nu'ia ka Palani. Mr. D. Moe.

CLIPPERTON ISLAND.

A late paper says: It is learned from Paul J. Hending, an employee of the Pacific Phosphate Company, that the American flag is flying on Clipperton Island. He has been living on the island with two other men, and they successfully resisted the attempt of Captain McMurtry of the ship Kinkora to hoist the British flag there three months ago.

The Kinkora was wrecked and the three Americans held as wreckage almost a million feet of lumber which was washed ashore. H. M. S. Comus visited the island, but did not disturb the stars and stripes nor enter a claim for the valuable lumber.

THE HEALTHY WOMAN.

Aside from form or features, she has an attractiveness all her own. The bloom on her cheek, the elasticity in her step, the ring of her voice, her enjoyment of life—all these are magnets which draw others to her side. Wonderful and valuable as it is, health is not so difficult a thing to obtain as some discouraged ones think. Most of the troubles of women arise from impure blood, impaired nutrition, low vitality, and general debility. Modern science furnishes the most successful of remedies for this condition—namely

The schooner John G. North, Christensen, sailed from Honolulu on the 9th inst. for San Francisco, with a cargo of 690,228 lbs. sugar, valued at $23,976.74. Theo. H. Davies & Co., Ltd., shippers and agents.

The S. C. Allen brought only 700 tons of general merchandise to Davies & Co. Captain Johnson reports fine weather. He is glorying in the fact that although it took him 22 days to get up last trip, he beat the Diamond Head by 9 days.

The brig John D. Spreckels, Christensen, sailed from Mahukona, on the 9th inst. for San Francisco, with a cargo of 788,162 pounds of sugar, value $25,953.94, and $105 hides, valued at $427.26; shippers, Castle & Cooke; 2932 bags; T. H. Davies & Co., 3830 bags, and S. G. Wilder & Co., hides.

The Mikahala got in yesterday with 3777 bags of sugar, which went into the Aloha this morning. The Aloha has now to go to the Mail dock for a small lot of 500 bags, and then will prepare for sea, although her cargo is short. Captain Dabel says he will sail about noon tomorrow, with about 1,000 tons of sugar.

The Star announced some time ago that the Claudine would probably go to the coast this month or next to have some new plates put in. Nothing has since been done in regard to the matter. When President Wight returns from the Coast tomorrow, it will be decided definitely whether or not the steamer will go this year.

For the third time the S. C. Allen and the S. N. Castle arrived in port side by side this morning, having made the run from San Francisco in 14 days. The two vessels were towed out of San Francisco by the same tug and during the first eight days were in company. The Mauna Ala, supposed to be faster than either of them, started an hour ahead of them, but was not seen after the second day, and has not yet put in an appearance here. It is a remarkable coincidence that the Castle and Allen have come down in exactly the same time three consecutive times.

Dear Sir: I have one of your TWO DISC PLOW at work on my ranch at Wailae, and am pleased to report that it gives me the fullest satisfaction. In two days, with four Hawaiian mules, I can do as much work with your implement as I can do in seven days when using eight mules or twelve oxen, with a mould board plow, and the pulverization is much better when using the disc. In the rocky ground your plow either rolls over the rocks or cuts through them, and we find it unnecessary to sharpen the discs, which scour perfectly and were set at such an angle that friction with the earth makes them self-sharpeners. I am, dear sir, yours very truly, PAUL R. ISENBERG.

THE PORTUGUESE VOTE.

There is a statement being set before the Portuguese by certain interested parties, which is made purely out of whole cloth. It is that in the event of annexation they will not have a vote. It is an absolute fabrication made for campaign purposes. Under annexation the Portuguese will have a vote as much as the Anglo-Saxon. If we are admitted as a territory we shall not have a vote for the President of the United States, but as we do not have a vote for that at the present time either, it will be no great privation to do without. It will, however, be something to hope for in the future, and if we are annexed, we may look forward in time to the Presidential vote. But after all this is but a sentimental matter, and what we want are practical matters.

Under annexation we shall have a territorial legislature, which will manage our internal affairs, and every Portuguese will be eligible to vote for the members of that, just as much as he is eligible to vote for the members of the coming Legislature. Whether he chooses to exercise his right or not is quite another affair, but he will have the right or if he comes to the Islands after annexation he can obtain the right just as he does in the United States.

