MOST WONDERFUL TREE

IT GREW WITH MARVELOUS RAPIDITY UNWATCHED.

Slip Came from Samoa and Cost But Two Bits—Made a Fortune for Its Lucky Owner.

(Contributed companion piece to the Advertiser's item "Wonderful Puhala Tree.")

In the month of February 1889, Mr. Kimo Kanakaole, a venerable Hawaiian residing at Waikiki, Oahu, purchased a twenty-five cent Samoan dwarf cocconut tree, which he planted near his little grass hut on the sands. Being a fisherman he found it necessary to follow his vocation day by day and consequently was unable to put in the time for the first year or two watching the progress of its growth, as did the Puhala old lady. But the cocconut tree seemed to grow amazingly well without any watching. In three years it attained a sufficient height to shade his humble cot and then in accordance with ancient custom, he chopped two or three holes in the trunk of the tree and placed in each hole a cobble stone. In a very short time the tree began to blossom and bear and its boughs and trunk top were loaded with cocconuts, iron pots, calabashes and fish nets—all of which, however, did not come from the cocconut blossoms, but as Kanakaole's prosperity increased these were plucked as well as the cocconuts and disposed of. The tree, notwithstanding the variety of its bearing at first, proved to be very prolific in nuts, and ere long the fortunate owner was enabled to replace his humble cot with a fine two storied frame house to which he has added a fine dairy, where his cocconuts are milked and from which he supplies milk to a large number of the prominent residents, as well as the New Hotel at Waikiki. It has been discovered that drinking the milk from cocconuts has all the exhilarating effect without the bad name of other intoxicants and the manager of the Waikiki says that it is just as well that they would not give him a $1,000 license, that it tastes just as well from a cocconut shell and, in fact, some of his society customers seem to like it better that way. It is stated that Mr. Kanakaole has a contract for his cocconut milk to supply the hotel for one year.

In addition to this the tree supplies large quantities of copra which he exports to Germany and from the broad stems and leaves he has furnished the covering for most of the lanais at Waikiki.

It is learned that Mr. Kanakaole is thinking of sending a proposal of marriage to the lady of the Puhala tree.

A SILVER CATECHISM

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS BY AN ADVOCATE.

Free Coinage Idea Favorably Presented—Demonetization and Its Effects—"Mint the Bullion."

(W. H. Harvey in the Bimetallist.)
What is bimetallism?
The equal legal treatment of the two metals, gold and silver, as money at a given ratio of coinage.

What is meant by 16 to 1?
That in coining the two metals into money, 16 ounces of silver are to be deemed equal to one ounce of gold.

What is the present ratio of silver and gold bullion?
It is about 30 to 1.

What has caused the divergence between the coin and the bullion value of silver?
The demonetization of silver in 1873 by this country and some of the nations of Europe.

Why was silver demonetized?
It was demonetized because of the desire to limit the supply of money, to make money dearer, thus increase its purchasing power and, therefore, to the advantage of money dealers, bondholders, creditor classes and those having fixed incomes.

Was not the demonetization of silver in 1873 due to its overproduction as compared with gold?
It was not due to the over production of silver, because for many years prior to 1873 the world's production of gold had been about three times as great as that of silver, and in 1873 silver bullion was at a premium of 3 per cent over gold.

How does the world's production of gold and silver for the last 100 years compare with each other?
Between the years 1792 and 1892 the world's production of gold exceeded that of silver about $600,000,000.

What is the ratio of the two metals as they exist by weight in the world today available for money?
It is about 15 2-3 to 1, which means that there are only about sixteen times as many tons of silver in the world available for money as there are tons of gold.

What, therefore, is the natural ratio between silver and gold?
Sixteen to one is the natural ratio between silver and gold bullion, and would manifestly be the present commercial ratio had not there been legal interference.

To whose advantage is it that nations have been induced to adopt the gold standard?
To the advantage of all creditor nations, especially England. Two hundred million people now use gold alone as redemption money, who in 1873 used both gold and silver; hence the constant rise in the power of gold (and the money based on gold) which rise shows itself in the fall of prices of commodities.

If we had free coinage of silver would not this country become the dumping ground for silver from all nations?
There are, it is supposed, about four billion dollars of silver coin and bullion in the world, and if all of this should come here it would only give the United States a per capita of about $58, which is only a little more than we had of all kinds of money in the North at the close of the war when times were exceedingly prosperous. France today has nearly this amount of money per capita, and is one of the most prosperous countries in the world.

What is there to prevent this silver from coming to our mints for coinage?
There are three conclusive reasons: First—Other nations have no more silver than they now need; second, Europe annually uses about twice as much silver as she produces, and, thirdly, the great bulk of silver now in existence is already coined at ratios more favorable to silver than 16 to 1, some being 15 to 1, and some 15 1/2 to 1.

If silver coin should not come to our mints for recoinage, would not Europe continue as at present to depress the price of silver bullion?
North and South America produce 75 per cent of all the silver now being produced in the world and ten times as much as Europe does, so that the United States and the other countries of the western continent could easily control the price of silver bullion regardless of other nations.

Why did not more silver into our silver dollar so as to make the bullion and face values equal?
Because this disagreement is due to adverse legislation, which, when, corrected, will restore the parity by reducing the demand for gold and increasing the demand for silver. Besides we would be foolish to undervalue our own products. By right we should demand 15 1/2 instead of 16 to 1.

If silver should come to our mints for coinage faster than their present capacity, would not that prevent the full rise in the price of silver bullion?
The capacity of our mints could easily be enlarged to meet all demands.

Will not the people object to using so much silver on account of its bulk?
Silver certificates, as now used, will easily float all the silver that may be presented.

