To Convert Tourists From European Fad To West and Hawaii

FRANK SEAMAN WILL START CAMPAIGN

Having toured the Orient, devoting most of his time to Japan, which he found fascinating, and having been entertained by such men as Marquis Ito, Count Inoue and Count Okuma, Frank Seaman, New York banker and the New York representative of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, is en route to San Francisco aboard the P. M. S. S. Manchuria, returning to New York.

Mr. Seaman was seen by a Bulletin reporter in the office of the Hawaii Promotion Committee this forenoon, the Committee entertaining him during his brief stop in Honolulu.

"I'm homeward bound," said Mr. Seaman. "I'm going back to New York. I've been doing the Orient chiefly on pleasure bent. Japan particularly appealed to me. I found that country fascinating. To be sure I went off the beaten tourist track. In that way I saw the Japanese as Japanese.

"I met the Marquis Ito and the Counts Inoue and Okuma. They are three men of the greatest influence in Japan. They have done more in the way of opening up Japan to the world than any others.

"In Tokio I dined with Marquis Ito. While I was being entertained by him he received several important officials of the Japanese government on matters relating to the peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H.

"Do you know, it is my opinion, from what I gathered in Japan, that the Japanese cared little for an indemnity from Russia. Japan practically holds Manchuria and will probably continue to hold it. Japan has always wanted Manchuria. She is not likely to turn that country over to the Chinese with out China paying Japan for the war expenses in connection with Manchuria and China won't be able to pay the price.

"The Japanese are a great people. First of all I was struck by their cleanliness; then their patriotism impressed me deeply. A bath on rising and a bath before eating is part of their religion and they love their Emperor. I believe that the Japanese is more efficient as a soldier than the American. Think of the training they have to go through—three years of jiu jitsu, for example.

Just then Captain Saunders of the Manchuria dropped in.

"If peace had been delayed another six months," he said, "Japan would have been cleaned out of funds. Russia would have won a financial triumph.

Captain Saunders went on to say that there was internal trouble brewing in Japan and China. Japan had long been threatened with a civil war. The war with Russia put internal fights out of the question. This threatened revolution will again have to be considered. The well-to-do and idle element of Japan is the trouble-maker. Mr. Seaman, speaking of tourist work, declared that New York did not know as much of Hawaii as it ought. "Americans," said Mr. Seaman, "have a fad of going to Europe; not because of the attractiveness of the Continent, but because it is considered the thing to do; just as society goes to New York. They really get sick of Newport, but, since it is the style, they must go.

"I want to start a campaign to get Easterners particularly—to travel in their own country. I want to start a big wave toward California; I want to get Easterners to appreciate our beautiful Pacific Coast. A move toward California is a move toward Hawaii and the Orient. I want to try and get the American newspapers to take up the campaign to help move the traveling Easterners to the West.

"Why, Americans every year spend $252,000,000 in Europe, traveling and purchasing. We must keep some of this in the States. Europe is a fad and yet it is stale. Thousands sacrifice pleasure to what is considered to be 'the correct caper.'

"No more delightful trip could possibly be arranged than from New York, say, to California, Hawaii and Japan. Once we get people started in this direction they will find out for themselves and then Europe will be forgotten in the charm of the new tourist trail."

Rice Problem Discussed

L. L. McCandless' statement to the Bulletin regarding the rice industry has stirred up more than ordinary comment along the street where the matter of upholding old industries and fostering new ones is a daily issue.

"All I would add," said Senator McCandless, "is a statement of the imports and exports of rice. The record for last year shows that Hawaii exported rice to the value of $84,414 and imported rice to the value of more than $159,887. Now that's a showing for you which tells how much the local people are doing for the local rice industry. Here we are sending rice away because we can't get a decent price and the imports are increasing. It would seem that a policy of common sense ought to dictate that we at least save the freight on this variously handled rice, by doing a little more in behalf of the home industry."

As the result of Mr. McCandless' first statement regarding the price of rice "down the road" a man interested in plantations secured figures regarding the sale of rice from Waiialua and Ewa plantation stores. At Waiialua plantation, rice is being sold at $3.45 a bag at a profit of 5 per cent. Japanese rice is being sold by the same plantation at $4.90 a bag at 10 per cent profit. This it is claimed demonstrates the favoritism for the local product which is sold at a less figure and smaller margin of profit.

At Ewa plantation the figures were not at hand but it is certain that the prices are not as large as was quoted by the representative of the rice hull. The profit at which Ewa sells Hawaiian rice is 6 1/2 per cent. And a relatively higher percentage for the Japanese grown product. It is claimed that the figures given by McCandless were secured from some of the outside camps for which the plantation is responsible, in other words that the rice is sold by a camp boss and if the men see fit to buy it of him when they get it less elsewhere it is their look out.

quite nuisance, except one for the importation of larvae eating fish, although urged to grant $300 per month. Public interest dragged so that the agent of the Mosquito Committee had to spend more time seeking funds than destroying mosquito breeding places, so the middle of May he voluntarily retired.

Upon the decision of our planting interests to make use of the new lethismus of Tehuantepec, Mexico, route for shipments I determined to start July 1st a rat and mosquito campaign, depending for funds on the balance of $1,853.78 placed at my disposal.

It is useless to start out to accomplish anything of moment in furthering such an object unless the work be continuous. The President of the Board will not attempt this work on general small private subscriptions. I therefore started on the basis of twelve months work with the funds now available.

After one month's work I have reported to the Chairman of the Shippers' Wharf Committee and requested them to state if they desire the work more vigorously and extensively prosecuted, and also to state if they are prepared to support additional work with additional funds.

