J. T. WATERHOUSE

Honolulu has not passed through such a siege of hot weather in years as we had a week ago; the present relief may be only temporary and the hot spell may return at any time.

During warm weather some people's ideas go to cold drinks, others to ice cream. To buy it means money, to make it means economy. Freezers vary as everything else—the Gem and the White Mountain are so much alike you cannot tell the difference except in the price if you buy in other shops. With us the White Mountain, which has the longest pedigree, is the cheapest; it's the way we buy. Other stores charge more for it than we do because they don't buy right. We sell them varying in size from one to six quarts.

Garden Hose is as plentiful with us as the stars in the heavens and we have it in pure rubber and cotton. It's garden fixing weather. Yard brooms are needed and we have them. White Bros' Portland Cement don't belong in the garden except for walks. But we have a stock for sale.

Irritating and Disfiguring ERUPTIONS

On the Face, Cured by
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Remarkable Experience of Miss Dorothy
Maher, Fitzroy, Victoria, whose portrait
we are privileged to give below:

"I take pleasure in testifying to the great benefit I derived from Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I suffered from eruptions on my face of a very irritating and vexatious nature. For a considerable time I experimented with various so-called blood medicines, but without any alleviation of my trouble. At last, your famous Sarsaparilla being strongly recommended to me, I began to use it, and after taking two bottles it was most gratifying to see and feel the effect in allaying the irritation and reducing the eruptions. When I had used three bottles the eruptions disappeared altogether, without leaving a mark on my face, and I have never been troubled with anything of the kind since."

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR

CAPTAIN D'ALBERTIS OF THE ITA-LIAN ROYAL NAVY RESERVE.

He is a Famous Traveler and Scientific Investigator—Has come to Honolulu to inspect the Volcano.

Among the visitors to Auckland at the present time is Captain Enrico Alberto D'Albertis, of Genoa, formerly a commander in the Italian Navy, but now of the Italian Royal Navy Reserve, says the Auckland Herald of August 5. As Captain D'Albertis is now in the Hawaiian Islands, the whole interview will be interesting to readers of the BULLETIN. It proceeds as follows: He arrived here from a tour of the South Sea Islands by the S. S. Corinna.

A Herald representative interviewed Captain D'Albertis yesterday, and he courteously gave him all the information in his power.

"This is not your first visit to New Zealand, I believe?" said our representative.

"No," replied Captain D'Albertis, "My first visit was in 1879, when I was accompanied by Dr. Biechari, an Italian botanist. We arrived at the Bluff, and traveled from thence through both islands to Auckland. Our object was foreign travel, and also to make botanical and entomological collections. We then proceeded to Australia, and on to Torres Straits and Singapore on a similar mission. There we separated, Dr. Biechari going to Sumatra, while I went to China, visiting Peking, and also the country adjoining the Great Wall of China. From China I went on to Japan, then beginning to give promise of a brilliant future. After a trip to 'Frisco, and thence through the Isthmus of Panama, to make some investigations. Thence went to Lima, in Peru, and then returned home to Italy.

"I understand that you have been devoted to yachting cruises, and have gone over the track of Columbus's voyages."

"For 13 years I have been cruising about in the Mediterranean and elsewhere in my 50 ton yacht the Corsaro, and was present in her at the opening at Kiel of the Baltic Canal. Indeed, but for the misfortune of her coming into collision with an English steamer, by which she was damaged, I would probably have come out in her to the colonies. Among other matters which I have occupied my attention with is the missing island Atlantis, of classic story, and my views are published in one of the series of volumes I have printed of my cruises, and which are illustrated. The Portuguese claim to have discovered the Azores in 1445. In one of my cruises I was led to look into the matter, and subsequently discovered in the archives in Italy four maps of the islands, with the localities marked in Italian, Genoese, and Venetian, dated 1375, 1420, and 1435. When the Columbus celebrations took place a few years ago in America, Spain, and Italy, I was commissioned by the Italian Government to study the voyages of Columbus, and in my yacht, the Corsaro, I went over his track. In addition to the ordinary instruments of modern navigation I had the instruments he used—the astrolabe and quadrant—for purposes of comparison. Also his records as to ocean currents, which on practical tests were found to have sustained little or no variation.