Would there be vault room for the storage of so much silver?
All the silver coin and bullion in the world could be put in a room sixty-six feet square. Silver being, like gold, a precious metal, all the gold coin and bullion in the world can be put in a room twenty-two feet square and twenty-two feet high, which shows how easily it may be "cornered."

Would not the free coinage of silver so stimulate the production at the mines as to create a flood of the white metal?
The annual output of gold and silver is small and is hardly 5 per cent of the present supply, so that it would take twenty years before the present amount of the metals is doubled, and that would not more than keep pace with the increase of population and wealth of the world, and especially not of the United States.

What then, is really the only problem that we as a nation have to solve regarding the free coinage of silver?
We have practically only to take care of and absorb our share of the annual production of silver, which is for the whole world only about 5 per cent of the present available supply.

How would silver get into circulation under free coinage?
Under free coinage the owner of silver bullion would take it to the mint and have it coined into dollars. With these dollars he would pay his employees, purchase his supplies, pay his taxes, debts and other expenses. The persons thus receiving them would in like manner pay their debts and liabilities and meet their expenses. Thus it would make its rounds and find its way through the entire community. Not only would it at once enter into circulation, but it would have the effect of bringing a large amount of money into use that is now lying idle. As silver floated out into the channels of trade it would raise prices and stimulate business. When prices rise money always comes from its hiding places for investment. When property is going up men will buy it, expecting to reap a profit from the rise. When prices advance — when property becomes dearer — it means that money is getting cheaper. This explains why it is that in seasons of falling prices and business stagnation there always seems to be a superabundance of money. That is, a large amount of idle money for which there is no use.

It ought to be apparent that if silver bullion cannot be coined, it is utterly impossible for it to get into circulation. If it can be coined there is at least a chance for us all to get some of it. Let us take that chance.

FREE SILVER MEANING

NOTED ECONOMIST AGAINST THE WHITE METAL.

Replies to a Host of Contentions and Claims—Values—Definitions—Clear Conclusion.

(Edward Atkinson in the Independent)

I am asked to write a short article for the Independent which shall give the answers to the arguments of the free silver advocates in sharp, clear words. That I will try to do in plain terms. What I have to say about methods and persons applies only to the men who are trying to force a coin at its nominal value in place of its real value upon the mass of the people under false pretenses.

For the first time in the history of this country, and I believe of any other, the Bland Act provided for the forced circulation of standard silver dollars at their "nominal value." In every other act and deed of this country the value of a coin has been established by its weight and not by its name. In the legal provisions for the rating of coins at the Custom House, the value at which they are to be estimated is determined wholly by the weight of pure silver or pure gold which there is in them.

A demand is now made on the part of the owners of silver mines and their supporters in Congress for the free coinage dollars made of silver at the ratio of sixteen pounds of silver to one pound of gold.

One pound of gold bullion can now be exchanged in the open market for over thirty pounds of silver bullion. The value of the silver in a standard dollar fixed according to the practice of the United States in determining the value of foreign coins at the time this letter is written is fifty-three cents. The silver bullion in this country comes very largely from the mines in which the parties are interested who are now trying to force the price of this bullion from fifty-three cents up to a hundred cents. The very fact that they have continued to mine, smelt and sell silver bullion at fifty to fifty-three cents in the open market, proves that it costs them less than fifty cents on a dollar to produce it. I now propose to prove that this demand for free coinage is based on a false pretense. It is not what these men want. It would not serve their purpose if it were granted. It is put forward in order to conceal the real object of their effort. In order to make this proof complete we must first define the meaning of words.

1. What is coin?
2. What is coinage?
3. What is free coinage?
4. Why does the Government forbid private coinage?

1. Coins are round pieces of bullion stamped with figures and words on both sides, to which a name is given by law.
2. Coinage is the manufacture of these round pieces, or disks, of bullion of uniform weight and fineness or quality.
3. Free coinage is the making of coins in a public coin factory called a mint, at the cost of the taxpayers and without cost to those who bring the bullion to the mint.
4. The Government forbids private coinage in order that the weight and quality of the metal in the coin shall be just and true, so that no man may be cheated by coins of light weight, or bad quality or counterfeits.

With these definitions the words "coin," "coinage" and "free coinage" are exhausted. There is nothing more in them.

Then what is the reason why men who mine, smelt or own gold or silver bullion should not take either to the mint and supply themselves with all the coin they want? If any man can find any good reason why not, I for one should be glad to know what that reason is.

If any advocate of the free coinage of silver dollars or copper dollars or iron dollars at any ratio, 16 to 1 more or less, will agree to stop there and ask nothing more, I for one am prepared to meet him and in that way to stop the present contest. Who would want them? Not one of these men will consent to free coinage on those terms. Not one of them will be satisfied. Not one of them would then get what he is after under the pretext that free coinage and "equal rights of gold and silver" is all that he wants. I challenge anyone to find an advocate of free coinage at 16 to 1 on these simple terms, that both gold and silver should be treated alike; that gold and silver coins shall be made for any one who takes the bullion to the mint to any number that he wants. Who will accept that offer without conditions? I challenge any advocate of free coinage to deny that free coinage, pure and simple, is not what he demands, and not one of them will dare to meet this challenge.

This demand for free coinage is a cover intended to conceal the true purpose of those who seek it. Most of those who support this measure have been deceived and misled. Let such men put the question to any owner of silver mines, to any Senator or Representative in Congress or to any and every candidate on the free coinage platform in the following terms:

"If we grant free or unlimited coinage, without charge for the coining, will you be content and will you demand nothing more?" Not a man who knows what the true purpose is will answer "Yes" to that question. Let your readers try this.

