The President as a Tennessee Horse

Washington, April 25.—The Philippine temporary government bill was taken up in the Senate today as the unfinished business, and Mr. Carmack (Dem., Tenn.), a minority member of the Philippine committee, made an argument against it.

The bill, he said, enacted despotism into law, and established the reign of war, bloodshed and desolation; and yet Republican Senators were ready to vote for it without debate, and without knowing or caring to know a single provision which the bill contained.

He ridiculed the idea of teaching the principle of self-government to the Filipinos. Freedom, he said, was the only schoolmaster that could teach the lesson of freedom. No people had ever learned to govern themselves by being held in subjection by a stronger nation.

As to sending over a swarm of Yankee school teachers who did not know the language of the Filipino people, he said it was the wildest, craziest and most fantastic dream that had ever entered into a lunatic's brain.

Having quoted one of President Roosevelt's utterances against those who denounce the Filipino war, Mr. Carmack attributed it to the fact that the frenzy of battle is in the President's blood; that the President is not vindictive, but merely strenuous; that such outbursts are simply due to that abounding animal energy which makes it impossible for him to move except at a bound, to speak except at the top of his voice, or to express disapproval except with the full strength of his vocabulary. (Laughter.)

The President reminded him of a certain Tennessee horse of which it was said that running away was his natural gait. (Laughter.)

After some further light allusions to the President, Mr. Carmack directed his invective against Gen. Funston, the "Brigadier of the Windy State," who "achieved his title of 'hero' by a violation of the rules of honorable warfare, for which Aguinaldo, if he had committed it against an American officer, would have been hanged in ten minutes."

"But," he continued, "it is vain to go behind a hero; and Funston is a hero, officially acknowledged and proclaimed, with all the rights, privileges and immunities which go with the title. (Laughter.) There have been heroes, modest and unassuming. There have been heroes something more than natural braggarts; but Funston is not one of them. He is a hero to overawe the world with his majestic stride.

"Funston is the lion of the Philippines—such a lion as was presented in the play of 'Pyramus and Thisbe' by Snipe the Joiner, who explained that there was 'no more terrible wild fowl than a lion.' (Laughter.) Funston illustrates the danger of a small man becoming a hero too suddenly.

"He is doing it seven days in every week. In his efforts to 'bestride this narrow world like a Colossus' he has put a strain on his military trousers too shocking for modesty to contemplate or for parliamentary language to mention. (General laughter.) He has swelled beyond the measure of his environment. 'No pent-up archipelago can restrain his powers. The whole boundless continent must be his.'

"So having quelled the insurgents in the Philippines, he comes with his flaming sword across the shuddering deep in order to deal with the insurgents at home. For that purpose he has laid aside his bloody sword and armed himself with a hangman's noose. His plan of campaign is simplicity itself. He proposes simply to hang all who oppose the policy of this Administration.

"And yet there are in his list of condemned criminals who have proved their devotion to the country when Funston was 'mewling and puking in his nurse's arms,' men whose white hair is a crown of glory; men whose lives are without a stain of dishonor; men who stand so high over this hangman brigadier that it is a breach of decency to mention their names and his on the same day of the week."

Mr. Carmack referred to the late Senator Morrill of Vermont and the late Senator Sherman of Ohio as men who denounced the war in the bitterest manner. He also mentioned in the same category ex-President Harrison, ex-Senator Edmunds of Vermont, ex-Gov. Boutwell, Carl Schurz and Mr. Reed—"although I have seen the time," he remarked, "when I would have liked to see Tom Reed hanged." (Laughter.)

He wound up his denunciation of Funston by exclaiming: "Funston should go back to the Philippines, where there is plenty of hemp and no Constitution."

Mr. Carmack did not finish his speech, but yielded for an executive session, after which the Senate adjourned.

NOT THE ONLY PEBBLE.