"It was intended at the American Columbus celebration by the Italian Government to have had fac similes of the three caravels—the Santa Maria, Pinta and Nina; but it being ascertained that these were being made in the Spanish dock yards, I communicated with the Spanish Minister of Marine, giving him the information con-

SUBMARINE TELEGRAPHY

GIBBORNE AND NOT FIELD WAS THE ORIGINATOR.

Positive Proof of Priority—Gisborne
Laid the First Cable in North American Waters.

An editorial note in the BULLETIN ten days ago, referring to the movement for establishing a memorial in honor of the authors of ocean telegraphy, called attention to the fact that the name of the real originator of ocean telegraphy was omitted from the appeal on the subject issued in London. Since then an Eastern paper has been received, which contains a letter quoting, from a leading financial paper, an article that appeared several years ago, which gives positive proof that to the late Frederick Newton Gisborne "belonged the sole credit of having originated transatlantic submarine telegraphy."

The proof is given in extracts from letters of John W. Brett to Mr. Gisborne, dated in London in the years 1852, 1853 and 1854, and in a letter to him from Hon. Joseph Howe, dated London, Feb. 12, 1867, the year after the Atlantic cable was restored to working order. Mr. Brett was the submerger of the first European submarine cable between Dover and Calais in 1851, while Mr. Gisborne himself submerged the first American submarine cable between Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick in 1852. Mr. Howe was Nova Scotia's greatest statesman, who won responsible government for that province after a bitter contest with the representatives of British crown rule. His importance as a witness in this case lies in the fact that he was a member of the government that Mr. Gisborne interested in the subject of telegraphic communication.

Following are the extracts from Mr. Brett's letters to Mr. Gisborne:

London, July 12, 1852. —Major Carmichael Smith, a friend of your Hon. Mr. Howe, has just called and given me your plan.

London, May 26, 1853.—Are you now prepared to co-operate in opening up telegraphic communication between Newfoundland and Ireland?

London, July 8, 1853.—On my return from Paris I found your satisfactory letter of June 4. Let me recommend you to secure in our joint names an exclusive privilege for establishing a submarine telegraph between Newfoundland and Ireland for fifty years.

London, April 21, 1854.—I should be glad, therefore, of a line from you stating clearly whether, as agreed, this is to be carried out between us as Brett & Gisborne's Atlantic Telegraph here, and vice versa, in America.

Mr. Howe began his letter in these words: "Without desiring in the slightest degree to undervalue the services rendered to civilization by the body of eminent men who have just been rewarded for laying the Atlantic cable, I own to some feeling of disappointment in not seeing any mention of your name, as I have reason to believe you were the first pioneer of the enterprise." After telling of a bill passed by his government to expend $20,000 for connecting Halifax with Canada and the United States by a line of telegraph—which line was later bought by the Western Union Telegraph Company—Mr. Howe said:

"In 1850 you discussed with me, and subsequently laid before the commissioners a plan for connecting Newfoundland with the continent of America, and obtained leave of absence to go to that island and secure support to the project. My brother commis-

ABOUT THE WATER SUPPLY

THE NEW RESERVOIR RAPIDLY APPROACHING COMPLETION.

Beretania Pumps Run by Day and Makiki Pumps by Night—Only
Four Hours for Irrigation

The following items were gathered by a BULLETIN man in conversation with Superintendent Brown today:

The Beretania street pumps are now working daily from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. and the Makiki pumps run all night. This procedure furnishes water enough to keep the people supplied and allow of irrigation between the hours given in Superintendent Brown's official notification.

The wall of the new reservoir above the Hackfeld premises is completed except at the gap left to drop the rock down from above. This is now being closed up and will be finished in a day or two. The reservoir will then be cemented and put in use. The matter of an iron roof is being held in abeyance until the reservoir itself is finished. If a roof is not put on, a high fence will be built all around the reservoir.

The work of moving the water-pipes on the beach road has been finished. The pipes were formerly laid just under the sand in the middle of the road. They have been moved to the sidewalk so as to allow the steam roller to be used on the street.

"UNDER TWO FLAGS."

A Slim Attendance at Last Night's Representation.

The second performance of "Under Two Flags" by the members of Company B. Dramatic Society passed off very smoothly and gave general satisfaction to those in attendance. It is poor satisfaction playing to empty seats, but the members of the company all did their best. Bob Scott's topical song was encored and he repeated his pantomime of the first night "by request." Professor Berger's orchestra kept the audience in good humor during the tedious waits between the acts. The performance deserved a better audience than was present last night.

First Regiment Benefit.

