That "Flag" Business.

The organs and organettes of the late G. O. P. must, of course, have something to find fault with; but they must be woefully deficient in real grievances when they devote so much unmitigated "rot" as they do to the Hawaiian incident. The impression they are seeking to convey is that the mere act of hauling down the American flag upon any occasion is practically high treason, to say nothing of the lowering of the national dignity. And yet the flag has been hauled down every day and many times a day for as many years as there has been any flag. It is the almost invariable custom to haul it down at sunset, except when the person whose duty it is to do the hauling is too lazy or otherwise incapacitated. In those cases it has been left up all night; but there has been no special reward for the careless fellow who left it up.

The act of hauling down the flag at the Sandwich Islands had just as much significance of the treasonable sort as the hauling down of the flag at sunset. It had no more, or the flag had no business where it was. The act of Minister Stevens in hoisting it—so far as the hoisting implied any official control over the islands or the people—was distinctly disapproved by President Harrison; and upon that disapproval the minister himself should have lowered the flag. As he did not, there was no other course for a self-respecting government but to see that it was done by somebody else.

As for the effect on our prospects of annexation it must be beneficial if we have ever had any prospect of annexation on honorable terms. It would be simply disgraceful in a country like the United States to secure the annexation of a weak and insignificant nation like Hawaii by anything savoring of trickery or undue advantage. It would be worse than disgraceful to secure it by any step that savored of coercion; and the securing it by negotiation while exercising a practical protectorate over a revolutionary government would be coercive. We shall be very glad of annexation if it can be honorably effected without coercion and especially without jobbery or the suspicion of jobbery. But the absolutely necessary preliminary to effecting such an annexation is the relinquishment of that pretense of control which the flag raised by Minister Stevens symbolized.—Detroit Free Press.

Thoughts at the Letter Box.

Walking up Chestnut street the other day with a friend, a letter box reminded us that we had a note to post, and we stopped for a minute, and the little envelope with its silver lining—our best Sunday-go-to-meeting stationery by the way—was soon swallowed up in the yawning cavern of the green receptacle.

"Do you know," said the frivolous, crinoline-skirted little belle who was our companion, "that there always seems to me to be something uncanny about dropping a letter into the post-box? It sort of reminds me of an unkind word that once spoken can never be recalled."

For a minute, it must be confessed, we felt a bit staggered over this view of what had always appeared a very ordinary proceeding in our eyes, and to hear anything so serious emanating from the butterfly at our side was about as much to be expected as a discourse on theology from a 2-months-old baby. "Many a time," she went on, "I have taken a letter back home, and destroyed it, simply because I was haunted by this idea, and on reading it over more carefully would discover something about it that might have been misconstrued or would stand out forever against me in damaging black and white."

We had never before had the slightest compunction about dashing off our thoughts and feelings and dispatching the written lines with no further thought about them, but we never see a letter box now without thinking of the words of that little friend, and so are taught that serious are preached through an inanimate object, if we only have ears to hear and hearts to receive them.—Philadelphia Times.

FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1893.

MILITARY WASTE.

By our report of the proceedings of the Provisional Legislature yesterday it will be seen that the expenses of the military from January 17 to April 13, 1893, were $38,935.61. This is at the rate of $41.25 a day, or $322,112.50 for the biennial period.

There is a peculiarity of the situation that does not seem to be appreciated by those who desire the law defeated. Should the law be sustained every Chinese who has not registered is liable to be deported to China.

Another Blowhard.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

Mr. George Osborne in the Advertiser of May 9 appears terribly worked up because somebody doesn't cut and slash somebody else into smithereens. He says: "History tells that Hampden, having drawn the sword, threw away the scabbard and never stopped until victory was achieved."

With even less support than the Government has from the first claimed to have in the community, it would require only a small force to watch the public buildings and guard against surprises, for the rest relying on the volunteer forces that, in case of necessity, would probably be more effective, one to five, than the heterogeneous bands now on guard for money only.

The Shin Breakers.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

It is to be hoped that the new Superintendent of Water Works, the Honolulu Road Board, or whoever is the proper authority to attend to the matter, will shift to the edge of the gutter the remainder of those shin-breaking fire plugs that stand in the middle of the pavements.

A Query.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

Perhaps some of your readers can inform me whether Queen Emma or Mrs. Bernice P. Bishop died first.

The Hawaiian Army.

If some one doesn't write a comic opera on the Hawaiian situation the Americans are stupider than The Mail is willing to believe. Look at the latest advice. The army of the Sandwich Islands, that is to say, the provisional guard, was attacked with cold or something similar.

