SAYS ATTORNEY GENERAL LIES

Humphreys Freely Gives Opinion of Prosecutor in Disbarment.

CARES NOTHING FOR THE OPINION OF DOGS

IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW HE WOULD NOT SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY TO OTHER SHOULDERS.

Humphreys resumed his argument in the disbarment proceedings in the Supreme Court this morning, occupying most of the morning session. The speaker was intensely earnest and in voice, glance and every gesture threw the whole force of his being. Now and then he emphasized some particular point by bringing down his clenched fist on the rail of the witness box, near which he stood while eloquently arguing for—as respondent himself expressed it—the greatest gift God had ever given man, his honor.

Humphreys freely expressed his mind in regard to his opinion of the attitude of the prosecution, nor did he spare other attorneys interested in the Summer case.

Impassioned words leaped sometimes from his lips and, again, the words that fell upon the ears of all were calmly critical, blandly sarcastic, smoothly explanatory.

"Punctuating his argument yesterday with a little bit of testimony," said Humphreys, "the Attorney General said he had joined others in calling me many names but had never said that I was a fool."

Referring to the Attorney General's expressed opinion that Humphreys, whatever else he might be, was no fool, Humphreys said there was an old proverb that the good opinion was better than the bad opinion of a dog. Respondent saw no sense in the saying, for he had no care for the opinions of dogs.

Referring to the connection of Magoon and Peters in the Summer matter, he said: "Emil C. Peters is today Deputy Attorney General and he is absent from this Territory."

"The evidence in this case has been as much a proceeding against J. A. Magoon and Deputy Attorney General Peters as against Thompson and myself."

Touching on the Andrews-Watson interview, he resumed: "If Watson and Lorrin Andrews were put in the scales Watson would so far outweigh Lorrin Andrews that Andrews would be tossed to the skies; or, if the scales happened to go the other way, he would be hurled to the uttermost depths of hell."

"If ever a man perjured himself on the witness stand, Lorrin Andrews perjured himself when he testified to his conversation with E. M. Watson in relation to this case."

"Lorrin Andrews uttered a lie when he said that I had attempted to abandon the sinking ship, referring to my admission."

"Why sirs! I have entered the valley of the shadow of death; I can almost see the gates ajar. My partner has his life before him. I would rather drop dead in my tracks, as I have said before, than attempt to shift the responsibility on the shoulders of one in whose honor I have an abiding faith."

"And now I am accused of attempt—" ing to jettison the cargo, when I intimated that our firm had been guilty of negligence.

"There has been a cowardly effort to put a construction on every word I have uttered inconsistent with its motive and purpose. Every fact has been distorted.

"One of the charges against me is that I threatened an attorney that I would take the Summer case to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary.

"How long has it been a threat to desire to appeal to the highest tribunal in the land?

"I am an American!—not by Act of Congress, but by birth, by impulse, by instinct, and by desire! And it is but natural that I should prefer the opinion of the United States Supreme Court to that of any other court.

"Let me be treated as the principal in this case; let me not shift or shirk one single responsibility."

In reference to the testimony of J. A. Magoon in relation to a conversation in regard to the Summer case supposed to have been had while Magoon was driving at midnight to a fire, Humphreys pointed out that Magoon, in denying the allegations, had made two statements which did not agree. He had said that he was unable to talk on

AMENDED LAND BILL

SUBJECT TO DECISION OF SUPREME COURT

BAND BILL PASSES THIRD READING IN SENATE—SECOND READING OF UNPAID BILLS ACT.

House Bill No. 9, appropriation to purchase the Tantalus right of way from the Coney estate, passed second reading in the Senate this morning with the amendment that the appropriation be subject to the decision of the Supreme Court on agreed statements of facts, or other proceedings of the court.

The following committee report was received and laid on the table to be considered with the bill:

"Your standing Committee on Public Lands, to which was referred House Bill No. 9, an Act making an appropriation for the purchase by the Government of the right of way on the land of the Coney estate, Tantalus ridge (Kalawahine), have had the same under consideration. Your committee has obtained a copy of the last will of John H. Coney and would beg to quote a portion, as follows:

"And it is my wish that my sister shall have the charge of all my real estate, under my executors and trustees; and that my executors and trustees shall be at liberty with the consent of my wife and sister and subject to the approval of a judge of the Supreme Court, to sell all or part of my real estate as may be deemed advisable."

"Your committee has further found that on the 9th day of May, 1894, Mrs. A. A. Haleola, sole executrix and trustee of the last will and testament of the late John H. Coney, with consent of Mrs. John H. Coney and A. F. Judd, Chief Justice, sold unto Minister J. A. King all right to a right of way approximately 50 feet wide over the land of Kalawahine.

"From the facts found by your committee it is impossible for us to do otherwise than recommend that the bill be laid on the table."

The House transmitted House Concurrent Resolution No. 2, as follows: "Whereas, the Legislature has appropriated different large sums to be expended by the Road Department, therefore be it Resolved and expressed by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That it was their intention that the laborers working under said Road Department be paid henceforth from said appropriations at the rate of not less than $1.50 per day."

The Senate deferred action on the above until Saturday.

The House also informed the Senate of its adoption of the report of the Conference Committee on Senate Bill No. 9.

