DEFECTIVE JURY SYSTEM.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The present system of drawing jurors should be abolished, or the list be extended to embrace a sufficient number of residents to insure a person against being called more than once a year for such duty. It comes with extreme hardship to many of our business community to drop the management of their private concerns, in order to comply with these periodical demands upon their time. I assume it to be an infringement of my rights under the constitution to continually make such demands of me or my associate in business, while many others, equally eligible and similarly burdened with the duties of citizenship, are never called to such duty. Let the list of voters for Nobles be taken and gone through alphabetically, each taking his turn. Let a reserve number of jurors be drawn at every term to take the place of any that may be excused by the Court from the regular panel (I have sat out a term where there were only 16 jurors to draw from, the rest having been excused), and our complaint will cease. One thing more as to jury trials, it is quite common for lawyers having cases called, to detain court and jury panel for an hour or more, and then find that they are not ready to go on with the same; consequence, loss of 24 hours' time to jurymen. In conclusion, the pay of jurors is fixed too low (although this is no cause of complaint from me). A mechanic of even ordinary abilities earns $3 a day, and I believe this a proper compensation for jurors. J. E.

THOSE COMPLAINTS FROM LAHAINA.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—When we are suddenly deprived of luxuries to which we have become accustomed, the change is apt to strike us very forcibly, and with a sensation not altogether agreeable. This is none the less true when the said luxuries have been provided and paid for by others. These reflections are suggested by the "Lahaina Complaint" spoken of in the BULLETIN of last evening. The facts in regard to the case are as follows: Dr. Mack, the resident Government physician at Lahaina, impaired his health seriously, and it is feared permanently, by his arduous and faithful labors in Kona, Hawaii, where he was formerly located, and was earnestly advised by his professional friends to try the effects of a trip to the Coast, which advice he decided to act upon. It appears from inquiries made at the office of the Board of Health, that when Dr. Mack applied for leave of absence he was informed that it would be granted on condition that he should provide an acceptable substitute during his absence. The doctor informed the Board that his absence would not be a prolonged one, and that an available substitute could be found in the person of a Japanese physician who was subsidized and employed by all the planters in the district. The Board of Health appears to have concluded that the quality of medical service that was satisfactory to all the planters in the district would answer the general demand for two or three months, and granted Dr. Mack's request accordingly. The following thoughts seem per-thent; 1.—If the Board had not granted Dr. Mack's request, the state of his health would have compelled his unconditional resignation, and the people of Lahaina would have been no better off than at present. 2.—The Board of Health do not undertake, nor can they be expected to keep a reserve staff of thoroughly qualified foreign physicians on hand wherewith to fill temporary vacancies. This would involve keeping them under pay. 3.—Some people seem to think that an extra doctor can be got to leave his established business at any time and go to another district or another island for a few days or a few months, just as a boss builder would take on an extra carpenter or bricklayer when work was pressing. Professional service cannot be handled in that way. It is not practicable to keep competent physicians in stock, like goods on the shelves of a retail shop, to be dealt out over the counter as wanted. 4.—If planters and those immediately connected with them in some districts would show a more liberal spirit, and not combine to practically boycott the educated white physician, and give all the plantation patronage to the cheaper Asiatic, it would be much easier for the Board of Health to put thoroughly good physicians into the country districts, and to keep them there. In the trouble which Mr. Hayselden has recently experienced in obtaining the services of a physician, he has the sympathy of the writer, but the trouble of getting a physician from Waialuku is not very much greater than from Lahaina, and when a man for his own pleasure or interest elects to take up his abode in an out-of-the-way place, or on an island, with miles of salt water between himself and the rest of the world, he must accept therewith the unpleasant possibilities. FACTS.

HILO NEWS AND NOTES.

The New Steam Line—A Chapter of Accidents.—A Wave of Crime. (From the Hilo Record, July 29.)

The basis of the proposed steamship line between San Diego, Cal., and Hilo, and Honolulu and San Francisco, arrived by last mail and we notice that the object of the company is not to injure or compete with any existing steam communication between the Islands and California, but to open up new markets and increase the trade in articles at present produced in small quantities, especially that of fruit. The steamers are to be fitted up so as to take fruit in large quantities.

We all know what resources there are here for fruit culture, especially in this district. Look at the immense amount of pears, mangoes, pine apples, olives, bananas, guavas, etc., going to waste every year just because the market for them is limited. With a line direct from here which will take fruit up to San Francisco in short time and in good condition, all of the above mentioned fruit can be sent away in some form or other. With this new market for fruit there will be an increased activity in fruit culture and new varieties of fruit cultivated.

We believe that this will be one of the great industries for Hawaii in the near future, and most sincerely hope that the subsidy asked for from the Government, for the short period of two years, will be granted. The mail facilities will also be greatly enhanced for the Hilo district at least. At present they are anything but of the best.