Just think of the consequences. At 1 o'clock of the morning of April 12 two companies of the volunteers were summoned to the barracks occupied by the army. The army had the mulligrubs. When the city of Honolulu, awakened by the tramp of armed hosts, went down to find out what the matter was they found their patriotic defenders in all varieties of doubtful-upness, with a large and growing pain under their respective waistbands.

Nobody died of it and nobody will. Specimens of the food served out to the army were secured for analysis and the next time the steamer comes in from the islands an interested nation will know whether it was jalap, squills, ipecac, or just the Hawaiian equivalent for green apples.

The most painful cases of rheumatism may be relieved by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; its continued use will cure any case, no matter of how long standing. It is equally beneficial for lame back, pain in the side, pain in the chest, lameness, and in all painful affections requiring an external remedy.

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going out, 'We are going out with August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

Hawaiian Hardware Co., Ltd

Saturday, May 6, 1893.

Some time ago, a year perhaps, we made mention in this column of the enormous amount of tourist travel that would pass between the Colonies and the United States this summer and the probable benefits that would be derived from it by Honolulu's business men. Our prophecy has, in the main, proven correct. The passenger lists on the through steamers have been abnormally large and the number of dollars that have dropped into the coffers of the storekeepers would be hard to calculate.

The advance in sugar has added zest to energy of the sugar men and improvements and repairs that should have been made last year will now go on. Land which had been almost abandoned on account of the low price of the product will be cultivated and yield five tons to the acre. We know this has begun from the orders we are receiving for our Hendry Breakers. Managers who bought two or three last year to try, have duplicated their orders this year; two plantations each have ten. These little things prove the superiority of the Hendry Breaker. No plow on the islands has its reputation for strength or effectiveness and we question if another could be made to equal it. If you are a plantation manager and want a really good breaker, try it.

Through the courtesy of Messrs. Hackfeld & Co. we have just set up a steel Aermotor in their yard at the corner of Fort and Queen streets. We had one there before and sold it to two different people before we had time to take it down. Aermotor towers of steel are an innovation here but in the short time they have become popular. The Aermotor, of course, is the only windmill recognized on these islands where wind is variable and often light. Their construction is so perfect that the least wind operates them. For the lawn, plantation or ranch the Aermotor is the cheapest and best known means of obtaining a supply of water. We have them with fixed or tilting towers, wood or steel. The one in Messrs. Hackfeld & Co's, yard is a tilter.

The Mariposa brought us advices of the shipment of a car load of Fischer Steel Ranges right from the factory. The peculiar effect of the climate of the islands upon metals prompted us to have this lot of ranges made of steel just twice the thickness of those formerly sold by us or by any other dealer in ranges in the city. Any one with a fragment of brain can understand that this adds to the life of the stove.

We have greater confidence in these ranges than we have ever had before, because a personal visit to the factory in Indiana last summer enabled us to get improvements without adding to the expense. People who have used a Fischer Range have no hesitation in saying that it heats up quicker and with less fuel than any stove of its size known. In this respect it is economical of coal or wood just as our brand of Refrigerators is economical of ice.

That miserable apology for a sidewalk on Nuuanu street between Beretania and Kukui streets has not yet been repaired. Those parts which are nearly opposite the Japanese Church and also opposite the end of Kukui Lane on the Ewa side of the road are most noticeable for the disgraceful state in which they are at present. Why is the law compelling property owners to keep in the repair the sidewalks fronting their property not enforced?

THE GAINSBOROUGH.

An Old Immigrant Ship—Rough Deal at Newcastle.

The British bark Gainsborough, Captain McPhail, from Newcastle, N. S. W., was telephoned off Diamond Head last night, but did not come into port until this morning, when she was towed in by the tug Elean. The Gainsborough left Newcastle with 1300 tons of coal for Wilder & Co. on March 14th, and passed the north end of New Zealand on the 26th, four days later passing the Kermadec Islands. Passed Kingsmill shoals, where the bark Lady Lampon was wrecked, sixty miles to westward. Crossed the equator on April 18th in the 165th W. In the South Pacific the vessel experienced light E. S. E. and E. S. E. winds which greatly retarded her passage. Captain McPhail states that if it hadn't been for the light winds the Gainsborough would have been here eight days sooner. On April 26th the vessel was only 600 miles from Honolulu to westward, and the captain had to make a circuitous route to gain any headway. On May 8th sighted Kauai bearing S. E. and arrived off port yesterday. The bark was formerly an immigrant ship, plying between England and the Australian Colonies.

The Gainsborough did not sight a single sail throughout the passage, although two four-masted schooners, the Lyman D. Foster and King Cyrus, not yet arrived, left before her bound for this port. The weather was pleasant throughout and there was but very little rain.