The band appropriation bill passed third and the unpaid bills measure, House Bill No. 10, passed second reading.

Recess was taken until 2 p. m. Several amendments were made to House Bill No. 10 yesterday afternoon, when a very brief session was held.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT IS ADOPTED

EIGHTEEN MONTHS EXPENSE BILL BEFORE GOVERNOR. HOUSE ADJOURNS UNTIL TOMORROW.

House Joint Resolution. To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States. Your petitioners, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Second Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii, respectfully represent:

That the cost and expense of the maintenance and care of the several harbors and lighthouses in the Territory of Hawaii, now and at all times heretofore borne by the Territory, should be borne by the Federal Government.

That the building of a breakwater at Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, is very necessary for the better protection of shipping, but is of such magnitude as to be impossible to be built by the Territory.

That public buildings are necessary to accommodate the Federal Courts, post offices and custom houses, United States District Attorney, Marshal, Collector and other Federal officers, in Honolulu and in Hilo.

That the establishment and construction of the Naval Station at Pearl Harbor, and of a military post upon the lands selected for that purpose by the government, is of supreme importance for the protection of the islands, and for the safeguarding of the Mainland.

That favorable consideration by Congress be given to the claim of the late Queen Liliuokalani, now a loyal, private citizen of the United States, and that suitable provision be made for her.

That for the purposes of encouraging and assisting the production of coffee, a bounty of four cents a pound for all coffee produced in the Territory of Hawaii, for the ensuing ten years, be authorized to be paid to the producers thereof.

Resolved, that Congress appropriate sufficient money for the purposes hereinabove stated, and that the Secretary of the Territory be instructed to send copies of this resolution, properly certified, to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and that a suitable number of copies be given to the Hon. Jonah K. Kaulaianoale, the Delegate-elect, for his use.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 23 to 4.

Liquid is again gathering in the pleura, heart action is weak and the breathing is irregular and infrequent. The kidneys still refuse to act and the patient seems gradually sinking into the comatose state preceding death.

LEHUA HAS BAD TIME

The steamer Lehua arrived from Moloal ports this morning at 2 o'clock with 37 packages sundries. The steamer had considerable trouble at Halawa. A very strong swell was running in at this place. This caused the steamer's boats a great deal of trouble. Finally one boat loaded with palm was thrown violently on the beach. The caulking was loosened and some of the palm damaged. As it was not considered advisable to attempt to get the boat back to the ship, it was left ashore together with the crew, consisting of four sailors. The Lehua will take a trip to Halawa this voyage to get the boat and the crew.

TUBERCULOUS CATTLE

DR. MONSARRATT WILL EXAMINE ISLAND HERDS

BOARD OF HEALTH'S WEEKLY BUSINESS—SEWER VENTILATING SHAFTS ABATE NUISANCE.

The Board of Health met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. Monsarratt reported that he had killed seven head of tubercular cattle bought from the Ahumana ranch by C. Bolte. Dr. Monsarratt's commission, which has heretofore extended to Kona district, was extended to all the islands. He was instructed to go to all the islands and have all tubercular cattle killed and their remains destroyed.

Petitions for kukoas at the Settlement were acted upon, one being referred to Superintendent McVeigh for investigation and another granted on his favorable report.

Dr. Cooper reported for the committee on the resolution in re fumigation of island steamers, asking for more time, as the medical members had not as yet had time to come together.

The following reports were read: I have to report the health conditions in the Orient as follows: Yokohama, two weeks ending June 29, 1903—plague cases 4, deaths 3.

Kobe, two weeks ending June 24—Smallpox cases 8, deaths 1. Shanghai, two weeks to June 14—Smallpox deaths 1. Nagasaki—Clean.

Amoy—Plague estimated 75 deaths daily. Hongkong, two weeks to June 11—Plague cases 274, deaths 171; smallpox cases 3, deaths 1; cholera cases 1, deaths 1.

I have to report the health conditions in the Orient as follows: Yokohama, two weeks to June 6—Plague cases 3, deaths 3. Nagasaki, two weeks to June 12—Clean.

Shanghai, two weeks to June 10—Clean. Amoy, two weeks to June 7—75 plague daily (est.).

Kobe, two weeks to June 14—Smallpox cases 3, deaths 0. Hongkong, two weeks to June 6—Plague cases 255, deaths 207.

Respectfully, L. E. COOPER, Passed Assistant Surgeon, Chief Quarantine Officer, Territory of Hawaii.

The plumbing inspector reported for the semi-monthly period ending June 29th: Number of plans filed, 29; permits issued, 29; inspections made, 90; final certificates issued, 26; sewer connections made, 7. The Department of Public Works having placed ventilating shafts on the line of the sewer on King street from Alapai to Thomas Square, the nuisance complained of along this line of sewer has been abated.

Following is the report of the City Sanitary Officer for June, 1903: During the month twelve applications for building permits have been received and eleven have been approved and issued. One is held pending further investigation as the ground is rather poorly drained and will need filling before the building can be erected.

Four cess-pools have been located to be dug. Three builders without permits were notified and proceeded to file applications for their permits.

Five buildings were altered or moved so as to conform to sanitary conditions. Five hundred and twenty-five inspections were made, forty-six of which were of lots and new buildings.

