PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND HAWAII.

To the Editor of the Sun—SIR: Almost a quarter of a century ago another Democratic President was dealing with the Hawaiian situation, which even then involved the direct attention and earnest consideration of the United States.

The words of President Andrew Johnson, in his annual message to the Fortieth Congress on December 9, 1868, are indeed prophetic, wherein he said, "until the people of the Islands shall of themselves, at no distant date, voluntarily apply for admission into the Union."

It seems like the direct disposition of Providence that another Democratic President, Mr. Grover Cleveland, should complete the work that was outlined by his predecessor twenty-five years ago. It is seldom that so broad, important and statesmanlike a national policy can be executed, after so long an interval, by a President of the same political tenets.

President Cleveland may well feel a touch of pride when he sends to Congress his message recommending the annexation of Hawaii, which was so delicately yet so forcibly touched upon by President Andrew Johnson in the following words:

"I am aware that upon the question of further extending our possessions it is apprehended by some that our political system cannot successfully be applied to an area more extended than our continent; but the conviction is rapidly gaining ground in the American mind that, with the increased facilities for inter-communication between all portions of the earth, the principles of free government, as embraced in our Constitution, if faithfully maintained and carried out, would prove of sufficient strength and breadth to comprehend within their sphere and influence the civilized nations of the world."

"The attention of the Senate and of Congress is again respectfully invited to the treaty for the establishment of commercial reciprocity with the Hawaiian kingdom, entered into last year, and already ratified by that Government. It is known and felt by the Hawaiian Government and people that their Government and institutions are feeble and precarious; that the United States, being so near a neighbor, would be unwilling to see the Islands pass under foreign control. Their prosperity is continually disturbed by expectations and alarms of unfriendly political proceedings, as well from the United States as from other powers. A reciprocity treaty, while it could not materially diminish the revenues of the United States, would be a guarantee of the good will and forbearance of all nations until the people of the Islands shall of themselves, at no distant day, voluntarily apply for admission into the Union."

When President Johnson so feelingly referred to "unfriendly political proceedings, as well from the United States," he must have been gifted with foresight in anticipating the acts of Mr. Claus Spreckels, Mr. Charles Nordhoff and their organ. But President Cleveland, in the interests of our great republic, will lay out their "unfriendly political proceedings" by completing the Democratic policy outlined a quarter of a century ago and annexing these Islands. A TRUE DEMOCRAT.

BRAZILIAN SOCIAL LIFE. Why Naval Officers Hold Rio Janeiro and Petropolis in Pleased Remembrance. United States naval officers were much interested in the recent rumor that Rio Janeiro was threatened with bombardment by the rebellious Brazilian fleet. Some hundreds of American naval officers know Rio Janeiro as well as they know New York or Boston. They call the place familiarly "Rio," as does everybody else who sails southward of the line. Nobody calls it by its full name of Sao Sebastiao do Rio Janeiro, which may be translated Saint Sebastian of the January River. The harbor, which was mistaken for the mouth of a river, was discovered on one New Year's Day, hence the Janeiro as well as the Rio.

The city has a sort of interest for Americans because its harbor resembles in several broad features that of New York. It is a long, deep, almost land-locked salt-water lake, with a seaward entrance rather less than a mile wide and bold shores famous for their beauty. It has a Governor's Island to complete the resemblance to New York harbor. Now, a bombardment of this pleasant harbor would destroy a good many things of which the American naval officer has pleasant memories; for Rio, though a town of narrow, dirty streets, is extremely gay. It has a summer temperature the year round, and when the fashionable world is within the city the place is one of much social interest. Nobody has fully explained why you may do at Rio a great many things that you would not do in New York, or scarcely even in Paris. If you happen to go with your wife to a fashionable restaurant in Rio you may chance to see there some man, perhaps half a dozen men, whom you both know, in a cozy way, the gayest imaginable ladies, whom it were quite impossible for your wife should know. That would hardly happen in a restaurant of New York, and should it happen in a Parisian restaurant you would be discreetly bid to the presence of your

AN ISSUE THAT WILL NOT DOWN.

The STAR has learned on undeniable authority that the advice of the Annexation Club with regard to the removal of Royalist holdovers in Government employ has been approved in writing by Minister Lorrin A. Thurston, Rev. Wm. B. Oleson, agent of the Annexation party in the United States and by ex-Attorney-General Armstrong, now a resident of the city of Washington.