If this question is evaded and if the reply is "No," then the popular phrase "Free coinage at 16 to 1" is a fraud, used and intended to cover another object or purpose. What is that purpose?

We may assume that Mr. F. G. Newlands, Member of Congress from Nevada, who was chosen to make the opening speech at the late silver convention (not the Populist) in St. Louis, is entitled to declare what the purpose of the advocates of free coinage really is. These are his words:

"Our purpose simply is, by increasing the coinage and use of silver and by giving it equal privileges with gold, to raise its value, and by diminishing the strain on gold which gold monometallism has caused, to take away its unjust appreciation, and thus by pulling up the value of silver and pulling down the value of gold, to restore the old ratio so that sixteen ounces of silver will be worth (in bullion as well as in coin) one ounce of gold. Thus the old unit of value—the dollar—based on both metals instead of one, will be restored, and we shall have a gold dollar worth 100 cents in silver and a silver dollar worth 100 cents in gold."

Mark these words, "Our purpose is to raise the value of silver." Mr. Newland's clients must now be able to produce silver at less than seventy cents an ounce, else they would not continue to send it to market at that price, at the rate of over thirty million dollars per year, bullion value. The purpose of Mr. Newlands and his clients is "to raise its value," that is to make people estimate silver at $1.294 an ounce. How does he propose to do it? Simply "by increasing the coinage and use of silver and by giving it equal privileges with gold." Let the mints be offered simply open to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and leave the people free to use it or not on equal privileges with gold—then Mr. Newlands and his clients would scout at the offer and would themselves be forced to declare that they intended and expected to raise the value of silver for their own profit only by forcing people to take it at one dollar and twenty-nine cents an ounce, whether they wanted it or not.

Now an act might be passed opening the mints to the free and unlimited coinage of both silver dollars and gold dollars, coupled with a legal-tender act to the effect that all persons might make their contracts in terms of gold dollars, and that in such event gold dollars only should be paid and received. That is their right now, and Mr. Stewart, the Senator from Nevada, lends money on mortgages on these terms.

To this clause might be added one enabling any and every man to make contracts for future payments in terms of silver dollars, as any one has the right to do now who pleases, and that silver dollars should be a legal tender, or be paid and received only in the liquidation of such contracts. But ignorant or uninformed people would be apt to continue to agree to work for wages, to buy and sell their labor, to make bargains for their small crops and their small products, naming dollars only, without saying which kind, not being aware of any possible difference between one dollar and another. It is this class of persons whom Mr. Newlands and his confederates would defraud by forcing them under a legal tender act to take the bad dollar at one hundred cents, which costs only fifty, while depriving them of the right to claim the best dollar that can be made, which is the dollar that they need more than any other class of persons.

TURN ON THE X RAYS.

This is an age of light. In utter defiance of the mossy old theories we now photograph the coins inside of a pocketbook and the bones in living bodies. Similarly the light of intelligence shines upon certain antiquated notions in medicine. The intellectual X rays have shown the fallacy of the idea that sick people had no alternative but to choke down mixtures of Cod Liver Oil—or die. The wonderful success of Wampole's Preparation disproves all that. Here is a medicine made from Fresh Livers containing to the full all the virtues of Cod Liver Oil—the very essence and potency of it—without a sign to indicate its presence. The most sensitive palates fail to detect the nauseous, yet valuable old drug; yet it is here to nourish, strengthen, build up and cure. In Throat and Lung troubles, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and Blood diseases, it acts as sunlight and air do on dying vegetation. Combined in the preparation are the Extracts of Wild Cherry and Malt and other constituents which contribute to the noble result. That both physicians and sufferers should therefore hold this article as worthy of modern science is no more than was to be expected. It got the praise because it does the work. Genuine has trade mark. Sold by all druggists.

The steamship Aztec, now discharging her coal cargo at the Pacific Mail wharf, will sail for San Francisco on Tuesday next, the 29th.

The Hawaiian bark Rosalie, late Don Adolphe, Capt. Nissen, has been chartered to bring a coal cargo from Newcastle, N. S. W., for Honolulu.

The Ladas will proceed to the Sound after discharging her cargo. She will likely load wheat or salmon there for the United Kingdom or the continent.

The bark Matilda and barkentine Amelia are both laying in the stream awaiting dock room at Allen & Robinson's wharf, now occupied by the Ceylon.

The fine lefty masts of the Likelike have been cut down some ten feet. Though she will be more serviceable this way it somewhat spoils her fine rakish appearance.

The City of Peking and the Australia both fall due on Monday from San Francisco. The latter vessel is expected, by her agents, to arrive on the afternoon of that day.

The schooner Lala went out to the Gainsborough yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, taking with her another large pump. When the Lala has been loaded with coal, probably the vessel will be floated.

There is activity on the Oceanic wharf. The ship Troop is taking in sugar in her fore and after hatches, and discharging ballast from her main hatch. She will have speedily dispatch for New York.

The barks Seladon and Colusa, Capt. Kalk, are both on their way from Newcastle, N. S. W., with coal cargoes for this port. The former is 75 days out today, and may be expected at any time; the latter is 33 days out today and has on board 1750 tons of coal.

Messrs. Burns, Philp & Co. have been advised that the steamer Yamashiro Maru, the pioneer boat of the Japanese mail line, is to leave Yokohama on October 3, for Sydney via Kobe, Hongkong, Thursday Island and Brisbane, returning by the same route.