The vessel was detained five days in Newcastle after she was ready for sea, owing to a hurricane and a heavy flood which happened as she was about to leave. Much damage was done to the shipping in the harbor. One vessel had her stern smashed in collision with a government dredge which had snapped her moorings. It required five tugs to keep the dredge from doing any more damage. Two Government tugs went to the assistance of the Gainsborough which was moored to a buoy in the stream. During the height of the hurricane Captain McPhail nearly made up his mind to order the lawyers parted, and make an effort to gain the open sea. It was a close shave for the old vessel, and it was the skipper's intention to let her go on the reef outside, where part of her material might have been recovered. Old residents there stated to the captain that it was the heaviest hurricane that they had ever known there. Colonial exchanges confirm the statement.

Captain McPhail is accompanied by his wife and family, who are enjoying the best of health. When seen in the cabin of the vessel the little tots were running around as lively as could be desired.

LAST NIGHT'S ARRESTS.

Gamblers by the Wholesale—More Swipes.

Captain Schlemmer and Patrolman Curtis made a raid on a Chinese gambling house at the corner of Nuuanu and Panahi streets last night. The officers surprised a number of Chinamen in the act of enjoying a quiet game. Four of the gamblers were arrested. One of the men offered the officers $10 as a bribe. This was taken and the men were marched down to the Station.

Officer No. 17 made a descent on a Japanese hotel on Munnakea street, maula of the China Engine house, last night, and arrested five Japanese for gaming.

Another Chinaman was captured by Schlemmer and Hookano with a couple of this of opium.

Round-man Kaapa, armed with a warrant, surprised John Allen at Pawaia, and arrested him with three dozen and a half bottles of swipes, real hot stuff. Allen formerly worked in restaurants, but retired a few months ago, entering the swipe-selling business.

KLEMMER'S CATCH.

He Brings In a Coffee Fiend Early This Morning.

A young native living on Fort street awoke between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and feeling a little hungry decided to go out and have a cup of coffee in a Chinese restaurant near by. He dressed himself and went out, but the restaurant man was not up. The native decided to wait a few minutes and stood near the fence. Presently Captain Klemme of the mounted patrol happened along, and seeing the young man standing in the shadow of the fence, thought there was something wrong. Visions of a conspiracy, a spy or something else floated before the undaunted captain's eye, and in the twinkling of another eye he grabbed the man by the back of the neck and canked him down to the Station House. On examination it was found that the fellow was harmless, and he was let go. The first place the man made for was a coffee saloon.

New Goods at the Temple.

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is indicated especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping coughs, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main, of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never failed of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

JUROR VS. COUNSEL.

Retort Courteous by a Good Man and True.

When the jury was being empaneled in the Circuit Court for the trial of Richard Stone for perverting justice, Mr. J. T. Stacker was called among other good men and true. Mr. Hartwell for the defense excused Mr. Stacker on the ground that he was not acquainted with that gentleman.

On the next case being called Mr. Stacker's name was again drawn. As usual, when the twelve were in the box, they were asked if any of them knew any reason why he should not sit to try the case. After a pause Mr. Stacker rose and blandly remarked: "If your honor please, I do not know of any reason except that I was excused in the previous case because the distinguished counsel for the defense was not acquainted with me, and I have not had the honor of an introduction to him since."

"The distinguished counsel" gazed at him as he said: "Mr. Stacker is excused."

One for Stacker!

BIG FIRE AT WAILUKU.

The Plantation Manager's House Burnt Down.

News has just been received that the residence of the manager of the Wailuku Plantation was burnt down on Wednesday night the 10th inst. The alarm was given about a quarter to twelve at night and the fiery element soon got its work in, the house being completely burnt to the ground. The value of the building is estimated at from $700 to $800. Mr. C. B. Wells, the new manager, had started to remove his furniture into the house and he loses property worth about $800. The cause of the fire is at present unknown, but there are rumors of frebugs having been about.

THROWN FROM A WAGON.

Painful Accident to a Chinaman This Morning.

A Chinaman driving in a wagon met with a rather serious accident near the top of Emma street this morning. He was coming down at a pretty fair gait, when the animal got scared at some noise and bolted. The Chinaman, as is usual with his race, got excited and was unseated and thrown violently to the ground under the horse's heels. One of the front wheels passed over his head, hurting him badly. He was picked up and taken to the Queen's Hospital for medical treatment.

Central Union Church Social.

A social was held by the congregation of Central Union Church in their parlors last night. Misses Rhodes and Dale sang vocal solos, and Mr. Geo. C. Potter gave a recitation. Refreshments, of which the staple was ice cream, were served to a large company.