We can have more, if we want it, under the laws which govern territories, we can obtain a charter and organize a city government. And under such a charter the Portuguese would have a voice in the management of the affairs of the city, which they do not now possess. In fact with annexation the Portuguese will occupy far stronger political position than they do today.

A very large number of the Portuguese know this, and no amount of cheap rhetoric will shake them in their determination to support annexation now, as they have done in the past. A few may be led away by this bugaboo story of losing their votes, but they are very few.

To shew upon what a flimsy platform this opposition to annexation among the few Portuguese stands, the gentleman who is striving to urge his countrymen to such a course, himself says that were it not for the fear of losing his vote he would support annexation. The Star would not say that he is striving wilfully to deceive his countrymen, but will give him the benefit of the doubt of being deceived by other parties who are battling for the lost cause of royalty. He, an acknowledged republican, and belonging to a distinctly Republican section of the Portuguese nation, is, so far as one can judge from his attitude, being made the cat's paw of Royalists, and is led, probably with good intentions, to strive to play into their hands.

Who obtained the vote for the Portuguese here? The Royalists? Not a bit of it, the Reform Party in 1887—and the Reform Party of 1887 is the Annexation Party of 1897. And annexation is not going to interfere with the Portuguese vote, any more than it is going to interfere with the vote of the Anglo-Saxons who live on these Islands. The tendency of the United States is to extend and not to restrict the franchise, to give liberty, not to take it away.

Lose annexation, and the Portuguese colony here will lose its chances of prosperity. It will be among the first to feel the pinch of the hard times. It has done well, it has worked hard, and its work has been crowned with success. The colonists here have not only been able to better their own condition, but they have also been able to assist their own people at home, and have either supported parents and relations in their own country or have made money enough to bring them to live out here. Accumulation of wealth will follow the present prosperity and the colony will become still more powerful, but the accumulation has no come yet. Sweep away the present prosperity of the country and you sweep away the prosperity of the Portuguese with it. The very property that they now own will crumble in their hands like dead sea fruit. For if annexation is not obtained work will be scarce, people will go away, land and houses will deteriorate in value. This is what the colony has to consider when any of its members strive to lead them against annexation.

To belong to a great state, to have prosperous times, to stand as a voter upon republican equality, these annexation offers. Anti-annexation only offers wrecked homes and disaster.

Again that utter falsehood about the treatment of the Hawaiians by the people of the United States seems to be cropping up. The Hawaiians have ever been treated as equals and with courtesy by their American brethren. Hundreds of Hawaiian ladies have travelled in the United States and they have ever received the greatest attention and the most perfect deference. Which of them in the hotels of San Francisco, New York or Washington has received anything but the best accommodations and the most polite treatment. Which of them, after a trip to the United States, has not wished to repeat it? Had the treatment been insulting would that wish exist? Hawaiian ladies both of pure and mixed blood have mingled in the very best society of those cities, and hundreds of minor cities. Notable Americans have chosen their wives from here and, on settling in the States, they have taken their social position as the social equals of the best families in the country. This harping on a string that the Hawaiian, by annexation, will be socially ostracized is almost wicked in its venom. Those who circulate it know the utter untruth of it, but it shews to what desperate straits they are driven when they have to fall back upon statements which have no foundation.

KEEP AT IT.

It is a melancholy idea that all the literature, all the magazine articles, all the letters of correspondents, all the pamphlets that have been written, have, according to the morning paper, had little or no effect upon the American people. Happily there are many who think otherwise. There are those that that, and think rightly, that not a single letter that goes from these Islands, dealing with the condition of affairs here, fails of making some mark.

The letters or the ideas contained in the letters filters into the press, and how ever pessimistic an idea the morning contemporary may have of the press, judged from its own standard, the press has a very large influence in moulding and helping to form the opinions of masses of people. For one man who will carefully read a report, a thousand will read newspaper paragraphs and magazine articles.

There is no need to let up on the work of informing the public of the United States what the conditions are here, and of shewing how the annexation feeling is growing even among the native Hawaiians. For growing it is and nothing goes more to prove it than the fact that an anti-annexation meeting held in this city could not scare up more than 300 people to attend it, many of whom only looked on and many more of whom were women. It is also shewn by the statement of Senator Kaubane, a native Hawaiian, who tells us, in an interview published last Saturday, that a number of his people are in favor of annexation, that others are on the verge of becoming annexationists, and is still further shewn by the apathy of others of the Hawaiians upon the question.