If the public desires to contribute to this work the money will be thankfully received and applied.

During July I expended $110.00 for labor and $24.35 for supplies, borrowed a horse from the County Supervisors and a wagon from our own department and fitted the latter for expedition and thorough work.

I have prepared special blank books in which will be recorded every catch basin and all places known to breed mosquitoes, and arranged to show a continuous record of the measures taken to rid each spot of the mosquito larvae or to eliminate the nuisance. If we desire to abolish breeding places I find the only prompt and efficient way is to take the work into our own hands. This we have done by securing carts from the County Supervisors and prison labor from the High Sheriff and furnishing our own lunas.

In July we filled 1,300 lineal feet of ditch, carted away 43 loads of tin cans,

OBJECT TO PAYING OLD ASSESSMENTS

A memorandum on points of demurrer has been filed by Attorney Mott-Smith for the respondents in the case of C. R. Hemenway, trustee of the Honolulu Clay Co., Ltd., a bankrupt corporation, vs. Honolulu Clay Co., et al. In this case Hemenway is seeking to enforce certain alleged rights of the bankrupt company on behalf of its creditors.

It is set forth by the defendants that while the plaintiff's bill is brought to enforce alleged non-payment by stockholders of assessment, the trustee can enforce only those rights which the corporation itself could have enforced before bankruptcy. This would be enforced in an action at law by the corporation against the delinquent stockholders. The trustee has no standing in equity, as he has a remedy at law. Grafting Was Old in Washington's Day Chicago, Aug. 9.—The grafting proclivities of the American people took solid root in the days of Washington, according to Professor Francis W. Shephardson of the University of Chicago, who declares this particular method of acquisition is not so bad today as it used to be—comparatively, of course—for the country has grown considerably since his father died. Professor Shephardson is a recognized authority on United States history and is one of the foremost historians of the country. His views on "Graft," delivered before a gathering of junior and senior students at the University of Chicago, were, at least theoretically, convincing. The present-day grafters did not appear so bad to the students when they heard from the professor's own lips that graft, tainted money and vulgar commercialism all flourished at the inception of this Government. "Why, Peter Faneuil, who built Faneuil Hall, which historians have termed 'the Cradle of Liberty,' was a liquor dealer who made his money by beating the Government," the professor solemnly declared. "There is also proof that one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence was indicted for smuggling," the professor concluded, impressively. Fine Job Printing at The Bulletin Office.

DANIELS DEFEATES RENEAR, NEW RECORD 62 1-5 SEC.

Dan Rinear, the Swimming Idol of Honolulu, was defeated by Daniels of the New York Athletic Club at Philadelphia on the 19th of last month. This is the second time that the local lad has been defeated and all who know Dan as a good and true sportsman will be sorry to hear the news.

Dan entered the race in very poor shape, having met with a very severe accident a couple of days before the race. He writes Jess Woods as follows:

"Got beat to a standstill on Saturday the 19th at Lafayette by this fellow Daniels of New York. He beat me badly but I stuck to the finish. He jumped me on the start but I soon overtook him and led to the sixty-yard mark and it was here that my leg began to trouble me. I cut the calf of my leg on some glass in a shallow lake where I was training. I have not been right since I came to the States. The best I have done in practice is 1 min. 6 sec. Now you know I can do much better than that, however, I have no excuse to offer and will try again in N. Y. on the fourth. I will also enter the diving contests."

DAN RENEAR.

The following is taken from a Philadelphia paper:

In the swimming race for the Sackett Cup at Philadelphia, Daniels, of New York, defeated Dan Rinear, who has been training in Millville and did the hundred yards in 62 2-5 seconds. The races were held on the Schuylkill River and when the big race for the cup came off only Daniels and Rinear appeared. Rinear was a trifle uneasy as his cut leg bothered him and he did not seem sure of himself. At the start his stroke was somewhat splashy and not so even as it might be, while Daniels swam very evenly. For the first sixty yards the men were even but after that Daniels drew away from Rinear. At the finish Rinear was all in and was a badly done up boy. His sore leg pained him badly and he was breathing heavily. There was no doubt but that the cut he received last week did much towards his losing the race as it was in a bad place and one or two of the ligaments had been severed.

Under other conditions Rinear could beat Daniels it is believed. He will return to Millville this week and train for races in New York City.

NOW FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Let the leather lunged rooster get primed for Saturday's game. The fun will now begin. They are not going to play ball now for the championship of a first or second series, but it is for the championship of the islands—best two out of three—and let the best team win.

When the Elks and Honolulu hook up on the diamond tomorrow there is going to be large doings and every fan who spent his quarter on Monday will be there again tomorrow to help make just a little noise. It will probably be interesting to know that the receipts were about $600.00 at the last game. This meant 2,000 people. Not a bad crowd for the Sugar Cane League. There has never been as much baseball talk in the history of the game as is now floating around the sporting circles. Many a sport is now swelling out his chest as he proudly shows the new Panama hat that he won on the last game. Will he win again? Uncertainty is the life of baseball and it would not surprise the wise ones to see the Elks come off the field on the long end tomorrow. They have beaten the Reds before with the same team and there is no reason why they can not repeat the trick.

Both teams are in good condition and should be able to put up just as strong a game as was played Monday. Joy, the huge south paw, is working just as good as ever. If he can repeat his last record-breaking performance of course the Reds will win. Hampton is also in fine fettle and as he showed Monday he can still go some. For six innings the heavy hitting artists got but one hit off his delivery. He pitched an uphill game the whole distance and was always at a disadvantage.