The S. G. Wilder has hauled over to the Mikahala wharf and is discharging a heavy vacuum pump for the Honolulu Sugar Company, besides other pieces of machinery. This completes her inward freight, and she took in a lot of sugar brought down on the Hall for C. Brewer & Co.

Sydney News: The bark Candida, which has just arrived at Newcastle from South Africa, recently had an eventful voyage from Tacoma to Capetown. While off Cape Horn, and during a spell of extremely heavy weather, the Candida fell in with the bark Belpore, partially dismantled, and in a sinking condition. After a terrific fight with the elements, and at no small risk to themselves, a boat's crew from the Candida effected the rescue of twenty-one of the Belpore's crew, one having been previously washed overboard and drowned. A peculiar coincidence in connection with these two vessels is the fact that the mate of the Candida was second mate of that of the Belpore on the trip previous to that on which she was lost, and the first man to welcome the captain of the Belpore on board the Candida was his old second mate of the previous voyage.

NOT YET.

Time Scarcely Ripe for Speed of 100 Miles an Hour.

The annual report of the Massachusetts railroad commission does not give much aid or comfort to the people who are advocating the running of railroad trains at 100 miles an hour speed. In discussing the claims made that electricity renders that speed practical the report says:

"With respect to speed, extraordinary claims are made by those interested in the development of electrical traction; but there is no question that the steam locomotive is fully capable of developing as high a speed as it is desirable or prudent to use. A railroad speed of 100 miles or more an hour is, for the present purpose, a matter of merely curious speculation. It cannot be shown that there is enough traffic demanding this speed to pay the excessive expense of operating, even if with present methods of construction and equipment it were otherwise at all practicable. Before any such speed is seriously thought of there must be radical improvement in safety appliances, as, for example, in brakes and in signals. Whatever the proposed rate of speed, the question of signals becomes at once of importance, since, with the adoption of electricity, all systems of electric signaling which depend upon the use of the rail circuit must be modified or abandoned.

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your inquiry as to how the Ideal Roof Paint you sold me lasted; I would say that I painted the roof of my house 12 months ago with your Red Ideal Roof Paint, and I find it is as fresh and bright in appearance today as when first applied; looking as well as others lately painted with other paints. I am more than satisfied J. G. ROTHWELL.

Have you a leaky gutter? If you have, make it perfectly clean and dry, apply a good coat of No. 3 P. and B. Paint over the leaky spots; then take a piece of stout Manila paper, or a piece of common cotton cloth, paint it well on both sides; lay it over the first coat, giving the whole a final coat, and there will be no more leak there. Or if the whole gutter is bad, make it clean and dry, and apply a paste of P. & B. Paint and Portland Cement

(Concluded from First Page.)

The supporters of the gold standard ask no privilege. They want no act of force. The value of gold is the same after a gold coin is melted as it is in the coin. The best definition of true money ever given is that of Henri Carnaud, the ablest bimetalist of these late times:

"It is by the ordeal of fire that money may be tried. The coins which, being melted down, retain the entire value for which they were legal tender before they were melted down, are good money. Those which do not retain it are not good money."

He, however, held that all coin, both of gold and silver, gets its monetary power or force from acts of legal tender. At that point comes the contest between fiat money and true or good money. There is no act of legal tender in the international commerce of the world, which amounts to eighteen thousand million dollars a year. Gold bars certified in the mint often have preference over coin for the remittance of money from one country to another. Bills of exchange are mostly drawn in pounds sterling. There is no lawful coin of that name. Even in England the equivalent is a coin lawfully named a sovereign. But neither a bill of exchange or a contract in pounds sterling can be paid or discharged except by weight. Whoever holds a Bank of England note for five pounds is entitled to five times 113.0016 grains of gold. When these notes are presented at the Bank for any considerable amount, the coins are not counted but are weighed to him. If there are sovereigns of light weight among them, they are not pounds sterling. They cannot be forced upon him; they are rejected, marked or broken, and sent back to the mint to be re-coined.

Mr. Newlands says, in fact: "Only give us the power to force our silver dollars, which will cost us fifty cents each, more or less, in gold, upon you at a 'nominal value' (following the words of the Bland Act) of one hundred and twenty-nine cents and a fraction; and by this act of force we will bring all the silver which is now coined, all the bullion lying idle, and the whole increasing product of the world, up to the standard of the pound sterling or the gold dollar." The world now values this bullion at a trifle over one-half. Any one can buy Mexican silver dollars, Spanish dollars and Japanese yens, or dollars, heavier than our own at fifty cents each, or a trifle more. Mr. Newlands says: "Delegate to us the power to force these dollars upon the people of the United States at their 'nominal value,' and we will raise the value of the silver bullion of the world to a parity with gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, when it is now about 30 to 1."