Minister Thurston has written three letters to the Government in which he points out—perhaps in memory of his own experience in the Reform Cabinet with anti-Reform subordinates—that the public safety requires the displacement of officials who are not active adherents of the Government and loyal promoters of its cause. We are informed that Messrs. Oleson and Armstrong in private letters urge the same policy with great vigor and earnestness, one of them going so far as to suggest that the Government cannot expect a cohesive support of the Annexation party if it shall continue to turn its back upon its friends and give aid and comfort to its enemies. That this is a fact and not an inference, appears in the course of recent discussions of the Executive Committee of the Annexation Club, and in the popular talk of the streets. Its significance would be unmistakable if the subject of removals should ever be canvassed at a public meeting of the Annexationist rank and file, civilian and military.

It is with full deference to the experience and the good intent and the conservative impulse of those members of the Government who oppose removals that the STAR returns to the issue and asks again that only active supporters of the revolution and of the administrative functions as they stand shall be placed or retained behind the breastworks and on the pay roll. It is surely a reasonable request, and we make it in good Annexationist company. That such a move would not be harmful in its effects upon public opinion in the United States, we have the word of three distinguished friends of Hawaii and its Government, residing on American soil and close to the seat of Federal authority—one in the responsible position of Hawaiian Minister. For long decades the American people have been accustomed to rotation in office, and they have shown themselves ready to suppress treason and sedition with the hand of iron. They must regard the tolerance here of the friends of a Royalist pretender as holdovers in office as an evidence of administrative weakness. It could not be otherwise. Conversely, they would accept the prompt eviction of the Royalists from the Provisional camp as an indication of confidence and strength.

Should the Royalists, by some political miracle, reach power to-morrow, they would make a clean sweep of Annexationists, and they would do so for the best of political reasons. It would be their duty as well as their pleasure to put every possible safeguard about their cause that it might not again be made a common football of ill-fortune. They could not afford to leave a spy at large in their camp nor to let a dollar of public money go to men who would use it or store it up to be used against the tenure of the regal authority. So we say that what they would mete out should be meted to them now, to the end that the Provisional Government may be wholly in the hands of its friends, that its citadel may be altogether in the keeping of its loyal adherents, that behind the sandbags and cannon there may be no one to desert his post in an emergency and that the men who bore the arms on January 17th may be preferred in office and responsibility to those who refused their service there because they wanted the monarchy preserved.

Mr. DAVIES' idea that a message of Mr. Cleveland to Congress could cause the present Hawaiian Government "to pass away" will be somewhat dispelled by process of time. The Guardian might learn a great deal to his advantage when he arrives by calling on the Ministry and later on the Annexation Club. He seems to need some of the information which they possess.

WHAT about these white uniforms which ex-soldiers of the Queen are having made?

The Government threw its exequatur bone to-day.

THE INVESTOR AND HIS RIGHTS.

The extent to which native and half-caste Hawaiians are partners in the ownership of this country is precisely shown in a table of the amount and nationality of investments in Hawaiian plantation and other corporations, compiled by Thomas G. Thrum from the latest sworn returns. This table is as follows:

Table with columns: Total, Corporations other than Sugar, Sugar Plantations, Incorporated, and Nationality of Investors. Rows include American born Americans, Hawaiian born British, German born Germans, Native Hawaiian, and All other Nationalities.

Out of the sum of $36,841,690 the natives and half castes, in whose name so loud an outcry for control of this group is being made, own but $657,753, or less than two per cent of the total. The wily tricksters who are using the Hawaiian name to secure themselves another chance at the public treasury, apparently think this picaresque showing is enough to base a claim of political sovereignty upon; and yet what is the intrinsic difference between such a demand and one of men owning less than $200 in stock of a $10,000 corporation for control of the business and the plant? Shall the weakest of minorities average the strongest of majorities when it comes to deciding the policy of such a business enterprise as the control of the Hawaiian Islands has always been? There is very little of politics about any Hawaiian Government, past, present or future, except as incidental and supplementary to the great business concerns of the group. What the Government shall do or shall be is always and ever a matter of supreme business moment, particularly to Americans. It might be measurably different if the natives were capable of self-government and were influenced by patriotism and love of country, but it is obvious that the most they care for in life is day-to-day subsistence and creature comfort, which is a question of business, also, with which, in the helpless aboriginal condition, foreign capital and enterprise have most to do. Business now rules in nearly all countries where the mass of the population cannot govern itself. It rules India and Egypt in the name of the British investor, and properly so. It controls and will continue to control Hawaii in the name of the American investor so long as he retains his majority interest over all adverse combinations.