Ten restaurants, one hotel and ten lodging house keepers applied for certificates of sanitary condition to procure licenses and all premises were inspected and passed and the certificates were issued. One lodging house permit held over from last month was issued as the premises were fixed up. Five certificates are held until work of a sanitary nature is completed. One thousand six hundred and eleven adults can by law be lodged in these buildings licensed.

Five 18-hour notices were served and four of the recipients immediately abated the nuisances. One has been given more time to do the work.

Three formal complaints were filed and the nuisance has been investigated and in two cases is already abated. In the third case the nuisance will be abated shortly; the delay is owing to the difficulty of getting hold of the responsible parties.

Two arrests have been made for minor offenses. One was fined $2.00 and costs and the other $5.00 and costs.

The abating of the South King street nuisance by the sewer department erecting vent pipes from the sewer manholes has done away with the source of numerous complaints filed at this office, and made King street a place no longer to be avoided in the evening.

Respectfully, City Sanitary Officer.

The health inspectors reported as follows: Inspector J. McQueen, District 1, 611 total inspections; J. Vivilchaves, District 2, 510; Paul Smith, District 3, 1,189; P. Fitzgibbons, District 4, 1,295; J. F. Visher, District 5, 1,071; M. D. Silva, District 6, 829; P. R. Nugent, District 7, 826; H. N. Crabbe, District 8, 1,177; T. W. Carroll, District 9, 1,187; E. E. Robbins, District 10, 1,023; L. K. Beckley, District 11, 1,002; W. F. Hall, District 12, 698; J. F. Durao, District 13, 1,102; J. S. Fox, District 14, 1,120.

KAMEHAMEHA BOYS TO HAVE LECTURES

On the night of the 17th of this month, the Kamehameha Alumni Association, a body of young Hawaiians who have been striving constantly to advance the interests of their race, will institute a series of lectures which will undoubtedly prove of great and lasting benefit. The object is to hold one of these meetings each month at which prominent business and professional men will be asked to speak.

On the evening of the 17th, T. McCants Stewart, the attorney, will address the Association, Kamehameha students and a few friends on the duty of citizens toward the County Act. General remarks will be made by Theodore Richards. There will be music and refreshments and a fine time is anticipated.

The opening remarks will be made by S. W. Spencer, president of the Alumni Association, who will greet the guests of the evening. Although these lectures have been arranged particularly for the benefit of the Kamehameha students, still there will be quite a number of invited guests present. The committee in charge consists of Messrs. Hull and Slemson.

In August, the talks at the meeting will be by Hon. S. M. Damon and Hon. H. P. Baldwin. The former will talk on financial economy and the latter on his experience on sugar plantations.

SAYS HE'S JEALOUS

"A very jealous and abusive disposition and manner," together with cruelty, failure to provide and impolite epithets, alleged by Linda K. Jones against Edward M. Jones, are grounds for divorce proceedings now taken.

Mrs. Jones says: "That during all of their said married life, this defendant has been tormented by the denunciations, accusations and reproaches of filialties (all made without a foundation of truth), that defendant, whenever she was absent from the presence of defendant for any considerable time, was indulging in criminal intrigues with other men and to so great an extent was this disposition carried by defendant, that defendant never felt safe in recognizing or speaking to her male acquaintances other than himself for fear of provoking fresh accusations such as those above described and arousing the anger and violence of defendant toward her."

Juliana M. Fieldgrove sues for divorce from Walter Fieldgrove, charging desertion. She wants her maiden name changed, but asks for no alimony.

GUN CLUB SHOWS BIG MEMBERSHIP

The new Gun Club will meet in the basement of the Hawaiian hotel Friday evening, July 10, at 8 o'clock, to take preliminary steps toward organization. The club shows a remarkably large membership and the promoters deserve great credit for their good work. In order that the club may get to work as soon as possible, five electric traps and 10,000 clay birds have been ordered from the Coast.

Following is a complete list of the members: Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻōle, Jas. E. Fullerton, Chas. H. Merriam, Geo. H. Angus, Chas. Chillingworth, Senator D. Paul R. Isenberg, Gerrit P. ## SPECIAL TAXES INCREASE

Collector Roy H. Chamberlain of the Internal Revenue office stated this forenoon that the receipts so far from special taxes have been far in excess of what they were at the same time last year. This he attributes to the fact that the people in general are coming to a better understanding of the laws of the United States with reference to taxes.

During the first day of the fiscal year the receipts were a thousand dollars ahead and at the present time, although only a few days have gone by, the increase over the same time last year is placed at something between $1200 and $1500.

SAY—"SEND HELP" AND I'LL SEND IT.

No money is wanted—just a postal. Tell me the book you need.

I will mail you an order—good at any drug store—for six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. You may take it a month on trial. If it succeeds, the cost is $5.50. If it fails, I will pay the drug store myself—and your mere word shall decide it.

Don't think I can't cure because others have failed. I have a way that no other man knows. Let the remedy itself convince you.

At least you know this:—If I failed very often the offer would ruin me. No sick one need pay, if he cannot pay gladly; yet 25 out of each 40 pay.

