WRIT OF POSSESSION.
Judge Wilcox this morning issued the first writ of possession that ever went out of the district court of Honolulu. Yesterday afternoon Wong Wa Foy recovered judgment against Lai Sung Moy for $135,000, with interest. The writ orders the police to seize the personal effects of the man to the amount claimed and to return the room to the custody of the petitioner.
Writs of this sort have always come from the circuit court. The issuance of this one is the result of a discussion as to whether or not the district judge had authority to issue them.
POLICE COURT.
In Judge Wilcox's court this morning Ah Kong was fined $75 for having opium in possession.
Sentence in the case of Keoni, opium in possession, was suspended for three months.
Sentence in the matter of Puakina-nui was suspended for six months.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1899.

Matters seem to be coming to a head with regard to transit in Honolulu. The question whether the present tramway company has a right to put up trolley lines and string wires will be settled in the courts as soon as the company makes a move. The Rapid Transit Company is nearly ready to go to work, and is now making application, through its attorney, to have certain of the streets widened according to direction of the Legislature. Competition is the soul of business and when the new company gets to work, everything in the transit line will begin to hum. The end of the present unsatisfactory service is now in sight, and Honolulu heaven a sigh of relief.

Our postal authorities have had a hard row to hoe of late and have been frequently obliged to work overtime. But even in large postoffices, organized to handle large masses of mail matter there is a tremendous rush sometimes. At Liverpool during Christmas time the employees had to work for twenty-four, and even thirty-six hours, at a stretch in order to cope with the rush. On Christmas eve more than 2,000 bags arrived by the Atlantic steamers alone. The sales of stamps during Christmas week amounted to $80,000 for Liverpool only. The same story of increased demands on the postoffices comes from all over the world. With the establishment of the penny postage between Great Britain and her colonies the increase in correspondence will be very great. For where a larger rate was charged people did not care to write unless they wrote at length, but with a penny postage a few lines can be sent, just as one returns an answer to an invitation.

GROWTH.

The improvements which are being made in Honolulu are marvelous. We who live in the city and see its gradual growth hardly realize how fast it is increasing, but it is a fact that strikes any one who has been absent for some time.

The business portion is steadily moving away from the wharf, and now is crossing Beretania street. The time is not so far distant when Beretania street, between Emma and Nuuanu, will be entirely given up to stores, and they will be the crack stores of the town, though of course King street will always have a great attraction to many classes of traders.

This gradual recession from a harbor front is the history of all seaport towns which do a large trade. Thirty years ago there were some fine private dwellings close to the harbor. Chief among them was Edinboro' House, so named because it was put at the disposal of the Duke of Edinboro', now Duke of Saxe-Coburg, when he visited the Island in the Galatea. It was a fine roomy house, with wide verandas and lofty ceilings. There was a beautiful garden around it. Later the Hon. H. A. Widemann occupied it as his residence and some of his daughters were married from that house. Edinboro' house has gone and several other residences in its vicinity. Their place is filled with blacksmith shops and storehouses, and no one would now dream of the brilliant entertainments that once took place in that vicinity.

Then again there were many private houses on Fort street, but these have all disappeared and been replaced by stores. Those who occupied them, or their descendants, have moved out on the Plains or to Walkiki. The original stores which replaced the houses have pretty well all disappeared and have been rebuilt in their turn.

The tendency of the future will be for the stores which are now in the lower part of Fort street to become offices, while the retailers will keep on moving up towards Beretania street. All this will not happen in a year, but it will happen in the earlier part of the next century.

With the enormous increase of commerce which will take place even before the Nicaragua canal is cut, Honolulu's population will keep on increasing at a great pace, and its business will double and quadruple. We are now, as it were, upon the very threshold of our true prosperity. More frequent communication with the Coast and with the Orient, increased traffic between Australia and Vancouver, the Manila trade passing through our harbor, and then our own rapidly developing agricultural resources, all these open out a vista over which we look with dazzled eyes.

As times go on this will be one of the busiest places upon the bosom of the Pacific. Its area may be small, but its commercial importance will be large. And as the latter grows so will the city grow, and terrace upon terrace of residences will rise above the town upon the hillsides which now are clothed only with sun parched grass.

The present improvements going on are an indication of the future. The city is not standing still, it is going on by leaps and bounds. How quickly it is progressing can be judged by the remark of the contractor reported in yesterday's Star, that every man in his line of business had from three to six gangs of men working for him and that there was plenty more work in sight for months to come.

KAISER WILHELM.

Tomorrow the Germans throughout the world will shout "Hoch" for their emperor in ringing accents, and will devote the day to celebrating the fortieth anniversary of the birth of Kaiser Wilhelm II. They may well feel proud of their ruler, who, young as he is, has impressed himself upon the world as one of the foremost men of his era. The Kaiser, unlike many monarchs, shines not by the glory of his ministers, but by his own glory. It is not he that follows the advice of men skilled in political life and diplomacy, but he that is the initiator of policy and the mainspring which guides diplomacy.

