SUGAR NOT IN IT.

With Claus Spreckels doubtful about annexation and in favor of a republic, and known to have been such before he left America, the following comes with rather bad taste from the Louisville Courier-Journal:

The failure of the Sugar Ring conspiracy to annex Hawaii and rob the United States Treasury of $75,000,000 is now confessed by the agents of the conspiracy, and in their rage they are admitting the falsity of the pleas upon which they based the original demand for annexation.

There has been no sugar ring conspiracy here and the fact is so plain that even the royalist newspapers in Honolulu admit it. The records show that sugar men were very far from leading the revolution. In fact they were alarmed about it and at the mass meeting which preceded the overthrow of the Queen they advised a moderate and conciliatory course. There are, we believe, only two out-and-out planters among the eighteen members of the Provisional Government, while among the scores of people who subscribed to start the STAR—a distinctive annexationist journal, dyed in the wool and tattooed in the flesh with American ideas—there are none at all. Neither is the sugar interest represented in the management of the Annexation Club.

In fact wherever one goes in the paths of annexationist politics here or abroad the sugar planter is rarely encountered. But there are other and stronger considerations why such a paper as the Courier-Journal ought not to waste its time in idle chatter about a sugar plot to "rob the United States Treasury of $75,000,000 or any other sum."

If such had been the revolutionary plan, why was not the Queen deposed while the McKinley bill was in full flower and bloom, and before the November frosts of 1892 had cut it to the root? Was it at all likely, when a Democratic victory had just been won in the United States, the object of which, as the Courier-Journal itself says, was to "repudiate the McKinley bill altogether," that sugar men would have risked a revolution for the sake of a bounty which the American people had given notice that they would promptly abolish? Such a conclusion can hardly be credited to a paper which reveals the mental processes of Henry Watterson, and yet it is the only one that may be drawn from the stated premises.

The Courier-Journal adds: Mr. Spreckels and his company knew the conditions of life in Hawaii when they settled there, and if they find now that an ignorant populace and a despotic government make commercial prosperity impossible, they must not expect to have assistance, support and protection from the American Navy or the American Treasury. On the contrary, they must abide the consequences of a bad investment.

And yet in yesterday's STAR, Mr. Spreckels gave his views upon annexation as follows: "I am making careful enquiries on both sides; I have visited President Dole and Liliuokalani, and this morning I conferred with Minister Stevens. I have listened attentively to the stories from both sides—from the kanakas because I loved them, from the others because I wanted to sift the whole thing down before I acted."

Does that look to the Courier-Journal as if Mr. Spreckels had led the revolution or had taken much part in the "plot" which went before it? Does he talk like a man who had come to gloat over the success of the annexationist scheme? Does he really appear to be "in a rage over the failure of the Sugar Ring conspiracy?"

AN OFFER OF RICHES.

Amid all the noise and shouting of the captains the Hawaiians should not forget the one important fact that annexation means wealth in their pocket books.

It is not alone money which good times would bring, although that counts, but the shares in the great property known as the Crown lands which must fall to them in the distribution to follow the enactment of a homestead law—it is this to which the STAR calls the attention of its native readers.

Under the monarchy the revenues of these lands have gone into the pocket of the sovereign and the lands themselves have been leased to favorites.

Annexation would end that unprincipled system and open, as leases should expire, not less than 1,000,000 acres for the benefit of the common people, native Hawaiians having a reasonable preference. Divided into 20-acre holdings there would be land enough for 50,000 separate tracts, nearly all of it suited to some form of industry. Every head of a Hawaiian family would, therefore, have a chance to secure property which, under the stimulus annexation must create, would be worth all the way from $50 to $350 an acre.

Every signature which a native head of family causes to be added to the roll of a royalist league is a protest against his own prosperity, a refusal of a competency, an affront to fortune and a betrayal of his own best interests and those of his children—and all for the sake of a political chimera.

It must seem strange to the United States Commissioner that a government which was too corrupt to be left alive has left not a shade of scandal to be discovered by its destroyers.—Bulletin.

In memory holds a seat in this distracted globe there were numberless scandals under the monarchy. Has the Bulletin never heard of fraudulent withdrawals of liquor from the Custom House under the King's eye? Has it no recollection of any shortage in the Water department which Mrs. Dominis made good? Has it compared the law on the subject of customs payments with Cleghorn's acceptance of the Macfarlane checks? Is it able to explain the opium theft and that of the crown jewels in any way that relieves certain royalist hangers-on of the main suspicion? "Not a shade of scandal," forsooth! The monarchy was rotten enough to impudently bear the air of five meridians.

Bishop Willis stands by his ecclesiastical guns like a yeoman of the guard. He may die but he will never resign. In the meantime the gospel of turning the other cheek will await the end of hostilities with a patience born of a long experience in church quarrels.

CLEANLINESS is the best preventive of cholera. Rid the city of filth and smells, drain stagnant pools, disinfect Chinatown and have a perfect quarantine. If that does not keep the plague at distance then nothing can.

DANGER IN A REPUBLIC.

Why This Country Should Decide to be Annexed.