From even the cursory comments the new Minister makes on the political aspect of his mission, it is to be reasonably deduced that the United States will insist on a speedy end to the "provisional" status of the country whenever it shows its hand. There will be no "provisional" holding on for the dim prospect of a party change in the United States favorable to annexation. The situation will be given permanency one way or another.—Bulletin.

WHAT clotted nonsense! Go and read the Constitution of the United States and find out where the Government is authorized to interfere with the domestic concerns of a foreign and friendly country. A careful study of Mr. Jefferson's immortal document will save you from a great deal of foolishness in re Hawaiian matters.

The departure of Admiral Skerrett will be a matter of regret to the American colony, which has learned to regard him highly as an officer of distinguished character and as an American of uncompromising parts. It was the common hope that his stay at the Islands might be prolonged. However, as he is to remain on the Pacific station, it is not unlikely that he will return to Honolulu in due season. The STAR's wish of parting is that he may come with his flag flying on the great Olympia!

Mr. DAVIES' idea that a message of Mr. Cleveland to Congress could cause the present Hawaiian Government "to pass away" will be somewhat dispelled by process of time. The Guardian might learn a great deal to his advantage when he arrives by calling on the Ministry and later on the Annexation Club. He seems to need some of the information which they possess.

WHAT about these white uniforms which ex-soldiers of the Queen are having made?

A COAT OF WHITEWASH.

The British court of inquiry about Naval Reserve Stott has caused much public disgust by "exonerating" a seaman who apparently did not know Punchbowl from Diamond Head when he approached the coast on October 2d, and who ran his ship on a reef which common prudence could have avoided. The STAR has said in discussing the Miowera's troubles that the ship would not have been lost if the pilots had been more expeditious. We believe so still. But that does not excuse Mariner Stott, whose business was to stay at a safe distance outside the port until the pilot had turned up. As the case stood the delay would not have been more than twenty minutes at the furthest.

From what Captain Stott said to reporters and others after the catastrophe occurred, it is reasonably plain that he did not know where he was on the night of October 2d, except that he was somewhere near the beach. His ship was even then permitted to go ahead at reduced speed and he grounded as a matter of course, and for sheer lack of seamanship.

As for the court of inquiry, that must pass for a political burlesque. The next we shall hear will be an attempt to cinch the Provisional Government in the matter of damages. Out upon such courts of "inquiry." They smell of political tricks a great deal more than they do of common sense and fair play.

SAMOAN ITEMS.

The Measles Epidemic Still Raging Fiercely.

The North German Lloyd's steamer Karlsruhe recently took home 270 men from the warships Buzzard and Sperber. H. C. Ide, the newly appointed Chief Justice, is expected to arrive on the November Mail. No American Land Commissioner has yet been appointed. The divers employed in endeavoring to find the anchors of the United States warship Alliance, have found a relic of the last disastrous hurricane in the shape of the steam launch of the United States ship Nipsic, which was washed off at that time.

The measles epidemic is still raging fiercely, and as yet shows no signs of abating. The death toll is, we regret to say, increasing rapidly, especially outside the municipality, not a day passing without its being added to. As far as we have been able to learn, already about 150 people have fallen victims, in most cases entirely through their own carelessness in not carrying out the instructions given to them. The change in the weather has, as might have been expected, caused many deaths, and we trust for the sake of those suffering, and who may suffer, that fine weather will be experienced until our dread visitor has left us.—Herald.

The distance from the furthest point of polar discovery to the pole itself is 490 miles. During the past century scientists have made but fifty miles progress.

COUNCIL NOTICE.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS. COUNCIL CHAMBER, Honolulu, October 20th, 1893. At a meeting of the Executive and Advisory Councils held Oct. 19th, 1893, the following letter was presented and read:

DEPARTMENT OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS. Honolulu, October 19th, 1893. SIR.—Referring to the immunity from official duties which I have enjoyed during the past few weeks by the consideration of the executive and advisory council, I take pleasure in informing the council that it is now agreeable to me to again assume such duties. In this connection I wish to call the attention of the council to the proposition which has been made by the cabinet to separate the offices of president and minister of foreign affairs, and thereby relieve the president from the management of the foreign office, and to ask their careful consideration of the proposed change.

Although the state of my health renders this measure somewhat important to me at the present time, I desire that the question shall be considered impartially, with the view of making the office of president as well as that of minister of foreign affairs as useful and effective as possible. I have the honor to remain, Very sincerely yours, SANFORD B. DOLE, President. FRANCIS M. HATCH, Esq., Chairman Executive and Advisory Councils, Honolulu.

