A Mixed Up World.

A mixed up world is this;
Touched with both joy and sorrow,
If today is bright with bliss,
Real grief will come tomorrow.
We cannot unwind the tangled skein,
Try best as we may, the task is vain.
The gold gleams in the sand,
The cloud is rifted with blue
The sunlight kisses the land,
The night with its lips of dew.
Light feet keep time to the music sweet,
While the mourner walks the silent street,
The serpent coils around
The fragrant, blooming flower;
The false with the true is found,
In every vanishing hour,
And we ne'er can draw a line between
The good and bad, in this strange scene.
We hear the solemn knell,
For the loved one passed away,
Then the chimes of merry bell
That tell of the wedding day.
Both "friend and bride" are decked in white.
We weep, then laugh, in childish delight.
Thus it goes on like a dream,
Still pulsing with joy and pain,
A drama of mystical scene,
Forever touched with change.
We sing and mourn. we smile and sigh,
As the shifting scene goes swiftly by.

Holy Terrors.

A number of traveling men were hugging the hot-air register at the Lindell and discussing "bad men," "holy terrors," bandits and other interesting avatars of evil, when Captain Jack Duffy, an old Scotland Yard official, caught the speaker's eye.

"We don't have any more 'bad men' in England, and the professional highway man is unknown. Of course, we have some footpads, but the days of Dick Turpin, Claude Duval and Robin Hood have long gone by.

"I have noticed that 'bad men' and bandits do not flourish in Yankeeland. It is only in the West and South that they continue in business on an extensive scale. This is probably due to the fact that the Yankee, like the Englishman, long ago got over his dread of the 'bad man.' You can no longer conjure him out of his courage by the magic of a name. Whenever an attempt is made to lay violent hands on his purse he fights, and when he seizes the business end of a controversy somebody is pretty apt to come to grief.

"When a gun is shoved under the nose of a "free siler' he doesn't stop to inquire if the shover keeps a private graveyard. Instead of that he is seized with a morbid desire to become a 'bad man' himself. No gang of cutthroats could again terrorize Missouri as the Younger and James gangs once did. Missouri has learned that no matter how 'bad' a man may be, when the brains are properly blown out he will die. After riding roughshod over the West and South for years, these two gangs combined and attempted to do a little business in a Minnesota village. They supposed that the names of Jesse Jamesand Cole Younger were sufficient to sent the citizens into the cellar, but they were mistaken. A mild-mannered little doctor and a country constable chased the terorrs out of town, killed several of them and the redoubtable Youngers were placed in the penitentiary for life. The James only saved their bacon by running like scared coyotes. Minnesota had outgrown the 'bad man' period.

"The experience of the Daltons at Coffeyville, Kansas, indicates that the Sunflower State can no longer be terrorized by a name. 'Bad men' and bandits are only terrible in new countries. Ben Tompson would have lasted about forty seconds in old or New England. Some bow-legged dude would have spit on his hat, kicked him under the chin and walked up and down his vertebræ the first time he started to 'run the town.' I do not mean to say that new countries are devoid of courage. They have it in abundance, but somehow they get the idea after a man has committed a number of successful murders that he is invincible. Old countries know better."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PROGRESS.

The Life of the Land is Establishea in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, JAN. 22, 1894.

THE Advertiser is furnishing its readers with a lot of selected clippings from Republican papers and quoting Republican senators all for the purpose of bolstering up the waning hopes of the P. G. men. The situation in the States was unaltered when the Mariposa left. There is no doubt that President Cleveland's Hawaiian policy will be endorsed by the whole democratic party which hold the majority both in the Senate and in the House. There is not the slightest necessity for the U. S. Government to declare war against the temporary government of Hawaii, for the purpose of carrying out the policy outlined by President Cleveland. The loyal citizens of Hawaii have received the most encouraging assuarances from their friends in the States and can look for final information by the Australia due here next Saturday.

WE desire to call the attention of the Marshal to the fact that the pistol practice which goes on in the Station House yard everyday from early morn till dark, is, and has been, an intolerable nuisance to many people occupying offices in the buildings in the vicinity. Why is the people's money thus uselessly squandered in this annoying and wasteful expenditure of war material? Is it to keep up the spirits of the P. G? or is it to train the special spies how to shoot the very people who pay, not for the bread and butter, and the training alone but, for the ammunition expended Or perhaps, they are learning how to shoot at American blue jackets and marines? At all events Mr. Marshal is, is right and proper that you call a halt on the destructive and expensive instructions to your special army.