The more the question is agitated the more it is clearly understood both here and abroad, and it would be the height of weakness at this stage of the game to follow the advice of Cassandra, give up working for the cause and go to sleep, dreaming of what had been done, but not putting a finger to help on the wheel of advancement.

The past can not return, neither the pseudo monarchy nor a theocracy will ever rule the Islands. We shall march as the world is marching and Democracy, under the Stars and Stripes, will be the governing power of these Islands. For this end, however assured we may be of the ultimate result we must work, and both tongue and pen must never falter in pushing forward towards the goal we all hope to reach.

WHAT IS IT?

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer.

The Russell Staple Puller and Wire Splicer is a drop forge tool, made of black diamond tool steel, and embraces six tools in one; weight, about a pound, and can be carried in the hip pocket with ease.

The six tools are as follows:
1. Double staple puller, nails, etc.

2. Double wire cutter.

3. Double hammer, non-breakable.

4. Good wire splicer, for any kind of wire, barbed wire included.

5. Good pair pincers, with long leverage.

Good monkey wrench, for plows, machines, etc.

The leading fence companies throughout the middle and western States have adopted this tool for use in putting up their fences, and recommend it as the best tool of its kind in use.

It is one of those tools that while used in wire fence work, yet might be called a "household article," as everyone that has used it claim they cannot afford to be without it around the house, barn and farm.

If other dealers tell you that they have something that will do as well and is cheaper, don't have it. Why? Because no one or two tools are as cheap as six.

Novelty Week.

The smokeless stove, on which water is boiled in our show window, has been a great attraction for several days to students in philosophy. The Jewel is a good stove, anyway.

The special subject for the people this week is not stoves. That subject is a daily one. This week you will have novelties of all sorts.

This is the season when the hens go on strike and the price of eggs goes skyward. Hens want a little encouragement now and then, and the best thing known to science is green bones. But they must be cut up fine. We have the best green bone cutter in the world.

Another novelty is the soap saver, made of re-tinned wire, basket shaped, with long handles. This is the best soap known, and we have three sizes. They are cheaper than dirt and much more beautifying.

Dripless tea and coffee strainers are new and very serviceable. There's a cut-off attachment which prevents coffee or tea from dripping on the table cloth after the cup is filled. Very cheap, these, and pretty, too.

A six-knife Victor meat chopper for a quarter seems like a dream, but it isn't. We sell them at that price, and we sell the holdfast dust pan—the best you ever saw.

The latest in toasters is the revolving star. Enables the cook to toast five pieces of bread at once. Try one.

BY A HALF BOAT LENGTH

It was at this point that the Myrtle oarsmen, catching the word from their coxswain, began a steady spurt to the finish. They began just in the nick of time for they won the race by a half boat length. Captain C. J. Campbell and Captain Parker, the judges at the finish, give this decision. The difference might have been a little more or a little less.

The time announced by Capt. Griffiths was 9 minutes 47 1/2 seconds. The Healanis were but three or four seconds slower.

The Lellanis began to lose from the start. At the finish their time was not taken. The senior crew finished a worse third than did the junior crew. The senior crew adopted the English method of rowing, which consists of rapid rowing with quick arm recovery.

The members of the crews in the senior race were:

Myrtle—O. Sorenson, stroke; L. Scott, P. Lishman, W. Crozier, and Coxswain Wilder.
Healanis—J. W. Lloyd, stroke; J. Spencer, H. Williams, F. B. Damon, and Coxswain N. Lansing.

AN ABANDONED MINE.

One Man Made a Fortune Out of It Over Forty Years Ago.

Far up on the left shoulder of Bald mountain is the old Hagenbottom mine. It is an old mine, so old and so long abandoned that even local tradition concerning it is very hazy. There is an old trail leading down from it, dim and hardly traceable, bearing easterly and north around Black Top, and out over Ni'Wot hill. Over this trail, it is said, ore came down, hundreds of tons of it, and by ox teams was dragged over the rough country 30 miles to the smelter at Central City. In those days it cost $50 a ton to smelt ore, $50 more to freight it in, $10 to pack it down the trail, $20 to mine it, and yet they say this old man Hagenbottom made a fortune from the mine and lived in affluence all his remaining days.