If you need help, don't wrong yourself by waiting. My way is almost sure. It will certainly cure any case that is curable.

I have spent a lifetime in learning how to strengthen weak inside nerves. My Restorative brings back that power which alone operates the vital organs. I treat a weak organ as I would a weak engine, by giving it the power to act. My way always succeeds, save when a cause like cancer makes a cure impossible. And most of these chronic diseases cannot be cured without it.

You'll know this when you read my book.

Send by state which book you want, and address, Dr. Shoop, Box 119, Pacific, Wis.

Book No. 1 on Dyspepsia, Book No. 2 on the Heart, Book No. 3 on the Kidneys, Book No. 4 for Women, Book No. 5 for Men (total), Book No. 6 on Rheumatism.

Most cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

If I should die tonight And leave Behind me in those cold Pressed pants The price of six large beers, On draught, Unquaffed by me and destined To remain Forever on the outside of My frame—

If I should die, And from the great beyond Look back and see That thirty cents taken And spent foolishly, For bread Or clothes, Or some such empty thing; And those six beers— Long destined to be bought by me— Now spilled Down other throats, Their destiny unfulfilled;— I say,

If I should die tonight And go From here to there (Or where It doesn't snow), And, looking back from there To here Behold Those six large beers— So large, and O, So cold!— Go coursing down the throats Of other men, 'Twould be so sad, For I would need them There!

"The country is beginning to accept, or at least to acquiesce in the proposition that it is more important to have good government in the new possessions than it is to carry out academic notions of self government." This sentence appearing in a local contemporary so soon after the reading of the Declaration of Independence is quite amusing. "Academic notions of self government" is an expression that should appeal to the heart of all monarchs, rather than a free people bearing the responsibility of "carrying an advanced civilization to benighted and downtrodden people of the world."

EXAMPLE BETTER THAN PRECEPT.

An honest minority is a better place to be in than a majority of scoundrels. —Advertiser.

There is no doubt about it. But the trouble is that those seeking a minority position in this instance are all too quick to put a man down as a scoundrel because he happens to have a mind of his own on public questions. Honesty carries other qualifications than the mere ability to withstand the temptations of theft. An honest man must first be fair if he hopes to arouse public confidence. An honest minority blind with prejudice and forever improving the opportunity to apply a lash of pessimistic spite does not advance public interests nor does it enhance the reputation for the broad-minded honesty so necessary to successful politics. W. J. Bryan is an honest man but his prejudices are such that he will ever remain in a narrow minority. He has a following but his is not the rather the American people seek in shaping their Government.

The Republican Legislature is not without fault and one is found in the flame of dissension started by one of these so-called honest minorities at the opening of the session. No one would charge these men with desire to steal, but there is serious question as to the political honesty in this instance and no question of the lack of judgment. This affair alone shows what disaster and far-reaching political ruin can be wrought by the prejudices of a minority. There are members elected on the Republican ticket not likely to be returned. It is to be gained for the present or future by condemning the whole body of men elected by Republican voters. It is easier and there is more political common sense in sidetracking undesirable candidates than in trying to chase them out with a hatchet. In one instance their friendship for more capable men is retained; in the other they become active enemies. Practical, competent government is not promoted by the bludgeoning when the final result is scheduled in a free ballot. If inexperienced elements are to be led away from the power of prejudice, if they are to be taught higher ideals in business administration of public affairs, if they are to be inspired with principles of strict party and political integrity, the only hope of any community is in the fair example set by the more experienced who should be less prejudiced.

Should this Legislature fail to pass the Loan appropriation, its members will bid a final farewell to legislative halls.

Carrara Mixed Paint

Its superiority over all other PAINTS for this climate has been established.

THE REASON WHY IT IS BETTER.

CARRARA Paint is made from a natural paint pigment, from which all matter having a tendency to oxidize or destroy the oil has been removed by patent process. It is a combination of mineral substances, perfectly free from all gritty matter, and soluble in oil.

CARRARA Paint, when applied, becomes practically a part of the surface, and being non-porous, retains, indefinitely, the oil, which is the life of any paint. It is not in any way affected by alkali, gases, or atmospheric changes, and having a hard, glossy surface, it can be washed like a piece of porcelain—the white always remaining white and the Colors permanent. The superiority of CARRARA Paint is due to the combination of our special pigment and pure linseed oil, which, together with improved machinery for thoroughly grinding and mixing, enables us to place on the market at a reasonable price, the most durable paint ever produced.

SAMPLE CARDS OF COLORS ON APPLICATION.

CARRARA is put up in 1-8, 1-4, 1-2, 1 and 5-gallon tins, Mixed Ready for use.

LIABILITY OF BANKERS.

Chicago, June 17.—By absolving the directors of the defunct National Bank of Illinois from blame for the failure of that institution, Judge C. C. Kohlman in the United States Circuit Court today decided that they could not be held liable to the creditors of the bank for the indebtedness still unpaid. This indebtedness is over $3,500,000.