On Saturday evening next the Elsie Adair company will give a benefit performance on behalf of the First Regiment. A new and elaborate program will be rendered including many acts never seen here before. Mr. Vanderlip has been purposely holding back a number of his best renditions, for this occasion. Several members of the local talent will also appear and, taken all round, the show will be one of the best ever seen in Honolulu. No pains or expense have been spared to make it a success and a liberal patronage is assured.

Anchor Improved.

The Anchor Saloon has been entirely refurnished, repainted and decorated in a very pleasing and attractive manner. Mr. Cunningham has had the place thoroughly overhauled and it is now one of the pleasantest places to visit in Honolulu. The walls have been newly papered in tasteful style, handsomely patterned linoleum laid on the floor, the bar very neatly dressed and the club rooms in the rear fixed up in a very cozy fashion.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT

E. R. HENDRY RETIRES FROM HA-WAIIAN HARDWARE COMPANY.

He Will be Succeeded by L. M. Vetlesen
There Will be no Changes in the Firm's Other Employees.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Hawaiian Hardware Company held this morning the resignation of E. R. Hendry as manager of the company was tendered and accepted. This will be in the nature of a surprise to all except the very few who have been admitted to Mr. Hendry's confidence and who knew that he contemplated resigning for some months past. He has been in very poor health of late and has repeatedly had to absent himself from business on that account.

Mr. Hendry assumed the management of the Hawaiian Hardware Company at its formation in August, 1889, and has held it ever since. It is largely to his tireless energy and business acumen that the business of the company has been brought to its present magnitude. He does not intend embarking in any other business at present but will take a good long rest.

While Mr. Hendry's successor has not yet been appointed it is understood that the directors will select Mr. L. M. Vetlesen, the present bookkeeper, for the position, and that there will be no change whatever in the other employees of the company.

The officers elected at the meeting this morning were John Ena, president; Cecil Brown, vice-president; L. M. Vetlesen, treasurer; H. M. von Holt, secretary, and Godfrey Brown, auditor.

School Buildings.

The following bids were received by the Minister of the Interior for building a schoolhouse at Honaunau, South Kona: M. F. Scott, $1850; Thos. L. Andrews, $1700. These bids are away above the calculations of the Board of Education. The awarding of the contract will depend upon the decision of the Board.

H. F. Bertelmann has received the contract for building a three-roomed schoolhouse at Maemae on Wylie street. The price is $2166.

Death of Zillah Bowen.

About 12:30 this afternoon little Zillah Bowen, the only daughter of W. A. Bowen, of the firm of Castle & Cooke, breathed her last. The little girl was about five years old and the immediate cause of death was pressure on the brain from an abscess in the ear. The little sufferer had been unconscious for the past four or five days. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

The Tramways Robbery.

There are no new developments in the Tramways robbery case today. Captain Parker, Detective Kaapa and others were out to Fitzgerald's house again this morning, making a rigorous search for the balance of the stolen money, which they are satisfied is concealed somewhere in the vicinity.

PLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

By ANNE MARIE PRESCOTT.

Indeed and indeed there's food for thought all about us. We need not seek it from afar. For such as have eyes to see every wayside is full of history and wonder. Every smallest village holds within its hedges and walls the same old chronicles of loves and hates, of jealousies and disappointments, of tragedy and comedy; with the clog dance or the castanets between! "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players."

Special services have been held for the Hawaiians at St. Paul's church, Makapala, since Wednesday the 19th inst. at 7 p. m. Crowds of both Natives and Chinese have been in attendance. A very slim sprinkling, we are sorry to note, of either English or Americans. One would almost doubt that we all belong to "the same household of faith" by the few who ever enter these gates to show an interest in the Christians gathered here from Sunday to Sunday, and the poorer heathen at their very door.

We understood, later on, that there will be special service for Hawaiians Sunday afternoon, tomorrow, 23d inst., at 3 p. m. Louis Byrde, priest.

In ten months' time we have seen but one "pale face" within these precincts of a Sunday, or a Wednesday, to encourage or to cheer. They likely subscribe, reasoning from the known to the unknown, for the heathen of "Boolaboolago!"

The atmosphere has been, some days of late, so beautifully clear that one could descry most minute objects on the hill sides and in the ravines. But within our line of vision, so far, we have not discovered or unearthed anything that looks at all like "The Parsonage." Humph! No one can be killed for his thoughts—can he? "Where much is given much will be required," and even worldly wisdom puts it: "No-bleesse oblige." It is, certainly, very easy travelling, going to heaven by way of the Hawaiian Islands; and if it does take in a plantation or two on the way, what can we not say! Say?