If the question were put, as it is hereby put to Mr. F. G. Newlands, "Will you accept an act of the free coinage of silver dollars and leave every man in the community free to choose what kind of a dollar he will be paid in, gold or silver, when he is receiving payment for his goods, his wages or his earnings," what will Mr. Newland's reply be? He must of necessity reply: "No, we will not give any man a free choice. We cannot attain our purpose without force. We propose to deprive every man in the community of his personal liberty to make his contracts according to his own will. We will not even permit special contracts in gold coin. In addition to a free coinage act we demand a law by which the United States shall delegate its force to us, and shall endow us with the power to mine silver which now costs us less than sixty or seventy cents an ounce or fifty cents on a dollar, to have it coined at the cost of the taxpayers free of charge to us, and then to give us the power to force the whole community to take these coins at their 'nominal value' of one hundred and twenty-nine cents and a fraction an ounce, on penalty of losing their whole claim if they do not accept this legal tender." He must of necessity say in reply to this question: "Our purpose is to raise the market value of silver throughout the world from its present price to about double that price. We can only do this by force of law. We therefore demand not only free coinage but an act of legal tender by which we can exercise that force." This demand reminds one of the plea of the slaveholder who justified slavery on the ground that the blacks were better off and happier than they ever could be as free men. Mr. Newlands says to the workmen of this country, as the slaveholders said to their slaves: "You do not know the difference between good money and bad money; let us supply you with money which is now bad, but trust us to better it. We will coin our own bullion. We will buy all the Mexican bullion. Our bankers will import silver from Australia which, according to the public reports of great silver mines, costs them less than ours costs us. We will have all this bullion made into coins at your expense, as you pay the taxes. We will then force you to take what is bad money at its 'nominal value' of $1.29, an ounce. True, we shall then make one hundred per cent more or less profit for a time for ourselves. We can then work up all our low grade ores which do not pay us now to smelt. We will increase our product from what it now is at its nominal value, about thirty million dollars a year, to double the quantity, as we did two or three years ago, when, at our demand and by our votes in Congress, the United States Government was forced to increase its demand debt in order to buy from us all the bullion that we could mine each year. Nearly all that they have bought of us under the Sherman Act now lies dead and useless in the vaults of the treasury, uncoined and unwanted. We have already, under the Bland and Sherman Acts, by our votes and our influence increased the debt of the United States nearly five hundred million dollars, and you have submitted to our demand. We now ask for more power to tax you for our own profit. Upon you will fall the taxes when that debt is paid. All we now ask of you is to give up your own free choice of money, to deprive yourselves of the right of free contract, and to let us deal with you as the slaveholders dealt with their slaves. Under that pretext we say to ourselves: 'You shall work for our benefit. You shall give us all the profit. You shall take all the risk, and we will force you to this end. We will lend our own profits on mortgages payable in gold, as our Senator from Nevada does now. We will buy your land and make our rents payable only in gold, as our State Governors do now. We will keep the reserves of all our own banks in the silver states in gold coin, as we do now. We will take no risk ourselves. We know very well what is good money and what is bad money; but you do not. We will bring a heavier sweat on the brow of laborers, as we make them work harder for their daily bread; and we will bind upon the backs of the workmen a double load, as we drive them by force of law to carry the heavy cross of bad money for our profit.'

"Beware the Greeks when they come with gifts."

Mrs. E. E. Davis of San Miguel, Cal., says: "I am trying in a measure to repay the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the great good their remedy has done me. For years I was a constant sufferer from weak lungs and bronchial asthma. My rest at night was disturbed by a hacking cough, so that I felt miserable the greater part of the time. Many remedies recommended by friends were tried, none of which proved suitable to my case. I did not experience any beneficial results until I began taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After two bottles of the large size have been used I am pleased to state, my health is better than it has been for years. The soreness has left my lungs and chest and I can breathe easily. It has done me so much good that I want all who are suffering from lung troubles, as I was, to give it a trial. For sale by all druggists and dealers. BULLETS WEAR OUT RIFLES. There is one thing, says the New York Sun, which users of the new high velocity of 30-caliber have to consider, and that is the effect of the copper or nickel jacket on the grooves of the rifle. A bullet that leaves the muzzle of a rifle at a velocity of 2000 feet a second is so wearing on the rifling, especially near the muzzle, that the accuracy of even the hardest bored rifles is seriously impaired inside of 12,000 shots at the most. The lead bullets, or those but slightly hardened with a mixture of tin, do not wear the barrels to the same extent, and the weapons last far longer.

THINK IT OVER. Have you ever heard of a medicine with such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla? Don't you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one True Blood Purifier, has proved, over and over again, that it has power to cure, even after all other remedies fail? If you have impure blood you may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that it will do you good.

THE YELLOW RACES.

M. Schrader, in the Revue de Paris, writes upon the danger from the yellow races to the world at large. In the essay he fails or declines to separate the Chinese and Japanese, but devotes most of his attention to the Chinese. He says the outside world knows no more of China than does the Chinaman of the outside world. He strength, he asserts, lies in her immutability and he quotes that it would be easier to bind the ocean with chains than to act on the Chinese nation. Finally, M. Schrader offers the conclusion that China will never be touched by any present European missionary system for the reason that the Chinaman "is thoroughly satisfied with everything in his own country and above all with his curious rarified form of religion; and he is not even swayed by anxiety as to what goes on outside his own yellow world. On the contrary, he has a profound contempt for everything foreign." The French writer had expressed his opinions before the tour of Li Hung Chang, which is little less than an epoch, and which indicates the beginning of a slow, but certain change in China.

A NEW PHASE.

There is an interesting study by Theodore Roosevelt on the three vice-presidential candidates in the current Review of Reviews. For a long period prior to the time of the selection of Whitelaw Reid to be the running mate of Mr. Blaine, not a great deal of attention was paid the tail of the ticket. The selection was for many years a mere matter of expediency. The honor was a sop to wounds of disappointment of the smaller sort, but important in a campaign. Not infrequently the choice of a man of means and vanity was so open as to be almost scandalous. Mr. Roosevelt does not touch on these matters, however. His introduction is a historical analysis. He cites that the original intent was for the electoral college to make the candidate or nominee receiving the second highest number of votes the Vice President. The incongruity of this was soon noted. It was a distrust of party politics or government that was not warranted. It put a strangely assorted pair at the head of the administration—that is counting that the Vice President is part of the head. Theory and practice were very soon suspended, though given a fair trial. There is always the likelihood of the death of the President, in which case, in the United States, he is succeeded by the vice. In the instances so far, of Lincoln, Garfield and one or two before, the reserve man has been entirely safe and satisfactory. The death of the man who may be selected in November in the Big Republic is a contingency upon which Mr. Roosevelt dwells at some length. He points out especially that either Mr. Sewall or Mr. Watson would be an absurdity in the White House. The former, considering the men fairly on their records and accomplishments would be a non-entity, while Watson, with his anarchistic ideas and his fanatical tenacity of conviction, would be a danger. Mr. Hobart, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, is a man of parts. Were he called to be chief executive he would command the confidence of all the people and his ability would be equal to the office. The article by Mr. Roosevelt, taken regardless of partisan politics, demonstrates or establishes very firmly that both Democrats and Populists were unfortunate and unhappy in selecting their second place men. This magazine article should have great weight with thinking people who hesitate a trifle before deciding how they will vote.