EDITOR STAR:—The impracticability of maintaining a so-called republic here was ably shown by one of your correspondents on the 18th, but perhaps you can spare the space for a few more thoughts on the same subject. The falsity of the assertion that the late revolution was a "sugar deal," and Mr. Spreckels was at the bottom of it, is now fully apparent.

So far from having planned the revolution, the "sugar barons" even now regard the prospect of coming under the laws of the United States relating to Chinese immigration and contract labor with grave apprehension.

The sugar business, they claim, is the mainstay of this country, and without a constant supply of cheap labor, they say, it cannot be carried on successfully.

These gentlemen recognize the fact that monarchy here is dead beyond resurrection. They also admit that the Provisional Government is not intended or fitted to be a permanent form of government. Its avowed object is to prepare the way for annexation to the United States, which is the only logical and satisfactory alternative to the native monarchy. Yet, the idea has been suggested by certain of these "sugar barons," of changing the provisional government into a nominal republic but really an oligarchy, under the protection of the United States, in order to retain the contract labor system, and to keep up the supply of Chinese labor. In order to insure such legislation as they would wish, and to control the policy of the executive, a liberal use of money in buying up local demagogues, and newspapers, importing carpet baggers, etc., would be necessary. Meanwhile the Mongolian element, which already forms more than a third of our population, would be steadily increasing and supplanting both Hawaiians and Caucasians in various trades and lines of business, and Honolulu would gradually become a second Singapore.

At the same time, the Japanese government would continue to demand equal political privileges for its people with those enjoyed by other foreigners, by virtue of the treaty of 1871. Assailed by discontent from within and pressure from without, such a government would be like the house founded on sand.

In fact, this country seems to have arrived at the parting of the ways, which will decide its fate, either as an Asiatic or Caucasian colony. As has been said before, we believe that the perpetuation of Anglo-Saxon civilization is essential to the continuance of free government in these islands. Such a civilization can be perpetuated only by retaining and attracting a population who have been educated in it, and who comprehend the workings and appreciate the benefits of a free government.

It is too much for any man or set of men to ask us to sacrifice the future character of this country in order to build up one great industry. Nor will the United States look on with indifference and see this group become an Asiatic colony. Our climate and soil are well fitted to attract and reward the same class of industrious settlers who have done such wonders in Southern California. KAMAHA.

THE HUI KALAIAINAS.

An Appeal To Them To Stand By Their Principles.

The following circular has been issued in the native language and scattered broadcast through the islands:

HUI KALAIAINA VS. ANNEXATION.

We feel it our duty to call the attention of the "Hui Kalaiaina" to the present condition of affairs. Every living man on these islands is interested as to what is to be the future government of Hawaii. It is evident that there will be a great change and it would be well, that the Hawaiian people should carefully consider the matter. We know of no class of Hawaiians to whom we would submit so serious a question, as exists at present as the members of the "Hui Kalaiaina."

The original members of that society organized in 1887, were from among the most respectable class of Hawaii's best people, whose whole ambition was to secure for themselves, and their people, a more liberal and a better government than they had previous to that time. The object of the native Hawaiians who joined the "Hui Kalaiaina" was to get into the hands of the people the right of electing some of the government officials; all officers being appointed at the time by the King and his ministers. The abuse of this system of government brought into existence the "Hui Kalaiaina." The "Hui Kalaiaina" idea of electing officers by the people, was always opposed by the King and his ministers; also opposed by a low class of petty politicians, both natives and foreigners.

The King and his Ministers on all occasions opposed the "Hui Kalaiaina" on accounts of their agitation for the election of the officers of the government, claiming a hereditary right to make all the appointments to office in the kingdom. The opposition to the appointment power of the monarch and his cabinet was the rock on which the Hui Kalaiaina was built, and faithfully did they carry out that principle by carrying the election of 1890.

The revolution of 1889 with all its palace influence, and dark lantern business effects, could in no instance induce the Hui Kalaiaina into any unconstitutional undertaking, and only a few expelled members of that organization existed in that revolution. The exact form of Government for which the Hui Kalaiaina contended, and for which it had been founded, is now offered to them by the great American nation. Here is a system of Government, positively denied the Hawaiian people for years, by their King and Queen, now offered them by one of the foremost nations on the earth.

America not only offers us the election of our own public servants, but it takes us under its protection for all time to come. America will no doubt grant the Hawaiian people all the blessings they enjoy in their own country. Self advancement and future happiness will surely be the lot of all those who favor annexation.

We feel it a duty to our Hawaiian friends in this hour of trial and tribulation to advise them as to what we think they should do under the present circumstances. We think they should leave nothing undone to favor annexation, and for the following reasons: Annexation gives the Hawaiian People the right to obtain that system of government that the Hui Kalaiaina has been striving for for years, by which the people could elect nearly all officers of government. It gives us that protection which no other government can give us. This will stop all future Hawaiian revolutions, which is a gift of God in itself, after which all can live happily and comfortably together. The crown lands are to be divided among Hawaiians who have families. The lands will then be more valuable than now; more money will be in circulation than ever before, instead of being a bankrupt government as we were under the monarchical form, if annexed to America we will have all the money and credit we want. We shall have a telegraph in Honolulu inside of two years, giving us the news of the world daily.