You all know, I am sure, for what, pray tell me, is not known in this family (this house of Hawaii) from Cape Kumukahi to Kaena point—tell me? You all know, and if you really, when it comes to be winnowed out and sifted down, don't quite know, every minutiae; if the arrow is shot clean over the shanty pretty often, why if you think you know, only, it's about the same to you, I suppose. So, you all know that we have never spent a summer in North Kohala, before; and could not swear to the climate, exactly. But, now "my dearly beloved breveren," we have made an exhaustive study (and we believe in no trick-work) of sea, air and sky of "these parts;" and we constitute ourselves, from henceforth, as authority on the small subject. Since this August moon speered in on us, about two weeks ago, nothing could exceed, and we, with all our shortcomings are not prone to lie, the positive, comparative and most superlative magnificence of the nights, and of the days. The days are as fine as fine days can be, and the nights are much finer than the days. It's enough to make a saint of a sinner, if he is left with an ounce of sense in his sentient being, to be here at the rising and the setting of the sun, even when the moon's on an "outing." And now I shall drop the subject, with the clear understanding that you understand, that Kohala is one of the prettiest spots on earth.

We were taught that we must always think our things as good as anyone's, and good enough—just the very thing for us. In other words, a wise mother instilled into our little minds, from babyhood, contentment. To be happy and content. That was the dear mother. And it is not a too hard lesson to teach a child. A child can be as supremely happy with a rag baby and a basket of blocks as with all the winding toys of Germany and marvels of Paris. Believe it, sensible mothers, and store the coin for that child's "rainy day." But know, it is not on that point of reasoning that we praise Kohala. It needs no "bush!"

What do I mean by "trickery?" I will quickly tell you. And know now that my speech, while swift will be sure, on that topic. I have long ago threshed it out.

For eleven years, at least, (consecutive, we will say) we taught girls, seven; and then came to us girls, and boys in the same class, which is as it should ever be, as in the family-life—girls and boys. Well, there were amongst them a number of Europeans—Germans, English, French, Spanish, Italians and many others. From time to time; indeed the American, the Yankee, did not, always, by any means, predominate. We had, too, a mixture, hard sometimes to tell what, as in the Sandwich Islands. "Blue blood" and most any-colored was woefully intermingled—making it hard to discern which was the "base" often of the compound. Of course, there were American-Irish, German-Americans, Jews of many nations and so on, and on. One clever handsome girl said with a toss of the head and laugh in her black eyes: "My father is French, my mother is Spanish, but I am an American." Now, we say without a moment's hesitation, that of all the children who have come under our close scrutiny—and that scrutiny has deepened as years have gone on—Africans, Asiatics, Europeans or Americans, the ones who have proven the most guileless of what we term "trickery"—and very often, of course (not always, we are sorry to record), foolish children's tricks, transparent and vain, were full natives. And the few African children we have dealt with, we would class with them. A cargo of cheese was sent from America to England. It was at once "suspected" and then inspected—subjected to the chemist. There was not, it proved, (and it did not prove cheese!) a particle of cream or even milk within its rind. "Why, Miss Prescott!" Even so, my dear, the "base" was cheap fat of some kind. As I did not "assist" in the making I do not pretend to know neither do I care to know all the ins and outs of that rich delicacy, sent seaward. "Trickery." Cheating. Dishonesty. 1896.

The Louvre.

Harry Klemme has recently been renovating and decorating the Louvre saloon so that it is now one of the prettiest little bijou resorts in the city. Handsome linoleum has been laid on the floors, the walls hung with a fine quality and neat patterned paper, and the bar trimmed in white and gold. Mr. Klemme proposes to expend a still further sum in beautifying the premises. The Louvre is now a strictly first class saloon, quiet and orderly, none but the best brands of liquors and wines are sold there and the beer is of the celebrated Seattle brand and always fresh. *

THE WATER SUPPLY.