En Sue, the Reds' third baseman, is suffering from a sore arm, the result of bad dope used as rub-down.

There is not the money being placed on this game that there was on the last. There is plenty of H. A. C. coin floating around but few takers. The Reds will enter the game a 10 to 8 shot.

Both teams are hard at work at the new grounds getting in shape for the coming struggle and each has a host of admirers out to see them go through their work. Anyone interested in the practice work can see their favorites work out as follows: Next week: H. A. C., Tuesday and Thursday; Elks, Wednesday and Friday.

The game tomorrow will begin promptly at 3:30 and will give all a good chance to be on hand. Now is the time to secure good seats.

GOLF AT HALEIWA WHEN CHAMPS ENTER

Sunday will be the biggest day the Haleiwa Golf Links have ever seen. The largest crowd of golf players that has ever journeyed to the Seaside Links will make the trip and swing their drivers and irons to lift that beautiful silver trophy that the hotel has put up and which is a bone of contention between all ambitious golfers.

As a result of last Sunday's match at the Manoa Club eight of the cracks of that organization will get free transportation and found. In all probabilities these eight will compete with the best eight of the Haleiwa Golf Club. The eight successful players who will have all expenses paid are: Q. H. Berrey, Byron Baird, W. W. Thayer, Geo. Angus, E. O. White, Harry White, W. Williamson and Harold Giffard. Other good players who will go are Dr. H. Donald Ross, Anderson and Jess Woods.

It will be seen that the Honolulu boys are well represented and one of them is almost sure to capture that cup. The following players, with the winning scores, have been successful: Q. H. Berrey, 83; A. S. Mahaulu, 92; H. Mahaulu, 85; F. Armstrong, 84; F. Halstead, 80, and A. Mahaulu, 88. The Judge stands the best chance of annexing the trophy as it will be seen that he has won out twice. If he takes it again it belongs to him. The Manoa boys do not propose to let him have it this time.

Most of the players will take the Haleiwa Limited that leaves the city at 8:20 Sunday morning. Some will make the hotel Saturday and stay over until Monday.

The match play competition of the Manoa Club is drawing to a close. The following players having got to the semi-finals: Harold Giffard will meet Wade Thayer and Jess Woods will play Spalding. The winners of these two matches will play for the championship. The final rounds will be played off on the 17th.

SPORTING TIPS

Barney is a "Joy forever." Soares caught wringlets around Ringland.

Chas. Falke suggests that Dooney Hartman set that purple hen on those nine eggs.

Bob White would make a good acrobat.

We have often heard of mule eggs but never before Elk eggs.

McFadden says Decker is a shy card in a bad Deck.

Joy pitched the first no-hit game on record in these islands on Monday.

The H. A. C. baseball team is dicker with Gumpster to act as the trainer for the coming championship series.

It is rumored that there will be some black horses played by the Elks in tomorrow's game. It would be too bad if they would prove to be black sheep.

Nelson does not figure on erecting flats, like Britt, after the ninth. He would like however to erect two shanties over Britt's eyes.

Engineer Hampton went some himself on Monday. For seven innings Hampton had but one hit scored against him. He had a hard uphill game to fight but stuck to his guns and died game.

Cogswell slipped a cog when he let that daisy clipper slide through his legs. It caused a run.

Harry Bruns got the glad mitt from the stand Monday. His brilliant work was worth all he got.

A ball player is the real thing if he lays a nice burnt down along the line. Let him hunt a foul once or twice while a man is on base and the crowd is just about primed to draw their guns. Fernandez was about the only player who tried the trick in the last game.

Bert Bowers deserves great credit for the way in which he handled Monday's game. Bert would make good in any league.

Will the Oakland team come? Barry put up a very poor exhibition against Burns. He has probably gone back.

Every sport in Honolulu will be sorry to learn that Dan Rinear was beaten in Philadelphia.

Hampton, contrary to reports, will remain in Honolulu. Bill likes the climate.

A California colt by the name of Ormondale captured the Futurity stake of $50,000 at the Sheepshead race track on the 26th of last month. The time was 1:11 4-5.

Britt-Nelson on the 9th. Britt will enter the ring a 19 to 8 favorite.

IN THE BED-CHAMBER

Electricity is an inestimable boon. The push button may be placed near the head of the bed. In case of suspected, or real, intrusion — in case of sudden illness—the room may be brilliantly illuminated without hesitation or the delay which may mean discomfort or something worse. Flexible wires easily permit the employment of Electric Light whenever illumination is wanted. Reading need not be confined to the library. For those who will read in bed—a joyful if not a commendable practice—the light may be conveniently placed, and no getting up is necessary to disturb the composure that must precede sleep.

Has Taft received any word from Honolulu to remind him that this port is on the map and should be recognized coming as well as going?

'Tis a pity but true, that no sooner is the killing of Jews in Kishineff renewed than some gang down South goes out and strings up a negro.

Some one ought to explain whether those rioting Japanese are the real Japanese or the kind you read about and Doremus Scudder with the Advertiser extols.

We have no faith in any attempt to make Americans of Asiatics.—Advertiser.

That is doubtless why the Advertiser so consistently devotes its efforts to Orientalizing Americans.

The intellects of the Advertiser must be in the garage awaiting their turn at the air-pump. Or it may be they are in the back shop or the basement undergoing hot-box treatment. Perhaps they are in the laboratory for analysis of perspiration and inspiration. At any rate, they are shirking. Else why have they failed advise Japan on its internal crisis?