We want our Hawaiian friends of the Hui Kalaiaina to study well this our statement of affairs to them. Knowing well how faithfully we served them in days gone by, and that, too, without any personal considerations. We have always worked in order to get for them that system of Government now offered to them by annexation to the United States. We have always considered the Hawaiian system of Government under the late King and Queen an infernal outrage on the intelligence of the Hawaiian people. We favor the Provisional Government because it is doing everything in its power to advance the interest of the whole country and everybody in it. It aims to give us that system of government which the people of Hawaii should have had years ago.

In closing this communication, I sincerely hope that God will assist the people of Hawaii in securing for themselves a brotherhood in the greatest nation on earth, and a system of government which we know they always wanted. We are satisfied if the original members of the Hui Kalaiaina organized in 1887 on constitutional principles will wait upon Commissioner Hon. J. H. Blount, they will, through his influence, get all these blessings. Respectfully,

DANIEL LYONS
Organizer of the Hui Kalaiaina in 1887.

The Old Band.

Members of the old royal band are now trying to get back into the government service. They held out until the white musicians were sent for, and then began to weaken. Herr Berger does not say as yet whether they will be received or not.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectively breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE COAST METROPOLIS.

A Melange of News and Gossip from the Star's Special Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.,

April 10, 1893.

Advertisements are sometimes queer birds. Of course the feminine eye lights immediately upon the "personal" column, when the owner decides to try the mind-improver embodied in a city daily. Now the following seems to savor of polygamous intent, and ought to be suppressed instead of encouraged by further circulation; but, candidly, what do you think of it:

"Wanted—An elderly gentleman wishing to marry respectable, wealthy ladies. Send to cts. for details."

This may be an offshoot of the recent completion of that grand temple of Mormonism, dedicated mid chaotic cries of the elements in Salt Lake City on the 6th inst. Forty years have been consumed in its construction; 10,000,000 dollars of good Mormon lucre have been offered at the shrine of Saint Brigham to build an edifice, which to Salt Lake City and the Mormons, is what St. Peter's is to the City of Rome and the Catholics. It is said that the wily Brigham (than whom no willier ever lived) spurred on the sometimes quiescent religious spirit of his followers, and at the same time picked their pockets by his utterance, that at the completion of this temple, Christ would come again to earth, and all would be harmony, and heavenly bliss and crops would never fail; in short, there would be a "heaven at hand," society realized in the city by the saline lake. Brigham had a large and tenacious brain. He knew well that in all human probability, he would be gathered to his fathers (more literally speaking, mothers, according to Mormon practices and precepts), ere the completion of the temple, and his rash prediction would have to be met by some other saint not so full of years. Now at this appointed time, when his disciples meekly ask why the revelation of the sacred personage is still delayed, Brigham Young's successor Wilford Woodruff, is called upon to parley with the skeptically inclined, and in common with less saintly persons when in a box, asks for time. The temple's interior is said to be a thing of beauty hitherto undreamed of. This year readers will have to accept on trust, as your correspondent is one of the perdition-bound Gentiles, one of the prescribed whose feet shall never profane even the holy threshold.

The venerable William Ingraham Kip, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of California, most beloved and revered of all the clergy on this coast, has passed to his eternal rest. He was born in 1811, and after his graduation from Yale college in 1835 he devoted his days to the priesthood. His home on the corner of California and Powell streets in this city was the scene of his death, just after midnight on April 7th. Blindness had come to him in his later years, and in enforced idleness of body, though with mental faculties ever alert, he awaited the end.

Easter-tide in this city brings forth all the flowers of the field, all the fruits of the loom, to bedeck the fair devotees who on Easter-Sunday reverently bow their heads in their dainty cappings, if on no other day in the year. Beauty was out in force on that day, and though a gentle shower just at the close of morning services caused anguish to be depicted on the pretty faces under the prettier bonnets, it was only an April shower, just a make-believe to show what the rain god could do were he disposed to be disagreeable. The churches were beautifully embowered with flowers and tropical plants, ascension lilies predominating in the decorations. At Trinity, as is usually the case, standing room was at a premium for half the service which lasted two hours, and those who expected to make a sensation with their new Easter gowns were as ignominiously thrust to the wall as were those like your correspondent who came to see—not to be seen. The music of course was exceptionally fine. Mrs. Marie Wyman Williams, S. F.'s favorite, was in excellent voice and her offertory from Handel's oratorio of "The Messiah," "I know that my Redeemer liveth," was something truly beautiful. Do I hear your fair reader murmur, "and she never says a word about the bonnets?" Religion first, my dears, and millinery afterward. All in good time. There really was not much opportunity for close observation (in one sense). When people are huddled together like cattle in a pen, effects are unknown quantities. Near my square inch of space was a tall graceful woman with dark eyes and hair. She wore a handsome pearl gray cloth costume, made to fall in long straight lines and yet with the fulness that is so essential in this spring's toilets. A white chip hat on her black hair was trimmed entirely in their hideous but ultra-fashionable shade between heliotrope and crimson which we used to call magenta. It appeared in flowers massed under the brim which was raised a trifle on the left side to admit them, and as in the case of most Easter millinery the flowers depended from the back of the hat and seemed to just "snuggle" against the pretty coil of hair beneath it. Magenta loops and smart-looking points of ribbon and ties of the same completed what was an elegant toilet. But can you fancy how some people will look with magenta ties to frame their faces? Heaven forbid! Yet this wearer was an artist, for her pale clear complexion stood the test bravely and the loveliness of her great dark eyes was enhanced by the white chip hat. This straw, by the way, promises to be very popular this spring. Easily bent and worked into the odd shapes prevailing, it lends itself to the milliner's touch with an abandon delightful to contemplate. This paragraph, begun as an Easter salutation, seems to merge into fashion items, so suppose we end them with a few notes? You cannot go amiss if you

Make your gowns full and flaring around the bottom but smooth over the hips.