All this was over 40 years ago, while yet Denver was a sheep pasture, and the great mines like the Ni'Wot, Uteia, Dew Drop and Star, that have since made the reputation of Ward, were undreamed of. All these years the old mine, despite its traditions, has lain untouched, high up among the almost perpetual snows, its shafthouse of logs standing stiffly against the winds and its old shaft filled to the collar with perpetual ice. Few people visit it. Few people even know of its existence, and it is only recently that your correspondent went upon the ground, for rumor has it that the old mine is to be brought to life. It is a slightly spot. Behind it rises the snowy range, before it the endless foothills, merging into the plain. There is something impressive in its splendid isolation. To the east and north Ward nestles far below, while directly before, in perfect descending line, are the many dumps marking the projected course of the great adit tunnel, at whose mouth Camp Frances seems to stand like a cluster of hives. Elsewhere nothing of life—snow, endless snow, and limitless waste of mountain.—Denver Times.

THE SPERM WHALE.

Some Interesting Facts About This Monster of the Sea.

The common sperm whale, or cachalot, has a very wide geographical range; it is said that it inhabits all seas except those near the poles. It is much sought after because it furnishes us with spermaceti, ambergris and much fine oil.

As a rule, it is from 70 to 80 feet in length. Its head is immense, being equal to one-half of the entire bulk of the animal and more than one-third of its length. The right side of the head and nose is occupied by a cartilaginous, triangular shaped cavity, called by whalers the "case," which is the main receptacle for spermaceti. The "case" is divided into compartments communicating with each other, and it often contains as much as ten large barrels of spermaceti.

Though the head is large and clumsy looking, it does not impede the whale's movements in the least, for it raises its head above the surface of the water when swimming and keeps it above when at rest.

It is not very well known of what use the spermaceti is to the whale, except that it gives buoyancy to the fore part of its body. Ambergris is a fragrant, wax secretion. It is a gray substance and when heated or dissolved in alcohol gives off a peculiar, agreeable odor exceedingly diffusive. It also has the power of increasing the odor of other perfumes. Often it is found floating on the sea or lying on the sea coast and is valued at about $5 an ounce.

Sperm whales traverse the seas in herds called "schools" or "pods" by whalers. Five hundred or more have been seen in a single "school," following a leader, whose duty seems to be to keep a close lookout for danger; in case of threatened harm he sounds an alarm by a peculiar roar.—Philadelphia Times.

PENSION QUESTION.

The New York Sun says: "Dividing the years since 1865 into four year periods, each equal in length to the duration of the war itself, the increase of pension expenditures to its present stupendous proportions is as follows:

1865-1868	$ 76,672,310
1869-1872	119,794,122
1873-1876	116,111,454
1877-1880	146,999,427
1881-1884	234,846,276
1885-1888	374,824,741
1889-1892	453,560,658
1893-1896	581,394,073
Total	$2,004,172,831

To emphasize the magnitude of this sum the Sun shows that the cost of carrying on the war, including every item of expenditure except interest on money borrowed to carry on the struggle, is placed in the official reports as follows:

Fiscal Year	War.	Navy.
1862	$ 289,173,562	$ 42,640,353
1863	603,314,412	63,261,235
1864	690,291,049	85,704,964
1865	1,039,690,400	122,617,434

Over eighty per cent of the greatest musicians, artists, poets and scientists according to Professor Halleck became famous before the age of thirty.

"In the case of the vast majority," said the professor in a recent lecture in the city of Philadelphia, "the brain attains its maximum weight by the age of fifteen. Examination of sections of the spinal cord have shown that between the time of birth and the age of fifteen there has been one hundred per cent increase in the number of developed nerve cells, while an increase of only four and six-tenths per cent has been shown after fifteen."

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit.
"My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." Read what Ayer's Sarsaparilla did for the Rev. Z. P. Wilds, a well-known city missionary in New York and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds:

"I was for many years a sufferer from boils and other eruptions of a like nature, caused by the impoverished state of my blood. My appetite was poor and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by observation of the good it had done to others, I began taking it. My

LARGE TRADE WITH JAPAN

GREAT INCREASE IN EXPORTS FROM THE UNITED STATES.

Manufacturers of Iron and Steel, Cotton Goods and Oils Are Especially Prominent—The Imports.

