TAFT ACKNOWLEDGES HAWAII'S GREETING POSTMASTERS FOR HILO AND KAHULUI

EDUCATION IS ONLY HOPE OF HAWAIIANS

In Debate Over School Bill Long Tells Native Members What Is The Matter With Them--Oahu Members for First Time Stand Together, But Are Defeated By Combination of Outside Districts

HOUSE.
Twenty-Sixth Day—Morning Session.
For the first time in the history of the Legislature of Hawaii those native members who are always raising the plaint that the poor Hawaiian is not fairly treated, that he has to take the inferior and more poorly paid jobs while the whole walks off with the more lucrative positions, and who are eternally trying to cut the salaries of teachers, heads of departments and everybody else who has not great voting power, were told what is the matter with them. And they were told this morning by Representative Ella Long, who, having Hawaiian blood in his veins, cannot be accused of trying to raise the race issue. It was a plain statement of facts, delivered in the best and most ringing speech that has been heard in the House in at least two sessions.
Long, who is usually one of the quietest of the members and who rarely makes a speech, and then ordinarily in a somewhat hesitating manner, made the legislative chamber fairly ring with his eloquence and won a reputation for himself which will last, even if he never makes another speech.
It was Oahu against the outside districts—and Oahu was defeated. For the first time this session the local members stood together and talked and voted as one man. And Waialae, the sensible member from Maui, proved that he had the courage of his convictions by voting with Oahu and against the rabid outsiders who were willing to go to any lengths to take a slap at the Representatives from the Fourth and Fifth Districts.
The bill over which the debate occurred was Senate Bill 51, providing for representation on the Board of Education of all the counties. The measure was originally presented by the Education Committee of the Senate, and was intended to give the outside districts representation on the Board of Education, which they have never had before.
But in place of being satisfied with this, Kauai, Maui and Hawaii, led by Rice of Kauai, resolved to gain control of the Board, and amendments were proposed and adopted which would have this effect—If there were any chance of the bill not being vetoed by the Governor, but Governor Frear will undoubtedly veto it, as in its present form it practically precludes any business being transacted by the Board and will bring educational matters to a standstill if allowed to go into effect. As there are thirteen members in the House bitterly opposed to the bill, there is no chance of its being passed over the Governor's veto.
The race issue was raised by several of the outside members in their desperate attempt to gain their own ends.

IMMIGRATION BILL THROUGH

Senate Passes Important Measure Without Dissenting Ballot--Baker Is Excused From Voting--Makekau Makes Motion To Reconsider

The Immigration Bill passed third reading in the Senate this morning without an opposing vote. Baker was excused from voting, but all of the other members of the upper chamber went on record as favoring the measure.
When the President announced that the "Order of the Day" was about to be taken up, Senator Makekau arose and moved that House Bill No. 108 be reconsidered. There was no opposition and the bill was placed on the order of the day.
Makekau then moved that the bill be taken up immediately. The motion prevailed.
Makekau then moved that the bill pass third reading. It passed by the following vote:
Brown, Chillingworth, Coelho, Fairchild, Harvey, Kalama, Knudsen, Makekau, McCarthy, Moore, Quinn, Robinson, Woods, President. Baker did not vote.
Baker Excused.
There was a little discussion concerning the legality, under the rules, of excusing Baker from voting. His request for exemption was finally granted, however.
Marriage Licenses.
Senate Bill No. 25, regulating the issuing of marriage licenses, passed third reading by a vote of 13 to 1, after some little discussion.
Makekau wanted the age when young folk can contract matrimony without their parents' consent cut to 18 years for males and 14 years for females. He painted a pathetic picture of two young souls eating their hearts out because a cruel law forbids them to be joined together for letter or worse.
Opposes Child Wedlock.
Knudsen opposed the plan, saying that extremely early marriages do not, as a rule, turn out happily. He thought that 20 and 18 years respectively, were suitable ages.
On a vote being taken, all of the Senators but Makekau went on record as favoring the bill as recommended by the Judiciary Committee. Makekau voted "no."
Governor's Vetoes.
A message from the Governor announced that he had vetoed House Bill No. 5, protecting the purchasers of real estate from fraudulent conveyances, was presented.
On motion of Senator Knudsen, the bill was taken up for reconsideration, action being deferred until Monday.

FISH WILL GO TO ALASKA-YUKON FAIR

This afternoon the portable aquariums, which will be used in the experiments to determine the feasibility of shipping Hawaiian fish to the Alaska-Yukon Exposition, will be taken out and submerged beneath the briny waves, where they will remain for the next week to become thoroughly acclimated.
Plans have been completed for making several trial shipments of fish to the Coast, and as the plans hit upon have been pronounced entirely feasible by experts, there is little doubt but that a gorgeous display of Hawaiian fishes will form one of the interesting exhibits in the Hawaiian building at the Fair.
In order to insure the arrival of the fishes at Seattle in healthy condition, it is necessary that, throughout the sea voyage, they be continually supplied with a flow of salt water of approximately the same temperature as that of the fisheries of this Territory.
To ascertain whether it would be possible to make such a provision or not, the committee in charge of the fish shipment consulted with the engineers of trans-Pacific steamers.

SUSPENSION FOR CAPT. SANDERS

The special Board of Inquiry, consisting of Lieut. Comdr. Moses, Captain Willett, and Captain Johnson, appointed to investigate Captain Sanders as to his responsibility for the grounding of the transport Logan in the harbor last Saturday night, will recommend that the pilot be suspended for six months, but will also recommend that leniency be exercised in his case.
This is an unofficial but authentic statement of the findings of the Board. The report has not yet been submitted to Superintendent of Public Works Campbell, but he will probably receive it this afternoon.
This report apparently means that Captain Sanders is to blame for the Logan being run aground, but his long service and, except for the accident in question, spotless record, is taken into consideration and the recommendation of clemency based upon that record.