Nine suits for claims were filed in the State court a few days before December 19, 1901, with which time five years of grace for filing such claims expired. Subsequently, in March, 1902, the cases were transferred to the Federal Court. The complainants, about eighty in all, were depositors in the defunct bank or individuals and corporations which had bought up claims of this kind. The proceedings were based on the contention that the money which they sought to recover had been lost through negligence on the part of the directors. The charges of negligence was based principally on the claim that the officers of the bank had made large loans to irresponsible persons. Loans to E. S. Dreyer & Co., Welles Brewing Company and Angus & Gladiol were cited as particular cases of bad judgment.

any subject at the time on account of his excitement over the fear that it was his property, the Sanitary Steam Laundry, that was burning. He had also testified that, before talking in his carriage the man with whom he is supposed to have had the conversation referred to, he had satisfied himself that it was not his property which was on fire.

Humphreys reviewed the evidence in the case, again accusing the prosecution of distorting the facts, and denying absolutely many of the statements of Magoon and others interested in the Sumner proceedings.

"I leave it to Your Honors," said Humphreys, after going into the matter of "B. F. Dillingham securing a lease from Sumner of all the real property, when Sumner only owned half of the property." "If W. A. Kinney didn't skin Benjamin F. Dillingham."

Respondent said M. F. Crandall, while holding a power of attorney for John K. Sumner, receiving thirty-three and a third per cent, was connected with securing an unfair lease from Sumner; it was a fraud upon Sumner. Humphreys, referring to an affidavit in the matter, said: "If that affidavit does not show W. A. Kinney to have skinned B. F. Dillingham, I have no conception of the English language and leave it to the Attorney General to construe, who doesn't know Latin, but who does know a little bit of the English language."

"We are charged with bringing proceedings for the purpose of harassing and annoying Sumner and spoiling his estate. And yet it is shown by the testimony, when the hosts were drawn up in battle array, when the battle was on that we refused an offer of $12,000."

"Take my admission of carelessness on the part of the firm for what it is worth! Use it against me in the face of the testimony of the three Ellises and Cathcart; use it against me in the face of the testimony of Captain John F. Jones, who said he was Sumner's intimate friend all through the trouble and who never in all that time heard Sumner say that Humphreys, Thompson & Watson were his attorneys; use this admission against me in the face of the uncontradicted testimony of Captain Jones who swears that Sumner did say that Henry E. Highton was his attorney and that he (Sumner) would never have been in all this trouble if Highton had secured for him a release from the Ellises."

"Use this admission against me in the face of Sumner's testimony that, fifteen hours after the conference in the Boston building, he refused to speak to me on the street."

"Sumner, in one breath, says that I threatened to put him under guardianship, and in the next breath declares I was his trusted counsel."

"What did Wylie Davis say on the witness stand? He said that old man Sumner was tickled to death to see us fellows up here in court. The old man's heart was overflowing with joy at the picture of my disgrace, my humiliation, my degradation."

"Wylie Davis told how the old man had said on the night before he testified that he was going to swear, when on the stand, that he 'did not recollect,' when he should be asked questions by 'those fellows' he was so glad to see in court."

San Francisco, June 14.—Nero, a great Dane, owned by William Oppenheim, a dress goods dealer of 160 East Seventy-third street, is ordinarily worth $200. On Monday night he suddenly acquired a value of $1000, says the New York Sun.

The Oppenheims had some guests at dinner on that night and when the coffee was passed Mrs. Oppenheim called in Nero and showed the guests how cleverly Nero could catch crackers which she threw to him. Then she accidentally let her $300 diamond ring slip. Nero caught that, too.

A veterinary surgeon, George Cohen, tried six different stomach pumps on Nero, but none of them troubled Nero or brought out the ring. The dog was then confined in a basement room, much to the disgust of the cook, who doesn't like great Danes.

PRETTY CHRISTENING INCIDENT.

At the baptism of the little Princess Matilda of Italy a pretty incident took place, which was remarked only by a few, most of those present being busy with the "grow-ups." Princess Yolanda, the King's first child, has, to tell the truth, no use for her little sister. She is in her way; she is kissed when Yolandita's exclusive privilege; she cries when Yolanda wants to play with her; in fact, she is not a plaything, and must not be touched for fear of hurting her. The Princess has been given all kinds of instructions and bribes to be good and quiet at the baptism, and had been given a rosary to play with. She regarded gravely the people present, allowed her hand to be kissed, until the priest appeared, when she immediately dropped on her knees and became apparently absorbed in prayer. Just as Monsignor Lanzl, the Court Chaplain, was administering the rites of baptism she suddenly stood up, stepped daintily over her cushion, and going fearlessly to the altar tried to push the rosary into the baby's hand; then she went back to her place by the King's side triumphantly. Both children were dressed entirely in white.

Roosevelt Is Urged Against Cuba Treaty

Washington, June 29.—Charles A. Moore of New York, president of the Protective Tariff League and an intimate friend of McKinley, has been here two days, conferring with President Roosevelt and leading Republican legislators who happen to be in town regarding Cuban reciprocity.

Moore spoke in no uncertain tone of the attitude of the protectionists throughout the country. He told the President that they were inflexible in their purpose to oppose, by every means at their command, all the reciprocity deals, including that proposed with Cuba.

Moore told the President that if the protective policy was undermined by the Republican party, either by reciprocity deals or attempted tariff tinkering, there would be strong resentment throughout the great manufacturing centers, and the result would be a tendency to support some such Democrat as Gorman as against Roosevelt.