A recent report from the British legation at Tokio reviews the foreign trade of Japan during the past year, says the Washington Star. In the supply of machinery, rails, nails and pig iron, the United States assumed a leading place. Attention was called to the fact that at the close of 1896, American rails sold in Japan at prices 50 per cent below those current at the place of manufacture, and that 30,000 tons of American rails were sold at lower prices than British makers were willing to accept. The British representative also pointed out that the American railway engine builders were likely to receive a great number of orders during the present year. An unusual demand for metals, textiles and raw materials is noted, going to show the growth of manufactures in Japan.

A reference to American official statistics fully sustains the matters as mentioned by the representative of Great Britain at Tokio. From these it is seen that there has been a great increase in American exports to Japan, which have risen from $2,288,252 in 1892, a year of large general exports, to $13,230,970 for the fiscal year just closed. The increase over the fiscal year of 1896 amounts to about $5,500,000. This increase was mainly in cotton and manufactures of cotton, manufactures of iron and steel, including machinery, mineral oil refined, manufactured tobacco, lumber and wheat flour. The increase in the manufactures of iron and steel and in raw cotton is especially noticeable.

The following table will exhibit the growth of exports of the articles mentioned:

	1892	1894	1897
Wheat flour.....	$ 179,248	$ 211,579	$ 819,639
Cotton.....	123,729	269,992	2,345,016
Cotton cloths.....	10,330	42,764	141,264
Shoes.....	26,322	28,191	99,623
Machinery and steel.....	147,110	192,667	2,587,822
Leather.....	19,784	115,628	348,843
Oils, min'l, refined.....	1,812,414	2,226,247	4,221,388
Paraffin.....	959	7,316	17,476
Tobacco.....	16,811	170,904	4,757,772
Wool and m's of.....	42,912	31,339	218,714

In other items, there has also been a substantial increase. In only one instance has there been a decrease from the value of exports in 1896, namely, in sole leather, which fell from $174,692 to $213,853.

Notwithstanding the heavy increase in exports the United States buys even more from Japan than we sell to that country. During the year just ended the value of Japanese goods brought into the United States was $24,009,756. Compared with last year, this is a decrease of about $1,500,000. However, the value of Japanese imports has been subject to comparatively little fluctuation for a number of years, ranging from $14,885,537 in 1896, to $27,454,239 in 1893.

The first time Japan appeared separately in our trade records was in 1855, when the value of imports was $60,527. There were no exports to be recorded. In 1860 however the value of exports was $138,774. From this insignificant figure our export trade to Japan has increased, mainly since 1890, to its present gratifying proportions. Of course, the principal articles imported from Japan are tea, silk, rice and matting. Earthen, stone and china ware, crude camphor, sulphur, wax, etc., are items of considerable importance. Of the 113,343,175 pounds of tea imported by the United States during the fiscal year 1897, Japan supplied 45,465,161 pounds and China 56,788,024 pounds.

The import of chief value, raw silk, was last year valued at $10,010,835. Raw silk is free of duty. Manufactured silk which total value of free goods imported during the year was $18,809,609, and of dutiable goods, $5,201,147.

These figures are fairly representative of recent years. In connection with the importation of Japanese teas it is noted that the prices have in fifteen years decreased fully one half. Thus in 1881 the quantity of tea imported was about 97,000,000 pounds, valued at $8,886,897. In 1895, 36,941,394 pounds, were valued at $4,601,041, and the last year's import, 45,465,161 pounds, at $5,651,279. The highest value of Japanese tea imported was reached in 1876, 31,167,197 pounds, at $10,426,530.

COLOGIES FOR GIRLS.

If some of the mothers of girls who seem to have no taste for anything but to attend college would give them a thorough course in roasting, boiling, stitology, darnology, patchology, washology, and general hustleology, there would be more housekeepers than there are at present.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr. E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros. Drug Company of St. Louis, Mo. I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I know of no medicine or prescription equal to it. I consulted and dealers should hold their hands off a household remedy." For sale by all druggists and dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

NOT ON THE TICKET.

A sensation was sprung at the Central Committee headquarters yesterday afternoon by the announcement that there had been an omission in the ticket filed and consequently the entire ticket would be illegal. After working everybody up to fever heat the member making this announcement stated that the omission consisted in the failure to include Rainier Beer on the list of candidates for popular favor. Rainier Beer, however, does not need to be on any ticket, as it was long ago voted to be the best beer made on the coast. Criterion Saloon. Telephone 780.

Weekly Star, $4 per year.

Fighting Fires in Winter Weather.