Trim with a series of folds laid on full (and cut bias) and graduated in width.

Simplicity is the rule.

Put stiffening in your skirts as far up as the knee.

Wear green, if it is becoming to you, as it is admissible in all millinery.

Use flounce effects over the shoulders. This, with the immense sleeves makes us look like our grandmothers—just what we are striving for.

It may be of interest to know that Mrs. Chauncey Depew's Easter gown is a combination of changeable light and dark heliotrope diagonal silk made with full skirt, round velvet corsage and silk yoke slightly full into a velvet collar.

The bark Hesper arrived in port from Honolulu on the afternoon of the 7th, and the captain and six of the crew were immediately held as witnesses in the case of the murder of Mate Fitzgerald last January. A plot on the part of the crew to kill the officers and turn pirates was nipped in the bud by discovery, and the would-be sailors under the black flag were put in irons until Tahiti was reached, when the Tropic Bird brought them to this city. Thos. St. Clair, Herman Scharf, Thos. Green, Edward Larsen and Hans Hansen are the names of the plotters. The Hesper made the voyage from Honolulu in twenty days, encountering nine days of pretty rough weather.

San Francisco is seized with its periodical moral epidemic. This time it is about the sale of positions in the school department under the last administration. Young lady teachers are summoned, "all a tremble," before the grand jury to tell their little story of how they don't know who appointed them, but whoever it was was "awfully good" and "no," indeed, of course they never paid one cent for their positions. One young thing, ingenious to a degree, says naively, "My brother obtained my appointment. He is a contractor and plasterer. He was on the county committee from his territory or district or whatever it is, so I suppose he must have great political influence." And the inquisition goes merrily on. The school board of S. F. seems to be a school for scandal at present writing.

J. W. Flood, cashier of the Donohoe-Kelly bank, has resigned under a cloud. J. A. Donohoe, Sr., son of the president of the corporation, takes his place. The bank was incorporated two years ago, and at that time Flood was made an officer in the concern, and for twenty-five years previously had been a trusted employee. There was a shortage of $25,000 in his accounts for which he has made restitution by transferring to the bank real estate worth that sum.

The Owls' Nest had to be feathered the other evening. In other words the corner stone had to be laid. The little Owls are a sort of branch of the Bohemian Club, and they try to do honor to their bringing up. The club house at San Carlos is their nest.

The event was an hilarious one. Owls are thirsty birds—at least these were. They imbibed. They repeated the performance. They nodded to each other and made it three times. That's how the corner stone was laid. Now the cruel aftermath comes, and the courts are trying to decide who shall pay for the drinks. When Carroll & Carroll, the purveyors for the feast, presented their little bill, the Owls looked wise, but said nothing satisfactory. Then up rose blind Justice. After becoming an animated encyclopedia on dry and extra dry, silver and gold labels, &c., they were no nearer to a settlement than at the start. And the Owlets blink their eyes and look knowing.

The mystery of the death of Henry Planz, a young brewery manager of San Jose, is in a fair way to be cleared up. On the morning of Nov. 11, 1892, his body was found hanging to a tree, and the theory of suicide was brought forth at the time. An analysis of his stomach will probably show that poison and not the rope was the death agent. It is said that persons suspected of having poisoned him are under surveillance, and that everything will be cleared up soon.

Between harrowing tales of battle, murder and sudden death to dwellers upon land, and equally sympathy-exciting stories from those who go down to the sea in ships, the question mentally shapes itself, "Where is Safety?" A pathetic meeting took place at Santa Barbara Friday between the survivors in the boats that deserted the coal-laden four master King James, from Newcastle. The coal took fire, caused by spontaneous combustion on account of being wet when loading, and the crew, after vainly trying to subdue the flames, abandoned the ship when about 200 miles from S. F., sending sixteen men in each of the two boats which soon after separated. The first mate's boat landed at Point Conception on the 3rd inst. with its full complement of men. The captain's boat finally came in sight Friday with only four left out of the sixteen men who had pulled away from the burning ship. The captain's seventeen-year-old son had died in his father's arm, and eleven others gave up the battle with hunger, thirst and exposure and their bodies were cast overboard. All feeling seemed merged in the one wish to die, and when the poor wretches were sighted two miles off Huenehue what they were too exhausted to guide the boat there. The Los Angeles took them to port. A sadder scene never was witnessed.