Honolulu bids fair soon to have an abundant supply of pure water. There has been a prodigious waste of money extending over a great many years in devising means for bringing about such a happy consummation. The plans begotten of expensive expert examinations and surveys adopted by one administration would be discarded by the next, and so on. Some of these plans were undoubtedly good and could have been put into effect without great further expense. The present Minister of the Interior, when a water famine impended shortly after he took office, adopted heroic measures to prevent such a calamity then and for many years to come. His scheme was to tap the artesian basin or basins underlying the city plot and it took but a few months to make the scheme a success. A shapely pumping station, well equipped with modern machinery, is a creditable monument to Minister King's decision of character in an emergency. The community has the blessing of a copious outpouring of pure water, in addition to the old supply of mountain water by gravitation, which can have constant instead of variable purity ensured by the adoption of a method of filtration. The Government should next take into consideration the question of a reduction in water rates, or at least a graduated scale with some account of the quantity used by each ratepayer. At present the occupant of a confined tenement drawing only water for bare household purposes has to pay as much as the owner or tenant of a dwelling having an extensive lawn that absorbs whole rivers every day of the year excepting in seasons of heavy showers.

In backing up the notion of establishing a permanent exhibition in the old legislative hall, the Commercial Journal is "at a loss to understand how any enterprising journal could oppose the idea." That paper then switches round to advocate an annual exhibition as the legitimate precursor of the permanent concern. This is a different proposition, however, from the one the "enterprising journal" in question opposed.

Scientific visitors of the calibre and standing of Captain D'Alberis and Mr. Wragge, the Queen's land meteorologist, ought to have the greatest consideration shown to them by the authorities and the public. Whatever results they obtain from their investigations will have very prominent publicity abroad, making the islands better known to the world as a goodly land for pleasure or profit.

Weather permitting the Hilo Band will render the first Sunday public concert tomorrow afternoon. The concert will be given on Coconut Island. It is said that Sheriff Hitchcock will have all the band boys arrested as soon as they begin to play. The boys have the support of the majority of the residents of the city.—Hilo Tribune.

So the sheriff would turn the day of rest into a day of ar-rest.

Kohala is fortunate in having as a resident a writer of the ability of Miss Prescott to portray the delights of its climate and scenery.

To give honor to whom honor is due is an especial function of the press.

sioners are both dead. [Mr. Howe himself died a few days after assuming the position of Governor of his native province in 1873.] On your return you asked leave of absence to go to New York to promote an extension of the line to England and spoke confidently of being able to extend it across the Atlantic and connect Europe with America. Up to this time I never heard the idea suggested and though reading the English and American papers never saw any allusion to the practicability of such an enterprise. As no capital could be got in Halifax you naturally sought in London and New York for co-operation and assistance. I do not of course know what took place abroad, but of this I have no doubt, that until you went to New York nobody had suggested or taken any step towards promoting an Atlantic telegraph.

Mr. Howe concludes thus: "It ought not to be forgotten that the very line across Newfoundland now used by the Anglo-American Company was originally, at great pecuniary sacrifice and risk of health, explored by you and constructed by yourself as chief engineer of the New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company."

The financial journal from which the foregoing extracts are taken says: "From the above it is manifest that Mr. C. W. Field and his associates could not have become interested in Mr. Gisborne's enterprise before the spring of 1854. This sustains us in our recent view that the pretension of Mr. C. W. Field to be the originator of the great project is simply preposterous."

Mr. Gisborne's memory will deserve to be honored in connection with the Pacific cable now being promoted under British auspices, for he was the author of that idea as well as of the Atlantic cable project. Seventeen or eighteen years ago Mr. Gisborne, when on his way to Ottawa to take the office of Superintendent of Government Telegraphs, called upon the present writer in an Eastern newspaper office to thank him for backing up his claim as the pioneer in ocean telegraphy, from data furnished in the editorial columns of the Washington Republican. To show his appreciation of the slight service Mr. Gisborne divulged a scheme that he had conceived for a cable across the Pacific, which was to form part of a telegraphic line around the world under British control. The information was not to be published, however, until some official hint emanated from government quarters. When the time shortly afterward came the details imparted by Mr. Gisborne in the manner stated made an interesting as well as exclusive article for the Montreal Witness which was copied by the leading New York journals. Mr. Gisborne had said that when his Pacific cable scheme was broached to Sir Charles Tupper, that veteran statesman exclaimed that it was the grandest imperial idea of the nineteenth century.

ON CREAM SEPARATORS.

A short time ago we introduced the De Laval Cream Separators to the notice of the public through this column but we were compelled to change our advertisement in a few days as the demand created by it soon exhausted the supply of Separators we had on hand.

We have just received a fresh supply and again call attention to their merits.