To stand upon the peak of a ladder at perhaps the third or fourth story of a building, directing the stream of water at the blazing interior while the thermometer is at about its lowest point, is not a comfortable task. Perhaps another stream is playing over your head, and you stand in an icy spray. Icicles hang from every point of your fire hat, and the rubber coat is frozen to your back, and the water that is falling about you freezes as fast as it falls. Every movement upon the ladder is fraught with danger; for it is so incrustated with ice that it is almost impossible to get a solid foothold, and a misstep would hurl you to the ground, 40 feet or low.—Charles T. Hill in St. Nicholas.

Good House.

The Lady—"I'll give you a good meal; you will eat up some of that wood."
The Tramp—"Sorry, but I cannot accommodate you, madam."
"Too lazy to work, I suppose?"
"Not that, madam; not that. I would be false to my trust. You see, I'm a member of the Society for the Preservation of the American Forests, and we never eat any wood."—Yonkers Statesman.

Sympathy.

His Mother-in-law—"Why, what's the matter? You look as gloomy as a new moon in a fog!"
He—"No wonder! Bilkins called me a colossal ass!"
His Mother-in-law—"Well, you are large."—Larks.

A MEMORY SPOILED.

One Aug 15, when the libations had been copious and the old fellows in the Invalids had grown more talkative than usual, Gaulliac began to talk about the fact that "the Little Corporal" had spoken to him, a mere soldier. He said he would never forget it.

"Indeed! You have never told us about that," replied Bernardin. "When did he speak to you?"
 "When? Oh, that's my affair!"
 "What did he say to me? That's also my affair."

"Yes, but—"
 "Well, he was passing along in front of the regiment, and when he came opposite to me stopped and said—"

"Well, what did he say? You surely don't hesitate to repeat it?"
 "No, no. I don't hesitate. He said to me—'that I looked like a d—d fool!'" replied Gaulliac, with an effort.

 Bernardin burst into a noisy laugh, and in a teasing manner said:
 "Perhaps he was right, but when the devil did he say that to you?"

"The eve of the battle of Lutzen, when he was reviewing the regiment!"

"Cro non, you don't look like a d—d fool! You are one!" It was not to you he said that. It was to me!"

"To you, to you, Bernardin!"

"Yes, yes, to me, and I'll prove it. We were elbow to elbow. He stopped in front of us. The colonel drew a notebook from his pocket, put his sword under his arm and said:

"He is very brave." To which the emperor replied:
 "That is not sufficient," and added, "He must also have the appearance of a fool." And as he spoke it was me he looked at—yes, me!"

"Bernardin," cried Gaulliac in a solemn and threatening manner, "you are telling me a lie. You are trying to steal from my heart one of its dearest memories. You are a bad fellow and a—"

"Ah, you have got the swelled head at my expense! I will not suffer it."

"Nor will I!"

"What next, then?"

"Bah! I am angry with everything and especially with you, who are jealous of what the emperor said to me."

"You are nothing more than a beast, an arch beast and an old bungler!" cried Bernardin in a state of exasperation and ready to throw a bottle at Gaulliac's head.

"Eh, bien! I—I shall—"

"There's no need to complete your sentence! Such insults are washed out only with blood. You will hear from me to-morrow."

And Bernardin went out proudly with his head in the air and his legs firmer than they were at the beginning of the dispute. Next day they met again in the Bois de Clamart. Bernardin brought with him two swords, freshly sharpened and wrapped up in a piece of cloth. He handed them to the seconds and quietly took off his cloak, avoiding his adversary's eyes and without saying a word.

One of the seconds, a decorated invalid, who had served with the two champions and who was known as Big David, took the two sabers, stuck them in the ground and said:

"This is not all. I want to know before we go any further why you two are going to fight. If you don't tell me, by gad, I'll take my leave!"

Gaulliac and Bernardin seemed a little disconcerted by this simple question. They exchanged glances and replied together:
 "That is our affair alone."

"Not at all, not at all," replied Big David, with a very pronounced Alsatian accent. "It is also the affair of the seconds. We cannot allow old comrades to fight unless they have a good reason."

"Eh, bien," said Gaulliac. "Bernardin has insulted me!"

"It is not true. It is Gaulliac who insulted me, and who?"

"But why? What about?"

They realized so keenly the humor of their position, these old soldiers, that neither of them answered the question.

"You will not explain? Then I shall at once go home," declared Big David.

"Listen a moment, David. A second is like a confessor. I will tell you the whole thing upon the condition that you will not prevent us fighting."