Hawaii has no vice president, though of course there is provision for succession in the event of removal from office by any cause of the President. In the old Provisional Government of the Islands, following on the heels of the Monarchy, there was such an office. It was filled with credit by Senator W. C. Wilder, one of the strongest men in public life here. He was a member of the constitutional convention of the then proposed Republic and in his brief and forceful way, which is usually very convincing, said that according to his light and experience, this country could get along very well without a vice president, and it was so ordained.

THE RISING GENERATION.

In most states and countries the question of disposing of, providing for or placing, after educating, the youth of the land applies to but a few in numbers and is present as a problem that is not remarkably difficult of solution. Sometimes it is treated as a sociological and sometimes as an industrial subject. Here in Hawaii it is both, and here in Hawaii it is very deep. It is a depth that does not invite contemplation but rather forces and insists upon it. There are men and women who should be devoting best thought and energy to the matter who simply disregard it. But the policy of inattention must soon be supplanted by effort earnest and serious. There are now in these Islands about 12,000 of children of school age. What are they to do after their days of exclusively seeking for knowledge shall have passed. Hawaii is growing, but she is not expanding rapidly in the way of gaining a diversity of industries. These latter, only, make the callings into which the youth ready for the careers of life may be enlisted. That varied industries make a world of opportunity is a foundation principle. They do not exist in Hawaii. The field then for the young man or woman from school is circumscribed to such narrow limit as to be discouraging and appalling. There are chances only for a very few in proportion to the number who will apply and who have the right to so small a privilege as equality in contest of brains and skill. One desiring to evade might suggest emigration. This means going to the United States. That is a big territory, but it is congested. It has its stream of newcomers landing on the Atlantic shore and it is a disturbed country with little prospect of complete harmony for some years, no matter which political party is in control. Hawaii will confess incapacity and will be unjust and short sighted if she fails to take care of her own rising generation. She is not of the sort to fit and furnish citizens for other lands. These islands are capable of supporting a very large population of the Anglo-Saxon race as well as a proper proportion of those of other nations who may wish to make homes within her shores. But there must be further view and more serious consideration than seem to exist at present. Let the policy of expansion, which has its genesis in diversified industries, be adopted. Then and only then will opportunity be given the ones now in the schools. There must be more rapid development, more aggressive growth. It is of ill portend when educated young men and women belonging to Hawaii can be offered only a poor position with only the remotest prospect of an advancement such as faithfulness and talent should guarantee.

SUPPOSED TO BE FUNNY.

(Mavericked.) "When Smith died it was discovered that he had't a cent's worth of life insurance," said Jones to his wife. "Poor Mrs. Jones," she said, sympathetically, "and they're all selling taffeta silk now at half price." Jones canceled his policy an hour later.

It is not always that we can have the pleasure of talking good stoves to our customers for the simple reason that the stoves do not remain long enough in our store rooms to give us time to speak of them—they speak for themselves. The Model St. Clair wood stove is one of the best stoves that it been our good fortune to handle. The fire grate is exceptionally spacious and will admit of extra thick and long pieces of timber. There is a clear straight draft running over the oven and back to the hot water tank thus giving you an ample supply of hot water for either washing or drinking purposes without any additional fuel being required. This stove is a four hole, handsomely embellished. Price $50

To those who desire something on a little larger scale we can recommend our Golden Anvil Ranges, in two sizes Price $50 and $65. It is especially useful in large families, boarding houses, clubs, etc. This range is built on the most approved principles for rapid cooking and convenience. At the back and above the stove is a large shelf running the entire width of the stove where can be placed articles that you wish to keep warm. The pipe passes up through the center of this shelf thus insuring a good steady heat at all times. Our Crystal Tubular Lantern with glass container and side lift is something out of the ordinary in quality although the price $1 is very much within the ordinary.

Ripans Tabules

Mr. L. A. Rocher is a farmer residing about three miles out of Colon, N. C. His home is somewhat in the back woods. In an interview with Mr. S. T. Godfrey, a correspondent of the Telegram and Sunday Times, Mr. Rocher on the 17th of June, 1895, said: "I am 61 years of age, and until I was nigh onto fifty years old, I was always well and peart, then for a long while and until last February, I suffered with indigestion and could not eat anything hardly at all. My daughter, who lives in the city, sent me some of Ripans Tabules, told me how to take them, and and they have completely cured me. My wife is now troubled with the same complaint, and has written daughter to send some more of Mr. Ripan's medicine. I want you to tell everybody how I got cured, for it is a blessing to humanity. (Signed) L. A. ROCHER.

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to the Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce st, New York. Sample vial 10 cents.

Hawaiian Electric Company.