CHECKING BAGGAGE.

A REVOLUTION TAKING PLACE IN MOVING IMPEDIMENTS.

Why the Pasteboard Check is Displacing the Common Brass Ones—Difficulties of Tracing Lost Baggage Under the Old Method—Baggage Frauds.

The days of the brass baggage check are numbered. For the past two years the pasteboard check has been gradually crowding it out of use, until brass checks are now employed only for local checking, and for that purpose solely because each company has a large stock of them on hand. All but three of the railroads entering this city still use brass checks for local business, but through baggage is checked on the printed and written cards.

Thus an American institution which has long been a source of admiration to European visitors is relegated to an obsolete custom. The old system was objectionable for several reasons. An immigrant who could not speak the English language might come on to this city while his baggage would be checked only to Cincinnati. This involved a tedious delay while the baggage was being traced by mail and telegraph from New York. Again, a busy or absent-minded traveling man might ask for a "check, Vandalia." If a check should happen to be given to Vandalia station, the man might go on to Pittsburg or Chicago before discovering that his baggage was astray. There was nothing whatever on the brass check to denote whence or by which line the baggage had been forwarded. But now as soon as he looks at his check he can see the point to which it was forwarded.

The new "paper checks," as they are called, are designed to do away with these difficulties, which have been a nightmare to baggage agents. Each road has its own system of pasteboard checks, printed in different styles and on different colored cardboards. When travel between certain cities is heavy, name of the destination, as well as the originating point, is printed. In some cases the routing is also printed. But on general checks, which may thus at once be issued for any place on any railroad in the United States, blanks are left for the destination and the names of the connecting roads over which the baggage is to pass. These checks are numbered consecutively and are kept for a limited time after the baggage has been claimed, when they are destroyed. The check issued to the passenger is, therefore, an exact duplicate of the strap check, which contains full and explicit information, and missing baggage can therefore be quickly located by means of the details printed or written in. The difficulty of tracing baggage is lessened in another way. A brass check might be received here in the morning, used to Kansas City at night and sent out from there the next day. But a "paper check" can be used only once.

Baggage agents in large terminal cities have to be eternally on guard against frauds. A baggage room is regarded by many as a desirable object for plunder, and new schemes to "beat" it are being constantly evolved. Some years ago a man applied to have a big sample case checked to Memphis. When one of the employees demurred and said that the applicant did not look like a commercial traveler, the man replied that he was a machinist and that much traveling had broken his chest, compelling him to use a strong sample case. The baggage was accordingly checked to Memphis, but the rightful owner appeared in time to prevent the theft of the sample case, which contained about $8,000 worth of jewelry.

To prevent similar frauds a system of "claim checks" was devised. If a transfer company calls for a trunk at a hotel or private residence and the owner is not present, but will return, a "claim check" is left for him, which is a duplicate of that attached to the trunk. If he has gone to the depot, the baggage man will not receive the trunk unless the transfer company accepts a "claim check" from them. Then when a passenger directs his baggage to be checked, he is told to call at the office of the transfer company and get his "claim check." This simple means of identification has been found to work effectively.

A favorite method of doing crooked work at baggage rooms was to steal somewhere a number of pairs of checks. Then while the baggageman was looking for the trunk bearing the number corresponding to that on the bogus check tendered, the crook would cleverly remove the strap check from any trunk of which he desired possession and substitute therefor a strap check from his pocket. Hence it is that all outsiders are regarded with suspicion in a baggage room, although this plan of robbery is no longer practicable with the new "paper checks."

When asked if, in view of the developments of the past few days, it was not as easy to counterfeit a pasteboard baggage check as a railroad ticket, Baggage Agent William M. Steele replied that he thought it was not.

"Each road has a different style and different color of check," said he, "and the matter that is written in must be in the same handwriting. Everything on either check must be identical with parallel information on the other, instead of only the number and name of the road being required to correspond as under the workings of the old brass check system. Even though a man had a lot of blank forms correctly printed, he would be compelled to inspect the baggage he desired to steal, memorize the number and written information and then go away and prepare his false check in the identical manner and handwriting indicated on the strap check. Mistakes would very often be made by him, which would instantly expose his game. The plan of substituting a prepared strap check is so old that it is rarely attempted—successfully almost never, for we are continually on the lookout for sharpers and suspicious idlers. We are at times very busy here, but never so busy that we don't keep an eye on every man in the room who is not an employee."