And Gaulliac related faithfully the whole quarrel.

Scarcely had he finished when Big David began to gumble and cut capers and flourish his stick in such a manner that they feared he was about to have a fit. He uttered some inarticulate sounds, in the midst of which certain words were nevertheless distinguishable.

"Such d—d fools, such d—d fools!"

Finally he calmed down, and, his eyes still filled with tears of delicious joy, he said:

"You are a couple of clowns. The emperor said that to me."

Bernardin and Gaulliac, moved by the same impulse, approached Big David with frowning eyebrows and closed fists. They would have struck him, but he stopped them with a gesture.

"Let me speak first, and afterward you can do as you please," he cried. "The night before the battle of Lutzen I was chosen by the colonel to carry a secret message to which the emperor attached the greatest importance. I was selected because I came from Saarouis and could speak German."

"I was furnished with a peasant's dress and cautioned to 'look as much like a d—d fool as possible and, if arrested, to behave like a donkey that wants his bran.' I was able to accomplish my mission to the satisfaction of my chiefs. I carried the message safely, and when I returned the colonel said that I should have a cross. The emperor, who always looked fixedly at the men, may have said what you heard him say before both of you, but it was of me he was thinking."

"And the proof of what you tell us?" demanded Bernardin and Gaulliac in the same breath.

"Is here," said Big David, showing his cross, "and I swear by this cross that I am speaking the truth. From this moment shake hands and let it all be declared at an end."

He had sworn by the cross of honor. It was impossible to doubt his word. Bernardin and Gaulliac shook hands, and their reconciliation was complete.

But the same evening, as they emptied the third bottle, Gaulliac grew sad and whispered in Big David's ear:
 "You have destroyed the most cherished souvenir of my military career!"—From the French.

A TALE OF GREECE.

A young Irish officer of a British regiment quartered at Corfu was in the habit of hunting frequently in Greece. One day while following a doe he became separated from his companions and lost his way. After considerable wandering he at last came in sight of the Ionian sea, with its numerous and beautiful islands. The day was now, however, far spent, and it was with much delight that, from the top of a hill, he espied the white walls of a Greek cottage before him. He determined at all risks to seek admission for an asylum for the night. He approached the door, which he found shut. He knocked loudly with his hunting whip, and quickly the door was opened by a Greek female, the loveliest his eyes had ever rested on. The young huntsman made his misfortunes and his wishes known to her in as good Albanian as he could master, to which she replied in Italian and invited him in.

The cause of manhood and misfortune seldom finds a deaf ear among the ladies, and this beautiful Greek yielded to its influence, and readily offered him an asylum, telling him at the same time that he must depart at daybreak, for if her male friends, who bore no great love to the English, caught him there he might regret his intrusion.

Costello—for such was the officer's name—readily assented, and joyfully took possession of the small chamber the beautiful Zoraida showed him for the night. He even, in the ecstasy of his admiration for his beautiful hostess, nearly forgot his poor steed. His recollection, however, quickly returned, and he sallied out to the stable and made the necessary arrangements for its comfort himself. The peculiarity of his situation not a little surprised him. Alone amid the desert mountains of Albania, with the most beautiful woman his eyes ever rested on, and conjuncture seemed at a stand to account for her solitary situation. "Is true, she had spoken of male relations, but he had as yet seen no human form in that solitude except herself. There was a neatness about the cottage which scarcely belonged to a Greek peasant, and her language, although a Greek in habit and appearance, was pure Tuscan.

On his return from the stable he found his beautiful hostess had prepared a suitable collation, which, with a cup of the good wine of Thessaly, made him forget his fatigue. She seemed not unwilling to enter into conversation. Costello was a good linguist. Having been some time in Florence, he spoke the genuine Tuscan with sufficient fluency. He therefore willingly seized the opportunity offered of entering into conversation in that language, to which her soft, melodious voice lent an additional harmony.

Her story was short. She belonged to a party of brigands who occupied this retreat among the mountains, from whence they made excursions on the plains for plunder, on one of which they were now absent. They had lately come from the opposite coast of Calabria, and her father, who was the head of the gang, was originally from Pisa, where she had been brought up, which accounted for the purity of her language.

She was, she said, tired of that kind of life, which was now doubly odious to her, as her father was forcing her to marry one of his own gang—a young Albanian whose habits and disposition she could not fancy.