The cleanest, brightest safest and really, in the long run, the cheapest and best light for use in the family residence, is the incandescent electric light. Safe; nothing could be safer. A few days ago a prominent gentleman of Honolulu came rushing down to the office of the Electric Company and said: "Give me figures for wiring my house, and I want it done at once; no more lamps for me. Last night a lamp tipped over and it came so near setting fire to the house and burning my children and I take no more risks." This is the sentiment of quite a number in the past few weeks, who have ordered their houses fitted with the perfect light. Just think it over and make up your mind that you want the best and safest light; send for the Hawaiian Electric Company and tell them what you want. We have a complete stock of everything in this line and have just received a lot of the very latest designs in chandeliers.

HONOR OF VICTORIA, R. I.

THE SOCIAL AND DANCE AT INDEPENDENCE PARK.

Observing the Long Tenure of Britain's Queen—Fine Music—Brilliantly Decorated—The Managers.

Nearly three hundred persons attended the grand social and ball given by the Sons of St. George at Independence Park Friday evening in honor of the fact that Queen Victoria had been privileged by Providence to reign longer than any other British ruler in history. Guests began to arrive as early as 7:30 and by 8 o'clock the pavilion was comfortably filled. Special cars were run after 7 o'clock.

The decorations were the most elaborate and beautiful seen at the Park in a long time. Beginning on either side of the entrance and extending all around the dance hall were palms and ferns in great numbers, arranged in the most handsome fashion. British, Hawaiian and United States and other flags and signals and maille enwrapped the surrounding columns, and colors were draped over the doorways, music stand and various places around the hall. In the center of the hall, overhead, was a handsome mammoth globe of bright flowers, from which streamers of green shot out to the sides.

The electrical effects were very pretty. Mr. Theo. Hoffman had the personal supervision of them, and as a result the pavilion was brilliantly illuminated. Over the entrance to the dining hall, Waikiki end, were the letters "V. R." in colored lights. In front of the band stand was a fine portrait of her majesty, Queen Victoria, surrounded by the British colors and a beautiful arrangement of floral effects. This was one of the most charming centers of the house.

At 8 o'clock the grand march began. The music was excellent. This was followed by lancers, after which all joined in singing "God Save the Queen." Refreshments in abundance were served at intermission. Dancing was kept up to an early hour this morning.

The committees in charge of the affair, with J. F. Reynolds as chairman and secretary were:

General—G. S. Harpis, Sr., W. Lishman, George L. Dall, R. Lishman, Geo. S. Harris, Jr., W. H. Pain, J. C. Cook, W. W. Wright, W. H. Baird, F. Barwick, J. E. Westbrook, Thomas Rain Walker and E. B. Thomas.

Reception—George L. Dall, G. S. Harris, J. C. Cook, W. H. Pain, R. Lishman, W. W. Wright and W. H. Baird.

Refreshments—Mesdames T. R. Walker, S. C. Allen, Mackintosh, W. W. Wright and G. S. Harris.

Decorations—Charles Lucas, W. F. Reynolds, T. R. Walker, F. Barwick, W. H. Pain, Geo. L. Dall and Mesdames G. E. Boardman, C. Lucas, R. Lishman and V. Ward.

Floor Managers—E. B. Thomas, Fred Weed and J. L. Holt.

Among those present were Thos. Rain Walker, Rev. Alex. Mackintosh and Sir Robert Herron.

The music was pronounced the best heard at a dance this year.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

Barbarous.

Wiping the gore from his glittering weapon the desperate looking young man seized a piece of cloth and removed as well as he could all traces of his horrible work from the face of his victim. Then he straightened himself up, pushed the unhappy wretch away from him and in a voice of thunder called out: "Next!"

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE

A SUFFERER FROM ACUTE DYSPEPSIA OBTAINS IT.

He Had Been Forced to Quit Business and Was Hopelessly Discouraged When Help Came.

From the Amherst (Canada) Sentinel. Mr. Chas. Tucker, who lives about two miles from Lockport, is one of the best known men in that section.

He is engaged in business as a lobster packer, and dealer in flour and salt, and in addition has a fine farm.

During the past three years Mr. Tucker has been an almost constant invalid, being the victim of a complication of troubles following a severe attack of influenza.

Recently he has been restored to his old time health and having learned that he gave the entire credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, concerning which so much has been said through the press, a reporter interviewed him in the matter and was cheerfully given his story for publication.

"About four years ago I had a severe attack of influenza, which left me in a fearful condition. I had for a number of years before this attack been a sufferer from dyspepsia, but following the influenza it took a more acute form, and to add to my distress my liver appeared not to perform its usual functions, and my heart troubled me greatly, and there were other complications which baffled the skill of four doctors whom I successively called in.

In the hope of regaining my health, from the knees down my legs were as cold as ice; my bowels would bloat and I would have difficulty in passing my urine and I suffered great pain. My case went from bad to worse despite the medical treatment I was undergoing, and at last I got so bad that I was forced to give up business. I could hardly eat anything, got but little sleep at night, and as you will readily understand my condition became one of despair. My father urged me several times to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, but I was so discouraged that I had no further faith left in any medicine. However, more to please him than from any hope of beneficial results, I began the use of Pink Pills. The first beneficial effect I found was that the warmth and natural feeling began to return to my limbs, my bowels ceased to bloat, and with the continued use of the pills my appetite returned. I slept soundly at night, and the action of my heart again became normal. I continued taking the Pink Pills until I had used in all fifteen boxes, and I have not felt better in years than I do now. I did some particularly hard work last fall, and was able to stand it with a strength and vigor which surprised me. I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only a wonderful medicine, but also in the light of what my other treatment cost, the least expensive medicine in the world, and I strongly recommend Pink Pills to all in need of a medicine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly upon the blood and nerves, building them anew and thus driving disease from the system. There is no trouble due to either of these causes which Pink Pills will not cure, and in hundreds of cases they have restored patients to health after all other remedies had failed.