When Mr. Dole had his legs under Gorham Gilman's table and was telling about the bloodless revolution of 1893, he was ungenerous in that he omitted to give any credit to the forces of the United States landed from the "Boston." Mr. Dole is of record as having asked Minister Stevens to have the United States forces take a more active part as he was afraid of the royalists. This territory was taken from Hawaiians by the armed forces of the United States and don't you forget it, Mr. Dole. You should keep in mind President Cleveland's messages to Congress, in one of which he says of Mr. Stevens and of the Boston:

"It is sufficient to note the fact and to observe that the project (annexation) was one which was zealously promoted by the minister representing the United States in that country. He evidently had an ardent desire that it should become a fact accomplished by his agency and during his ministry, and was not inconveniently scrupulous as to the means employed to that end." * * "The lawful Government of Hawaii was overthrown without the drawing of a sword or the firing of a shot by a process every step of which, it may safely be asserted, is directly traceable to and dependent for its success upon the agency of the United States acting through its diplomatic and naval representatives. But for the notorious predictions of the United States minister for annexation, the Committee of Safety, which should be called Committee of Annexation, would never have existed. But for the landing of the United States forces upon false pretenses respecting the danger to life and property the committee would never have exposed themselves to the pains and penalties of treason by undertaking the subversion of the Queen's Government. But for the presence of the United States forces in the immediate vicinity and in position to afford all needed protection and support the committee would not have proclaimed the provisional government from the steps of the Government building. And finally, but for the lawless occupation of Honolulu under false pretenses by the United States forces, and but for Minister Stevens's recognition of the provisional government when the United States forces were its sole support and constituted its only military strength, the Queen and her Government would never have yielded to the provisional government, even for a time and for the sole purpose of submitting her case to the enlightened justice of the United States."

No, Mr. Dole, you were not the only pebble on the beach in January, 1893. Your boasting and vanity are unseemly from this point of view. You may have fooled your Boston audience, but you cannot fool Hawaiians.

THE CONSECRATION FUND.

The Sources From Whence Received and How Applied Towards St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Bishop Willis, late of this See, having expressed to the last Diocesan Synod that it would be his wish and intention to consecrate the Cathedral Church of Honolulu to St. Andrew before the taking effect of his resignation, all now a matter of history too well-known to need any further reiteration, the same to become the crowning act of his long Episcopacy of thirty years, and which resulted in its successful culmination on March 9th last, THE INDEPENDENT has been favoured with the list of those who contributed towards the fund and made it such a success beyond all anticipations, upon the will of the then Church Wardens of the Cathedral Congregation. ## Grand Jury Reports.

The Grand Jury made a partial report yesterday, returning 13 true bills and five cases ignored. The majority of the cases are petit larceny or assault and there is little of interest in the report. "Kentucky Bill" is not among those against whom true bills have been found, but it is said that his case will be reported today.

The following were the cases ignored Monday: Wai Hung, larceny, second degree; Alohilka, larceny, second degree; Thomas Nahiwa, assault and battery; S. Syverston, larceny, second degree; William Sharp, assault and battery; J. Nahoka, larceny, second degree; A. Carlzell, malicious injury.

Jap and Pake Sentences.

Ah Wa was sentenced to prison for five years and Nishiyama for three years by judge Robinson on Monday. The two men have been convicted of the crime of robbery and the court stated that under the law they could be sentenced to life imprisonment. The Japanese offered to return to Japan forthwith, if he was allowed his freedom, but the Court stated that its duty ended in imposing punishment.

John D. Waldron, late superintendent of the Boys' Brigade Training shop, was admitted to the Ministry yesterday, by a committee composed of members of the Ministerial Union.

Born.

ECKHART—At Wailuku, Maui, May 13, 1902, to the wife of Max Eckhart, a daughter.

Saw Yardley Off.

The entire newspaper fraternity and the Bohemian contingent of Honolulu went down to the Oceanic wharf this morning, to bid Ralph O. Yardley au revoir and bon voyage. Not one person ever left Honolulu with more floral offerings than Yardley. Leis of every color and description were piled around his neck and hat as an eloquent testimonial of the esteem in which he was held by his friends. A number of persons whom he has made familiar to the readers of the Advertiser during the past two years were on hand, but by the expression on their faces it was hard to tell whether they were glad or sorry to see the artist go. The famous May pole quartette were represented by Judge Gear, Camarinos and "Sonny" Cunha, while John Emmeluth and Bishop Willis were not far distant. F. J. Testa was detained at the fire Claims Commission but sent a representative in his stead. Much amusement was caused by Emmeluth. He was standing alone leaning against a pile of freight and staring at Yardley. For twenty minutes his eyes did not move and it was evident that he was doing some hard meditation. His fingers were busy pulling at his whiskers and his eyes were glittering behind his glasses. In the meantime a young man unknown to the habitués of the Oceanic wharf was busy with a pencil and a piece of paper and it is whispered around that the departure of Yardley will not cause the face of Emmeluth to disappear from the pages of the Advertiser. R. Irvin, the new cartoonist, was on the wharf, and he did not lose his time.