AMERICAN SCHOOLS NOT RACE PREJUDICE EDUCATORS

Explaining that it didn't mean what it said in connection with the public schools of the district of Honolulu, the Advertiser goes on its dyspeptic way preaching the program of prejudice, the domination of the Anglo Saxon by a system of discrimination and reversal of well tried American methods.

lated from the typical Americans of the mainland, having the same standards, the same ideals and the same objects" is indeed one purpose toward which the advanced citizens of the Territory should work. There is no reason why all children should not be included. Citizens are not working to that end however when they allow appropriations for the public schools to dwindle to such a penurious figure that it is impossible to supply the pupils throughout the Territory with competent teachers.

The High School of Honolulu has not been built up, as the Advertiser would suggest, by a race discrimination based on the color of the skin or the ancestry of the child. Its development has been on the basis of a child's ability to speak the vernacular, which is a method preeminently just. To do otherwise would be unfair and supremely idiotic.

The school room division of pupils on the basis of ability is less difficult in Honolulu than in the country districts. Here the accommodation is sufficient for the children to be separated in different school buildings. In the country it is more necessary that the teachers should be men and women of discretion and ability, teachers who have the sense to maintain discipline and give free scope to pupils whose natural attainments enable them to progress more rapidly.

As a matter of fact the schools in the country are not as a rule up to the proper standard, and it is due to the lack of funds, which is in turn the direct result of the sentiment that the private schools are for "our" children, anything is good enough for what remains. The private school has been responsible for this pernicious idea, and for that reason the private school does not fulfill the qualification that "our white children when they grow up are not to be differentiated from the typical Americans of the mainland." An American development of the public school will do this and it is the only thing that will it will take care of our white children and all others with blessings for all and injury to none. This development includes the appropriation of funds enough to allow the employment of first class teachers in the place of some guardians of the youth expensive at $1 a month.

The Advertiser claims to be a great enthusiast over the introduction of American settlers. In the same breath it would say to the poor devil of a settler when he asks the first question that occurs to a home builder, "Oh, our common schools are no place for white children, you must send your children to the private schools or teach them at home." Is it necessary to discuss the natural response of the settler?

The American method of dealing with the schools of Hawaii is to maintain high standards in all the schools, city and country, in fact as well as in name. Neglect and the influence of the private school is responsible for much of the retrogression that is in evidence today. It is teachers the Territory needs and ample accommodation for the pupils. But teachers of ability cannot as a rule be secured for a pittance a month and promise of running in debt for the privilege of drawing it.

When the intelligent parents of the Territory give the personal attention to the public school which personal interest if not patriotism should prompt, then there will be no occasion to preach race prejudice nor fear for the influence of the public school upon the pupils of tender years. Every family of intelligence whose children attend the public schools adds new power to the force that will eventually take hold of the school question in a broad American spirit and see that the system is kept where it ought to be—not where the vicious sentiments espoused by the Advertiser would put it.

BASEBALL TOURISTS

Possibility of the Oakland baseball team coming to this city is good to contemplate. There is another string to the baseball bow that is entirely practical and would be equally satisfactory.

It is the custom of the teams in the large leagues to devote several weeks previous to the opening of the season to early spring practise in warmer climates of the States. Florida and the South has been popular, but gradually under the influence of increased knowledge and tourist promoters the baseball magnates have learned that there is an excellent climate for training in the West.

Honolulu would furnish exactly what the big league players need to fit them for the summer season. Local sportsmen would profit by the presence of professional players of the national game that leads the list here on the score of popularity. It would help the town, and if one team were to come for one season it is safe to bank that more would come the next.

The sportsmen and the tourist promoters can find in this suggestion a field for developing new interest in Hawaii. The time to tackle it is now, not stouter, and hesitate, and wait till the next season's plans are made and it is too late.

ELKS' PEDRO CONTEST

The pedro tournament at the Elks' Club is in full blast, and is creating quite a furor among the crack pedro players of the Club. Each player has thirty games to play, not more than five games in any one evening. The tournament commenced on September 1st and continues every Tuesday and Friday evening till September 29th, giving nine evenings for play, thus allowing three evenings more than are actually necessary to finish. This is the third evening of play, and entries close with this evening. All entrance fees are to go for prizes, of which there will be four of considerable value. About forty entries have been made so far, and it is expected that quite a few more will register this evening.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE.

Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY F. D. STEELE

The Adventure of the Golden Pince-Nez

No. 10 of the Series

"Well, it was only a paragraph and all wrong at that, so you have not missed anything. I haven't let the grass grow under my feet. It's down in Kent, seven miles from Chatham and three from the railway line. I was wired for at 3:15, reached Yoxley Old Place at 5, conducted my investigation, was back at Charing Cross by the last train, and straight to you by cab."

"Which means, I suppose, that you are not quite clear about your case?" "It means that I can make neither head nor tail of it. So far as I can see, it is just as tangled a business as ever I handled, and yet at first it seemed so simple that one couldn't go wrong. There's no motive, Mr. Holmes. That's what bothers me. I can't put my hand on a motive. Here's a man dead—there's no denying that—but, so far as I can see, no reason on earth why any one should wish him harm."