While the President is committed to an extra session through the assurance given to Cuba by Secretary Hay that Congress would be given an opportunity to dispose of reciprocity before December 1st, he was nevertheless greatly impressed by Moore's arguments. It can be stated on high authority that the President is shaken in his Cuban reciprocity program and has grave fears that Congress will refuse to enact the desired legislation.

Lorenz's Quick Action. Rochester, N. Y., June 17.—During a clinic held by Dr. Adolph Lorenz this afternoon one of the most dramatic incidents in the history of the City Hospital occurred. Allan Nichols, 8 years old, was on the operating table for a club foot.

There was a short period of the most intense and nervous suspense, during which not a physician present seemed to have presence of mind to stir to the assistance of the operator. Lorenz was calm and collected. At the end of six minutes from the time respiration ceased the surgeon suspended his vigorous operations, looked about reassuringly and quietly observed, "The little man is all right now."

During the clinic Lorenz slipped on the tiled floor. He asked the pardon of the physicians present and removed his shoes and socks, continuing the clinic in his bare feet.

GIVING NO ODDS

The knowing ones, and indeed all those who have seen the principals during their training, are very confident that the 15-round go between Billy Woods and Millett, on Saturday evening will prove a battle royal. No odds are as yet laid on the outcome, as while Millett has shown great cleverness and quickness, he has not been seen locally against anyone who approached his caliber, and Billy Woods' past record entitles him to a great deal of consideration.

If Millett rushes, Woods' well-known left will probably stall him off without much difficulty, and his cleverness will enable him to get inside or away without much trouble. The general consensus is that the outcome is largely a matter of Woods' condition and his likelihood of lasting against the youthful energy of Millett. Therefore the wise ones, and those who want to get wise, are busy trying to get a line on Woods' physical ability and there is little doubt but what he will enter the ring in first-class shape.

Apana and Ah Sam are hard at it daily and Latham is working vigilantly with a determination to get ahead of Huihui this trip. The box office sale opened this morning in a manner very gratifying to the management who have put up the big purses to secure the talent.

third reading of the E. P. Dole compensation bill. Another communication from the same source announced the return of the communication with reference to amendments to Senate Bill 9 for correction.

Concurrent Resolution. The following concurrent resolution was introduced by Mr. Kumalae and adopted:

Whereas, the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii has appropriated different large sums of money to be expended by the Road Department, therefore

Be it resolved and expressed by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, that the laborers working under the said Road Department be paid hereafter from said appropriation at the rate of not less than one dollar and fifty cents per day.

The vote on this resolution was 19 to 4 and there was no argument whatever.

Conference Committee Report. Mr. Chillingworth then presented the report of the Conference Committee on the eighteen months' current expense bill which was as follows:

Your committee agrees to all the amendments made by the House with the following exceptions:

(1) Item inserted by the House "Advertising the advantages and resources of the Territory, $5,000." Your committee recommends changing the phraseology by adding after the word "Territory" the words "and to encourage immigration" so as to make the item read "Advertising the advantages and resources of the Territory and to encourage immigration, $5,000," and that the item as so expressed pass.

(2) The item "Honolulu Park Commission (Superintendent of Public Works to be a member), $18,000," amended by the House to $12,000. Your committee recommends that the item pass at $18,000 as in the Senate bill.

(3) The amendment made by the House in section 3 by the insertion after the word "conviction" in line 5, the words "before any District Magistrate" is agreed to by your committee with the following change of wording: "District Magistrate to have jurisdiction in cases arising under this section," and insert at close of section.

Change total to $1,474,925. Your committee recommends that the bill pass in accordance with the above findings.

"Salary of Deputy Insurance Commissioner, $2700." Mr. Vida moved to raise to $3600 on the ground that the position was a very important one which involved a very great amount of work. The amendment carried.

"Salary of Clerk and Bookkeeper (Superintendent of Public Works office) $1800." Mr. Aylett moved to increase to $3600. Carried.

"Bacteriologist and pathologist, $3,600." Mr. Paole moved to reduce to $1,800. Lost.

Mr. Lewis moved to insert an item of $4,680 for 4 pilot boatboys for Hilo at $65 each. Mr. Aylett moved to reduce to $40. This item would not have been proposed had it not been that the Maui item passed. Carried.

Important Resolution. At the request of Mr. Andrade, the further consideration of the bill was temporarily deferred in order to allow him to present a joint resolution of importance, which appears at the head of this story.

Mr. Paole moved to table the resolution since it was not in order. Point of order ruled not well taken. The resolution then passed by a vote of 23 to 4, the nays being Messrs. Puaa, Kuphea, Paole and Oili.

The eighteen months' salaries bill was then put to vote on third reading and was carried by a vote of 22 to 5, the nays being Messrs. Kuphea, Kuanai, Lewis, Oili and Paole.

At 11:45 o'clock the House adjourned until tomorrow at 10 a. m.

FITZ'S LOVE AFFAIR.

Chicago, June 18.—Bob Fitzsimmons has been knocked down and out by Cupid. The pugilist announced tonight his engagement to Miss Julia May Gifford, prima donna in the "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home" company, now playing at McVicker's Theater.