The origin of the "paper check" dates back a few years to the commencement of the era of railway consolidation, when changes in routings were so frequent that the brass checks were found inadequate for the work.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Still Unsettled.
An English traveler in Manitoba met five youths who were discussing the latitude of some town and had found themselves unable to agree whether latitude was reckoned north and south of the equator or east and west of Winnipeg. Those who held the orthodox opinion were in a minority of one.

The Englishman was appealed to, and of course sided with the minority, but he was taken a good deal aback when one of them said:

"Well, now opinion is equally divided, so we can't settle it after all."
The stranger offered to explain, but was told that one man's opinion was as good as another's.—Exchange.

The Thieving Cossacks.
The wild Cossacks, living away down in the southernmost part of the Russian empire, spend most of their time harvesting the Turks. They are peculiarly savage in appearance. Their uniform is the Cossack coat, full trousers, scarlet undercoat hooked up to the neck, big boots, and as an overcoat they wear a bourka, a circular cloak made of coarse felt, with long shaggy hair on one side of it. This cloak is big enough to cover the rider and much of the horse. The most distinctive point in their dress, however, is the cylindrical hat of black astrakhan which they wear at all seasons. The top is of cloth or velvet. They form part of the Russian cavalry and live principally on plunder.—St. Louis Republic.

NEWSPAPER IS A NECESSITY to every person in the community—man, woman or child—who is able to read and who desires to keep in touch with the spirit of this progressive age and wishes to be posted as to events of interest which are continually happening at home and abroad, on land and sea."

The STAR is a new paper and has introduced Californian methods of journalism into Hawaii, where, before its advent, the Massachusetts newspaper traditions of 1824 held sway. It has three prime objects:

To support the cause of Annexation of Hawaii to the United States and assist all other movements, political, social or religious, which are of benefit to these Islands and their people.

To print all the news of its parish without fear or favor, telling what goes on with freshness and accuracy, suppressing nothing which the public has the right to know.

To make itself indispensable to the family circle by a wise selection of miscellaneous reading matter.

As a commentator the STAR has never been accused of unworthy motives.

As a reporter the STAR has left no field of local interest ungleaned.

As a friend of good government the STAR has been instant in service and quick to reach results.

As an advertising medium the STAR, from the week of its birth, has been able to reach the best classes of people on all the Islands.

Aim at the Drake Wampole's Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchia troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.

THE PRESIDENT'S PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Bryant has an Excellent Professional Reputation and Avoids Notoriety.

Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, President Cleveland's family physician, enjoys a distinction somewhat similar to that which used to be ascribed in Rome to the pope's confessor. He is the president's intimate friend as well as his medical adviser, and goes on fishing trips with his illustrious patient or writes professional prescriptions for him with equal facility. It has more than once been hinted that he prescribed these fishing trips quite as much for his own benefit as for that of the patient, but that cannot be true. It would be "unprofessional," and Dr. Bryant never forgets professional etiquette and amenities, as reporters who attempt to interview him invariably find out.

It is a little singular that Dr. Bryant's name should have become best known to the public as that of the president's physician, but it is due entirely to his habit of venturing himself and his work from the non-professional gaze. Had he wished it, the newspapers would gladly have given him columns of space on more than one occasion, when they were forced to be contented with the casual mention of his name, for he has long been eminent in his profession and has held prominent official positions in which he might have attracted considerable attention to himself had he so desired. But that is not his way.

Though he is but 48 years of age, Dr. Bryant has been a professor at Bellevue Medical college in New York since 1877, visiting surgeon to Bellevue hospital since 1882 and visiting surgeon to St. Vincent's hospital since 1887. He is also consulting surgeon to a number of medical institutions and a very active, though unassuming, member of a great many medical societies, besides being the author of a standard work on operative surgery. He ranks among the best obstetricians in New York, and his general practice is estimated to be worth $20,000 a year. He attended Mrs. Cleveland when Baby Ruth was born.

Dr. Bryant is a veteran of the Seventy-first New York regiment and was commissioned major and surgeon as long ago as 1873. Ten years later Governor Cleveland appointed him surgeon-general of the state, and he filled the same position under Governors Hill and Flower. In 1887 Mayor Hewitt appointed him a health commissioner of New York city, a position that entailed no end of hard work and responsibility, from which at last he voluntarily retired.

Mosquitoes Travel South. It is positively asserted that mosquitoes were unknown in Atlanta before the railroad companies began running sleeping cars from Savannah into that city. They avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by them and are most apt to congregate there in September and October, when they come by the thousand.