Something Pretty in Shoes

Always invites inspection, and judging from the amount of inspection we are arousing, one would suppose we were showing something unusually pretty. The supposition is entirely correct, for that's precisely what we're doing. Our stock of footwear is not only exceedingly pretty, but it's also pretty extensive, and what's more interesting still, it's more than pretty cheap. It's the buyer's season now. Winter is slipping right along as though on ice, and we don't want to be caught in the Spring with any remnants of winter goods. The stock is well up now in all styles and sizes, and you can get a first choice as well as a low price. Don't wait until the stock's faded away to the last end of nothing before buying, but buy now.

nenced than the meeting between the survivors of that awful ocean tragedy. After reading of such terrible experiences the story of a young man jumping overboard into the smooth waters of S. F. bay to rescue a companion loses some of the weight that might otherwise attach to it. Yet it was a brave deed. Wilson Mizner and some companions were on the ferry Oakland when by a misstep Desmond Cosgrave went against and over the railing. Mizner lost an instant in throwing a life preserver to his friend, and hastily adjusting one to himself plunged in, handicapped by his heavy clothing. Ten minutes were consumed in the bungling attempts to lower a boat but the young men kept afloat. Had Mizner not showed his alert wit his friend might have drowned before his eyes while awaiting the tardy movements in lowering a boat evidently carried purely for ornament.

When women operatives strike they do so with a literal translation of the word. Some Buffalo girls in a rag house struck for higher wages Friday, and because two of their number stood firm for their places the others set upon and beat them, tore their hair and raiment, and generally mauled them. A body of police had to be called to the rescues, and it is safe to wager that they did not relish their errand. This was a sort of sectional hurricane and had nothing to do with the furious wind storm that traversed western New York at about the same time. Chatauquo and Erie counties suffered most severely. One man was killed by a falling barn at Springville, trees were uprooted, buildings lifted bodily in the air, and a "general uprising" took place. The house of George H. Talcott, at Talcottville, Lewis County, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, and the bodies of Talcott and his brother were found in the ruins. The damage done to buildings by the storm is not less than $100,000. An estimate cannot be given of the ruin in vineyards and orchards. One does not need to live out in the wild and woolly West in order to have all the luxuries of the season.

Mrs. John W. Mackay has arrived in S. F. from "Eyrup." Her likeness is blazoned forth in one of our dailies. The lady has a "ruling" nose. Perhaps the sage deduction is drawn from inference—a case of effect before the cause, for we all know how she (or is it her wealth?) has ruled Paris and London, or at least that part of those scyphantic cities that crawls in the wake of the bonanza king's wife. What a pity it is to be very wealthy; in the glitter of the gold the better, truer, modest qualities shrink back dismayed. Mrs. Mackay is a devoted wife, a fond mother and a generous benefactress, and yet when her name comes before the public it is nearly always in connection with her money and her royally-planned entertainments. By the way, the would-be slayer of her husband has his trial on May 4th. Mr. Mackay has no desire to prosecute the man, but "the ends of justice" (how frayed out they must be from constant use!) must be served, and W. C. Rippey must be brought before its bar.

Santa Barbara's annual pasqua de flores is being held this week. This grand flower carnival, is the great society event of the southern counties and people from far and near attend.

Now that Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Miss Fair are in San Francisco on a visit, society is unanimous in giving them a genuine Pacific coast welcome. Luncheons, dinners, receptions follow each other in succession, and they greet old and true friends wherever they turn. Miss Fair has attained her majority and the year spent in New York under the apt tutelage of her sister has added finishing touches to a sweet nature.

Of course the nuptials of George R. Shreve and Miss Jennie Watson, to be celebrated at St. Luke's church next Wednesday evening, will be a society event of importance. Miss Bessie Shreve will be maid of honor.

Frank Godfrey, editor of the Honolulu Paradise of the Pacific is in town a guest at the Occidental.

Alameda has quietly decided not to be ignored at the World's Fair, in spite of enemy Yeland's picture of Alameda-Behind-the-Tree. But it is the ladies (bless their hearts!) who have downed the tyrant. Following is a brief story of the result of their efforts: They have sent a California wood mantel, beautifully carved: an embroidered drape for the same representing Queen Isabella handing out her jewels to Christopher while Ferdinand, good spouse that he is, looks on approvingly from his throne, wondering a bit if Chris. will really accomplish anything. Then there is an onyx clock, to which a tale hangs. The twelve characters on the dial represent twelve small circular views of points of note in Alameda. On the front face of the base of the timepiece are these words:

"Dawn of Woman's Era,
Time to Reap the Harvest."

One bright and original little woman, Mrs. M. L. Chandler, was inspired with an idea. The two vacant panels at the sides of the dial should be niches for statues, and what more appropriate than Dawn and Reaper to carry out the idea of the motto. Failing in her quest to get a model for Dawn, Mrs. Chandler posed for it herself and the result is beautiful. No less charming is the Reaper of Mrs. Mary Dixon a school teacher in Alameda. While Frona Eunice Wait has been doing a heap of waiting for California "wenuses" to offer themselves in competition, these ladies have unostentatiously made far better use of the idea and are now on their way to Chicago, indelibly portrayed. It is pardonable to assert that they will be there—on time.

PEGGY.