Registration.

Among some of the "restrictions" proposed by a local paper against Chinese if more of them should be imported here is the registration of them. That is another bluff. A most excellent act relating to registration of all persons residing in the country was introduced last Session, and was apparently endorsed by the paper and the planters. We say apparently because we are very much inclined to believe that there was no sincerity in the stand taken by the reform party. While the leaders of the planters party pretended to favor the Act, in some mysterious manner the Hawaiian members were influenced against the measure and the reform party took certainly no pains to explain the value of the proposed bill or to disabuse the prejudices of their Hawaiian colleagues. The Act, was finally passed and has there after never been heard of. It was signed by the Queen and should have gone into force, but through the agency of some miracle doctor it was transformed into thin air. Of course such transformations especially when the reform party is in power are as frequent, as we all know, as were the miracles of old. But what seems to substantiate our assertion that the reform party really is opposed to the registration measure is that not a word has been said about that act during the year that the P. G. have managed affairs. If it was such a necessary and good measure as we were told why haven't the "almighty" councils brought in a bill and passed it? The great Legislators who quarrel among themselves every Thursday afternoon have never made themselves especially noted by any display of modesty; they have in fact tumbled the statutes of the country about in the most unconcerned manner, and repealed, amended, and passed, by the scores. Now the Advertiser in its anxiety to flood the country with Chinese and at the same time not step on the toes of Mr. Emmeluth and Mr. Mulligan secret league, advocate registration, but, only of Chinese, not, as provided in the old act, of everybody. What has happened to change the minds of the reform party in regard to the merits of the much-praised measure? Could we possibly induce the Advertiser to tell the community about it? Because we are loath to believe that the reason is an unwillingness to risk that some busybody might go to work and compare the number of officially registered citizens with the figures furnished by the Annexation club and by the truthful statisticians who went to Washington and told all about the 20,000 white men in Hawaii with a big majority of patriotic, although expatriated Americans. We say we are loath to believe that such may be the reason why we hear no more about registration, but we are really unable to imagine any other cause for the change which has come over the dreams of the "virtuous" reform party.

Chinese Immigration.

The Advertiser, as the organ of the planters is trying to throw dust in the eyes of the community in its advocacy of a further importation of Chinese coolie labor. It speaks in a very hazy way about the restriction provided lor in the laws of 1892, and holds out promises that these restrictions will be carried out to the letter, and that the number of laborers desired will not reach the limit by a long sight. All this may be swallowed by some of the Provisional Government's supporters who are unfamiliar with the true state of affairs relating to Chinese immigration, and who have had no opportunity to fathom the trickery of the Advertiser and its faithful backers the planters. The fact is that in spite of the newspaper's pleasent words and solemn promises there is no intention to bring Chinese here, except on the same manner as formerly has been the case. And the reason is simply that the Chinese will not come under any other conditions. If the planters are allowed to import 5000 Chinese laborers, under contract for three years, it simply means that the country will, after the three years have expired, number 5000 Chinese citizens more (less than those who will be killed by plantation lunas), and who will enter into the usual competition with our storekeepers, mechanics, and working men. Because if once here they will never be forced to leave the country, and they will never be made to observe any of the restrictions which the planter's organ mention, and no one knows it better than the Advertiser. We have seen this to be the case every year. A lawyer (a fee) a writ of habeas corpus a decision by our Supreme Court and Mr. Chinaman will be as free as any other man in the country and can do what he pleases (and he won't please to stay on the plantation). We do hope that a question of such importance is not to be rushed through by the government with a very exhaustive debate. The attempt of some members of the Councils to railroad a matter of this nature should be promptly checked. If the planters must have labor why, may we ask, don't they go to the United States for them? We have been told that if we had been annexed we could get all the free labor desired from America. If such labor for our plantations can be obtained in case of annexation why can it not be obtained now? We guess that the free American laborers are ready to go where there are dollars to make—but then the truth is that the planters in Hawaii are very willing to have free labor and very unwilling to pay for it. In the planters' dreams the most pleasant vision is the Paradise of the Pacific populated by nothing except coolie laborers, planters and their slave drivers. Then indeed it would be a Paradise!

HAWAII'S DESPOTS.

A PETTY OLIGARCHY BACKED BY UNCLE SAM.

No Annexation. No Republic.

To the Editor of the HERALD:

I notice in the Eastern despatches published here that the "jingo" papers are howling about "the restoration of the Queen" in Hawaii and asking how the United States, a republic, can favor a monarchy.