Holmes lit his cigar and leaned back in his chair. "Let us hear about it," said he. "I've got my facts pretty clear," said Stanley Hopkins. "All I want now is to know what they all mean. The story, so far as I can make it out, is like this: Some years ago this country house, Yoxley Old Place, was taken by an elderly man, who gave the name of Professor Coram. He was an invalid, keeping his bed half the time and the other half hobbling round the house with a stick or being pushed about the grounds by the gardener in a bath chair. He was well liked by the few neighbors who called upon him, and he has the reputation down there of being a very learned man. His household used to consist of an elderly housekeeper, Mrs. Marker, and of a maid, Susan Tarlton. These have both been with him since his arrival, and they seem to be women of excellent character. The professor is writing a learned book, and he found it necessary about a year ago to engage a secretary. The first two that he tried were not successful, but the third, Mr. Willoughby Smith, a very young man straight from the university, seems to have been just what his employer wanted. His work consisted in writing all the morning to the professor's dictation, and he usually spent the evening in hunting up references and passages which bore upon the next day's work. This Willoughby Smith has nothing against him, either as a boy at Uppingham or as a young man at Cambridge. I have seen his testimonials, and from the first he was a decent, quiet, hardworking fellow, with no weak spot in him at all. And yet this is the lad who has met his death this morning in the professor's study under circumstances which can point only to murder."

The wind howled and screamed at the windows. Holmes and I drew closer to the fire, while the young inspector slowly and point by point developed his singular narrative. "If you were to search all England," said he, "I don't suppose you could find a household more self-contained or freer from outside influences. Whole weeks would pass and not one of them go past the garden gate. The professor was buried in his work and existed for nothing else. Young Smith knew nobody in the neighborhood and lived very much as his employer did. The two women had nothing to take them from the house. Mortimer, the gardener, who wheels the bath chair, is an army pensioner, an old Crimean man of excellent character. He does not live in the house, but in a three roomed cottage at the other end of the garden. Those are the only people that you would find within the grounds of Yoxley Old Place. At the same time the gate of the garden is a hundred yards from the main London to Chatham road. It opens with a latch, and there is nothing to prevent any one from walking in."

"Now I will give you the evidence of Susan Tarlton, who is the only person who can say anything positive about the matter. It was in the forenoon, between 11 and 12. She was engaged at the moment in hanging some curtains in the upstairs front bedroom. Professor Coram was still in bed, for when the weather is bad he seldom rises before midday. The housekeeper was busied with some work in the back of the house. Willoughby Smith had been in his bedroom, which he uses as a sitting room, but the maid heard him at that moment pass along the passage and descend to the study immediately below her. She did not see him, but she says that she could not be mistaken in his quick, firm tread. She did not hear the study door close, but a minute or so later there was a dreadful cry in the room below. It was a wild, hoarse scream, so strange and unnatural that it might have come either from a man or a woman. At the same instant there was a heavy thud which shook the old house, and then all was silence. The maid stood petrified for a moment, and then, recovering her courage, she ran downstairs. The study door was shut, and she opened it. Inside young Mr. Willoughby Smith was stretched upon the floor. At first she could see no injury, but as she tried to raise him she saw that blood was pouring from the underside of his neck. It was pierced by a very small but very deep wound, which had divided the carotid artery. The instrument with which the injury had been inflicted lay upon the carpet beside him. It was one of those small sealing wax knives to be found on old-fashioned writing tables, with an ivory handle and a stiff blade. It was part of the fittings of the professor's own desk.

"At first the maid thought that young Smith was already dead, but on pouring some water from the carafe over his forehead he opened his eyes for an instant. 'The professor,' he murmured—'it was she.' The maid is prepared to swear that these were the exact words. He tried desperately to say something else, and he held his right hand up in the air. Then he fell back dead."

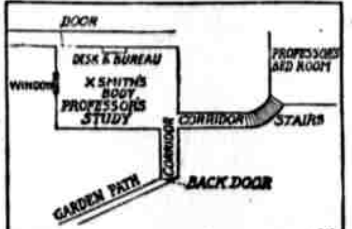

"In the meantime the housekeeper had also arrived upon the scene, but she was just too late to catch the young man's dying words. Leaving Susan with the body, she hurried to the professor's room. He was sitting up in bed horribly agitated, for he had heard enough to convince him that something terrible had occurred. Mrs. Marker is prepared to swear that the professor was still in his night clothes, and, indeed, it was impossible for him to dress without the help of Mortimer, whose orders were to come at 12 o'clock. The professor declares that he heard the distant cry, but that he knows nothing more. He can give no explanation of the young man's last words. 'The professor—it was she,' but imagines that they were the outcome of delirium. He believes that Willoughby Smith had not an enemy in the world, and can give no reason for the crime. His first action was to send Mortimer, the gardener, for the local police. A little later the chief constable sent for me. Nothing was moved before I got there, and strict orders were given that no one should walk upon the paths leading to the house. It was a splendid chance of putting your theories into practice, Mr. Sherlock Holmes. There was really nothing wanting."

"Except Mr. Sherlock Holmes," said my companion with a somewhat bitter smile. "Well, let us hear about it. What sort of a job did you make of it?" "I must ask you first, Mr. Holmes, to glance at this rough plan, which will give you a general idea of the position of the professor's study and the various points of the case. It will help you in following my investigation."

He unfolded the rough chart, which I here reproduce, and he laid it across Holmes' knee. I rose and, standing behind Holmes, studied it over his shoulder.

"It is very rough, of course, and it only deals with the points which seem to me to be essential. All the rest you will see later for yourself. Now, first of all, presuming that the assassin entered the house, how did he or she come in? Undoubtedly by the garden path and the back door, from which there is direct access to the study. Any other way would have been exceedingly complicated. The escape must have also been made along that line, for of the two other exits from the room one was blocked by Susan as she ran downstairs and the other leads straight to the professor's bedroom. I therefore directed my attention at once to the garden path, which was saturated with recent rain and would certainly show any footmarks."