M. McINERNY.

Are we to be, or not to be, a part of the Great Republic, seems to be the burning question of the day, and one we had rather leave to wiser heads than ours to solve; and while great statesmen are wrestling with this momentous question, we want to have a little "pore-wore" with you on some other subjects, that concern you as well as ourselves.

Has it not occurred to you that you've been wearing that old hat long enough! In these progressive times if you intend to be "in it," you've got to keep pace with fashion. No matter how otherwise well dressed you may be, unless your hat is the correct thing you bear a shabby appearance.

We have already laid in a stock of the Latest Hats of the coming Spring and Summer styles, in hard felts, soft felts and straws, and including a line of the celebrated "Fidora" Hats, at present all the rage in the United States. There is therefore, no necessity for you to hang on any longer to that old Tile that bears such a strong resemblance to the hat "your father wore."

Believing that business will be better in the near future, we have not hesitated to keep our stock full in all lines. Take collars for instance: We have almost everything you could wish for. If you wear a standing collar, just come in and take a look at our "Narenta" or "Ardonia;" or if you prefer a turn down collar, try the "Winnipeg" or "Goswell;" we have have lots of others, and can't fail to suit you. Cuffs in abundance, links or otherwise.

Neckwear in profusion, scarfs windsors 4-in-hands, and a special lot of "Boys' Bows;" suspenders in great variety, leather and woven ends, good strong, serviceable goods.

We might go on indefinitely, but space is valuable, and to enumerate everything we carry would fill a pretty fair sized Book. If there is anything you want in the men's line, just drop in and see us, and if we can't suit you, we don't believe any one can.

If you should want a pair of nice shoes, let us try a hand at fitting you. Did it ever occur to you

How much a man is like his shoes; For instance, both a soul may lose. Both have been tanned; Both are made tight by Cobblers; Both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet.

They both need healing; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mould. With shoes the last is first; with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new;

When men wear out, they're men dead too.

They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others nothing loth. Both have their ties, and both incline When polished, in the world to shine; And both peg out. Now would you choose To be a man, or be his shoes.

CO-OPERATIVE LABOR.

HOW IT MAY SUPERCEDE CONTRACT METHODS.

A Way Out for Sugar Men—How the New Method Works at Ewa Plantation.

One way, and perhaps the best, to settle the cane planting question without contract labor, is to run the big sugar farms on the co-operative plan. This method has been tried at Ewa plantation with a measure of success which ought to lead Hawaiian growers generally, as the opportunity comes, to give it a fair trial.

The details of the co-operative plan as it has been developed at Ewa are as follows:

THIS AGREEMENT, made this..... day of..... 1893, by and between the Ewa Plantation Company, a corporation, of the first part, hereinafter called the employer, and..... of the second part, hereinafter called the planter, Witnesseth:

That in consideration of the promises, terms and covenants hereinbelow set forth from either party to the other moving, the said employer does hereby promise, covenant and agree to admit the planter as an agricultural laborer and share planter upon the Ewa Plantation, at Honolulu, on the Island of Oahu and in furtherance of said object does hereby agree:

I. To give to the said above named planter for cultivation on the profit sharing system, as hereinbelow set forth..... of that section of land now plowed and furrowed on the Ewa Plantation amounting to about..... acres, and described in plantation map as follows:..... and also to advance not to exceed..... dollars ($....) for each month of service for food and other necessary uses of the planter which amount shall be returned by the planter without interest as hereinafter set forth.

II. The employer agrees to furnish, without charge, lodgings sufficient for the planter, and also fuel for domestic use, which shall be cut and gathered by said planter for himself at such place as the employer shall designate; also tools for irrigating purposes shall be furnished in the first instance, after that all tools shall be furnished by the planter; also seed cane; also water in the main plantation ditches for irrigation, but taking water therefrom to the cane fields shall be done by the planter, and the water so furnished shall be used economically and without waste for each irrigation. Also, to place movable tracks through the fields at a distance of not over four hundred (400) feet apart.

And the planter on his own behalf, covenants and agrees in consideration aforesaid, to go to the Ewa plantation, on the island of Oahu, and there to labor in accordance with the terms of this agreement, to wit:

III. With such other planters as may be designated by the employer to cut and load the seed, prepare the land, make level ditches, put in gates and boxes, plant, irrigate, and cultivate in the best manner to maturity, and, when so required by the employer, to cut and deliver the cane to be so cultivated upon the cane of the employer whenever deemed necessary by the employer. In cutting, it shall be cut close to the ground and topped clean, and care shall be taken not to load any dead or sour cane upon the cars, and all unsound cane so loaded shall be separated at the cane carrier, weighed and deducted from the sound cane, and all expenses connected with separating and weighing such unsound cane, shall be charged to and deducted from the planter's share. All of the cane to be stripped at least twice, and in heavy places three times whenever so directed by the employer; and all roads and ditches running through said fields to be kept clean and free from weeds.

IV. It is likewise hereby agreed that all work, labor and service to be performed by the planter under this agreement, shall be subject to the supervision, and shall be done to the satisfaction of the employer in all cases; and if it shall seem necessary to employ extra labor to do the work satisfactorily, the employer shall so employ extra labor, and all costs of same shall be charged to and deducted from planter's share with interest at the rate of nine per cent. per annum, except such extra labor as may be necessary in cutting and loading seed, planting and first watering, making level ditches and putting in gates and boxes for which the planter shall be charged $..... per acre to be returned without interest; and the planter shall always be subject to the supervision or order of the employer.