Pink Pills are put up in glass vials, both outside wrapper and vial bearing the full trade mark. "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." These pills are sold by the Hollister Drug Co., and the Hobron Drug Co., wholesale agents for Hawaii.

Disappointed to the Gift. "I've never preached or taught," said Ben Adlam, "but I've had some little experience in the unexpected myself. I remember one instance which occurred on my father's farm in good old Ohio. Zeke was a very raw, very ungainly and very poverty stricken 'hand,' who hailed from the least respectable region of country roundabout. He had probably been brought up on parched corn and maple sirup and never had a Sunday suit in his life. When he came to us, at any rate, he was almost barefoot, and as the days began to grow chill father took it upon himself to buy Zeke a pair of stout shoes. The presentation was a sorrowful scene. Zeke held the shoes disconsolately by the string which tied them together and tried to look grateful, with alarming success. 'Why, what's the matter, Zeke? Don't you like your shoes?' father asked in real concern. Zeke's face quivered and presently broke into a lubberly expression of woe. 'Yes, sir,' he said, gulping hard, 'but I could have went without shoes, an I'm just sufferin' for a scurfin'."—Chicago Interior.

WHALE HUNTERS IN BATTLE

CREWS DESERT TO TRY LIFE IN GOLD FIELDS.

Fights With Rifles—Regular Engagement—Lawless Men Take a Trading Camp—A Surrender.

Letters received in the United States from the Arctic whaling fleet in winter quarters at Herschel Island report annually thrilling experiences in the winter and spring. There were thirteen ships there with a total colony of about 500 souls.

Early in the fall reports of rich finds of gold in the Yukon valley created discontent among the crews, and desertions followed as early as November. In the first attempt two Germans ran away, but came back five days afterward. In January seven more deserted, but were pursued and overtaken. Four were brought back in irons, but three escaped in a pitched battle with rifles.

About the middle of March twelve more deserted. The deserters pillaged native settlements and terrorized the Indians. Pursuers overtook them on March 17th and a battle ensued, in which forty of fifty shots were exchanged. Soon after the deserters devastated Hoffman's trading camp. Hoffman pursued the robbers with ten Indians and a battle followed. One of the deserters, said to be named Kennedy, was killed and one fatally wounded. The rest of the party surrendered.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

A Visitor Who Works in the Interest of Improving All Roads.

C. L. Gallien, an L. A. W. and member of the cycling committee of the Good Roads Club, Portland, Oregon, is at the Hawaiian Hotel on his way around the world. He will spend a month in the islands, searching on the very fair roads he has found here. Honolulu roads, he says, are superb for wheeling purposes.

Mr. Gallien has been a rider for three years. He uses the Eagle wheel, a new machine with aluminum rims. He says the advantage of these rims is that they will not break. They bend in a bad smash-up, but may be easily straightened out again. The visitor has met several wheelmen of the city and would like to know others. He was a passenger with Crozier and Dexter from San Francisco.

This Good Roads Club of which Mr. Gallien speaks has its home in Portland. Its object is to promote the building of better roads. In the club is a cycling roads committee, wheelmen being considered the most earnest advocates of and workers for good roads. Mr. Gallien is a member of this and is a hard worker in its campaign.

SHOT CARRIED FIFTEEN MILES.

The longest distance that a shot has been fired is a few yards over fifteen miles, which was the range of Krupp's 150-ton steel ton, firing a shot weighing 260 pounds. The 11-ton Armstrong gun has an extreme range of fourteen miles, firing a shot weighing 1800 pounds and requiring 960 pounds of powder.

LOUVRE SALOON.

Its Policy and Management Described in Detail.

In this age of gross and almost universal adulteration it is seldom that one is able to refer to reliable houses where the public is sure of obtaining only the purest and best goods and where no imposition is practiced upon credulous patrons. One of such is that responsible establishment, the Louvre saloon, Harry Klemme proprietor, who deals in all kinds of California wines and brandies, imported wines and liquors, and the justly famous Rainier beer. Mr. Klemme was previously engaged in the same line of business and although still a young man he has had an extended practical experience in all its branches. The interior arrangements are all that the most fastidious could wish, the fixtures being of modest but impressive designs. The back bar is composed of a series of mirrors. Ranging from the center is one three feet by six feet, side by side of others of somewhat smaller dimensions.

In the rear of the main room is a large assembly room or banal, capable of comfortably holding thirty or more persons. The whole is lighted by electricity. The aim of the proprietor of this house has always been to carry only pure and first class goods, and that this fact has not passed unappreciated by the trade and general public is abundantly evidenced by the extensive patronage secured. Mr. Klemme is a pushing and enterprising young merchant, and is deservedly popular with all with whom he has had business dealings.

A wise saying: "They sell most who advertise most."

THOUSANDS OF YEARS.

We sometimes think it is wonderful that germs should retain their vitality during the cold of severe winter, says the St. Louis Republic, but what are we to think when we are told that they will live under any conditions for 2000 years. Germs found in dust in the cracks of the interior of the pyramids, which have been sealed up since the time of the Pharaohs, grow and go through their various transformations when they come in contact with the proper elements.

Mrs. S. A. Kell, of Pomona, Cal., had the bad luck to sprain her ankle. "I tried several liniments," she says, "but was not cured until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. That remedy cured me and I take pleasure in recommending it and testifying to its efficacy." This medicine is also of great value for rheumatism, lame back pains in the chest, pleurisy and all deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by all druggists and dealers.