"My examination showed me that I was dealing with a cautious and expert criminal. No footmarks were to be found on the path. There could be no question, however, that some one had passed along the grass border which lines the path and that he had done so in order to avoid leaving a track. I could not find anything in the nature of a distinct impression, but the grass was trodden down and some one had undoubtedly passed. It could only have been the murderer, since neither the gardener nor any one else had been there that morning and the rain had only begun during the night. "One moment," said Holmes. "Where does this path lead to?" "To the road." "How long is it?" "A hundred yards or so." "At the point where the path passes through the gate you could surely pick up the tracks?" "Unfortunately the path was tiled at that point." "Well, on the road track?" (To be continued)

COUNTY ON WATER WAGON IN AUGUST

Oahu Averaged Only 3 Drinks Per Day Last Month

REPORT OF ARRESTS AND CONVICTIONS BY POLICE

TOTAL HAULED IN, 347; NUMBER FOUND GUILTY, 316—CREDIT TO THE DEPARTMENT. MEALS.

County Sheriff A. M. Brown's statistical report of the police department for the month of August reveals the fact that within the city of Honolulu seventy-seven persons were arrested for drunkenness. Of these ten were discharged, the magistrate finding no fault in them, or, perhaps, no "booze" in them; possibly they sobered up over night and, with cleared brains in the morning, made good excuse. Sixty-seven were convicted and, most of them, dug up the proverbial $2 and accessories. Fines equalled $156 and costs $61, $217 altogether being the tax on inebriety, but only $43.10 was actually paid by the delinquents.

Koolaupoko was the virtuous section of the island for August. There but one gentleman got drunk and he forfeited his bail. Koolauloa and Waiaina were more than virtuous. They boasted no drunks. Waianae and Ewa each experienced two inebriates. The total roll call, therefore, displays for the hot, dry month of August, but 82 alleged drunks for all the island of Oahu, 72 of whom were convicted. Why, this is less than three drunks per day for the whole island. Surely Oahu County is on the water wagon now. Whether or not this very respectable showing of sobriety is altogether a good sign might be an interesting subject for debate. Of course some people will hold up their hands in holy horror at the mere expression of such an idea, but may not the small amount of drunks mean a falling off in lunacy, and, since lunacy usually celebrates somebody's birthday, may not the tiny drunk list, indicating a small lunacy list, point to race suicide. What if Roosevelt hears of this!

Of course there may have been a lot of people who only started to get drunk in August and who, by the time the September returns are in, may figure in the list of those, having at last succeeded in completing a progressive jag, who reached the official climax—who were arrested, thus receiving official recognition of their soaked condition.

Then, of course, there were no big political doings during August; nor were there any religious revivals to beget reaction. None will drink deeper than a man converted while the effects of a spree are still on him—when he finds it out, unless it be the man who knows his political party is going to get badly licked, but wants to make himself tight otherwise, especially if there's money in it.

So much for the beastly trick of getting drunk. Oahu gambled more than it drank

TWO PUBLICATIONS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

The EVENING BULLETIN claims to be Hawaii's liveliest newspaper; it constantly makes this claim good by adding new features, by bettering its news-service; by doing the right thing at the right time. The BULLETIN has from time to time offered a number of premiums of value to secure new subscribers—and it has got them. Its latest inducement is a bright, helpful, artistic publication—Good Housekeeping, the Home Magazine of America. This is a monthly with a purpose—"The higher life of the household." How this purpose is served may be partly learned from the following contents, which appear in the September number:

- Jerome K. Jerome, on first page: "My good madam, you polish your tables, you scour your kettles, but the most valuable piece of furniture in the whole house you are letting go to rack and ruin for want of a little pains. You will find it in your room, in front of your own mirror."
- "Lady Help," a story by Alice Ward Bailey.
- "The French Girl at School," by Jeanne Constantin. Illustrated.
- Looking Pretty in the Morning, by Augusta Kortrecht. Illustrated.
- Little Gardens Indoors, by Clarence Moores Weed. Illustrated.
- Light Housekeeping Don'ts, by Mrs. C. De Witt.
- The Bride's Primer. Illustrated.
- Homelike Rooms, Five half-tones.
- A Cottage Design of Real Charm. Illustrated.
- Harold Bauer on Music-loving Americans, by Ethelyn Middleton.
- The Ideals of a Hindu Household, by Swami Abhedananda.
- Heralry for Women, by Mabel Ward Cameron.
- Denver's Sleeping Porches, by Edwin L. Sabin.
- The New Home, by Patty Lawrence.
- Who Is My Neighbor? by Ella Morris Kresschmar.
- Home Life in the Boarding School, by Mabel Whitman.
- The Children. Illustrated and made up of short stories full of the kinder-spirit, for instance:

OUR SECRET.

(By E. T. O.)

Nobody knows where the honey grows,
Only baby and me;
And when I tickle his little toes
He lifts his head with glee,
Unlocking the dimpled chin, you see,
Known only to baby and me.

All these, coupled with pretty pictures, bright stories and helpful suggestions, make up a literary feast that contains the food that results in "the higher life in the household." This splendid magazine will be delivered monthly for one year absolutely free to any person who will pay $2.00 in advance for a NEW three months' subscription to the EVENING BULLETIN. The BULLETIN is the best Home paper in the Territory of Hawaii—Good Housekeeping is the leading Home Magazine of America;—together they make a winning combination. Two dollars will secure the EVENING BULLETIN for three months and Good Housekeeping for one year.

during August. There were 149 arrests for indulgence in illegal games of chance; 113 of these occurred in the metropolis.

Convictions numbered 125. Arrests for having che fa tickets in possession were 35 for the County, 34 of which Honolulu claims. There were 13 convictions. This offense is perhaps the most difficult of conviction.

Arrests for the selling of spirituous liquors without a license numbered 9. Eight convictions were recorded.