Have you one or more cows? If so, what is your purpose in keeping them? Is it your object to get the most money from them, with at same time some comfort and satisfaction? Are you doing it?

Have you kept pace with the improvements in dairy apparatus? Have you ever stopped to consider the benefits of the Cream Separator,—not to the world, not to your neighbor, but to you personally and individually?

If not, you cannot do anything better, and the sooner the better. Everybody now understands the principle of centrifugal creaming. Gravity causes the cream to rise in the old way. The separator simply adds centrifugal force to gravity. It merely uses two natural forces instead of one only. It effects the complete separation of cream from milk, which is not possible in any other way, and in the most all around practical manner.

The De Laval Cream Separators are in almost universal use the world over. They have revolutionized dairying methods. The State Colleges and Experiment Stations all use and advocate them. More than 85,000 have been sold. All practical creameries have long used them. Progressive dairy farmers do so in all sections. There must be many users around you. No user of a De Laval machine ever did otherwise than endorse it.

The De Laval "Baby" or Dairy Cream Separators are now made in six different styles and sizes. They range in capacity from 150 lbs. per hour to 700 lbs. per hour. Capacity means separating capacity per hour. They are made for all requirements from the household buying its milk, to the dairy of from one cow to one hundred.

The De Laval machines are Hand machines. They are designed and constructed for hand use. Women and children run them. They are used almost wholly in such way. Still they may be attached to any sort of light power, from dog tread to engine.

We have also a smaller type of the same machine, which is designated as the "Humming Bird," especially intended for household use. It is very small, very compact, extremely simple, easily understood and cared for, safe and durable. It possesses every advantage to be found in any of the larger "Alpha" machines.

No card but an engraved one is acceptable; others are considered shoddy and should not be used.

We know the correct thing, and any work turned out by us, will place you right in the swim.

Every effort is being made by us to keep this work at home, and if a strict adherence to San Francisco prices, combined with good clean work is any inducement to place orders here, we will get all your work from now on.

Bear in mind that we are not trying to meet the cut rates of Eastern Department stores for inferior work; but are doing good work, using the very best of material, and adhering closely to ruling rates in San Francisco.

Nor is the work confined to Cards alone, but Wedding and Society Stationery, Business Cards, Announcements, Bill Heads for Professional men, Embossing, and the general run of work coming under that head, have the same careful attention.

You may not need anything now, but it is well to bear in mind when the time comes, and save the expense of sending away for it.

Do you remember when you ate white bait in New York or London what slices of brown bread cut very thin were served with the fish? It was buttered too. FRENCH AND ENGLISH. Wherein their Colonial Policies Differ—Liberty vs. Exclusion.

It is somewhat surprising to find a man like Leroy-Beaulieu defending the French annexation of Madagascar on the ground that only in that way can French trade enjoy a monopoly in the island. If a mere protectorate were to be assumed by France, as was at first proposed, the existing favored-nation treaties with England, Germany and the United States would be still in force. By making Madagascar a French colony outright, however, the slate is sponged clean and French commerce, under French protective tariffs, given first chance. After losing 7,000 men and spending $30,000,000 in conquering the island, it would be the most exquisite simple-mindedness, argues M. Leroy-Beaulieu, to pursue any other course. Shall Frenchmen labor and then stupidly allow Englishmen and Germans and Americans to enter into their labors? Yet just this exquisite simple-mindedness has always marked English colonial policy, the success of which contrasts favorably with the rather painful results of French colonizing experiments. In an English colony one nation has as good a chance as another, and somehow the plan has worked well. Strangely enough, the more the foreign capital that has been brought in to develop the colonies, the more rapidly they have developed, and the better it has been both for the colony and for England. Colonial monopoly, on the other hand, is as bad in practice as it is in theory.—New York Evening Post.

DESOLATE.

O morning, hasten with your good Of ceaseless care and tedious task; Give me no respite from your load— 'Tis all I ask.

O strife and tumult of the day, O toils and trials manifold, Close in as thickly as ye may, Loose not your hold.

To memory leave no briefest space From earliest ray of dawning light For all too soon comes on space— Ah, God!—the night.

—Minnie Leona Upton in Century.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Beautiful Materials For Summer—Popular Shades In Gloves and Parasols.

Mohair in all forms is having a great success. Taffeta, which is light and at the same time elegant, has lost none of its vogue, while crepe de chine composes some exquisite summer costumes. There is no limit to the varieties of muslins, batistes and lawns, and foulards in oriental and large branching patterns are also seen.