From Hamakua we hear that a serious railroad accident happened last Thursday evening. The laborers were riding home from work and as they neared a bridge the rails spread and let the engine and cars off the track. Most of the laborers saw that something was going to happen and jumped in time to save themselves, but we hear that eleven men were injured and one to his death. The engine managed to regain the track, but the cars were thrown from it and over the bridge and into the gulch.

Last Friday the ladies of town met at the residence of Mrs. Severance and had a sewing bee. A good bit of work was done and the usual amount of gossip was not gone through with. In the assault and battery case from Onomea, three of the men arrested were fined and the rest discharged. There seems to be a wave of crime in the form of assault and battery passing over this section of country. The Police Court has been quite busy the last week attending to these cases.

Last Saturday a very large catch of fish was brought in to market. The mullet were of unusual size, some weighing four and five pounds. Several tons of different kinds of fish were caught that night.

Last Monday, the 28th instant, two severe shocks of earthquake were felt here at the hour of 4:15. This makes the number of shocks three for this month.

The Brigham party started for the mountain yesterday morning, expecting to reach camp Puakaia the following day. Social this evening at the residence of Mr. P. S. Lyman.

(EXTRA, JULY 30.) From Papaikou we learn that the new 17 ton vacuum pan there was blown to pieces this morning about 8 a. m. A Chinaman was cleaning the vacuum pump and had a lighted tallow candle to see by, when without any warning the vacuum pan burst into hundreds of pieces.

The shell of the pan is a complete wreck, but the copper coils are not hurt, being twisted slightly. There had been no heat or steam in the pan since Saturday, and the query is how did it happen. The supposition is, that gases collected there in pump and vacuum, and when the candle came in contact with them in the pump they were immediately ignited and caused the explosion. The Chinaman's hand and arm were badly burned. The building was damaged to some extent by the iron flying through the boards. The iron forming the pan was an inch thick, so the explosion must have been very powerful.

IS THIS HIGHER EDUCATION? Gross Insurrection in a Girls' School.

The following spicy piece of news is from the Sydney, N. S. W., Herald of June 13, 1890:

An outbreak took place at the Girls' Industrial School, Paramatta, about 6:30 last evening. As the girls were being marched to their singing lesson, the signal was given, and a number of the girls broke from the line, ran to the back of the building, and commenced throwing stones at the windows, smashing the windows at the chapel and dining-room, and at the same time using frightful language. Miss M'Alphin, in whose charge the girls were, marched the remainder to the dormitories, and then asked the rebellious ones to come in. They replied that they would not; they had been suspected of being about to create a riot, and now they would go on with it. Mr. Spier, the superintendent, went to the girls and got the same reply. Two girls signified their intention of giving in if one or two of the others, presumably the leaders, would. Things soon got so bad that the police were sent for. Inspector Latimer arrived with a number of policemen. The girls submitted, but kept up a frenzied shouting, using the vilest language. The prison van was sent for, and was backed up to the door. The girls rushed into it frantically, and were lodged in the lockup. Mr. Spier states that the girls have been exceptionally good of late. The cane had only been used in three instances since he had been there—about six weeks. His opinion was that the girls expected others back yesterday who had been released, and they determined to get into prison with the hope that they would also be released when their sentence expired. During the riot they told some of the officers that this was the reason. They also said that they had no fault to find with Mr. Spier or Mrs. Spier, who, they said, had treated them well. No attempt was made to assault anybody; they contented themselves with screaming, cursing, and breaking windows. Mr. Spier told them it would be worse for them. They replied, "We don't mind that; we will be free afterwards." Mr. Spier had a cell strong enough, but the gas and water pipes run through it, and he was afraid the girls would tear them down. There were 10 girls in the riot, their ages ranging from 14 to 18 years. Mr. Hugh Taylor, M. L. A., was present and tried to pacify them, but they simply gave three cheers for him and resumed their babel. Two of the inmates who were not implicated went into fits. The opinion is that the whole secret of the riot may be traced to the fact that other girls were released after being sent to prison for similar conduct. As the girls were being driven away nearly all said, "Good-bye, Mr. and Mrs. Spier; you have treated us well; it is not your fault."

DEATH BY OVER-EXERTION. A Lad Dies in a Race.

The Auckland, N. Z., Herald of July 14th, contains an account of a boy named Thomas Wilson dying from over-exertion. A number of boys were amusing themselves by playing the game of "Hare and Hounds." They had been running (and walking at short intervals) for an hour and a half. They were almost coming to a finish, Wilson was a "hare," and nearly side by side with him was another boy named Sands. Wilson stopped and exclaimed, "I'm done." Shortly after he fell. A gentleman saw, from his residence near by, the boy fall, and went to his assistance. Finding the lad weak and unconscious, the gentleman procured some spirit and poured it into Wilson's mouth, without effect. The pulse was feeble, and in a few minutes became imperceptible. A doctor was soon in attendance, but failed to restore animation. The medical man expressed the opinion that the boy had died from over-exertion. The lad's father said that his son left home in apparently good health and spirits, and made no complaint of any kind, not had he ever done so. This incident might serve as a caution against over-exertion at athletic exercises.