Later Miss Gifford confirmed the story. "Yes, I am engaged," said the victor of many ring battles. "And to the sweetest little woman in the world. I had known two or three of the girl members of the company to which Miss Gifford belongs, and attended the show at McVicker's a number of times. I fell in love with Miss Gifford when she appeared before the footlights and later when I was introduced to her my affection was confirmed. Our progress toward the engagement was rapid."

"I suppose the public will think it is not doing honor to the memory of my wife to fall in love and become engaged so soon after her death, but I am sure if she could know she would approve of the proposed alliance between myself and Miss Gifford. I am lonely and need the affection of a good woman. We do not expect to marry for a year, or perhaps two years."

Humphreys Argues

IN MASTERLY MANNER

In Disbarment Case

Independent Humphreys began his argument in the disbarment proceedings in the Supreme Court about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after the Attorney General had concluded a lengthy recital of the case from the prosecution's standpoint and after Humphreys, immediately after the recital, had interrupted Andrew's argument to introduce corroborative evidence.

Humphreys stated why he had reconsidered his decision not to submit argument. It was on account of the unfair and biased argument of the prosecution, he said.

"This matter is one that affects the integrity of the court, for, I believe that practitioners, as officers of courts, ought to be almost as much above reproach as the twelve men who followed the Prince of Peace through Galilee."

"The prosecuting witness in this case is a man eighty-seven years of age, almost ready to commence his pilgrimage along the beautiful river that winds between this troublesome life and the after-world."

"John K. Sumner's possession of $10,000 and the partial distribution of this money has created the impression that his attorneys betrayed him; all circumstances leading to create prejudice against attorneys."

Humphreys, replying to Judge Weaver's citation of law, denied that he had ever offered to refund one single dollar to John K. Sumner.

"If it is sufficient to accuse, what will become of the innocent?" quoted Humphreys.

Humphreys had started on a powerful speech, a speech for the most part unimpeded but forceful, full of classic metaphor and eloquent arguments, clear, pointed and effective.

"He's making the speech of his life!" remarked an admirer in the lobby.

"He's got to!" replied another lobby listener, not so friendly.

After speaking until almost 4 o'clock Humphreys asked the indulgence of the court as his voice had partially failed him and he was unwell.

Accordingly court adjourned until this morning.

GRAUSTARK

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

CHAPTER I.—Greenfall Lorry, a wealthy American globe trotter, stumbles into acquaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from Denver to Washington. The pair are left behind when the fier steps for repairs in West Virginia. Lorry wires ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride four miles at a tearing pace in a mountain coach. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenlocker, Uncle Casper and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenlocker naively calls Lorry her "ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly infatuated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenlocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist, in Paris. Graustark and its capital, Edelweiss, are located by a guidebook. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenlockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his chauffeur driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glimpse of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenlocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the count of the Princess of Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters red handed.

Lorry stuck the revolver in his coat pocket and gently slid through the window to the floor below. His friend followed, and they paused to listen. Taking Anguish by the hand the other led the way straight to the spot where he remembered seeing the door.

Boldly the two men began the breathless ascent of the stone steps. The top was reached, and far ahead, down a narrow hall, they saw the three men and the dim light moving. Two of them wore uniforms of guards. Keeping close to the wall, their followers crept after them. Up another flight of steps they went and then through a spacious hall. The Americans had no time and no desire to inspect their surroundings. The wide doors at the far side of the room opened softly, and here the trio paused, down a great marble hallway a dim red light shed its soft glow. It came from the lamp at the foot of the broad staircase.

The cook pointed to the steps and then gave his thumb a jerk toward the left. Without the least sign of fear Godde and Ostrom giddled into the hall and made for the staircase. The watchers could not but feel a thrill of admiration for these daring wretches. But now a new danger confronted them. The cook remained standing in the doorway watching his fellows in crime! How were they to pass him?

There was no time to be lost. The abductees were creeping up the steps already, and the cook must be dangled off. He had blown out the light which he carried and was now a very dim shadow. Lorry glided forward and in an instant stood before the amazed fellow, jamming a pistol into his face.

"A sound and you die!" he hissed.

"Don't move!" came another whisper, and a second revolver flashed his ear. The cook, perhaps, did not know their language, but he certainly understood its meaning. He trembled and would have fallen to the floor had not the strong hand of Lorry plucked him to the wall. The hand was on his throat too.

"Chloroform him, Harry, and don't let him make a sound!" whispered the owner of the hand. Anguish's twitching fingers succeeded those of his friend on the cook's throat, his pistol was returned to his pocket, and the little bottle came again into use.

"I'll go ahead. Follow me as soon as you have finished this fellow. Be careful and turn to the left when you come to the top."

Lorry was off across the marble floor, headed for the stairway, and Anguish was left in charge of the cook, of whom he was to make short work. Now came the desperate, uncertain part of the transaction. Suppose he were to meet the two conspirators at the head of the stairs, or in the hall, or that the other traitor, Dannox, should appear to frustrate all. It was the most trying moment in the whole life of the reckless Lorry.

When near the top of the steps, he hugged the high balustrade and cautiously peered ahead. He found himself looking down a long hall, at the far end of which, to his right, a dim light was burning. There was no sound and there was no sign of the two men either to the right or to the left. His heart felt like lead. They evidently had entered the princess' room. How was he to find that room?

