BOY INVENTORS.

Some of the most important inventions have been the work of boys. The invention of the valve motion to the steam engine was made by a mere boy. Newcome's engine was in a very incomplete condition from the fact that there was no way to open or close the valves except by means of lever operated by the hand. He set up an engine at one of the mines, and a boy, Humphry Potter, was hired to work these valvelevers. Although this was not hard work, yet it required his constant attention. As he was working the levers he saw that parts of the engine moved in the right direction, and at the same time he had to open or close the valves. He procured a strong cord and made one end fast to the engine, and the other end to the valve-lever, and the boy then had the satisfaction of seeing the engine move with perfect regularity of motion. A short time after the foreman came around and saw the boy playing marbles at the door. Looking at the engine he saw the ingenuity of the boy, and also the advantage of so great an invention. The idea suggested by the boy's inventive genius was put in a practical form and made the steam engine an automatic working machine.

The power-loom is the invention of a farmer's boy who had never heard of such a thing. He whittled one out with his jack-knife, and when he had got it all done he showed it with great enthusiasm to his father, who at once kicked it all to pieces, saying he would have no boy about him who would spend his time on such foolish things. The boy was sent to a blacksmith to learn a trade, and his master took a lively interest in him. He made a loom of what was left of the one his father had broken up and showed it to his master. The blacksmith saw he had no common boy as an apprentice and that the invention was a valuable one. He had a loom constructed under the supervision of the boy. It worked to their perfect satisfaction and the blacksmith furnished the means to manufacture the looms, and the boy received half the profits. In about a year the blacksmith wrote to the boy's father that he should bring with him a wealthy gentleman who was the inventor of the power-loom. You may be able to judge of the astonishment at the old home when his son was presented to him as the inventor, who told him that the loom was the same as the model that he had kicked to pieces but a year ago.—Western Trade.

CORRESPONDENCE.

HAWAIIAN VS. ANGLO-SAXON.

A fine exemplification of the adage that "Blood will tell" was witnessed Friday p.m., in the return race between the six-oared gigs Malia and Kapiolani, the former manned by a picked crew of native Hawaiians and the latter by a crew selected from the American man-of-war Alaska. The result however was very unsatisfactory—disgraceful! would perhaps express it better.

On the King's birthday, these same boats competed with others for the Queen's Cup, but were signally defeated by the Marine Railway boat the Kapuuala, (Anglo-Saxon crew.) This was a short race around the Spar Buoy and the Alaskans came in last. Though so badly defeated the boys in blue had confidence in their ability to defeat the native crew in a longer race, requiring greater endurance and better staying qualities, and accordingly signified their willingness to row a match around the Bell Buoy. The natives were eager in their acceptance of the challenge and profuse in offering bets. The start was made at 4:30 p.m. on Friday.

The Malia very soon showed in advance and maintained the lead until near the Light House where she was overtaken by the Kapiolani. Realizing that victory was slipping from their grasp, the Malia's crew deliberately began crowding the Kapiolani to the windward side of the channel, so that she could not pass on that side, this resulted in deliberate fouling but the Alaskans confident in their ability to win took no advantage of the act which entitled them to the race, but fell to the rear and pulled up on the leeward side losing several boat-lengths thereby, this they recovered before reaching the Bell Buoy.

In rounding the buoy the natives claim a foul, stating that the Malia's rudder was unshipped by an oar of the Kapiolani. They did not cease pulling however, and claim the race, but, according to their own story, re-shipped their rudder when under full head-way and pulled their level best to the finish, where a weak claim of foul was made—taken up by a crowd of sympathizers who had fairly lost their money, and howled vociferously in the ears of the Judges, and through the crowd on shore. The amount of it all is that the Malia's crew knew they were beaten at the Bell Buoy, and resolved by trickery to cheat the victors. "Anything to beat the haoles and the end justifies the means." Some thirty powerful glasses were directed at the boat when they were rounding the Buoy and nothing like a foul was seen. The Kapiolani's crew deny emphatically anything of the kind.

The Malia's rudder was in place on arrival at the stake-boat, and unbroken, though the next morning after the race it was found to have been conveniently broken. It was a square race fairly won, is the general verdict, and the judges, in listening to the tricketers and allowing the foul, we think were mistaken. However, considerable ill-feeling has been engendered, which can be in no way beneficial to the Hawaiian reputations. It is a severe criticism upon native characteristics, and those of their leaders who have influence among them would do well to advise them to try and send a more honorable record abroad.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The P. M. S. S. City of Sydney arrived here yesterday morning, and at about 7 was alongside the wharf. She left Sydney on Nov. 2d, and Auckland on the 7th, arriving here in about 17 1/2 days from Sydney.

We see by our Colonial files that the s.s. Hansa made a very rapid passage down, arriving at Sydney 16 days from here.

COLONIAL NEWS. NEW ZEALAND.

There is great excitement here over the refusal by the Maori King Tawhiao to open up the King country to European settlers. It is deemed certain, however, that the demands of the Ministry will have in the end, to be conceded.