She owned she was unhappy, and the downcast melancholy of her beautiful eyes too well attested the truth of her assertion. Costello felt for her, to which perhaps the extreme beauty of her appearance not a little tended. He resolved to rescue her. Yet how to effect it he did not know. It was more easily thought of than executed. In the order of the moment he mentioned it to her. He urged her to fly with him. She hesitated—she resisted. At last she yielded.

"But not now," said she. "I must again see my father. Poor, miserable old man! He will now have nobody to watch over him—to pray for him! Perhaps he may even fall a victim to his own blood-thirsty companions. Return," she continued, "to your own quarters. Prepare a few servants to attend you, and in the next dark of the moon meet me under yonder rock at midnight, and I shall be prepared to accompany you to some place where you may be able to procure a safe escort for me back to Pisa."

Costello promised all she asked. He retired to rest, and the next morning at daybreak started off on his return to Corfu, bearing with him the image of the beautiful Zoraida strongly impressed on his imagination.

Another week passed on without their meeting. Still Zoraida was uppermost in his thoughts. The moon had now arrived at that point in her orbit at which, even in that delightful climate, she veils her light for a short time, and Costello, thinly attended and ignorant of the errand of danger he was entering on, prepared to put in execution his intention of rescuing the beautiful Zoraida and making her his own.

He found no difficulty in retracing his route, and, leaving his servants and horses at the foot of the mountain, joyfully ascended the rock, armed simply with his sword and a case of pistols.

An overhanging mountain sheltered all from the back, while before them stretched the fair plains and valleys of Epirus, though now shaded by the veil of night. Another moment, and Costello held the beautiful Zoraida in his arms. They had just turned to descend to the horses when two brigands rushed from behind the rock, and with a cry of "Faitness Zoraida!" "Vilain Anglais!" plunged a dagger into each of their hearts. The following morning saw the corpses of the beautiful Zoraida and the unfortunate Costello in the market place of Corfu.—New York News.

William McKinley.
 When President McKinley was governor of Ohio, his father was still alive. The president then signed his name "Wm. McKinley, Jr." After the father died he wished to drop the "Jr.," but as he took the oath of office as "Wm. McKinley, Jr.," he decided to retain it. When he was governor for a second term his name was signed plain Wm. McKinley. Gradually the letter "jr." in "Wm." became almost a straight line, and so he decided that as president he would sign his name "William McKinley."

What Galled Him.
 "I don't think you ought to be so bitter against the president of the Bussetup bank," said the pastor. "Remember, brother, that he lost all his own money, as well as some of yours."
 "That is just what galls me," said the brother with the long upper lip and the mouth that looked as if it had been made with an ax. "To think of losing my money to a blame fool!"—Indianapolis Journal.

A SIBERIAN TRADER.

Has an Extensive Business but Never Sees Money.

Away up near the arctic circle lives an old man who is very rich, and yet he never sees a dollar or any kind of money or representative of money. Some time ago Dr. Sheldon Jackson, general agent of the Bureau of Education for Alaska, on board the Bear, touched at Indian Point, Siberia. At that place he found the principal native of the village, Koharri, by name, a trader noted all along the coast. In writing of this old trader, Dr. Jackson says:

"He has a little frame whale house filled from floor to ceiling with tobacco, flour and looking glasses, which he has obtained from the whalers, and from which he supplies the country for hundreds of miles around. This man has been known to have as much as $75,000 worth of whalebone in his storehouse at one time. He does a business of probably $100,000 a year, and yet not a single coin of gold or silver nor a single bank note or bank check is used, nor are any books ever kept. All transactions are by barter, furs and whalebone being exchanged for tobacco, flour and whiskey. This wholesale merchant of the north Siberian coast can neither read nor write, nor can any one associated with him. Although so wealthy he lives in an ordinary tent and sleeps on the ground on a pile of reindeer skins."

PRICES GOING UP.

The diplomatic and consular representatives of United States in Mexico are keeping a lookout on the condition of affairs there since silver began to tumble in price, and will probably send in some interesting reports on the situation. Comd. General Joseph G. Dudley, stationed at Nuevo Laredo, in a communication to the Department of State, says that there has recently been a marked rise in the prices of all commodities in Mexico as a result of the recent fall in the price of silver. This is true of domestic products, including rents. He says that there has been no corresponding advance of wages or salaries, and the intimation is that the situation is now growing serious. The price of labor remains on a silver basis.