Whatever may be criticized in the Kaiser's acts, everything that he does and has done, is actuated by the very highest motives. As a ruler he takes himself more seriously than any reigning monarch. There is no doubt of his earnest devotion to his people, though he may rule with a rod of iron, yet his object is to advance his nation in its material prosperity, its military and naval power and in its religious feeling.

That so strong and earnest a character should call forth opposition is but natural, but it is also a character which surrounds itself with devoted adherents and calls forth the best patriotism of the people.

The Star joins with the rest of the community in wishing Consul Hackfeld and our German fellow citizens the felicitations of the day.

CHINA'S FUTURE.

Lord Charles Beresford in some remarks at Hongkong said that it would never be possible to improve the condition of the Chinese Imperial finances until there was an organized army to enforce the policy of the government. He pointed out, as a case in point, Egypt, where all attempts at financial reform had failed till the government had a force of its own.

The reform of the finances in China, argued Lord Charles, would lead to considerable disturbances, and no doubt such would be the case. But the management of China and the management of Egypt are two very different things. In Egypt, Great Britain had practically to get the better of one European power in order to get the upper hand, and then organize and carry out a policy untrammelled. In China there are the conflicting interests of the old and new worlds.

That the Chinaman can be drilled into a good soldier, there is no doubt. Gordon proved that when he put down the Taiping rebellion. That it would not be difficult to create a Chinese army there is also no doubt, but who are to be the creators of it is quite another proposition. Of course Lord Charles Beresford is speaking from the English point of view. His solution of the difficulties in China is an alliance between the United States, Germany, Japan and Great Britain. This if carried out would be enormously strong and both the Chinese army and the Chinese navy could be organized by efficient officers from those countries, if jealousy could be avoided. The question is could jealousy be avoided. If Lord Charles Beresford's visit to the East does nothing else, it will make the statesmen of two hemispheres think.

A SPASM OF SENSE.

Now, let's have a short spasm of common sense. If people who have been chronically sick are so soon and so easily cured by our preparation, why were they not cured by some of the medicines they took before? Because medicines are like novels and songs; once in a while a good one in tons on tons of poor ones. But what is made of that it should do what others cannot? The answer is simple and straight. It contains the nutritive properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry Bark, combined in a new and scientific way. It isn't a lot of incongruous ingredients shaken together, but chemically united, so as to make one thing of unprecedented potency. It is pleasant to the palate as honey and cures Fevers, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Stomach troubles, Bowel Complaints and Debility, by expelling the deadly disease germs and filling the blood with rich and healthy elements such as nature requires. Try it and see what a remedy that is abreast of the age, can do for you. It is a substitute for solid food. There is nourishment in a single sup, for every dose is effective. You cannot be disappointed in it. Sold by chemists everywhere.

WAMPOLE'S

Nearly everyone has heard of the famous French Coffee Pots, and many persons are now using them. We have nothing to say against them, only that they are expensive.

Believing that our customers would appreciate an article that does equally as good work and one that can be sold at a much lower figure, we imported a large quantity of Telescope Coffee Pots.

These are made on the principle of the famous French cafetieres. Inside the coffee pots is an adjustable cylinder which can be raised or lowered and maintained in position at will. Having affixed your straining cloth and raised the cylinder to the point you require, insert the ground coffee into it and pour on your boiling water. Let it stand for five minutes or so, and the result will be a perfect cup of coffee, delightfully fresh, fragrant and stimulating, and rich in color. These was put on the market ten years ago. At that time a single thickness Waist of soft finish cloth was practically unknown. Since then it has grown steadily into favor with the public and this particular style is now worn by over ONE MILLION CHILDREN. Its success is due to four things: FIRST-The Patented Double Ve Attachment, which supports stockings and underclothes from the shoulders. SECOND-Durability. It is made from single thickness, highest grade, Imperial Satene, soft finish. It will wear one year and is outgrown before outworn. THIRD-Hygienic. It covers the entire body uniformly and completely. FOURTH-Comfortable. It fits perfectly. It allows perfect muscular action and development of the growing body. It is a practical, simple garment and will be found to give excellent satisfaction. Patented November 10, 1885.

If you have "turned over that new leaf" and really intend to "try and do better," practice a little of the economy you preach. First, don't throw money away. It is doing that, if you pay more for your Books and Stationery at one place than you would for the same articles at another.

Why pay fifty cents for an article that you can buy for thirty-five cents? This is just the point you must consider if you really are successful in 1899 in saving your earnings. And this is just what the GOLDEN RULE BAZAAR is doing every day for its customers.

MEMORY OF ROBERT BURNS

IMMORTAL BARD HONORED BY LOCAL SCOTS. His Praises Told in Dialect and Out of It—Banquet and Music—Tam o' Shanter, Etc.