V. For all labor performed under the terms of this agreement in cultivating and harvesting cane upon the land set off to said planter, he shall be paid at the rate of..... per ton of two thousand (2,000) pounds of cane on, all of the cane produced upon the land cultivated by himself in common with others as aforesaid, such proportionate part as his labor bears to the entire amount of labor expended upon such premises by the planters, averaging the same between the total number of such planters.

VI. From the proceeds of his labor, as set forth in the last article, he shall return to the employer the advances set forth in Articles No. 1 and 4 aforesaid as therein set forth.

VII. This agreement may be terminated at any time by the employer, and upon two months notice by the planter, the planter being entitled upon such settlement, to wages at the rate of..... dollars per month for the term of..... dollars rendered deducting therefrom the advances as aforesaid under Articles No. 1 and 4.

VIII. In case of the death of the planter during the term of this agreement, the estate shall be entitled to an immediate settlement at the rate of..... dollars ($....) per month, deducting advances as aforesaid; or settlement may be deferred until the crop is harvested and then it shall be made upon the terms hereof for the proportionate time given by said planter hereunder. In case of accident to or sickness of said planter whereby he is prevented from performing the labor under this agreement, if he shall not supply labor in place of his own, the employer shall do so and a proportionate amount of said planter's share under this agreement shall be deducted for the time lost.

IX. The planter, together with his co-workers, shall have the right to inspect the weighing of their cane at any time.

X. This agreement shall terminate and be at an end when the last cane under the fields to be cultivated hereunder, shall have been placed upon the cars and weighed, and settlement shall be made in full not later than one week thereafter.

In witness whereof, the said employer has caused the execution of these presents, by the attachment of its corporate seal together with the names and seals of its President and Treasurer, and the said planter has hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year first aforesaid.

BRUETT BREAKS JAIL.

THE SAILOR-BURGLAR ESCAPES FROM HIS STATION CELL.

Carelessness of the Turnkey Believed to Have Been the Cause—Insecure Bolts.

A delivery occurred at the Police Station last night when W. H. Bruett, the sailor-burglar, escaped custody. Bruett is the man, belonging to the Katie Flickenger, who entered several rooms at Turner's lodging house on Fort street some nights ago, and pilfered money and a watch from lodgers. The valuables were recovered and Bruett pleaded guilty and was awaiting the action of the Circuit Court upon his case.

The delivery was effected, evidently by Bruett himself, who manipulated the bolts securing the door to his cell. It is the custom at the police station to simply shove the long bolts at the top and bottom of the door, which is security enough if properly attended to, but in this case the officers charge carelessness upon the night turnkey. Late last evening upon releasing a Chinaman, who was occupying the cell with Bruett, the turnkey evidently neglected to push in the lower bolt, as if that had been done escape could not have been effected unless with outside help. The upper bolt, by the aid of a belt or handkerchief made into a loop, may be withdrawn far enough to open the cell door. That this was done is believed by Captain Schlemmer and upon inspection of the cell door by others among whom was a STAR representative the theory seemed the only one to accept.

The delivery must have been discovered soon after the man got away, as the turnkey or watchman makes regular rounds, but by the time the alarm was given Bruett had made his escape evidently by scaling the walls.

A search last night proved futile but a clue to the hiding place of Bruett was secured this morning and Captain Schlemmer and Juett started out to recapture him.

Commissioner Blount.

Commissioner James H. Blount is hurrying his work with a view to an early departure for home. He has had a great mass of type-written MS. prepared by people on both sides of the Hawaiian fence, and will use it in framing his report. It is not known how soon his views will reach the public. Doubtless they will be issued in pamphlet form during the summer for the consideration of Congress when that body meets in the fall.

BISHOP WILLIS TALKS.

HE TAKES ISSUE WITH THE OTHER FLOCK.

He Will Not Surrender His Powers As Dean—The Question of Secession.

A STAR reporter called on Bishop Willis this morning at his Nuuanu valley residence to inquire about the dispute now going on in the Anglican Church. The Bishop received the reporter in the courteous manner for which he is noted among newspaper men and talked quite freely.

"I do not believe in giving these matters publicity," said the Bishop; "and I was astonished that members of the Second Congregation should have violated confidence in publishing my letter to them, which I certainly consider a private one."

"Now do you propose to treat the matter, Bishop?"

"There is now but one course left me, if any I shall request them to give the same publicity to my reply that was thrust upon my first communication."

"What view do you take of the meeting held the other night?"

"Well, sir, I have nothing to say about the meeting, except that my letter and its contents were not discussed or calmly treated as they should have been. It was rather an indignation meeting to my mind, where too much personal feeling was displayed to calmly consider grave and serious questions involved."

"What is your feeling in the matter?" asked the reporter.

"I have no ill-feeling towards any of the Second Congregation and I think this matter could and should be settled without making a public exhibit of private Church troubles. There has been too much of this personal bitterness shown in the past."