English Dukes and Their Estates. The Duke of Devonshire owns 80,000 acres in Derbyshire, but none in Devon; Lord Derby owns 50,000 acres in Lancashire, but none in Derby; Lord Leicester 40,000 acres in Norfolk, but none in Leicester. But one-third of the rural estates of the Duke of Bedford, worth £150,000 a year, are in that county.—London Tit-Bits.

A Choice of Terms. "I'm sure we shall be on good terms," said the man who had just moved into the neighborhood to the corner grocer. "No doubt of it, sir. Especially," he added as an afterthought, "if the terms are cash."—Detroit Free Press.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR THE RESTORATION.

Members of Liliuokalani's Ex-Household Troops Said to be Purchasing Pretty Clothes.

Some excitement was created in the secret session of the Councils yesterday afternoon by the announcement of one of the Councilmen that a number of new uniforms were being made for members of the ex-Queen's guards or household troops, the statement being, so it is said, that some thirty or forty of these new uniforms had been distributed within the last few days.

Several persons with whom the reporter talked had heard that such was the case, but could not verify it. Some had heard that the suits were being made by C. T. Akana and others that W. Ahana was doing the work.

A visit was next paid to the store of W. Ahana, who bears the reputation of being a more than ordinary smart and close-mouthed business man.

Further investigations by the reporter led to the discovery of the fact that as to uniforms of some of the members of Liliuokalani's ex-body guard and other retainers are being furnished with new pants and coats of white duck, and that about some forty of them have been so supplied up to the present time.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

The Circuit Court Sustained in Two Cases.

The Supreme Court has filed a decision in the case of Kualanā (f) vs. Yong Young, in which it is held that the contention of the defendant that his plea of title should be sustained and that the District Court had not jurisdiction to hear the case, did not obviate the necessity of his filing the bond required by the statute, it appearing that the case was one within the jurisdiction of the District Court under the statute for summary proceedings to recover possession of land.

In the case of Maria Kaamaana vs. Keahi (w), Mahoe (w) and Kauakani, her husband, the court refuses to reverse an order of the lower court setting aside the verdict and ordering a new trial, on the ground of misconduct of the jury, certain jurors having held conversations with parties, defendant showing hostility towards them.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES.

Suit for a Separation—Judge Whiting Holds a Session. Phebe Harrison has brought suit against John Harrison for a judicial separation on the grounds of intemperance and ill treatment, and upon the return of service of summons yesterday

Judge Whiting made an order that the defendant pay into Court $22 as a cost deposit.

In the case of Medeiros vs. Bowler a stipulation has been filed that the case may be placed on the calendar and heard by Judge Cooper in vacation.

Judge Cooper has been occupied during the day in hearing the case of Dowager Queen Kapiolani vs. S. W. Mahelona, but it was not concluded and the hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

In Judge Whiting's Court, in the matter of the guardianship of the Hall minors, the guardian's petition to sell real estate was granted.

In the matter of the guardianship of the Long minors, the guardian's account and master's report were allowed and confirmed and the share of two of the minors who have attained their majority was set apart.

In the estate of C. W. Hanley the temporary administrator's accounts were approved and he was ordered to turn over the balance in his hands to the administrator under the will.

Sound Sense From Samoa.

When Hawaii is offered to Great Britain upon the same terms as to the United States, up will go her flag, and no British Blount will haul it down, either. Americans who want United States people to live on shore, "and never go to sea," won't care; but people who are looking to the future of American commerce feel as if the present attitude of the United States toward Hawaii is perpendicularly asinine.—Samoa Herald.

The Harmless Terror of the Bed Room.

The Woodland, Cal., Mail has a letter from Vernon J. Slym, under recent Honolulu date, in which he says: "I had a bad scare last night from a large spider. He was on my bed, and it is not stretching it to say that his body was as big as my fist, so you can think how I felt about getting into bed with him in it. I could not catch him to kill him, and it is lucky that I did not, too, for when I got up in the morning I was well laughed at. I find that they are as harmless as a lamb and that they live on mosquitoes."

GERTZ GOES TO PRISON.

THE SUPREME COURT SO DECIDES.

The Law Must Take Its Course, Although Much Sympathy is Expressed for the Old Man.

The Supreme Court this morning handed down a long decision in the case of The Provisional Government of the Hawaiian Islands vs. Christian Gertz. The opinion is written by Justice Frear and concurred in by Chief Justice Judd and Justice Bickerton. It covers eight pages of type-writing which, condensed into a few words, decides that Christian Gertz must serve out his sentence of six months at hard labor and pay the fine of $500 imposed by Judge Whiting. The legal points decided in the case are:

NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

Mills' exequatur was not issued until to-day.