Stoody he wiggled across the broad, dark hall, straightening up in the shadow of a great post. From this point he edged along the wall for a distance of ten or twelve feet to the left. A sound came from further down the hall, and he imagined he heard some one approaching.

His hand came in contact with a heavy hanging or tapestry, and he quickly squirmed behind its folds, finding himself against a door which moved as his body touched it. He felt it swing open slightly and drew back, intending to return to the hall, uncertain and very much undecided as to the course to pursue. His revolver was in his hand. Just as he was about to pull aside the curtain a man gilded past, quickly followed by another. Providence had kept him from running squarely into them. They were going toward the left, and he realized that they were now approaching the princess' room. How he came to be ahead of them he could not imagine. Again he felt the door move slightly as he pressed against it. The necessity for a partial recovery of his composure before the next and most important step impelled him softly to enter the room for an instant's breath.

Holding to the door, he stood inside and drew himself to his full height, taking a long and tremulous breath. There was no light in the room, but through the door crack to his left came a dim, broad streak. He now knew where he was. This room was next to that in which the princess slept, for had he not seen the light from her window? Perhaps he was now in the room of the Countess Dannox. Next door! Next door! Even now the daring Godde and Ostrom were crawling toward the bed of the ruler of Graustark, not twenty feet away. His first impulse was to cross and open the door leading to the next room, surmising that it would be unlocked, but he remembered Anguish, who was doubtless, by this time, standing up the stairs. They must not be separated, for it would require two steady, cool heads to deal with the villains. It was not one man's work. As he turned to leave the room he thought how wonderfully well they had succeeded in the delicate enterprise so far.

His knees struck the door, and there was a dull thump, not loud in reality, but like the report of a gun to him. A sudden rustle in the darkness of the room, and then a sleepy voice, soft and quick, as of a woman awakening with a start:

"Who is it?"

His heart ceased beating, his body grew stiff and immovable. Again the voice, a touch of alarm in it now:

"Is that you, Dannox?"

She spoke to German, and the voice came from somewhere in front and to his right. He could not answer, could not move. The paralysis of indecision was upon him.

"How is it that the outer door is open?"

"This time there was something like a reprimand in the tones, still low. He almost could see the wide open, searching eyes.

CHAPTER X. YETIVE.

There could be no further hesitation. Something must be done, and instantly. He gently eased the door before answering the third question. In his nervousness he spoke in English, advancing to the middle of the room impossible to see the woman in whom he himself this startling threat, he could only speculate as to its effect.

"If you utter a sound, madam, I shall kill you. Be calm, and allow me to explain my presence here!"

Miller's Milwaukee Beer. The newest brew of the old brewer; a social delight. Notice at the Brewery. FRED MILLER BREWING CO., Milwaukee, Wis.

Hoffschlaeger Co., Ltd. King Street, near Bethel.

He expected her to shriek, forgetting that she might not understand his words. Instead there was a deathly silence. Had she swooned? His heart was leaping with hope. But she spoke softly again, tremulously, and in English.

"You will find my jewels on the dressing table. Take them and go. You will not hurt me?"

"I am not here to do you injury, but to serve your princess," whispered the man. "For God's sake, do not make an outcry! You will ruin everything. Will you let me explain?"

"Go! Go! Take anything! I can be calm no longer. Oh, how can I expect mercy at your hands!" Her tones were rising to a wail of terror.

"Oh! In you want to die?" he hissed, sliding to the canopy bed, flaccid as his eyes grew accustomed to the darkness. "I will kill you if you utter a sound, so help me God!"

"Oh!" she moaned.

"Listen! You must aid me! Do you hear?"

Another heart breaking moan. "I am here to save the princess. There is a plot to abduct her tonight. Already there are men in the castle, perhaps in her room. You must tell me where she sleeps. There is no time to be lost. I am no thief, before God! I am telling you the truth. Do not be alarmed. I implore you. Trust me, madam, and you will not regret it. Where does the princess sleep?" He jerked out these eager, pleading words quickly, breathlessly.

"How am I to trust you?" came back a whisper from the bed.

"Here is a revolver. Take it and kill me if I attempt the slightest injury. Where are you?" He felt along the bed with his hand.

"Keep away! Please! Please!" she sobbed.

"Take the pistol! Be calm, and in heaven's name help me to save her! Those wretches may have killed her already!"

The revolver dropped evenly over, holding the curtain back.

"My friend is in the hall. We have traced the men to the princess' door, I think. Be quick! Do you wish to see her stolen from under your eyes?"

"You are now in the princess' room," answered the voice from the bed, calmer and with some clarity. "Is this true that you tell me?"

"As God is my witness. And you—you are you the princess?" gasped the man, drawing back.

"I am. Where is Dannox?" She was sitting bolt upright in the bed, the pistol in her trembling fingers.

"He is one of the conspirators. One of the cooks and two other guards are in the plot. Can you trust me enough to leave your bed and hide in another part of the room? The soundless have mistaken the door, but they must be here at any moment. You must be quick! I will protect you—I swear! Come, your highest! Hide!"