Total arrests for the above enumerated irregularities numbered 437 and convictions numbered 316. The total amount imposed in fines and costs was $2,809.30.

The record of convictions is a credit to the County Attorney's office and the entire report reflects great credit on the police department.

Sheriff Brown includes in his report some interesting figures on the support and maintenance of prisoners. Meals served to prisoners during August numbered 1,772 at an average cost of 8 3-10 cents per meal.

Cholly—Before I had sat in the game ten minutes I had lost $15; then my luck began to change.
Fred—Of course!
Cholly—Yes, and in the next two hours I only lost $7.25, bah Javel-Leslie's Weekly.

Danderine

GREW MISS LEWIS' HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor. That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

January 3, 1905.
Dear Doctor Knowlton:—
You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.
I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.
Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.
Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Latest Photograph of MISS EVA LEWIS 2572 Hamilton Avenue, Chicago

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

DISEASE IN ANIMALS

NEW REGULATIONS TO PROTECT TERRITORY

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE PASSES RULES FOR HANDLING GLANDERS AND TUBERCULOSIS—MILK.

At a meeting of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry, held yesterday, Territorial Veterinarian Norgaard reported concerning glanders in horses and tuberculosis in cattle, recommending regulations to safeguard the Territory. The Department of Animal Industry is a division under the Agriculture and Forestry Board. Norgaard found existing rules deficient.

Messrs. A. W. Carter and L. A. Thurston presented the following regulations, drawn in conjunction with Dr. Norgaard, and they were adopted, further rules being left to a committee appointed to confer with the Board of Health, with a view to enforcing inspection for tuberculosis cows and milk.

Board of Agriculture and Forestry. Division of Animal Industry, Territory of Hawaii.

Inspection of Imported Live Stock.

In order to prevent the introduction into this Territory of infectious, contagious and communicable diseases among live stock and other animals, local managers or agents of steamship and navigation lines or the commanding officer of any ship shall notify the Territorial Veterinarian, or the local Live Stock Inspector immediately upon the arrival of any ship, of the presence on board if any, of live domestic animals, including poultry and dogs, when same is intended to be landed in this Territory and shall upon arrival of any ship, furnish the inspecting officer with a list of the number and kind of animals taken on board from any port outside of this Territory, the number and kind destined for the Territory, the names of the owners or consignees, and a report as to the condition of health and cases of sickness or death among the animals while on board.

If necessary to remove such animals before the arrival of the inspector, they must be confined on the pier in such a manner as to facilitate inspection, but should in no case be turned loose on the pier. Hogs and sheep shall be confined in temporary pens. Cattle and horses shall be tied on the pier. No animal of any description shall be allowed to leave the pier until the Territorial Veterinarian or local Live Stock Inspector has issued a certificate of health permitting the landing of the animal or animals in question.

In no case shall the removal of live animals from the ship for inspection or other purposes, constitute a landing until a certificate of health for such animals has been issued. Until further notice the ports of Honolulu, Oahu, and Hilo, Hawaii, shall constitute the only ports of entry for live stock and other animals for this Territory.

Any violation of this regulation is a misdemeanor. This regulation shall take effect at once.

In order to prevent the further introduction of glanders and Farcy into this Territory it is hereby ordered that:

No horse stock (including mules and asses), shall be admitted to the Territory unless accompanied by a certificate of health showing that the animal or animals in question have been submitted to the mallein test and found to be free from glanders. Said test must be made and certificate issued by a competent veterinarian whose name appears upon the list of graduates from a recognized veterinary college and whose professional standing is satisfactory to this Board. The test must be made according to the rules of the Territorial Veterinarian and recorded on blanks furnished by him for this purpose.

If such animals shall not have been tested before shipment they shall, upon arrival in this Territory, be placed in quarantine and held there until mallein tested under the supervision of the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector, and at the expense of the owner.

Any person contemplating the importation of horse stock to this Territory shall notify the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector and obtain from him the necessary blanks and instructions.

In order to prevent the further introduction of tuberculosis in cattle it is hereby ordered, that:

No cattle above the age of six months shall be admitted to the Territory unless accompanied by a certificate of health showing that the animal or animals have been submitted to the tuberculin test and found to be free from tuberculosis. The said test must be made under the same conditions as those governing the importation of horse stock and be recorded on blanks furnished by the Territorial Veterinarian. If unaccompanied by such certificate the animals shall be tested upon arrival in the same manner as prescribed for horse stock.

If any horse stock shall be found by the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector, upon arrival in the Territory, to be infected with glanders or any cattle to be infected with tuberculosis, the same shall be immediately destroyed, and the carcass disposed of, at the expense of the owner, under the supervision of the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector.

Any violation of this regulation is a misdemeanor. This regulation shall take effect at once.

Concerning Glandered Horse Stock in the Territory.

1. If having been brought to the notice of this Board that a contagious disease known as glanders and farcy prevails among the horse stock in various portions of this Territory; therefore, in case any animal shows symptoms of glanders, the owner or person having charge of the same, or any person having reason to believe or to suspect that an animal has glanders shall immediately notify the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector.

2. If the Inspector or the Territorial Veterinarian decides that there is reason to believe an animal is suffering from glanders he shall at once isolate the suspected animal or animals and either submit them to the mallein test or remove them to quarantine, where they shall be kept under observation until the nature of the disease can be definitely established.

3. All animals which, upon an examination by an Inspector or the Territorial Veterinarian, are found to exhibit definite symptoms of glanders shall be destroyed and the carcass dis-

4. All other animals which have been exposed to the infection by being in the same stall, yard or premises, or which in any way have come in contact with an affected animal, shall be quarantined for such period as shall be required by the Territorial Veterinarian or the local Live Stock Inspector, or submitted to the mallein test.