THE NEW STAMP ISSUES.

Proposal of James Steiner for a Popular Design.

EDITOR STAR: I've noticed that our worthy Postmaster General has invited tenders to our art-loving population to get him up some suitable designs for the 6 varieties of new postage stamps that we are to have very soon; as the Philatelists and stamp speculators are buying up the P. G.'s stamps at an alarmingly fast rate. Let me add that the handsome amount of ten dollars for each design that finds approval with the authorities has been allowed. Now we've really hard times and the Holomania says there's no surplus in the Treasury; why not be economical and save that $60 altogether. That's too much anyway for art work.

I'm a stamp fiend myself and have been since I was a little boy. I like pretty stamps and so do thousands of other stamp collectors. I'm also a patriotic citizen of Hawaii and this is my plan to get up a nice set of typical Hawaiian stamps without inviting tenders, that look ridiculously small in award of price and merit.

It is a well-known fact that most countries now-a-days have the likeness of their Emperor, King, Queen or President on the face of their stamps. In olden times the style was to put the value of a stamp in big bold figures on its face; that was a very sensible and practical idea, but not beautiful to look at. Emperors, Kings, Queens, and Presidents are mortal beings like the rest of us. They are here to-day but may not be to-morrow. The Hawaiian Islands have advertised their Kings and Queens on stamps from 1852 up to date; that's long enough. Scenes that are bright and charming on paper have a lasting effect on the human mind; they create a desire to see them in person some day.

We are always advertising in a very expensive way our beautiful scenery, volcanoes and other attractions to get the tide of the tourist travel here. My plan is to select half a dozen nice typical Hawaiian photographs, such as Waikiki beach, Hilo bay, Honolulu harbor, the Volcano, Cococanut grove, Rainbow falls, Executive building, Bishop museum etc., send these pictures to New York and the N. Y. Mail Note Co., will do the rest. Maile Leis, Coco Palms, Bananas, Pineapples, Sugar Cane, Coffee and Rice plants would serve nicely as ornamental borders to our future stamps.

Such picturesque designs on our stamps would advertise the whole island in a very effective manner free and to everybody's benefit. One of our former P. M. G.'s, has already started out in that line. On the stamped envelopes and the 2 cents postal cards, they look very neat. This advice is given in the kindest of feelings and free of charge, and I sincerely hope it'll commend itself to the authorities.

Yours very truly, JAS. STEINER. Honolulu H. I., Oct. 20, 1893.

ABOUT HARRY PUTTHUFF.

Did He Shoot Himself in the Head or Not.

Among the visitors to the Police Station yesterday evening was Harry Putthuff, who claimed he was shot in the head and wanted assistance. Dr. Cooper was called and dressed the wound, which was a glancing one across the temple, and the man was put to bed. He was evidently very drunk and in rambling statement accused his friend Carlson of shooting him. Carlson was arrested, and at once gave a plain straightforward statement of what he had put Putthuff to bed some time before very drunk, and that the next time he saw him he was standing on the porch and bleeding profusely from a wound in the head.

This morning when Putthuff woke up he had no recollection of the occurrence, did not even know whether he shot himself or not. Dr. Cooper could not tell from the nature of the wound whether it was caused by a pistol ball or by some other means, and as the man was not much hurt anyway he was turned loose. It is generally supposed that he fell out of bed while drunk and struck his head against a piece of furniture. He will be all right when he gets sober, with the exception of a sore head for a few days.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

A SHIP STICKS FAST IN THE MUD.

An Injured Seaman Dies—The W. G. Hall Sails—A Sizable Shark—Some Large Storms.

The Norwegian ship Beaconsfield was aground this morning near the Railroad wharf, and considerable difficulty was had in removing her from her berth in the mud, where the last high tide left her. By the use of many lines and what assistance the tug rendered Captain Fuller finally succeeded in hauling her alongside the dock, where her coal will be discharged.

The statement to-day to the effect that a contract had been let for the removal of the Miowera from the reef, has again opened the flood gates of light, lurid and entertaining fiction on the water front, and this morning everyone was telling or listening to stories descriptive of how ships in much worse predicaments than the Miowera had been saved.

The steamship Monowai, Captain M. Carey, arrived yesterday afternoon from the colonies and Samoa with a light cargo of freight for this port, the mails and two saloon passengers. The captain reports having encountered stormy easterly winds between Auckland and Sydney, and fair weather through the remainder of the voyage.