An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation, on behalf of the congregation, by President Dale to Dr. Beckwith, pastor of a care made from wood out of the departed Fort-street church. Besides the appropriate remarks of the giver and receiver, a humorous speech was made by Mr. T. R. Robinson on the relief.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Hood's Cures

Saved My Wife's Life

Weakness, Nervousness, Salt Rheum.

John W. Jones, Kalamo, Wash.

"Of my own free will and accord, unblinded by anyone, and wishing only to do good to the afflicted, I wish to tell of the good qualities of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills. I think there are no medicines equal to them, and have proved their merit by experience in my own family. My wife, Rachel, has been afflicted with weakness, nervousness, and salt rheum. I spent nearly all that I had of this world's goods for doctor's bills and medicine until we decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It undoubtedly saved my wife from the grave. The salt rheum has entirely healed and she is restored to good health. I have many friends and relatives in the east who will be glad to know that."

JUSTICE VS. JINGOISM.

By Jas. F. Morgan.

Strong and Sensible Words from Minneapolis.

In the Minneapolis Times of April 20 is an article that refers to the New York Press as "probably the most insensate and ridiculous partisan sheet in the country," and having been "driven to the verge of frenzy by the abolition of the American protectorate over Hawaii, which was established under the jingo policy of the Harrison administration." The Times quotes a passage from the Press and comments on it as follows:

Fortunately the partisan howlings of this republican sheet will find but little sympathy with conservative and fair-minded people of any party. Even those advocates of the jingo policy who were entirely ready at the beginning of the affair to throw up their hats and hurrah for annexation, without stopping to weigh any of the consequences involved, are now willing to concede that the action of Minister Stevens was hasty and unwise, and that whatever is done in the Hawaiian business should be done decently and in order. The outcry about the "lowering of the flag" is more partisan floundering. If the American flag was where it had no right to be, if it had been hoisted by a Yankee filibuster above the Hawaiian national colors in violation of common justice and international law, the proper thing to do was to "lower" it as promptly as possible. Because Minister Stevens had exceeded his authority and committed a grave blunder, it does not follow that the United States should ratify the reckless act and thereby assume the attitude of a usurper and tyrant toward a weak and defenceless power.

There was never any excuse for the hoisting of the American colors above the Hawaiian flag, nor for precipitate action of any kind. On the contrary, there has been the best reason for avoiding the riot and unseemly haste with which it was sought to consummate a transaction which by a large majority of the people of this country was regarded as cloaking ulterior and unworthy designs. If the proposition to annex Hawaii can be shown to be in line with settled national precedents and maxims to be for the best interests of this country politically as well as commercially, and in the future as well as for the present, and finally, if it is in accordance with the principles of justice as viewed from the standpoint of the Hawaiians themselves, it will be time for us to add these islands to our territory, or take them under our protection.

The trouble with the Harrison administration was that it proceeded upon the principle of annexing the islands first and investigating all these points afterward. Mr. Cleveland's policy is to investigate first, and after all the facts and principles at issue have been fairly ascertained to take such steps as the case may seem to warrant. If this country has been subjected to any humiliation in this transaction the responsibility rests with the last administration. The Hawaiians, according to the most trustworthy information, do not desire annexation, and have not asked for a protectorate. They assert that they have been misrepresented and now appeal to America's sense of justice and honor. In the light that has now been thrown upon the Harrison jingo scheme, the abolition of the protectorate and the lowering of the United States flag was the only logical and consistent course. If we are to hold any international relations with Hawaii, its people must have a government of their own with which we can treat. As long as our protectorate continued we would simply have been treating with ourselves. It would have been a case of the United States in America conducting negotiations with its own representatives in Hawaii, in reference to a subject which it had already virtually settled.

The people of the United States want no such mockery as this. It is not at all certain that they want the islands. But if they do, they will get them in a regular, clean and decent way and after it has been thoroughly demonstrated that it is to our interest to have them. This government is not in the protectorate business and is not going about settling the quarrels of disaffected peoples and at the same time on countries whose internal dissensions seem to invite the attention of filibusters and annexationists. If the jingo policy advocated by the New York Press were the correct one, the United States government would be able to find constant employment among our testy and turbulent neighbors in South and Central America. If the Harrison and New York Press policy toward Hawaii is the correct thing, we ought at once to proceed to establish a protectorate over Honduras, now in the throes of one of its periodical revolutions, preparatory to gobbling up the country later by the process known as annexation.

President Cleveland has justified the country's confidence in his good judgment and high sense of honor by the sensible, just and logical position he has taken on this question. The policy he has adopted is in harmony with our national tradition and character, and with the sentiment of all Americans who have a decent regard for the dignity and honor of the government.