A hundred happy, canny Scotchmen gathered around the festal board at the Arlington last evening, and laughed, as their fathers and grandfathers had done often before them, over delicate, sealed-and-delivered, prepertious Scotch wit, anecdotes of Burns and the tale of Tam o' Shanter. There was a feast of history, of folk lore, of songs and of sentiment, so full and complete, that one might imagine visions of staid Glasgow, of Bon Lomond, of Bannockburn, the home of Burns and the thistle.

Chief Dall occupied a seat nearest to the center of the table. On his right were Commissioner Kenny, Robert Cotton and Judge Stanley. To his left were Colonel Whyte, Dr. A. W. Sinclair and Rev. Alex. Mackintosh. Chief Dall made the introductory address of welcome. This was after the banquet had progressed to the proper stage. Robert Cotton responded to the toast "The Immortal Memory of Burns." He spoke with feeling of the love of every Scotchman for his country and its institutions. Among the cherished memories was the work of Burns, the sentiments it stirred, its earnest, thrilling appeals to all mankind. Burns would reach the general home more as time passes, and would become as dear to others in future as he is to Scotchmen now.

The next toast was to the President of the United States. Minister Sewall being absent, Colonel Whyte of the Garrison excursion party, was invited to respond. He told of a visit some years ago to the old home of the Scotch bard, of some relics he had there procured, and of the impressions of Burns and the effect of his writings on Scotchmen and the world. His address was most interesting and was listened to with a marked attention. Dr. A. W. Sinclair was the author of a studied address on Scotland, "The Land o' Burns." It was brimming with anecdotes, most of them connected with the doctor's school days at Glasgow. He sat down amid a round of applause.

Rev. Alex. Mackintosh responded gracefully to the toast "The Land We Live In." He said that the Creator had in Hawaii apparently reformed and raised off the rough corners of Scotland. Here were the same beautiful mountains and valleys, with an improvement in the matter of climate. The character of a country, a land, depended upon the inhabitants. The people could make Scotland or Hawaii an ideal home land, or could make either the best place in the world to leave and quickly. There was a great question before the Islands at present. It was "how we may elevate and make happy the less fortunate people around us, and provide the comforts of civilization and real happiness to the many strangers now seeking our shores."

Mr. Mackintosh thought if Burns had lived in Hawaii in place of Scotland he would have written something better than "Tam o' Shanter, or even the Cotter's Saturday Night. There would have been inspiration here that would have heightened and broadened his ideals. Chief A. C. Steele of the Hilo Caledonia club, responded to a toast to his organization, followed by three cheers for Greater Hilo. Mr. Steele, who is an ex-chief of the local lodge, spoke of the enthusiasm in the lodge of the second city. There were now fifty odd members. Many of these lived ten and even fifteen miles from town on the plantations, but cheerfully rode over on horseback each month to attend the meetings. The object of the Hilo club was the perpetuation of all Scotch poetry, music and games.

J. H. McGowan, a visitor from the Buckeye State, recited in dialect Tam o' Shanter.

A. St. M. Mackintosh responded to "The Lassies," W. Horace Wright to "The Bar" and Daniel Logan to "The Press."

During the evening there were a number of excellent musical numbers. Judge Stanley, John C. Brown and A. St. M. Mackintosh offered two songs each. O. B. Braddick was accompanist.

JOHN McKEAGUE.

The funeral of the late John McKeague will be held from St. Andrew's cathedral at 3:30 this afternoon. The remains will be interred in Nuanuan cemetery.

TO MRS. SEWALL.

A surprise party was tendered to Mrs. Harold M. Sewall at the American Legation last evening. Quite a large number of friends called. The surprise was complete, but a most pleasing reception was accorded the visitors.

THE ORPHEUM.

Improvements to the Orpheum will be completed by this evening. An extra force of men has been put on to bring this about.

Jules Walters is an old and celebrated comedian. He has two companies on the road, the one now here being the best.

Jim Post will sail by the Moana on next Wednesday for San Francisco to arrange for another company to come down. Walters' season lasts for four weeks, with a change of program every Wednesday and Saturday night.

SOUVENIRS FOR HOME.

A Tumor Formed Finally It Broke Inwardly and Discharged

Trouble Began With Dyspepsia and Impure Blood

Thorough Course of Hood's Sarsaparilla Completely Cured.

There is danger in impure blood, Disease and suffering are surely coming to those who neglect this threatening symptom. Read this:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. 'Gentlemen:—My troubles began with nervous headaches, which would last me for two or three days. The doctors pronounced my trouble dyspepsia, but they could not do anything for me, and advised a change of location. At the age of 55 a tumor formed on my spine, which but did not rise or discharge. The doctor thought best to cut it out, but I objected. It finally broke and discharged a great deal. The doctors said they could do nothing for it. Then the tumor began to rise inwardly and discharge. I read much about cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and thought I would try it. Before I had finished taking one bottle I was much relieved. I continued the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking 12 bottles I was entirely cured. I am now well, have a good appetite and feel that I owe my life to Hood's Sarsaparilla." W. D. FORD.