5. The premises where affected animals have been kept shall be disinfected under the supervision of the Inspector or the Territorial Veterinarian. All expenses in connection with the examination, testing, destroying and disposing of affected animals, as well as quarantine and disinfection, shall be paid by the owner.

Any violation of this regulation is a misdemeanor. This regulation shall take effect at once.

OBJECT TO PAYING OLD ASSESSMENTS.

It is shown that this is not a case for subscription of stock and an attempt to pay for same in property at a ballooned valuation at which the public might be deceived. The statute was explicitly followed when the company was incorporated and the trustee can not proceed against the incorporators, alleging over-valuation only as a ground for fraud.

It is further shown that the proper basis of value is that of value to the company at the time of incorporation and not in the light of subsequent events. The bill is bad, as it does not show that the creditors gave credit relying on the fact that the capital stock had been fully paid. Mortgagee, Liggett, whose troubles are fully set out in the bill, apparently gave credit to the corporation on the strength of its real estate holdings in Nuuanu valley only. The bill does not allege actual fraud and is bad for that reason. If there was watered stock there is nothing wrong in it at common law, and this was a common law corporation.

All these points are emphasized by the quotation of authorities. The memorandum winds up by calling attention to the fact that there was no contract to pay the corporation or its creditors par value for the stock issued for property, and no fraud is implied in such a transaction. "If there is express fraud the law supplies ample remedies, but such a fraud must be thoroughly proven, and it is not implied from proof that the property is worth far less than the value of the stock.

"This rule may be a fiction of law yet it is based on business usage and is sound in principle and practice. No harm is done any more than when a note is issued below par. It is customary to capitalize property at a reasonably high figure, because it is easier to sell stock at less than par than at par. Dividends are kept down, thus not arousing the cupidity of creditors or interference by Legislatures." It is asked that the demurrer be sustained and the bill dismissed.

Among the respondents are F. J. Lowrey, Frank Hustace, F. J. Amweg, O. L. Sorenson, J. B. Rohrer, T. R. Burns, C. H. Cooke, F. C. Atherton, W. Gehring, F. B. Damon, M. L.

NORWAY'S SECESSION.

The editor of the Nordiske Blade, Mr. Sigurd Folkestad, writes for Collier's of June 24 on the reasons for Norway's independence, and in part says:

The main reason why King Oscar was dethroned is that he represented aristocratic Sweden against democratic Norway, and therefore was unable to carry out the thoughts of freedom, equality and sovereignty which are expressed in the constitution of Norway. The Swedish democratic people love Norway. Thousands of them have emigrated to Norway, being now some of its most industrious and democratic citizens; and as many are working there from time to time, the ideas of freedom, self-possession, and social-political betterment spread through them to every part of Sweden. It is Norway's hope for Sweden that the Swedish aristocracy soon may be out of power. In this wish the great authors, the best politicians, the liberal party, and the masses of the democratic classes in Sweden unite with Norway.

Sweden is quickly approaching the day when its industrious, intelligent people will break the power by which the Swedish aristocracy are now holding them under an unworthy yoke. And at last; Norway, the land of the Vikings, who nine hundred years ago discovered America, which they called "Vinland"—Norway, the land of the explorer Fridtjof Nansen, the authors Ibsen and Bjornson, the musician Edv. Grieg, and of the hundreds of scientists who for the last century have participated illustriously in the European work of culture — the fatherland of one of the most intelligent and able elements of the United States — is too free and self-respecting to be ruled by a Swedish aristocracy.

ROUGH CARPENTER SUED FOR DIVORCE.

1903, the libellee came home intoxicated and called his wife a —, a —, and various similar terms of endearment. He also indulged in the following language: "I can live without you"; "I can get other women"; "You are no good anyhow, —"; "Get to — out of here, leave this house"; "I never want to see you again." Whereupon he began to indulge in literary exercises by taking books and throwing them on the floor, which so frightened the libellant that she left the house in fear and did not return before she was assured that libellee had gone to sleep. All of which caused her great and grievous mental suffering.

In March, 1904, the libellee came home intoxicated and called the libellant and her children names not in general use in polite society. These actions continued throughout March, April and May, 1904.

In June, 1904, the libellee came home drunk and told his wife that he could make his living and not support his family, and left the house. The wife and children followed him, asking for money for food, whereupon the husband flew into a rage and threw stones at his wife, accompanying the missiles with epigrams suitable to the occasion, as he thought.

In September, 1904, the libellant came home drunk and was so violent that the children were compelled to hide under the bed. During this month he threatened constantly to kill his family. In November he added to the program by coming home with a big guava stick, which he put under the bed, saying somewhat ungrammatically: "Any — who comes into my room, I have got something for them." In December, 1904, just before Christmas he damned his children on the public street. On December 31, 1904, he threw two packages on the table, saying: "Eat and I hope you will all die"; since which occasion he has not supported his family.

On July 15, the libellant was in bed when she heard her husband's voice outside. She went out and found the libellee calling her daughter, who was with a young man, violently disturbing love's young dream by calling the young lady dirty names. He also threw stones at the crowd, and most inconsiderately, a bottle half filled with beer. He also threatened to kill his family.

The libellant further shows that the libellee is a "rough carpenter," which seems to be superfluous after the allegation of the libel. He earns $75 to $80 a month, but has not provided for his wife and family for some time. She asks for a divorce, alimony and an order directing the libellee to keep the peace.