Preparations are being made to observe the transit of Venus, which will take place on the 7th October. The American expedition are stationed near Auckland. The English one at Canterbury.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS.

We hear that Mauna Loa is very active.

Who got a barrel of Whiskey per Suez? "Comstocks" on tap.

Mr. A. G. Ellis sold shares of Telephone stock yesterday at $60.

The wharves are healthy again. All the Guano is gone from Foster's wharf.

Rumors are circulating to the effect that challenges to the winning boats in the late races are being offered for the 28th of this month.

We have to acknowledge our indebtedness to Messrs. J. W. Robertson & Co. for files of late U. S. and Colonial papers, per Suez and City of Sydney, and to J. M. Oat & Co., for N.Z. papers, per City of Sydney.

We again bring under the notice of the Government the fact that the trees which overhang the roads and streets ought to be trimmed so as not to interfere with pedestrians or carriages.

The decisions given by the judges and handed in to Mr. C. O. Berger yesterday, are in accord with our report of the races, except in the yacht races. In the 1st class Yacht Race, the award is (1) Kauhilani, (2) Kaholomua. In the 2nd class Yacht Race, (1) Pumpkin Seed, (2) M.D.

We notice that Mr. D. W. Clark has brought back an extensive stock of watches, clocks, jewellery, &c., with him from the coast. Amongst his many novelties we were struck with the beauty and taste of his clocks in plush cases, and in old English cases also, in the form of a straw hat. He has also some very fine musical boxes, with the latest improvements.

Mr. S. J. Levey, as is well-known to our readers, bought Mr. A. W. Bush's grocery business. After the purchase he had the whole shop refitted and arranged in the best style. Everything is now arranged with such neatness and taste, and is kept so polished and clean that it may be said to be the naggiest grocery store in the Kingdom. He has also imported and just opened a lot of new French candies, which he has arranged in a glass show-case on the counter. We have sampled these, and can safely say that they are as good as they look.

Lots of money went away yesterday.

175 tons of the Niagara wheat were sent away by the steamer.

The Annis Montague Opera Co. will come through on the next steamer from the Colonies.

A menagerie went up on the City of Sydney. Amongst the animals were three Zebras.

Staxor De Vivo the advance agent of the Annis Montague Co., went through on the City of Sydney yesterday.

Ex Zealandia, Gents fine Tweed Suits, at Chas. J. Fishel's.

Plain Satens all colors, at Chas. J. Fishel's Leading Millinery House. 235

We hope that any Eastern visitors now in this city are thoroughly enjoying the fleas in San Francisco. They hold conventions on the sidewalks and ride free on the streets cars; they are uninvited guests in the palaces of Nob Hill and have assumed control of all the hotels, boarding-house and private dwellings of the city. They feed off fat babies and lean octogenarians with equal or unequal relish they desert their cottages in dogs for human mansions and disgrace Autumn by their eternal spring. The puler ferox in California breeds in the sand, but he does not stay there long. His ambition is to be as large as a blue-bottle fly, and that being attained his mission is to see that the inhabitants of San Francisco have their purgatory on earth. The flea, like an Indian, is only good when his skull is cracked, and as he can jump three feet four inches when he is not always captured. The flea in San Francisco is the best argument in favor of capital punishment that can be possibly produced.—Ee.

He that will not look before him will have to look behind him—with regret.

THE EVILS OF PAINTING

And their Remedy.

"It has been said with much truth, too, that house painting might, with study and acquirement of taste, resume its rank as a liberal art."—Painters' Manual.

Believing the above to be true, A. B. KERR has now re-organized his system of working the business in Honolulu. In the first place he has secured the services of that celebrated artist, Mr. MAX KOHN, formerly of San Francisco, whose work in the line of plain and decorative paper-hanging, frescoing, &c., is up to the present time unsurpassed, and on these Islands has never been equalled. For house painting jobs first-class mechanics only will be employed. In future patrons can depend upon my filling every order on the most scientific basis known to the trade.

The Sign Painting and Lettering department will be permanently presided over by Mr. GEO. STRATMEYER, (further comment unnecessary.)

P.S.—Send for designs of frescos for ceiling and cornices. Something new; and if you want any glass put in call at

The Daily Bulletin.

TUESDAY, NOV. 21, 1882.

A Scriptural Declaration.

A young gentleman, familiar with the Scriptures, happening to sit in a pew adjoining a young lady for whom he conceived a violent attachment, made his proposal in this way: He politely handed his neighbor a bible open, with a pin stuck in the following text—second epistle of John, verse 5: "And I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that we had from the beginning, that we love one another." She returned it, pointing to the second chapter of Ruth, verse 10: "Then she fell on her face, and bowed herself to the ground, and said unto him: "Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldst take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger." He returned the book, pointing to the 13th verse of the third epistle of John: "Having many things to write unto you, I would not write to you with paper and ink, but I trust to come unto you and speak face to face, that our joy may be full." From the above interview a marriage took place the ensuing month in the same church.

The readiest and best way to find out what future duty will be, is to present duty.

We would willingly have others perfect, and yet we amend not our own faults.

It's easy finding reasons why other people should be patient.—Adam Bede.