Bodices differing from the skirt are still worn, but the color of the skirt is usually introduced into some part of the bodice. A black and pink bodice is worn with a black skirt; a bodice of open embroidery over fawn color accompanies a fawn colored skirt.

For general wear with shirt waists skirts of black, navy blue, gray or beige woolen goods are preferred. Serge, and particularly mohair, is very appropriately used for this purpose, and mixed goods are also employed.

Parasols in moire francaise or plain silk, of green, mauve and glauc tones, are much carried. The handles are lacquered of the same color and are adorned with interlacing incrustations of silver.

White gloves, either of suede or kid, continue in fashionable favor, although they are the least becoming of any. Lemon and gray are also worn. Tan shades, which are always pretty, are less seen, although they will never quite disappear. They harmonize with everything and are usually durable.

Hats and bonnets entirely of tulle are a feature of the season. They are trimmed with flowers, plumes and lace, besides rosettes and pullings of the tulle itself.

The illustration shows a reception gown having a skirt of lilac green crepe de chine over a tulle lining of the same shade. The bodice, which has a ripple bosque, is of green taffeta, with a design in blue upon it, and opens over a vest of crepe de chine. The high, flaring collar of taffeta has a plaited ruffle of white mousseline de soie on the inside. This ruffle is continued down the sides of the front. The close sleeves of French blue satin are partly covered by upper sleeves of white, plaited mousseline. These latter sleeves are held within narrow bands by two bands of lace insertion. JUDIC CHOLET.

Pabst is His Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

M. A. Peixoto, proprietor of the Union barber shop, next to the Art Gallery, guarantees to give a shave that will make your hair curl with joy.

When you are down on your luck and feel as if the world was cold, hard and dreary, just step into the Criterion saloon and put a rose-colored tint on everything by imbibing a glass of Seattle beer.

Singers lead the world. Over 13,000,000 made and sold. Highest awards at the World's Columbian Exposition for excellence of construction, regularity of motion, ease of motion, great speed, adjustability, durability, ease of learning and convenience of arrangement. B. Bergersen, agent, King and Bethel streets.

Cures Talk

"Cures talk" in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as for no other medicine. Its great cures recorded in truthful, convincing language of grateful men and women, constitute its most effective advertising. Many of these cures are marvelous. They have won the confidence of the people; have given Hood's Sarsaparilla the largest sales in the world, and have made necessary for its manufacture the greatest laboratory on earth. Hood's Sarsaparilla is known by the cures it has made—cures of scrofula, salt rheum and eczema, cures of rheumatism, neuralgia and weak nerves, cures of dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles, catarrh and malaria.

Such Cures as This Prove Merit. "My little nephew was a plump and healthy baby until a year and a half old, then sores broke out behind his ears and spread rapidly over his head, hands and body. A physician said the trouble was scrofula humor in the blood. The child became one complete sore. We had to restrain his hands to keep him from scratching the sores. We were induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time he had more life. He improved rapidly, his skin became entirely clear of sores and he is now a healthy child." Mrs. FLORENCE ANDREWS, Clearfield, Iowa.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Pills cure liver ills; easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

FASHIONABLE FANCIES.
 Variety in Shoulder Coverings—Trimmed With Lace, Jet and Chiffon.
 The short cape of silk, taffeta or satin is the legitimate sport of fancy this season. It is of a brevity that allows the slenderness of the waist to be visible, and it widens the shoulders in spite of drooping sleeves. When it is made in black, it glitters with jet and is adorned with black gauze platings or ruffles and knots of satin or ribbon. When the domain of color is entered, there is no limit to the elaboration. There are openwork arrangements over bright silk linings, applications of lace, beads and embroidery and innumerable constructions, more or less complicated, in plaited or ruffled gauze and chiffon. The collars of capes match them in extravagance. The larger number of these on fine capes are lined with an application of white gimpure.