Well, the United States "being a republic" whose principle is to let people govern themselves cannot surely be so idiotic as to cram a republic down the throats of people who don't want it. Still less an oligarchy, such as the so called "provisional government"—an oligarchy, the most despotic and most unrepublican form of government.

The people of Hawaii don't want a republic; that is the plain and indisputable truth. The revolutionists whom Mr. Stevens, our Minister, and the troops and guns of our ship, the Boston, put into power, don't want a republic. They cry out for annexation; they loudly assert that popular government is hateful to them, and they established a petty oligarchy, which under the protection of United States ship and guns made haste to pass sedition and later no—bail acts, to coerce men and intimidate any opposition to their schemes.

The great mass of the Hawaiian people, white as well as native, don't want a republic. They cling to the system of government founded by the mission ary fathers—the constitutional monarchy—which for fifty years gave peace, liberty and justice to them. Why should they not prefer the independent nationality and lawful, orderly and cheap free government under which they and their fathers lived happily so many years? The system of government created by the early missionaries, and which a handful of sugar planters, adventurers and speculators has tried to break down and destroy, was one of the best and freest in the world. Education has been so general under it that almost all the native people can read and write. Peace and order were so secure that a lady could ride safely over all the islands alone. Taxes were low—a ten per cent. duty on all imports except liquors and opium, which bore high rates; a low real-estate tax, which was evaded by nobody except some sugar planters, and a direct tax upon all men of voting age of $2 for schools, $2 for roads and $1 poll tax—a device which deserves the attention of many of our own States.

The people, white as well as native, are by long custom, and by its merits, strongly attached to the monarchy under which for fifty years they and their fathers have lived happily, free and safe. Why should we of the United States use our great and irresistible power to force upon them a system of goverument they do not want? We call ourselves a just and upright nation. Can we justly do that?

We of the United States, by the act of our Minister, Mr. Stevens, upset the Hawaiian government. It was a very great wrong which Mr. Stevens did. He stimulated, fostered, encouraged and with United States arms and guns protected a handful of conspirators whose act was as clearly an act of fillibusterism or piracy as ever was committed. The men most largely concerned in this act were for the most part not even citizens of the State, but aliens. The man who read the filibustering proclamation under the guns and in the face of the troops of the United States had not lived much more than eight months in the islands, and was, in fact, a citizen of California. Of his handful—twenty-eight or thirty—of companions not half were citizens. The Annexation club which was later formed is made up largely of aliens, and largely also of poor fellows opposed to annexation, who were forced to "sign the roll" under threat of losing their families' bread and butter in a country where new employment is impossible to obtain.

It is a fact confessed by the filibusters that they would not have dared their attempt had they not known themselves to be protected by United States troops and guns, stationed beforehand for that purpose commanding the Palace and the government building, while they were a mile from the United States Legation and many squares away from American property, which, moreover, was not threatened by any one.

It was the United States Minister and the United States troops and artillery which overturned the government. Do not our national honor land good faith compel us to undo this act of grave wrong and injustice to a weaker nation? Are we not bound, not to that nation alone, but to our own honor and good fame, to remedy this wrong, done by a faithless Minister of ours.

The United States troops and guns were landed by Mr. Stevens' orders the afternoon before the revolution, and when, by universal testimony, the town was entirely quiet. They were stationed by Mr. Stevens' orders, not where they could protect American life and property, but where they commanded the Palace and public buildings. On this point of Mr. Stevens' action I quote here from a letter before me from a very prominent and respected citizen of Honolulu:

"I and some friends were standing on the side-walk, corner of Beretania and Alakea streets, when all at once rode up an officer of the United States ship Boston and asked to speak to Mr. Giffard, of Irwin & Co., who was with us. After a short conversation Mr. Giffard returned to us and said:—

"What do you think they want? The use of Music Hall as quarters for the United States forces. I have refused."

"In ten minutes the officer returned with a written request from Mr. Stevens himself for the use of the Music Hall, which commanded the Palace and Government Building. Giffard again refused. Later on Mr. Stevens, also in writing, asked the use of Arion Hall close by, and it was granted."