The flags of the German barks J. C. Pfluger and Paul Isenberg were flying at half-mast this morning, the occasion being the death of the sailor Viole who was injured a few days since on board the Paul Isenberg.

Since the boat belonging to the Miowera was lost a watchman guards the ship's boats at their moorings back of the mail dock every night, being brought ashore every evening and taken off every morning soon after daylight.

The pontoons belonging to the dredger are being overhauled, and the bottoms of the six which have been turned over resemble a coral reef, so thickly are they coated with the marine growth.

Work on the damaged bark J. C. Pfluger is progressing rapidly, but it will probably be several weeks before the repairs are completed, as there is much work to be done.

The steamer Miki maru is expected by the Board of Immigration Sunday. She will remain in quarantine until the following Thursday.

The British bark County of Merioneth, now discharging coal at the new wharf, will finish unloading in a few days.

The German bark Paul Isenberg finished discharging her cargo this morning, and goes to sea this evening.

Rather a large sized shark was seen this morning between the end of the Mail dock and the boat houses.

The Transit will come down from the marine railway soon, as her repairs are nearly completed.

The steamer Mikabala is being scraped preparatory to receive a new coat of paint.

The steamer W. G. Hall sailed this morning for Kona and Kau.

acquaintances, and your wife would perhaps be conventionally shocked. In Rio, however, you would bow and smile at those wicked men, and even your wife would not altogether ignore them.

But if Rio is gay and unconventional as tried by North American notions, Petropolis is even gay and less conventional. Petropolis is the charming summer capital to which in the yellow fever season everybody at Rio, save a few hundred thousand poor devils with livings to earn, retreats for fresh air and safety.

Dom Pedro, being a tolerant and good-natured monarch, thought no ill of the gay doings at Petropolis. He never stopped to inquire whether this or that pretty villa was tenanted by man and wife or by folks bearing a less conventional relation.

The Hawaiian Slave Trade.

To the Editor of the Sun.—Sir: When Edward M. McCook represented the United States at Honolulu in 1868 he had occasion to draw the attention of Hon. William H. Seward, who was then our Secretary of State, to the fact that the coolie labor system was being established among the planters on the Hawaiian Islands, a cargo having just arrived there from Japan under a three years' contract.

The policy of the United States in regard to coolie labor was embodied by Congress, and a copy of this resolution was forwarded to Mr. McCook on January 17, 1867, by the Secretary of State. It was deemed necessary by Mr. McCook to transmit a copy of this resolution of our Congress to the Hawaiian Minister of Foreign Affairs, his Excellency Stephen H. Phillips, which he did on July 29, 1868, saying that the anti-coolie labor resolution of Congress "correctly indicates the moral sentiment of the country I have the honor to represent."

Our Minister to Hawaii went further. He urged the Kanaka Government to "cordially co-operate with the Government of the United States in its endeavor to discountenance and discourage a traffic so repulsive that it meets with the reprobation of the civilized world."

What was true in 1868 is equally true to-day. The resolution of Congress is still in force. The coolie labor trade of a quarter of a century back was equally as obnoxious to the United States as is the Hawaiian coolie trade of to-day. We have no sympathy with such slave labor as Mr. Claus Spreckels advocates. It stinks in our nostrils. This "correctly indicates the moral sentiment of the country."

A Blue-Grass Girl.

I was in Frankfort the other day and saw a sight that was enough to make the blood of a Kentuckian dance like champagne and his eyes sparkle like the moonstone. It takes a combination to produce this effect on a native born, and the blending in this case was most harmonious—a lissome young miss, as graceful as a sapling maple, mounted on a blooded bay thoroughbred, with limbs as keen and as swift as the "black tail" of the boundless prairies of the West.

She came down one of the shady avenues of elms and water maples, that are called streets at Kentucky's capital, at a clipping pace, and halting suddenly before an old-time mansion, dismounted and ran laughing in, leaving her horse modestly to wait for his little mistress to return. I watched the pink face, golden hair, and handsome riding habit until they disappeared within the wide open door, and then turned my attention to the horse. His bridle was as delicate as a silver cord, and on his back was a flat Englishman's saddle with one small stirrup. As I stood looking, the young girl came bounding out the gate and mounted, evidently pleased at the harmless admiration of a stranger.

"How do you manage to stick on that saddle?" I asked. "Oh, it's the easiest thing in the world," she said. "Father is uneasy sometimes, but I always ride a man's saddle best," and bounding lightly to the horse's back, in another moment she was out of sight.

Aim at the Drake

And you are bound to hit some of the ducks. This is precisely the same with Wampole's Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.