Damon and Pythias.

Frederick Ward and his company scored a grand triumph at the Opera House last evening in their production of "Damon and Pythias." Comic Operas and Vanderville shows may be popular among certain classes of people, but there is nothing that can be put on the stage to compare with a drama where the cardinal virtues of honor and fidelity are exemplified. Such a play is Damon and Pythias. Sentiment prevails all through it and audiences are always moved by sentiment. Frederick Ward could not be improved upon as Damon, and Pythias was perfectly represented by Mr. Herman. The Misses Prescott and Ashton again gained popular favor and furnished a full share of the dramatic force of the presentation. Another treat is in store for tonight when "Macbeth" will be presented.

Surprised by Death.

Frank Robello, an aged Portuguese, fell dead as he was partaking of his supper at a Chinese restaurant on King street, near Nuuanu, last evening. Captain Parker, who happened to be near by, went into the restaurant in response to the shrieks of the Chinese and found the man quite dead and foaming at the mouth. He telephoned for the patrol wagon and had the man removed to the morgue. The deceased was 60 years old and was living in Pauoa Valley, where he owned considerable property. He is said to have been subject to epileptic fits and his death was probably due to this cause.

Electric Wiring Defective.

At the meeting of the Executive Council held Monday a report from Electrical Inspector Hesson was submitted by Superintendent Boyd, bearing upon the conditions of electric wiring in the various public buildings. In nearly every one of them the wiring was found defective by the inspector and will require immediate attention. The heads of the departments will be notified and the necessary repairs made at once.

David Kanawanui editor of the Kuokoa who was accidentally shot a few days ago is at the point of death at the Queen's Hospital.

On Inspection Bent.

Jared G. Smith, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, left on the Kinau Monday for a ten days' tour of inspection in Waimea district on Hawaii. He will spend the most of his time at the Parker ranch, having received a special invitation from Alfred W. Carter to visit the place. He will disembark at Kawaihae and be met by some one from the ranch. The Waimea district is the location also of a number of small farms, and Mr. Smith will discuss plans with the farmers of that district as well. This is the first visit of the director to the Waimea country.

Honored With Red Cross.

Honolulu Commandary Knights Templar, conferred the Red Cross degree upon Judge Kepoikai, Kirke Porter and James Harvey last evening. There was a large attendance at the Masonic Temple and addresses were made by Dr. Wood, Senator Crabbe, Dr. Garvin, Mr. Batchelder and the candidates.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon. It is not known whether it will be public or private or where it will take place.

NOTICE.

A meeting of British Residents will be held at the Hawaiian Hotel on MONDAY evening the 26th instant, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for celebrating the approaching Coronation of His Britannic Majesty King Edward VII.

"Hell Roaring Jake."

"Hell-Roaring Jake," so Mr. Stephen Bonsal informs us, is the name by which Gen. Smith is known among his army intimates. If his private conversation is more gruesome than the military orders which, it is now undisputed, he gave in Samar, he fully deserves the sobriquet. Indiscriminate slaughter of non-combatants and the laying of the whole island waste—that is what the counsel of an American general admits to a court-martial that he ordered. He may yet offer the defense, as Major Waller did, that he was only executing bloody instructions which came to him from his superior officers. If, however, Gen. Smith can be shown to have been guilty without orders of these frightful violations of the laws of war, these clear infractions of the "Instructions for the Government of Armies of the United States in the Field" (known as General Orders, No. 100), these unspeakably fiendish barbarities, then we say that he ought to be shot. Military law would justify such a punishment for such crimes, and unless our national conscience is seared with a hot iron, it will cry aloud for the sternest justice upon an officer who has outdone Spanish savagery. Suppose that, four years ago, on the eve of the Spanish War, a dispatch from Havana had even hinted at practices by a Spanish general so atrocious as those now coolly admitted by an American general—why, we should have rent the skies with our indignation. Yet the moral law has not changed in the meantime, and God still requires innocent blood at the hands of murderers, be they men or nations.—New York Freeman's Journal.