Here is an affidavit of O. A. Percy Gardiner, which shows how confidently the revolutionaries counted on Mr. Stevens' armed support:—

Hawaiian Islands, Oahu, ss:—

Gardiner, being duly sworn on oath, deposes and say:

Several days prior to the revolution, I was at Mr. L. A. Thurston's house, and at his request did get a list of all men to be depended apon in the cause of annexation; also their arms and the amount of ammunition in stock. Mr. Thurston told me that as I had worked so well if I would help them the day of the revolution I would receive $100 and also $5 a day till the affair was settled, and I should then receive a government appointment. He promised me the position of engineer on the O. T. dredge, which I and Mr. Duff built. I went and saw Mr. Thurston the day before the revolution and said this:

"Mr. Thurston, I am a married man, and suppose I was shot during the revolution what would become of my family? Would they be allowed compensation?"

He replied:—"There will not be a shot fired. The United States troops are landed and they will maintain peace and will quash any uprising among the opposition."

"But," I said, "this is hardly fair."

He said:—"All is fair in war time."

We all mustered at different places, I was told to meet at Klemme's house on Fort street, known as the Grand House, and was there supplied with a revolver gun and fifty rounds of ammunition for each. At the tap of a bell we marched from there to the armory on Beretania street, where all these sub meetings were to be assembled. Our division were told to march to the Government building and take it.

I said to the man who gave this command:—"Do you think I am a fool—twenty-eight men to take that building?"

He said:—"It's already vacated. Besides the United States troops are in Arion Hall and everything is arranged."

O. A. PERCY GARDINER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 29th day of May, 1893.

F. J. TESTA.

I remark here that Mr. Stevens failed to report to his superior, the Secretary of State, any of these facts, which would have shown to Secretary Foster and President Harrison his great share in the revolution as its fomentor and protector."

LOCAL NEWS.

Thermometer reaches Sixty degrees in the city these mornings.

Don't forget the concert at the Opera House on next Saturday evening.

The band concert at Sans Souci last Friday evening was a grand success.

The bark Colusa, was towed to sea, en route, for San Francisco this afternoon.

Wind South, weather warm and pleasant, sky cloudy, is the record for to-day.

The P. G. Band will play this evening at Emma Square. This time a moonlight concert.

The heavy rains of Friday and Saturday interfered greatly with the manufacture of cement sidewalks.

Judge Robertson, in the District Court, had only 80 cases to contend with, on his register, this morning.

The conduct of (not the scholars) the Kamehameha school is being opened to adverse criticism.

Celso Cæsar Moreno is, as usual, an indefatigable writer on Hawaiian Affairs in Washington D. C. His latest production is a roster of the "Army of Hawaii."

The Misses Albu intend to leave for the Coast by the next Australia. A benefit concert is projected for Miss Rose before departure. Everybody should be there.

Hawaiian Lodge No. 21 meets this evening.

Minister Willis again gets a rub, from the Tiser, this morning.

No smiles were noticed amongst annexationists at the news by the Mariposa.

The bark Velocity, Captain Martin, arrived yesterday from Hongkong.

To-day is said to be the anniversary birthday of U. S. Minister Willis. If so, Aloha!

The phonograph puzzle, of the transposition of letters in the word "Phonograph," is attracting attention.

The Planters Labor & Supply Co., are holding a meeting to day in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce.

Berger's P. G. band are now vocalizing "There are moments when we wish to be at home" or something like it.

The Station House record this morning contained the names of 45 gamblers, 11 drunks, 3 fighters, 4 opium fiends; 6 affraists, 1 vagrant.

The presiding officer of the American League will be asked to relate his knowledge of a certain Chinese question, in the near future.

The attention of the Road Supervisor is directed to the almost impassable condition of Piikoi street, from Lunalilo street towards the Home.

George Washington is to be tendered a benefit, by many of his friends in this city on the evening of the 27th inst. A detailed account of the affair will appeer to-morrow.

The usual quiet of Sunday seems to be now more "honored in the breach than in the observance." On last Sunday, at the same hour, there was rifle shooting, (target practice) at Makiki, band playing in Portuguese town, and fire craker explosions in the Chinese quarter. This to say nothing of bell-ringing and Conch-blowing by the religious devoters.

The death is announced of Sir Samuel Baker, the African explorer, at the age of 72. He has not long survived Sir Richard Burton, who was a somewhat earlier pioneer in the same field of travel, though they never worked in the same expeditions. Burton made known Lake Tanganyika, and Baker followed up the explorations at other sources of the Nile by Speke and Grant, and had the credit of discovering the Albert Nyanza in 1864. His labors in the suppression of the Central African slave trade were courageous and partly successful. He is well known as an author and many learned societies have honored his works as a geographer.