"Do you think the resolutions passed at the meeting conclusive in the matter?"

"Well, no; it seems to me that, as they stand two of the resolutions neutralize each other and virtually leave the matter where it was before."

"What two Bishops?"

"That I decline to state just at present."

"Will you reply to them?"

"Yes, I shall write a letter, which, as I stated, I shall expect them to publish in the same paper my other letter was in; but my mind is not fully made up yet, and I cannot say what my reply will contain."

"Will you grant their request to appoint Rev. Alex. Mackintosh Dean of the Cathedral?"

The Bishop looked at the reporter a moment with a quiet smile before he said: "I am the Dean now, and I could hardly be expected to become my own ecclesiastical executioner to meet the demands of the Second Congregation."

"Oh! that's the point," said the reporter.

"Yes, that's one of the points," significantly remarked Bishop Willis, as he raised his eyebrows and looked away into space.

"But, haven't they the power to withdraw from the church and form a new congregation?"

"Yes, they can do that," replied Bishop Willis, "there would be nothing wrong in that, but this is a case of clashing in authority. For instance, the claim that they are a parochial church is not tenable; they are merely a congregation. The question is a delicate one, where the least usurpation of authority by a pastor will conflict with territorial authority under which the congregation exists. I can say no more, however; my mind is not fully made up as to how I shall pursue."

"But if they can separate why not do so and stop the trouble?"

"Well, they can; there is plenty of room for another church under the bishopric and good work could be done, but....."

"But what, Bishop?"

"But that don't suit them; they want the cathedral building also."

"Then you think they want crowd you out and get the use of the cathedral as well," ventured the STAR man.

"That's the point, said Bishop Willis, intimating that the interview was ended.

"One word more Bishop, could the Second Congregation withdraw and join the American Episcopal Church?"

"Yes, that could be done, but perhaps it will come without that, if annexation is brought about. In that case we would all be under the American Episcopal Church, and I would be an American Bishop."

"Would you retain your position in that case?"

"Well, I couldn't say positively, but in any event it would greatly strengthen the position of the Bishop and would not aid the claims of the Second Congregation."

SAVED BY A KISS.

Sudden Bend of a Head Enables Him to Escape Death.

"I was Lieutenant-Colonel of a Kentucky cavalry regiment," continued Colonel John C. Underwood of Kentucky, while relating a story to a Boston Globe reporter. "Our command was in East Tennessee, and one bright moon-light night I concluded to ride away from camp and take a look about the vicinity. I rode several miles, and, coming to a farmhouse, hitched my horse and knocked at the door. A young woman, the most beautiful I had ever seen, it seemed to me, appeared after a while and invited me in. She and her aged mother were the only occupants of the house, the men of the family being in the Confederate army. We chatted pleasantly for a few minutes, when my fair hostess arose and said: 'Colonel, you ran a great risk in leaving your horse in such an exposed position; the Yankee pickets are all about us. I will go and put him in the barn.'

"She left the room, and after a few minutes returned, when we resumed our conversation. Suddenly she started up and listened. 'Colonel, you must go now,' she exclaimed. 'I hear the sounds of horses' hoofs; the Federals are coming!' Rushing out of doors she led my horse to the back of the house, and I, following her, jumped on his back. The most natural thing for me to have done would have been to set spurs to him and get away as soon as possible. But I could not. I was young and impressionable and the situation was entrancing. The moon shed a silvery light upon the earth, a gentle breeze was stirring and the rustle of the leaves in the grand old trees was like music to my soul. And amid these enchanting surroundings a beautiful face with tearful eyes looked up into mine, beseeching me to hasten. I could not resist the temptation, and, stooping down from my horse, put my arm around her, drew her closer to my side and kissed her."

"As I did so a shower of bullets passed over my head. I was in full sight of a company of Federal horsemen. My horse realized the danger as well as I, and a race for life ensued. The enemy pressed hard upon me for a time, and more than once their bullets grazed my head, but fortune favored me, and I at length reached the Confederate lines in safety. Do you wonder that I remember when a kiss saved my life?"

Stallion "NUTGROVE."

NUTGROVE is a standard bred and registered, and is without doubt the best stock horse in the country.

He is the finest looking, purest gaited and most intelligent horse on the islands. His color is all remarkably handsome, combining blue with plenty of substance. He has trotted 2 miles in 2:22 as a four year old, and quarters in 35 seconds. Nutgrove is very gentle, and can be driven by a child.

Also, nine fine mares in foal to Nutgrove. For particulars inquire of

A. J. CARTWRIGHT.

NOTICE.

HAVING a sale arrangement with the Commissioner of Agriculture to enable the public to obtain, with the least possible trouble, the compound for DESTROYING THE BLIGHT, which is so prevalent now in and around Honolulu, any person leaving an order with us for 40 lbs. of Blosin, 2 lbs. of Tallow and sulphate of Calcium Potash, will be furnished with an order which, if presented at the Government Nursery on King street, will enable the buyer to obtain 5 Gallons of Compound, ready mixed, 1 pint of which added to 12 1/2 gallons of water, will make an effective blight wash.

Buy a few gallons of Blight Wash, and save your valuable trees.