 Lace is greatly favored at present. White, ecru and yellow varieties are all employed, and black valenciennes is a new and highly desirable development for summer gowns of nainsook and muslin. If the goods themselves can be dyed a fast black, there is no reason why so valuable a wash lace should not be treated in the same way, and this year's fine dainty costumes prove that it has been done satisfactorily. This fact receives additional importance from the other fact that black and white continues to be very fashionable this summer and is by no means confined to half mourning wardrobes.
 A sketch is given of a costume of black satin adorned with spangled motifs in steel blue. The bodice is plain, save for the spangled adornment. The blouse bodice is gathered at the yoke and belt. The yoke itself droops over the shoulders and is trimmed with spangles and outlined with spangled galloon. Epaulets of galloon terminate in pampilles of jet. The crenelated collar is of white satin. The balloon sleeves, extending only to the elbow, are trimmed with spangles.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Automatic

Distributors

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.

PURIFINE is for sale by the HOLLISTER DRUG Co. in 25c., 50c., 75c. and $1.50 bottles. The "AUTOMATIC DISTRIBUTORS" are for rental. Our Agents will call upon you and explain the merits of "Purifine" and the "Automatic Distributors."

"We use Purifine and find it very good for deodorizing stinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection. W. A. CAMPBELL, Demonstrator of Anatomy."

WELLS-KINNEY—in this city, August 23, 1896, at the residence of Thos W Holton, by the Rev S E Bishop, D D, Henry M Wells to Mildred Sessions Kinney.

Pabst is its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

M. A. Peixoto, proprietor of the Union barber shop, next to the Art Gallery, guarantees to give a shave that will make your hair curl with joy.

Harry Klomma has put a handsome refrigerator into the Louvre Saloon.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

cerning my models of the caravels already executed, and on comparison with the plans and information in the possession of the Spanish authorities they were wonderfully close, the rig being almost identical, and the difference of tonnage being only about a ton on the tonnage of each caravel. My models were exhibited at the Chicago exhibition, at which exhibition I had the honor to represent Genoa. The account of my voyage over the track of Columbus has been printed in book form, with views, maps and track on charts. In returning to Europe in my yacht, after the Chicago Exhibition, I had a narrow escape, encountering a cyclone. All hands were lashed to the rigging, and the hatches battened down. One of the vessels of the Italian squadron lost most of her sails and two lifeboats. On arrival, home the Italian Minister of Marine telegraphed his congratulations and thanks to me for the services rendered.

'You have recently visited South Africa and the Transvaal, I believe?' 'Yes, I left Genoa in December last, and London early in January for the Cape, and arrived after Jameson's famous raid. After visiting East London, Port Elizabeth, and Durban I went to the Orange Free State to examine some ancient paintings on the rocks in the Drakenberg mountains, said to be executed by Bushmen, and of which I made fac similes. I then visited Johannesburg. As soon as the Boers knew I had no political object in view, but was simply a foreigner engaged in travel and scientific pursuits, they received me most kindly and heartily. I visited the battlefield of Krugersdorp, where the traces of the fight with Jameson's men still remained, and was engaged in sketching there when the great dynamite explosion took place, with such dreadful loss of life, and got some snap shots of the explosion. After inspecting the mines of the Rand, and the diamond mines at Kimberley, returned to Capetown and came on to New Zealand, visiting the Wanganui River scenery, Parihaka, and had an interview with Te Whiti, and made a trip to the Lake Country.'

'What are your impressions of your recent trip to the South Sea Islands?' 'They are very pleasant. I have increased my collection, and also obtained a large quantity of curios, which are now being shipped to my home, Castello di Montegalletto, at Genoa. The customs, history, and migrations of those island races interest me, also the atoll formations. The Marquesas Group, especially, afford an inviting field for the geologist. As to the tattooing of the natives, it appears to be much more elaborate than that of the Maori. I have a large number of photographs and sketches executed during my visit to the islands, and also in my travels over the world. With regard to Easter Island, and its mysterious stone monuments and inscriptions of a bygone age by a bygone race, I have got pretty nearly all the literature published, with a view to elucidate the historical problem, also fac similes of the inscriptions.'

'What are your future movements?' 'I leave by the outgoing Frisco mail steamer for Honolulu, with a view of visiting the famous volcanoes there. While here I have visited the Auckland Museum and Free Public Library, and found much to interest me in these institutions.'

Captain D'Albertis is devoting his life to travel and scientific pursuits, and is giving to the world at large the benefit of his labors. It may be incidentally mentioned that Signor D'Albertis, one of the explorers of New Guinea, is a cousin of this gallant officer. Singers lead the world. Over 13,000,000 made and sold. Highest awards at the World's Columbian Exposition for excellence of construction, regularity of motion, ease of motion, great speed, adjustability, durability, ease of learning and convenience of arrangement.
